A STATEMENT REGARDING
Gasoline Quality
Imperial Oil Limited will commence supplying ESSO EXTRA and 3-STAR gasolines of their pre-war high quality to motorists, farmers and other consumers throughout Canada at the earliest possible moment.
Due to production and distribution problems involved, there will necessarily be some delay. Gasoline users can be assured that no effort is being spared to hasten this change.
Imperial Oil's extensive wartime research and development will result, as soon as possible, in Imperial gasolines surpassing pre-war standards.
Imperial Oil's production facilities are unequalled in Canada and moderists and others can consequently depend on Imperial Oil—just as they have always been able to depend on Imperial Oil—for the very best petroleum products available.

Counter Strategy

"There will be a wave of strikes after the war," said the President of the Axis-sub Workers Union. "There will be strikes wherever there are unsettled grievances."

There are going to be plenty of unsettled grievances. Some grievances will be justly dealt with by sound management and good labor. But some will be caused by reactionary employers trying to clamp down on them, and employees will be deliberately stirred up by fast one and a half workers out for their own selfish ends, to gain control of industry and government.

"The methods of these fellows are as old as the hills," says Common union leader Tang: (1) sell every body the idea that they have a grievance, (2) attack the rules of the game and anybody who upholds them, (3) promise the world; (4) pick a scapegoat to blame for everything; (5) keep folks in the dark, (6) tell them what grievances they have; (7) then lead them over the cliff.

Such methods [illegible] and in every honest Canadian. The trouble is that boiling blood makes bad blood, or market pandering in his spare time. The fact that taxes are lower in the suburbs, however [illegible] for in considering the location of small holdings. But you said you did not like living in the suburbs [illegible] ever, you could build a home in town under the National Housing Act using your re-establ[illegible] to help you meet the down payment required. Branch offices of the National Housing Administration are located at various points all across Canada, but it might be best if you contacted the building agency first, and let them make the financial arrangements with NHA.

"My husband served in Canada for almost three years before he went overseas in February, but he has still not joined active," writes another lady from Haney, British Columbia. "What I would like to know is this: Will he get any gratuities? Does he receive the regular clothing allowance? If he goes to Germany with the occupying forces, will this affect his gratuity status?"

On discharge, Madam, your husband will receive gratuities at the rate of $10 for each 30 days of qualifying service overseas, that is, 50 cents per day, whether he is active or not. However, the fact that he is still NRMA men bars from receiving any gratuities for the time spent in Canada, and it will also cut off his gratuity benefits the day he arrives back in this country. At the present time service in Germany is considered as qualifying service overseas. As for the clothing allowance of $100 he will get that, if he is discharged as to be a member of the armed services of Canada.

OUT AT MONTH-END

First page of butter coupons in [illegible] ration book [illegible] plus first coupon to be used in all sorts of things, so served short. But ten coupons 50 to 115 inclusive expire August 31

I know it's true people are always telling me that Canada hasn't suffered like other nations so far as shortages of food, and [illegible] particularly are concerned. But it has always seemed to me that its a little unfair to blame people because things haven't happened to them. I suppose that's human nature, though.

Well, the Brussels sprouts crop has failed, and we had of civilian footwear due to improved sole leather situation, the Prices Board has announced.

"My brother had started on a chemistry course at the University of Toronto before he left to go overseas in early 1944" writes a young lady from Peterboro, Ont., "He is now in Germany with the Army of Occupation, and there is not much to do he thinks it would be nice if he could continue his studies. He says there is a fairly well-equipped University or technical school (I can't tell which) close by, whose he could do his laboratory work. Is there any provision being made for this?"

Not yet, as far as we know. The Canadian Legion Educational Services provide correspondence courses in almost every subject under the sun, to Canadian servicemen and women in all theatres of war, but no provision is made for the lab work in Germany. However, quite a number of Canadian under the Veteran's Land Act, is undergraduates are attending British universities while still in the service, and it is possible that your brother might be able to arrange something along these lines. In such time educational officer, and each group of units has another full time man for this purpose. If your brother were to see either of these men and talk it over with them, it's possible the whole thing might be arranged.

From Liverpool, Nova Scotia, comes the next question. A former Flight Officer in the RCAF, wants to know:

"Is there any provision made for veterans taking small holdings in town? Why must they always be outside of the main residential areas? I like the Small Holding plan fine, but I don't particularly fancy living in the suburbs."

Well, a small holding which isn't on the edge of town, just isn't a small holding. The plan, which comes under the Veteran's Land Act, is intended primarily for the veteran who is holding down a regular job in town (such as an electrician or insurance salesman) and who wants to increase his earnings of just have fun by doing part-time farming

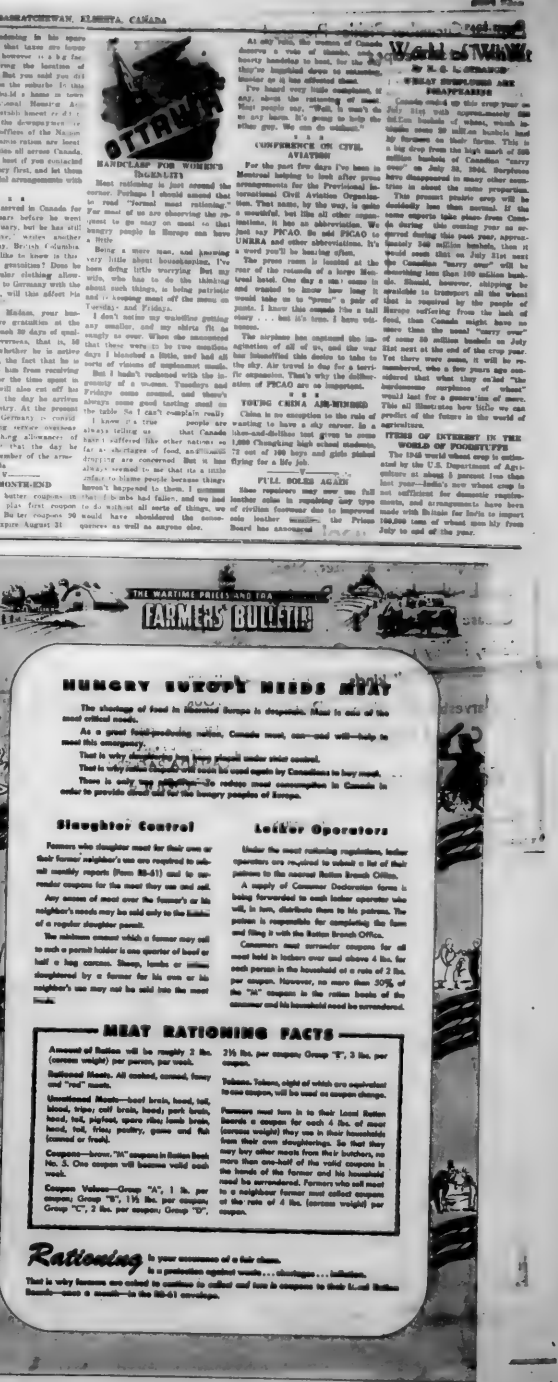
World at War

GREAT STRUCTURE ARE DISAPPEARING

Canada ended up this crop year on July 31st with approximately 600 million bushels of wheat, which makes room to mill on bushels hand by farmers on their farms. This is a big drop from the high mark of 800 million bushels of Canadian "carry over" on July 31, 1944. Surpluses have disappeared in many other countries in about the same proportion. The present prairie crop will be decidedly less than normal. If the same exports take place from Canada during this coming year as occurred during this past year, approximately 340 million bushels, then it would seem that on July 31st next the Canadian "carry over" will be something less than 100 million bushels. Should, however, shipping be speeded up tremendously all the wheat that is required by the people of Europe suffering from the lack of food, then Canada might have no more than the usual "carry over" of some 30 million bushels on July 31st next at the end of the crop year. Yet there were years, it will be remembered, when a few years ago conditioned that when they as had "the burdensome surpluses of wheat" would last for a generation of more. As all illustrates how little we can predict of the future in the world of agriculture.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

The 1945 world wheat crop is estimated by the U.S. Department of Agriculture at about 5 percent less than last year—India's new wheat crop is not sufficient for domestic requirements, and no exports have been made with Britain for Paris to import 100,000 tons of wheat soon July from July to end of the year.



Popular Cucumber Pickles Prepared With Tested Recipes

Most everybody loves cucumber pickles, so anyone with a surplus in his victory garden should pickle them. The home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture recommend these tested recipes, one for a sweet pickle, one for a sour pickle, and one for Curry Slices.

There are two ingredients which should be chosen with care for pickling purposes. The first is salt. The type which is treated to make it "free-running" is not desirable, since the brine; refined dairy or common table salt should be used. The second item is the vinegar. Poor, weak vinegar will result in a cloudy, greyish product. Good quality cider or bleached vinegar, in fine, or white vinegar for a crystal clear liquid.

DILL PICKLES

Cucumbers three to four inches long are best for dill pickles. Wash, prick with a fork and soak overnight in cold water. Drain, dry thoroughly. Place piece of dill in the bottom of clean jars or crocks. Pack cucumbers in jars or crocks. Put more dill on top. Prepare the following pickle mixture, which yields sufficient liquid for 6 or 8 quarts pickles.

2 cups vinegar
1 cup salt
2½ quarts water

Bring to a boil. Pour over the cucumbers while hot and seal. Let stand about six weeks before using.

GHERKINS

4 quarts gherkins
2 cup salt
2 quarts boiling water
3 tablespoons whole mixed pickling spice
2 quarts white vinegar
2 teaspoons powdered alum
2 cups sugar

Wash gherkins, cut if necessary. Cover with hot brine made from salt and water; let stand overnight. Drain. Tie whole spices loosely in cheesecloth bag. Heat vinegar, add alum, sugar and spices. Boil ten minutes. Pack gherkins in clean, hot jars or crocks, cover with hot liquid and seal. Yield: 8 pints.

CURRY SLICES

2 tablespoons whole mixed pickling spice
1 quart vinegar
1 cup brown sugar
2 teaspoons curry powder
2 tablespoons dry mustard
2 tablespoons salt
½ teaspoon pepper
4 quarts sliced, pealed, medium cucumbers
1 quart sliced, pealed, small white onions
1 green or sweet red pepper, chopped

Tie whole spices loosely in cheesecloth bag. Combine vinegar, sugar, curry, mustard, salt and pepper and bring to a boil with spices. Add cucumbers, onions and chopped pepper and bring to a boil. Boil 5 minutes. Drain and save liquid. Remove spice bag and heat vegetables into clean, hot jars or crocks. Bring vinegar mixture to boiling point and pour over pickles to overflowing. Seal. Yield: about 5 pints.

When we just try to dail a hunt we given in time, too dull to save it.

Compensation for Barley Producers Urged on Ottawa

Elias elevator companies have forwarded a wire to the Dominion Government urging that barley growers be compensated for financial losses which they will suffer through price changes placed on barley exports by the feeds administrator Edmonton a the text of the telegram J. G. Gardiner, Minister, Agriculture,
Ottawa, Ontario.

"With reference to your order of August twenty-third placing an embargo on exports of barely for the current crop season. We presume you realize this order will result in a direct financial loss to growers of barley on account of the premium, soon amounting to approximately forty cents per bushel when the U. S. market shows over Canadian ceiling prices. Also the farmer will lose the malting premium on a large quantity of malting barley now produced in Western Canada for export. Naturally we will do all within our power to co-operate with you in distribution of barley stocks but we must at the same time point out the discrimination against our Western farmers. Under your order how does Government propose to compensate the producer of malting barley who is forced to accept feed barley prices for his grain and what provision will be made for barley growers in general to compensate them for loss of export market values. We strongly recommend that you advise barley produc-

Use Chemical to Grow, Ripen Fruit

A revolutionary method for fruit growing has been discovered by a British scientist which enables crops to withstand frost and enormously increases harvest falls. He is Dr. J. Swarbrick, head of the research centre of Bristol University, England. Secret of the process is a new chemical which is sprayed on the green grapes after the flowers have so picked off the fruit tree. This chemical as a fruit-ripening agent with the result that all the fruit on the tree ripens at the same time. While this process conserves a full crop of fruit each year it contains no danger of over-cropping, since even the fruit is on the tree the grower can pull off any surplus as needed.

East Edmonton

Travelling unaccompanied by an adult over a long journey seems a great deal for a boy of eight and ten, but the two young ladies, aged eight and ten, who broke their homeward journey from a visit to Coast to visit their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Trimble, took it easily in their stride.

The young visitors were Miss Jean Moore of Vegreville and her cousin Miss Maureen Skidmore of Burnaby. They had several days of playtime with their cousin here, Glen Trimble before the call of relatives and home took them their separate ways.

A veteran from war time employment in B.C. is Mr. Hector Hill (see Jay Hawkins) who has been in Aircraft production work in New Westminster. Mrs. Hill who has qualified for the work by previous training in Technical School, was one of the first six girls to be employed by the RCAF Observer School in Edmonton, coming with the work until the AOE was closed. At the time she held the position of assistant superintendent of personnel and was then transferred to the Coast to help release the married until the war work ended.

Host Edmonton finds justifiably proud of its young people—footballers as well as musicians—and showed the right for Scotsmen added appreciably to the sum total of effort securing, in the end, complete and final victory.

Mrs. Howard Frey is enjoying a number of her family, having her two active service offspring at home on leave at the same time.

Her son, Pte. Clifford Malcolm has returned from overseas, unmarried except for a host of comrade, convinced that there is no place in the world like home to inhabit, pending further orders.

LAW. Helen Malcolm came up from Calgary on a "D" week-end to renew acquaintance with her brother and other years of war time separation.

LAC Donald Long, lately stationed in Vancouver, has received his discharge from the air force. At present he is visiting at Round Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Holden Watson have been entertaining for Mr. Watson's sisters, residents of Hamilton, Ont. The Misses Watson's made a stop-over visit on their return journey from the Coast, and while here enjoyed a family motor trip to Prevost

Mrs. Alf Wootton Dies After Lengthy Illness

Death came early Thursday morning to Mrs. Winnifred Theresa Mowers Wootton, beloved wife of Mr. Alf Wootton, postmaster at Fort Saskatchewan.

Mrs. Wootton was born in Ireland, but resided in Cardiff, Wales. She came to Canada in 1920 and in 1926 to Fort Saskatchewan and lived here ever since.

She leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband a daughter Clarice, Fort Saskatchewan and two brothers and one sister in England.

Rev. Hall Mallrde are in charge of funeral arrangements.

Josephburg

Josephburg this week mourns the passing away of one of her most public-spirited citizens in the person of Reginald Mann. As local councillor, as school trustee, as a faithful member of his Church, as interested backer of any sporting move which might benefit the younger generation, as a friend to young and old, Mr. Mann has surely played his part in the shaping of the destiny of this community. Each man as he will be by himself. Our deepest sympathy goes out to each member of his bereaved family. We, who have known him, will miss his kindly ways and cheery disposition.

The only people to get even with are those who have helped you.

Miss Betty Gerhardt has returned from Dalwood where she was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Carl Johnson.

Miss Gladys Monahan, a recent Grade XII graduate of Garneau High School has accepted a position in the Savings Department of the Bank of Commerce.

Miss Leslie Briggs of Vancouver, B.C., is visiting at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Gerhard Bussler, enroute to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gladstone Briggs.

Mrs. Lloyd Gladish has invited the members of the Women's Institute Club to her home for the afternoon of September 13th.

A host to their celebration in honor of Doreen Isherwood and Gloria Hunter, there was an important guest present for the host-age group on the first of September. Some forty guests were invited for games and a weiner roast on the Isherwood farm. Later in the evening, the Community Hall, made festive for the occasion with streamers, pink and blue predominating, opened wide its doors to the party, and there after a few hours of dancing and merriment, it's two birthday cakes were cut and eaten to the accompaniment of toasts and good wishes and thank you speeches to the young ladies entering their fourteenth year.

Mrs. E. Hawkins and Mrs. R. Isherwood were hostesses at the party.

School Bells To Open Monday

School bells will ring out once more again Monday morning to start a new term.

The majority of young people returning will be those of last year, stepping up one grade higher to gain in other education, but there will also be many new students enrolled for the first time in the Fort School, among which will be 20 or more from East Cover Bay, brought here every day by school bus to take their grade 12 [illegible] of these all pupils and some of the new who are coming the end of their high school days probably wish that it was all over with so that they may go out in the world and work. It should be impressed upon these young people who wish to learn school two more that business men are now demanding a higher standard of education in the people they employ in order that they can be able to operate the many complicated machines used in the various offices and businesses.

To the old and new students we wish every success and hope they will all join in and take an active part in the school activities.

The teaching staff of the Fort School this year will consist of the following: Mr. B. Larson, principal; Mr. T. E. Bell, 2nd assistant teacher of the school will teach High school; Mr. J. E. Richardson, grade 9 and General Shop; Mrs. E. McLellan, Lemon of Collingwood, Ont., Mrs. Esther Lamb of Red Deer, Mrs. H. Crawford of Victoria, Mrs. T. Kells of Collingwood, Ont., Miss Beth Thorne, grades 5 and 6; Miss Margaret Harrold, a new addition to the teaching s aff, grades 3 and 4, and Miss Bolton, grades 1 and 2.

The rates set for students outside the local district wishing to attend the school are: grades 1 to 8, $24 per month; and grades 10, 11 and 12, $5 per month.

Effect of Leaving Milk on Doorstep

Housewives who allow bottled milk on doorsteps or apartment pans are to be exposed to direct sunshine just long for three minutes, according to certain research reports. Tests showed that bottled milk exposed to late morning sun for an hour lost 20 to 25 percent of its riboflavin in two hours, over half of the riboflavin content was lost. Riboflavin is one of the essential B complex vitamins. Prolonged deficiency of this necessary food element may result in eye disorders and organic damage. As an effort happens under present regulations, milk is delivered after all members of a household have gone to the week, and remains exposed for a long time. Under these circumstances, it is a good plan to keep a covered bottle within the milkman could place the bottle.

It has taken plenty of physical courage to win the fight for freedom. It will take plenty of moral courage to make the best use of what we've won.

Only a Baby

In 1941 there was an addition to the Bass family, "only a baby" but by grown up to be a great philosopher, the founder of that modern philosophy, that teaches us to "prove all things", rather than to accept blindly, the wisdom of the ancients", of "the confusion of the others", and incidentally, to induce the student to think.

In 1906 was born a baby, and named Gaston. He became a willful boy, and inclined to think. He often refused to accept some of the teachings of Aristotle, who had resigned on the embodiment of all wisdom and scientific knowledge. To prove one thing, he climbed the Leaning Tower of Pisa and dropped a ten pound ball and a one pound ball, at the same time, and they struck the ground together. The teachers saw, but they would not believe their eyes. He had fooled the devil to bewitch the ten pound ball, so that it would not fall ten times faster than the other. He asserted his belief in the theory of Copernicus, that the Earth rotates, and not the heavens around the Sun. By the Holy Inquisition he was forced to recant, but evidence obtained by force, or threats of torture, is no evidence. Now all intelligent people believe that Galileo was right, and we wonder that people did not know that 300 years ago. But people of all ages have been inclined to let others do their thinking, and many do so yet.

WORLD FOOD and the PRAIRIE FARMER

I. THE CHALLENGE OF FOOD SHORTAGE

By Dean R. D. Steelye

(NOTE—This is the first of a series by the well-known author. Mr. written expressly for the Weekly Press of the Prairie Provinces.)

At the peak of the depression of the early thirties farmers in some countries were paid for the wheat which they didn't raise, young pigs were slaughtered to produce tankage or were dumped into the sea. There appeared to be too much food in sight but at the same time millions of people were starving in other parts of the world. Actually there was not too much food if it had been properly distributed. A careful study of the records shows that there has never been too much food in the world when the actual needs of all the people have been taken into account.

The United Nations Food Conference held at Hot Springs, Virginia, in 1943 set itself to the task of studying what could be done to improve the standard of nutrition of the peoples of the members of the nations through better distribution of the available food. It was recognized that people must be able to purchase food if it is made available to them and at the same time the farmer must be assured a fair return for his food produces. The words uttered by the late President Roosevelt at the conclusion of this epoch-making conference have resounded throughout the United Nations. He said: "You have surveyed with courage and with realism the magnitude of the s problems and have reached sensible an agreement that they can and must—and will—be solved . . . The objective, as one more from long hit or experience, will not be easy to achieve. But you and I know also that throughout history there has been no many worth while, no more inspiring challenge That challenge will be met."

There is a determination abroad that the objectives of the Food Conference must be woven into the pattern of our World Security Organization that is designed. National policies which are being developed to relate our production to that of other countries and to offer some protection against collapse of prices must that agriculture can move forward with a feeling of security that it has not had in the past.

It is proper at this time for the farmers of the Prairie Provinces to examine their position and see where they fit into this scheme of better human nutrition and an expanding consumption of food products. Our problem is not only one of producing food for the immediate needs of starving millions in devastated countries but one involving a long-term programme which will affect generations to come.

We have largely passed the stage of the pioneer outlook in connection with farming in Western Canada. The sons and grandsons of the early settlers have their roots firmly established in the soil of this country. There is no thought of moving on to another location. We should be thinking now more than ever before along the lines of building permanent homes, substantial and convenient farm-yards and the development of communities in which it will be possible for the best Protectionary should be a dominant motive in all of the processes of our western agriculture. The savings which have been put by in the form of Victory Bonds during the war may well be the means of making it possible to make a switch over from wasteful methods to permanent improvements. Yes, we are going to be engaged in the business of producing food in Western Canada for a long time to come.

The records are in agriculture production in Western Canada during the years of the present war, in spite of handicaps of equipment and labour, indicate that we can still go a long way in increasing our contributions to the world's stock of food supplies. We have vast undeveloped soil resources. Thousands of our boys are going to settle on the land when they are released from military service We will have to consider making room for some of those who would like to come here from countries where the farms have been plundered and devastated by a ruthless enemy. How can we organize our resources so that we may meet the challenge and opportunity of feeding the people of the world more adequately and at the same time bring about a higher standard of farm life on the prairies? We will study this question in the short months which will follow in this issue

FARM REFRIGERATION

The rapid growth of refrigerated storage on farms in the United states has been one of the striking developments in agriculture in recent years. By which farmers have increased the value of his products. Much of the fruit in New York state and Nova Scotia is handled by trucks which are backed right up to the doors of the farm storages.

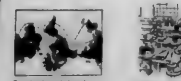
TEXTILES

The supply of textiles is not adequate to the demand. For six years, most of the world output has gone to war. Victory has not improved the situation. There will not be enough textiles in Canada for many months to come.

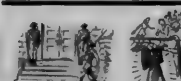
HERE ARE SOME OF THE REASONS—



Canada depends largely on other sources for raw materials for many yarns and fabrics.

A serious manpower shortage still confronts the textile industry of all allied countries.

Shortages overseas must be met. It will take months before production is resumed in Europe.



Substantial quantities of all kinds of textiles are still required by occupational forces.

Demands created by textiles destroyed simply during the war. It is still going on.

Civilian clothing needs of re-liberating countries and of ours are creating the demand here at home.

CONSERVATION IS THE KEYNOTE

This year, production directives have again been issued to the textiles industry.

They are intended to direct output to more essential goods.

But directives alone cannot cure a situation arising from world conditions.

The answer lies in conservation. More than ever, the need is to conserve, to take care of what there is, to mend, make-over and make-do.

New Methods of Producing Penicillin

United Kingdom scientists have discovered two methods of producing penicillin on a tremendous scale Fermentation on corn potato prodnge form the ba in of the first method, which was discovered by research workers of the Hi, ligate Hospital, London, reports British Medical Journal After treatment with water and hydrochloric acid, potatoes have been found to yield an extract which, after further treatment, provides a product sensitive to the growth of penicillium notatum.

The second method, which was discovered by a young Glasgow doctor, is based upon which use a chemical which is used to produce penicillin of tobacco plants. Fed on mash he Dr Gaudes and Mr. J. McKechnie, his laboratory technician, have been trying to find an agent which would double the growth of penicillin mould This have discovered that a certain produces six times as much as Indoles. Moreover penicillin produced by this new means is found to be having more germicidal power previously grown

New Textiles Made From Sea-Weed

During the war British scientists discovered a new raw material for textiles called "Algin", which by a hitherto secret process is produced from seaweed Details have now been made about it Professor Speakman of Leeds University has described the history of the new discovery It is stated that the sea-weed around the coasts of Britain contains about 40 percent "Algin", which was formerly used for mixing explosive materials and for the manufacture of water-proof materials. Originally such materials could not be washed, as soap dissolved "Algin". In the textile chemistry laboratory of Leeds University, a process was developed by means of which "Algin" could be woven into a washable, flexible, resistant and completely fire-proof material, which could be used in the manufacture of fire-proof clothing.

Your Support IS VITAL TO RATIONING
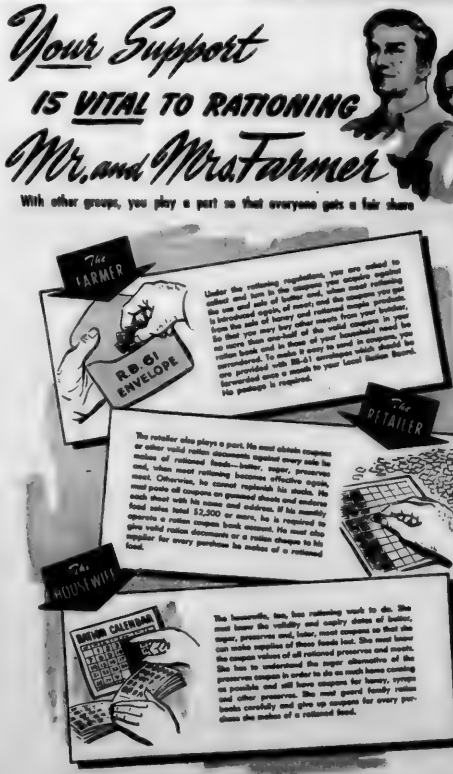
Mr. and Mrs. Farmer
With other groups, you play a part so that everyone gets a fair share



Under the rationing regulations, you are asked to collect and turn in to rationing your coupons required for the sale of butter, sugar, meat, canned milk, and all canned, bottled and packaged fruits and vegetables. Your coupons from these foods are to be collected regularly and turned over to your butcher, grocer or other retailer every week or two. Be sure to keep your ration book safe and to use your coupons only for the purchase of your household needs. Do not accumulate coupons. If you do not use your coupons, you will be penalized when you apply for your next ration book. Coupons are provided with RB-61 envelopes for your convenience. Be sure to use these envelopes when you turn your coupons in to your local Ration Board. No postage is required.

The retailer also plays a part. He must obtain coupons or other valid ration documents for every sale he makes of rationed foods—butter, sugar, preserves and, when meat rationing becomes effective, meat. Otherwise, he cannot replenish his stocks. He must paste all coupons on gummed sheets and enclose them with his regular deposit slip. Coupons and food sales total $2,500 or more, he is required to receive a ration coupon for each amount. He must also register for every purchases he makes of a rationed food.

The housewife, too, has rationing work to do. She must know the validity and expiry dates of butter, sugar, preserves and, later, meat coupons so that she can make supplies of these foods last. She must know the coupon values of all rationed preserves and meats. She must understand the super alternatives of the line to be substituted for rationed preserves and meats. She must use these substitutes as much as possible and still have coupons for honey, syrups and other preserves. She must guard family ration books carefully and give up coupons for every purchase she makes of a rationed food.

RATIONING is your assurance of a fair share. It is a protection against waste ::: shortage . . . inflation.

That is why farmers are asked to continue to collect and turn in coupons to their Local Ration Boards - once a month - in the RB-61 envelope.

Providing for Vets

The Alberta government has developed a plan for the breaking-up of 1,000,000 acres of land in the Peace River area to provide Alberta war veterans with farms. The veterans settling in the area will pay the government one-third of each year's crop for seven years, after which he will obtain title for the land. If he wants to leave before taking title he can obtain a maximum of $2,500 under the federal government's Veterans Land Act for stock, buildings and equipment. The provincial government will collect no interest or taxes during the seven years. All it takes is one-third of the crop whether it be good or bad.

While the veteran is waiting for his first crop he can qualify under the Department of Veterans Affairs for "benefits while awaiting returns." This entitles him to a maximum of $60 per month if single or $70 per month if married, and if he has any children, $12 each for the first two, $10 for the third and $8 each for the third, fourth and sixth.

The land is to be cleared in blocks of 160 acres each ten thousand acres and each half section is reported to have 200 acres of cleared land with the rest left for windbreaks, etc.

Weights of Fruits And Containers

A comparison of the officials net weights and various kinds of standard containers of fruits shows some interesting facts. The net weight of a bushel of apples is approximately 120 lb., and a barrel of pasture, 180 lb. While a bushel of apples weighs approximately 56 lb.; a bushel of peaches, pears, or plums is 50 lb., the same as a bushel of tomatoes; and a bushel of ripe tomatoes is 53 lb., similar to that of potatoes. The net weight of a box of apples is 42 lb.; a box of peaches, 22 lb.; a box of pears, 45 lb.; a box of crab-apples, 32 lb. and a Quebec box of green tomatoes contains 30 lb. An 11-quart flat basket of pears has a net weight of 13 lb., while a like basket of plums is one pound more.

Some of the net weights and containers in detail are:—Apples, barrel 185 lb.; box 42; bushel, 56lb.; crate, 40 lb.; 6-quart open basket, 7 lb.; 11-quart open basket, 14 lb.

Peaches—6 quart into basket, 10 lb.; 6-quart open basket, 7 lb.; 11-quart open basket, 14 lb.

Pears—6-quart into basket, 10 lb.; 6-quart open basket, 7 lb.; 6-basket crate, 30 lb.; 6-basket crate, 36 lb.; 11-quart flat basket, 15 lb.; 11-quart lens basket, 13 lb.; box, 45 lb.; and bushel, 56 lb.

Plums and prunes—6-quart flat basket, 8 lb.; 6-quart lens basket, 11 lb.; 11-quart flat basket, 15 lb.; 11-quart lens basket, 13 lb.; box, 45 lb.; and bushel, 56 lb.

Tomatoes, ripe—6-quart basket, 10 lb., 11-quart basket, 17 lb.; 6-basket crate, 30 lb., Lug, 20 lb., Quebec box 22 lb.; and bushel 60 lb. Comparison of the 6-quart measures of the various fruits is of interest.

Exports Stopped Of All Barley

After reviewing the estimated production figures of the 1945 barley crop and the carryover from the 1944 crop, it is considered essential that in order to protect the agricultural live-stock program, the entire crop be held for Canadian requirements, says the Food Administrator of the Agricultural Supplies Board and the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Consequently, no further export permits will be granted for barley, whole, ground or processed.

National Railways President Expresses Thanks for Co-operation

In a message addressed to the Canadian public, Mr. S. C. Vaughan, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, has expressed the system's thanks for the co-operation given it during the war by the millions of users and non-users of passenger, shipment of freight and express, hotel guests, and patrons of the telegraph and other services. The Canadian National's ability to fulfil its gigantic war duty "to the credit and satisfaction of the nation," he said, "is due not only to the skill, devotion and zeal of those who are our workers, but in large measure also to the Canadian public who, by their generous responses to appeals for help and their uncomplaining acceptance of restrictions and controls, lightened our burden." He made particular mention of "the unnumbered citizens who refrained from travelling needlessly as their contribution to the common cause."

From the outbreak of war in September, 1939, to V-J day, Canadian National passenger train miles amounted to more than 138 million, according to the Bureau of Statistics. Passenger car miles totalled more than one billion, 217 million. It is estimated that more than 152 million passengers were carried; up to the end of last year, more than four million troops had been transported 8,849 special trains. The movement of troops relieving home leave periods was a co-ordinating and operation that required the most careful planning and execution. Canadian National passenger, shipment of freight and express, hotel guests, and patrons of the telegraph and other services. TO THE CANADIAN PUBLIC

WE SAY

Thank You

DURING the war, as happily ended, the Canadian National Railways, as Canada's greatest transportation system, had a gigantic task to do.

Our ability to fulfil this duty to the credit and satisfaction of the Nation is due, not only to the skill, devotion and zeal of those who are our workers, but in large measure to the Canadian Public who, by their generous responses to appeals for help and their uncomplaining acceptance of restrictions and controls, lightened our burden.

We wish to thank the Canadian Public sincerely for their help—the millions of passengers who used our trains and steamships, the shippers of freight and express, the guests in our hotels, the patrons of our telegraph and other services, and the unnumbered citizens who refrained from travelling needlessly as their contribution to the common cause.

The surrender of the last enemy has ended the fighting but it has not ended the war job of the Canadian National Railways. The men and women in the Services have to be brought home without delay and for that purpose we shall continue to employ all our available passenger equipment. Millions of tons of materials must be transported for industrial reconversion.

So in saying "Thank You" we express the hope that in carrying out these and other extensions of our war job, we may continue to enjoy the understanding of the Canadian Public.

TRAINING FOR PEACE

We are now a nation trained for war. Hard training in camp and factory overcome the soft habits of peace and put fit men and weapons on the battlefield.

But are we training for peace? Have we made ourselves fit as a nation, in our homes and factories, offices and farms, to resist temptation to sink back in victory? Have we toughened our mental and moral muscles to fight on now to secure the peace and build a new world?

Just as soft living life softens men for war, selfish home life stifles them for peace. Husbands, wives, and children can train together now for the adventure of a new home life. With the boys home, and the first thrill of reunion over, our families need not settle back to the dullness or the petty quarrels that lead to broken homes. New homes will fashion the new age. Every husband and wife, son or daughter, has a part. They can train themselves to come to it—instead of snapping back. They can train themselves to think of each other instead of themselves. Every victory they gain in these daily tussles with self-will, is a brick in the new structures of new families and a better world.

Just as slow-downs, strikes and back-outs crippled industry for war production they can cripple industry in peace. Especially they keep us from producing that great peace-time priority—national unity. They keep us from developing that pattern of a behaver which can win the confidence and friendship of other nations. FEEDING HOGS ON WHEAT

It is considered by some that there may be some shortage of barley for hog feeding this year.

It is rather generally admitted by feeders that to prevent gradually the barley ration until the hogs are ready for market at advanced prices. Some farmers, however, follow the practice of using wheat up to about 60 percent of the ration. In recent years some quite large herds of hogs on the prairie have adopted the practice of feeding wheat entirely, without any ill effects, to the young hogs after they have reached what is called the feeder age, that is around 90 to 95 pound weight; grinding the wheat and adding to it, so that it is all thoroughly mixed. 3 per cent of tankage, and using self-feeders, with lots of clear drinking water readily available These hog feeders who are using wheat alone with tankage claim they are obtaining as high a percentage of selects as those who feed barley, stating there is no difference in feeding hogs barley and oat hulls which the animals cannot digest.

I have just visited one of these large hog feeding farms using wheat and tankage exclusively, and I must say that what I saw certainly appears to confirm the claims made for finishing wheat and tankage.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

France, as a result of smaller acreage, drought in the months of August and September, 1944, and other causes, expects a poor wheat harvest.—Sicily's wheat harvest is reported to be less than half normal, with the same conditions prevailing along both coasts of the Mediterranean.

Britain's wheat acreage, which is approximately 900,000 acres below that of a year ago, is estimated to yield a better than average crop.—The crop in Colombian rice prospects are favorable for a larger harvest than last year's crop which was 1,922,000 bushels.—A record breaking crop of wheat is expected in the north-western part of the U.S.A.

Several million pounds each bar and household type soaps is assured by a new Wartime Prices and Trade Board order which will result in the distribution of soap man factors over allocation of soap fat.

Soap should find its way to retailers' shelves within ten days of the order, said F. H. Lobbery, administrator of oils and fats.

There is no lack of soap in Canada, Mr. Lobberg said, but recent scarcity of her laundry soap is a result of a shortage of a specific material required for this variety plus panic buying and hoarding.

DORA DIRNEY REPORTS

Federal Wartime Speed Rule Dropped

After being in effect for more than three years, the speed limit of 40 miles per hour on highways has been removed by the dominion government.

Official word that the order has been lifted has been received by the Alberta Motor Association. It did not come as something entirely unexpected as it has been anticipated for some time since the end the war that those restrictions on motorists would be removed without delay.

While the 40-miles per hour speed limit is gone, motorists are urged by the federal authorities to drive at moderate speeds to conserve tires and automobile equipment. This advice should be carefully observed as it will be in the interests of our drivers to avoid accidents, inconvenience to officials of the A.M.A.

Many cars still are being driven on old tires. If caused by speed in a blowout, there is the odd risk of accidents, probably with fatal end at least serious results in many cases.

With the speed limit fixed by federal wartime orders now removed, Alberta drivers will be governed by the provincial act which says cars must be operated at a reasonable speed, having regard to the circumstances and conditions on the highway.

Here are the answers to some of the questions that are asked by the veterans:

Q. I have to apply for a small building under the Veterans' Land Act within 10 years after my discharge?—No; there is no time limit.

Q. Where can I find out about construction problems?—Ah easy-to-read booklet, "What's Ahead", tells the whole story. You can get a copy free on the nearest office of the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

Q. As a veteran, am I entitled to a job in the Dominion Civil Service?—If you have passed the qualifying examination calls for, you will receive a preference over all non-veteran applicants. The veteran who has been awarded a disability pension is considered first.

Q. Can I take a part-time job while I am receiving a training grant from the Department of Veterans' Affairs?—Yes. While you are training, you may earn up to $60 a month under the present grant being raised.

Q. Can my Re-establishment Credit be used to reduce the mortgage on my home?—Yes. Apply at the District Supervisor of Re-establishment Credit, at D.V.A.'s nearest office.

In these any provision for loans to veterans who want to set up in business?—Not under the rehabilitation program. However, Re-establishment Credit—which is a grant, not of this attractive material.

One of the United Kingdom's war inventions was Perspex; as we know it in Canada, transparent, virtually unbreakable material used in the famous Spitfire of Hawker windscreens. This same material will now be applied to peace time production under the name of Perspex. Already manifold uses for commodities of goods are being produced from this material, including cosmetic bathrooms, chemical and kitchen utensils, picture frames and even furniture. Instead of corrugated iron, Perspex glass may now be used for roofs. Jewellery, toys and wireless castings are also being made out

New Building Material

British scientists have produced a new fireproof building material from waste ash which may save millions of pounds (sterling) annually.

It is claimed that its strength improves with age; it is not influenced by frost or damp; it is vermin-proof; it can be coloured, textured and painted in colour, sawn to any shape and will take screws and nails.

The new material is made from a waste product of electricity power-stations—the ash residue from furnaces which burn pulverized coal.

It is claimed that over 900 million bricks would be produced in Britain with the ash, which is now thrown away, at an approximate cost of and strength.

Fire Blight on Apple Trees in Alberta

Recent surveys made in Alberta by the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, University of Alberta, have disclosed that the fire' blight disease of apple trees is spreading rapidly throughout areas hitherto free from it. For example, fire blight apparently was not present in Edmonton until very recently, but now it may be seen in many parts of the city. Crabapples are particularly susceptible to fire blight The disease is bacterial in nature and is spread mainly by rain and wind to parts of the same tree or to adjacent trees, says G. R. Bamford, Pathologist-in-Charge, Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Edmonton, Alberta. Once some of the bacteria become infected, it may be spreading by pollinating insects from blossom to blossom, tree to tree, and orchard to orchard. The disease was originally introduced in a district on nursery stock.

As the name suggests, fire blight is easily recognizable by the scorched appearance of the leaves of affected branches or shoots. Frequently fire blight appears first on the topmost branches, where the leaves, wood, buds of twigs and of spurs become dark, and sags the fruit, may all be diseased. Eventually the entire tree may be killed.

As spraying is not a practical means for controlling fire blight the diseased parts must be cut out immediately they appear. The cut should be made at some distance below the obviously diseased area and the discarded parts burned. Also, great care must be taken to keep the pruning tools disinfected by dipping them between each application in a solution containing one part of formalin to 999 parts of water, or even stronger. Wounds made during the dormant season the tools used not be disinfected.

A popular description of fire blight, with suggested methods of control is given in Circular No. 181 available free from the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

BURGANDY MIXTURE

Experiments conducted by Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology at St. Catherines, Ont., have shown that Burgandy mixture 4-4-40 has consistently proved superior to any other spray material for the control of celery blights. Burgandy spray is made up the same as Bordeaux mixture, but washing soda is used instead of lime.

New Invention for Detecting Cracks

A new British crack detector has been developed for shapes and materials beyond the scope of other equipments. The apparatus, which is known as the Metrafax, operates by fluorescent indication. It consists of an inspection cabinet and a tank, the latter being divided into three compartments for impregnating, cleaning and drying. Operation is simple The material under examination is first soaked in a fluorescent substance in the impregnating tank, dipped into the cleaning tank, and then covered with fine sawdust in the drying tank. It is next placed in the inspection cabinet, where a mercury vapour discharge lamp bathes it in ultra-violet light, when the fluorescence brilliantly reveals even the most minute cracks. Special areas can be brought into prominence by means of a lever which causes the rays to be focussed on any given point, fluorescence being accordingly increased. One important advantage of this system is that the ultra-violet rays are noticeable the sound surfaces are dimmed, so that any fluorescent markings stand out as sonic contrast. The cabinet has a hooded design which effectively dispenses with the necessity for a dark room or other special provisions entailed under former testing methods. The Metrafax outfit can deal with many shapes and materials in the magnetic and non-magnetic metals, and alloys, plastics, ceramics and other solids. Besides exposing surface cracks, folds, or porosity, it also locates subsurface flaws, such as blisters or sandholes in vacuum equipment.

Increase Teaching Staff at Fort High

A special meeting of the school board was held Tuesday evening in the Town Hall to deal with the question of the number of students attending the Fort High Town East Ward School.

All school board members were present, also Mr. Le Blanc, Inspector of Schools and Mr. Hoang, Chairman of Ukrainian School Division. Teachers present at the meeting were Mr. Lavin, Mr. Richardson, Mr. Siddall and Miss Harold.

The number of students arriving on the school van from East Clover Bar for each of the first two days of school was 32 and after considerable discussion it was decided to drop 30 students down to 26 This is still in excess of the number that was finally left in the spring.

The question then arose of adequate teachers in order to give the best possible tuition to the pupils and also what accommodation could be made that would meet with the entire satisfaction of everyone.

With the additional pupils attending from East Clover Bar this brought the totals of grades 11 and 12 to 78, with the possibility of other students wishing to return to high school from the armed services. This is too many for two teachers to handle in order that they may get the necessary credits for entrance to the University.

This problem has been solved for the time being. Mrs. A. M. Carseadden has consented to substitute until another teacher is engaged.

In the matter of accommodation the school board decided to build an extra room in the basement of the school which will be adequately lighted and heated to make it comfortable for the class which is to be taught there.

Arrangements were made with Mr. Hoang and Inspector Le Blanc whereby extra school desks will be available. The meeting adjourned with everyone expressing their satisfaction with arrangements made.

CANADIAN MUNITIONS

In the opening up of Canada's northlands, few people may realize the pioneer work done, first by settlers, second by Dominion and Provincial governments, and later d.-veloped more rapidly by Experimental Farm Service.

The small sub-stations of a few years ago have become the full-fledged Experimental Stations of today, and they in turn through still more sub-stations extend the boundaries of food production further and further north, in fact all the way to the Arctic. The limits for commercial production for use in Canadian cities with expectable surpluses cease to be a factor beyond certain points all the more important because of isolation of the inhabitants of the north country who are developing Canada's mines, fisheries, and fur resources.

Christmas Seals

$9,000,000 Seals, enough to cover two acres, have arrived in Alberta for distribution next November. With enlarged lists and improved methods, there will be few homes in the province that will not receive these gaily-colored messengers of health and good-will.

Nine local Associations, sponsored by Rotary Clubs in Cardston, High River, Red Deer,, and by Kinsmen Club, in Banff, Calgary, Drumheller, Edmonton, Lethbridge and Medicine Hat, are already busily engaged in revising lists, addressing envelopes and completing plans for our greatest Seal Sale.

Allow More Shoe Styles

Price controls and the Board's policy of equitable distribution of supplies continue effective, the Prices Board states.

To Next of Kin of Internees in Far East

Our National Office advise as follows:

Lt.-Col. J. E. McKenna, M.C., and Mr. Robert D. Raife have been appointed Canadian Red Cross representatives in the Far East and have left by plane for Manila to supervise the Society's relief work on behalf of repatriated prisoners of war, and civilian internees.

Approximately three hundred thousand food parcels, 50,000 men's and women's release kits and two thousand sets of clothing, made by Canadian Red Cross workers well in advance of emergency, are being shipped immediately for completion with other commonwealth Red Cross Societies who have pooled resources and personnel for mass undertaking.

As evidence of cooperation, word has come from the Australian Red Cross that on behalf of all Commonwealth Societies they shipped on HS Prince Robert, sailing from Melbourne to Hong Kong, 256 measurement tons of supplies of clothing, light diet foodstuffs, drugs and they manned the ship with their own Red Cross personnel to look after the distribution.

Through the American Red Cross, the Canadian Red Cross sent hundreds of messages from next of kin in Canada to Prisoners of War and Civilian Internees in the Far East to be delivered to them upon liberation. Col. McKenna is taking the balance of messages with him by plane which were received by the Red Cross Enquiry Bureau since that date.

Col. McKenna was lately the Canadian Red Cross Commissioner in Northwest Europe and just returned to Canada. Mr. Raife was formerly the Manufacturers Life representative in Shanghai and was repatriated on the Gripsholm in 1943. Both are exceptionally well qualified for the work ahead.

Salvation Army Appeal Opens This Week

Today sees the opening in communities across Canada, with a few exceptions, of the Salvation Army's National Home Front Appeal for $1,500,000 required to make up deficit on operations and to carry on the work next year. Separate appeals early in November are to be made in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria but appeals opening today are to be made in many communities near these cities.

Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, V. C., Chairman of the National Advisory Board of the Salvation Army; in a statement from Ottawa asking wide support of the campaign, declared that the $1,500,000 asked was a small sum for the support of a social service organization of such importance to Canada as the Salvation Army.

"However, enough people must contribute to make up this $1,500,000 or the work of the Salvation Army will be handicapped," he said.

Information on the uses to which the Salvation Army put its funds showed that more than 12 percent of the outlay in 1944 had been on rehabilitation work among veterans and their dependents, said Air Marshal Bishop. The total outlay this year was expected to be considerably higher, he said.

Salvation Army activities in communities in which it operated accounted for 82 percent. This work was for the regeneration of people and more of it could be classified as rehabilitation of people and much of it could be classified as rehabilitation work among the non-veteran population.

Another 27 percent was for social service. Under this heading came the chain of women's and children's institutions and hospitals across Canada, the prison work in all large cities, men's social work and the operation of hostels.

The balance was devoted to the maintenance of Salvation Army missionaries sent out from Canada, divisional, national and international headquarters, training costs and the pensions fund, said Air Marshal Bishop.

Bold Ways to Better Days

By E. J. DEACHMAN

Sometime ago I received a letter from a farmer in Western Canada. It was winsome, bright, humorous, yet it carried in subtle ating to the home of the folks of today. I wrote and asked for permission to reproduce it. His answer was: "Go ahead, but of course, if it should be taken seriously and put into effect the sin will be on your own head."

Well, we know what an experiment may be moved to speedy action or how quickly a suggestion, made in jest, might be lifted by one of our junior parties and become a permanent plank in a political platform but here's the letter—I take the chance:

THE NEW ENGLISH

I am sending you another pamphlet in "The Behind the Headlines" series. As I was reading it the thought came to me that somebody ought to offer a prize for the best Utopian suggestion for the future security of the race. The points to be considered in awarding the prize would be:

1. The pleasure its veteries would get from contemplating the great good it would do to humanity.
2. The simplicity and smoothness with which it could be introduced, extended, reduced or abandoned as developments required.
3. The visibility of its effect on the economy, so that the people would be able to see for themselves how it works out.

I will not consent to be one of the judges because I intend to enter the contest. I have a suggestion to make, here it is:

Let every housewife, who wishes the best for her home, and husband, who wishes to do so hire a man to look after the painting, repairing, gardening, etc. Let the government pay all those workers and also pay the housewife for boarding them. Of course wages will have to be standard, and hours of work limited.

I think this is a wonderful scheme. It would require no capital investment to set those people to work. It would not shift the population from one centre to another and so it would create no housing problem. If the home of a would-be employer was too small to accommodate this extra help the householder might be allowed to hire his own wife to keep house for him, while she hired him to light the fires and carry out the ashes. As times improved and other jobs became available men could resquit those domestic jobs and take on others more to their liking.

P.S. My wife now points out that, from a women's standpoint, it is perfect—cooks get more pay than fur-ace men—why should I care the government's paying for it anyway!"

ANOTHER VIEWPOINT

In the same mail came a letter from a lawyer in Saskatchewan. He is not in politics but he is a keen shrewd judge of economic problems. He writes with the maturity and wisdom of a man of experience. He looks forward to future progress in human affairs, not in miracles, but by the increase of understanding, the development of the capacity for straight thinking:

"People failed to think ahead and to appraise, shrewdly, the almost inevitable end of dictators. A wise nation should have known that Hitler at the very zenith of his power, had set in motion forces that would destroyed in his consternation. Their ever-ready excuse is that they did not dream that Hitler would do what he did. In the domestic field, political as well as economic, the same short-sighted reasoning is perused. One of the greatest gifts God could bestow upon any people would be the ability and the desire to think before, rather than after the event. Look back over the tragedies and mistakes which could have been averted if only people had been willing to consider the steps they were taking and the probable consequences of their thoughtless inaction."

Here are two views, the cynical and the serious—both will be needed if we are to retain our sanity as we move, from war conditions, back again to the problems of peace.

Farmers Collect Coupons for Meat

Under meat rationing regulations that time, there will be two changes affecting farmers who slaughter meat for their own and farmer neighbour's consumption, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces.

Farmers will have to deposit monthly at the Local Ration Board, coupons covering meat consumed in their own household, and sales to farmer neighbours, at the rate of 4 lbs. per coupon. To allow variety in diet, no more than half the valid meat coupons in the farmer's household ration book need be deposited. The other half may be used to purchase meat.

This concession does not apply to farmers who buy meat from other farmers. They must surrender one coupon for every 4 pounds purchased, and are not allowed to retain half the valid coupons in their ration books.

Campaign for Old Clothes Starts Soon

The local Committee for the National Clothing Collection have been assured by Mr. L. Bourne, Secretary of the Town of Fort Saskatchewan, that contributions of used clothing may be left with him at any time. If there are those in town or country who have clothing to donate and who cannot conveniently wait until the regular dates for the Collection, here is your opportunity. Just leave what you have at the town secretary's office, Fort Saskatchewan. It would be imposing on Mr. Bourne's generosity, however, for everyone to do this. If you can possibly wait, do so. During the nation-wide campaign October 1 to 20, a central place will be found to which the clothing donations of each country community can be gathered, and from that centre they will finally be brought by truck to the Fort. In the town, a house-to-house canvass will be made. Members of committee people who will make the arrangements will be published in a later issue. Meantime, look into your own trunks and closets, and get ready what you can give, in a bale it small you are told what to do next. Remember the desperate need of Europe for all that you can spare!

Washable garments should be washed at home but need not be ironed. Other garments should be cleaned and sanitized, but need be dry cleaned. If garment need mending, and you have n t time, donate them anyway, as a group of town ladies will undertake to attend over all garments for needed repairs. Types of need clothing desired are men's, women's and children's suits, all odd coats, shirts, trousers, women's dresses, blouses and aprons, men's, women's and children's overcoats, jackets of al kinds, scarves and shawls, fee wear (fas e el ftwn by in pairs), and blankets.

THE ROAD AHEAD

A Column for Service People

By H. Gee Stevenson

Most I pass a modest enumeration before I can take out a veterans license?

—No, except in a few special cases. At first, a basic purpose of veterans' insurance is to protect the dependents of those on service people who, because of required health, cannot pass the medical exams required by commercial insurance companies.

I have a chance to become a partner in a small radio repair shop. Can my Re-establishment Credit be used for this purpose?

—No. Under present regulations, the Credit can only be used to help finance your own business or to help you buy one.

How soon after discharge must I apply to my former employer if I want my old job back?

—Normally, you must apply within three months after discharge in Canada, or four months after discharge overseas.

Have I complete my enlistment under the rehabilitation program?

Yes if your occupation calls for "mature" you may join as both a spend-up course and maintenance grants. You are eligible equally if you are preparing for University study. However, in this second case you would do better to find your own bills for your postgraduary work unless fees are higher at University, as it's a good idea not to exhaust part of your benefit period before you even get started.

Where is "rehabilitation training"?

This term is often used in reference to the whole program of unemployment training for veterans. Instruction is given not only full-time (and part-time) classes, but also by apprenticeship, by training "on the job", and by correspondence courses.

Why, formerly used only as veterans made it very possible and reduce the death toll.

Wave Motorists of Deadly Riverside

Danger lurks in the shallows of the Athabasca River, motorists at time of the year, according to officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

Recently, there have been reports of deaths in different parts of the country from these poisonous flowers in one instance, deaths of two or six quests were reported.

Hemlock and deadly water parsnip are the highest, due to the abolition of grandma rationing. That condition probably will prevail for some time, which calls for extra care.

Car experts advise that every step be taken to prevent against carbon monoxide. When starting the car up in the garage now that colder weather can be expected, make sure that at least one window is open to prevent the flow of air. Have the car checked over for any defects and thus check any possible monoxide gained against deadly carbon monoxide in every way possible and reduce the death toll.

TIMELY FARM NOTES

WILD OATS ON SUMMERFALLOW

As a result of weather conditions during the past season, germination of wild oats on summerfallow fields has not been satisfactory, says R. J. Mather, Supervisor of Weed Control. Unless a wet fall allows germination and frost killing before winter, there is a possibility of severe wild oat infestation on these fields next year.

The wild oat seed, unlike commercial grains, contains a high percentage of dormant seeds which germinate in the following year. Before the seeds will germinate a drying out process is necessary, which is accompanied by certain changes within the seed. This process is known as "after ripening." Following the after ripening period, the seed is then in condition to germinate providing sufficient moisture is available. The hot, dry weather of the past summer has done much of the after ripening of wild oat seeds on our summerfallows, but unless sufficient moisture is received during the next few weeks the seeds will remain dormant and germinate first thing in the spring. Farmers are advised to observe carefully throughout the fall, their summerfallow fields and where wild oats are known to be prevalent, and reduce subsequent germination, to delay cropping next year until the weeds have germinated and can be destroyed by cultivation.

TREATMENT OF WILD OATS ON SUMMERFALLOW

Many crops this year are polluted with wild oats, and although full cultivation is a sound recommendation for wild oat control on stable, the time when that cultivation is ineffectual is important. Shallow cultivation directly behind the binder is not a sound method for the control of wild oats, although it is very satisfactory for sow-thistle, dandelion and some other weeds and are valuable means of control for these.

Successful control of forest tent caterpillars depends to a considerable extent upon having a model built machine and good storage conditions, says R. H. Anderson, Dominion Experimental Station, Melfort, Sask.

Vegetables that have been properly grown, have had a fair amount of moisture during the season, have not been crowded and have developed uniformly and not too quickly are free from insect injuries and disease that are likely to give trouble in storage, should be in satisfactory condition for storage or cooling harvesting has been properly carried out. The hot weather should be a factor in the proper season. This will vary with different vegetables and in such a way to avoid mechanical injury. Only sound well matured vegetables in a dry condition should be expected to keep a long time in storage.

Good storage conditions are those where the temperature can be kept near to freezing but not below the freezing point, where good ventilation can be maintained, and where the storage space is sufficient to allow proper treatment of the vegetables and to allow free circulation of air.

Carrots, beets, parsnips, turnips and cabbage keep best at temperatures ranging from 34 degrees with a not too dry atmosphere. Marrows, squash, pumpkin and onions should be stored in a dry place and will withstand temperatures up to 45 degrees.

Pitching carrots, beets and parsnips in fine sand will aid in the storage of these roots. Turnips can be piled in bulk like potatoes. Cabbage should be wrapped with two or three thicknesses of newspaper and placed on slatted shelves. The wrapped heads may be piled two or three deep and the shelves commercially used and the paper changed when it becomes too moist.

T

When we quit grumbling about everything that's wrong, we'll have more time to put things right.

Storing Vegetables

It is a wise part to study certain vegetables in winter use so that they may be available in the finest condition and a strategic part of the year. Potatoes, root crops, squash, pumpkins, marrow, cabbage and onions store well and are valuable source of food for the winter.

Public Opportunity No 1

No more exciting news of landings and invasions in the somewhat sobering news of today. The guns have stopped firing and industry has started firing machines once more become our prosperity unemployed. And the danger is not unemployment as such but of unemployment of a certain kind, namely that which results from a lack of purchasing power. In such a way to avoid the pitfalls of the past, we may set up a definite objective that will put enough money into circulation to give employment to those who want it and will grow.

Full employment might have been a disappointment. But not in the Canadian way. Democracy's answer to public problems No. 1 is to make it a real public problem. It is to insist that there is a personal reason for the work of each and to meet it through the collective responsibility that calls for absolute determination we can only solve it through the personal responsibility of absolutely everybody. That means you and me.

What can everybody do? What can anybody do?

Everybody can have the will to sacrifice in peace just as he did in war. A labor leader says he is going to suggest to his union that they cut their 40-hour week to a 35-hour week—that the work may be shared by all instead of totally cut off for some. A 35 hour week is not new. But the spirit that possesses it for your own reason is the spirit that can win democracy's battle.

British Book Experts To be Licensed

Plans to meet an immense European demand for British books have been announced recently. Arrangements have been made for United Kingdom publishers to resume the commercial aspects of books and periodicals and sale of translation rights to several European countries. Negotiations are underway for similar facilities to be extended to other countries. The French government has allocated a preliminary hundred thousand pounds sterling for the purchase of British books for sale in France, and similar allocations for purchases direct from the British book trade have been made by other Allied government. To meet the anticipated demand from Dallas publishers for translation rights, British book contracts are being negotiated for which advanced royalty payments will exceed five thousand pounds. So far the combined efforts of wartime transport and exchange difficulties and the United Kingdom paper shortages have prevented commercial exports. To most, at least partially, the great demand from Europe, however, United Kingdom publishers earlier this year arranged with Swedish publishers for the printing in Sweden of a quarter of a million books by United Kingdom authors.

AND YOU'VE GOT INFLATION

Let's not deceive ourselves by the belief that the danger is over—just because the war is won.

And let's remember that inflation is always followed by deflation with its misery of bankrupt businesses, mortgage foreclosures and unemployment.

It's your job and your savings that are at stake.

The danger of inflation, with its black shadow—deflation,—will remain so long as goods are scarce and insufficient to meet demands. That may be 6 months, 12 months, 18 months. Only time will tell. As quickly as controls are relaxed, prices will rise.

After nearly 6 years of war, industry cannot switch over to normal production of civilian goods by a snap of the fingers. Reconversion takes time. The whole system of raw materials, labour and production has to be re-geared.

In the meantime, price ceilings, rationing and other controls are the best weapons we have to fight inflation. They are helping to keep down the cost of living for every one of us. Without them, prices would soar.

BUT these are wrecking your budget. Don't rush to buy scarce goods. Keep on saving your money. Put it into Victory bonds and War Savings certificates.

Keep on supporting wage and price controls, and rationing.

Keep on fighting inflation and its black shadow . . . deflation.

This advertisement is issued by the Government of Canada to emphasize the importance of preventing a further increase in the cost of living now and definitely and unconditionally.

Chicken Mite Worst Poultry Pest

The most general pest affecting evenings of the poultry house during poultry is [illegible] is a small greyish or red colour, about the size of the head of a pin. Chicken mites live away from the birds most of the time and only visit them to suck their blood. They are [illegible] especially in summer when warm, seriously affecting egg production and perhaps even the [illegible] thriving.

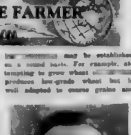
WORLD FOOD and the PRAIRIE FARMER



By Dean R. S. Sinclair

NOTE. This is the second of a [illegible] Economic Conference, [illegible] session expressly for the World's Press of the Prairie Provinces.

In my first article I pointed out that prior even to [illegible] peace in the future recognize [illegible] of freedom from want of food. There [illegible] unprecedented [illegible] and risk accompanying peace that the people of all nations desire to get [illegible] The farmers of the Prairie Provinces will have an opportunity and a responsibility in connection with this objective.

We really have at our disposal a vast agricultural empire. A consolidable proportion of the usable land area is still available. By [illegible] and improvement. It is estimated that in the three Prairie Provinces some 50,000,000 acres have been cultivated or may be classified as arable land in use at the present time. Soil [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] at even of approximately 50,000,000 acres may be classed as potential arable land. What much of this land is not of the highest grade it is regarded as of better quality than lands at present utilized in many densely populated parts of the world. By proper farming and by lands that are built up to a satisfactory state of productivity. On the basis of present number and size of prairie farms it may be estimated that we have room for an additional 100,000 farms even if plans for a more equitable distribution of food supplies, together with a cost plan for the farmer, should [illegible] we may look forward to the establishment of new farms to a point of absorbing our usable land.

The soils of the Prairie Provinces have been classified as to type and have been arranged into fairly well defined zones. These soils differ in their composition and have originated in a considerable extent as a result of the climatic conditions which prevail in the various zones. A period of from fifty to sixty years of farm experience over [illegible] and lost to others—together with soil surveys and agricultural research has made available a body of knowledge which enables us to use the land in the western soil zones to proper advantage. We now know fairly well the crops that will grow best and the type of farming that will yield the greatest security to each one. It is vital that we [illegible] to additionally effective. It is best to give the greatest income two applications of the mixture at intervals of one week.

With meat rationing in effect the demand for eggs and poultry will increase. So there is more money to [illegible] to highest production and controlling chicken mites will help to do this.

foreign crops along with livestock is [illegible]

wise, efforts to emphasize livestock where there is lack of security of [illegible] is a hazardous undertaking.

In the past many farmers have realized that some adjustment was necessary on their farms to bring their programme into line with the soil and climatic conditions prevailing in their locality. Their [illegible] reasonable have been too slow [illegible] to enable them to "change gears". The improvements brought about through more favorable prices during recent years, together with savings in the form of Victory Bonds, offers the possibility that the reorganization of farm plan which had been hoped for may be brought about.

In addition to the question of some adjustment on the individual farm there is to be considered the probable necessity of some reorientation of our production on the Prairie Provinces in relation to the agricultural [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] those which have a surplus of food products. It is certain that we must take into account what is going on in other farming areas of the world so that we may make the best contribution to a world that "surpasses in quantity and quality" and at the same time avoid over-production of certain products.

In the next article I shall examine our capacity for production, as indicated by our resources of soil and climate and see how adequate we are to meet the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Tea in Tablet Form

The London "Times of Ceylon Tea Planters" have recently removed the first "tea tablets which should conclusively simplify and cheapen the production of tea. They are the result of a process based on long years of experiments carried out by the "Ceylon Tea Research Institute".

The process is a simple one which reduces the time required to producing tea from 24 hours to 2 minutes. The tablets are easily made in Ceylon and then compressed into blocks of convenient size for packing and transport. Each tablet is the equivalent of a cup of tea.

HARDIMEN AID CHEST FUND—FASTBALL AT ALL-TIME LOW

Attended lobsters in the programs followed by the record-breaking score during the game to apply day settled by Al Cleland, sports writer of the Edmonton Journal. Read on you men!

"If to weren't for the fact that the Edmonton Community Chest Fund was the financial beneficiary, the weird spectacle staged before over 1,500 citizens last Thursday night at Kingsway Park might logically be placed as an offense under any existing criminal code.

It was labelled as a football contest between CJCA DOMFATCH DODGERS and CFRN SUNWAPTA BRAVES, but what happened ever seven delirious innings gave the allegedly fast-growing sport of football its most derisive check to date. The consistently loading up to a 14 victory for the patch-happy DODGERS.

Refreshed, whooping band of BRAVES is like sudden pickings from a Rube Goldberg scrapbook, but we haven't the courage for details. Briefly it went this way:

The DOGPATCHERS hoisted the opposition like a bunch of guys from Shinek Hollow as they raced five in the first off "Big Chief Wampum" Rice, added two in the third and single runs in the fourth and fifth, all off the hurling (?) of "Laughing Gopher" Schalmay.

The BRAVES met up with pitcher "Li'l Abner" Rutherford which was a reasonable resemblance of the orthodox brand and were limit of to one run in the first and an exhausting four run effort in the fifth. A familiar character by the name of "Lonesome Polecat" Fry took all the hitting honors as he stroked three hits in four trips for "Laughing Gopher" Rice. Miss was "Lonesome" shad ade with two hits in four hitless plate visits.

"Laughing Gopher" posed BRAVES' batters with two for three and "Hole in Two Two" Russell was also generous with two for four. The Russell displayed a lot of foot on the baseparths for an Indian with considerable Mid section Freight.

The program lasted three sun-playing performers as being members of the umpiring clan—Hibbs, Beebee and Lapel, by name—that if the Dogpatch Association ever gets a full report on their activities Thursday night there'll be three more names on the banned doo-lits list.

"Moonbeam" Sharpe was the victim of some wily BRAVES strategy when their absolutely unprivileged shortstop "Laughing Gopher" celebrated a grapefruit for the standard fast ball. He swung and there was eleven joins in more than one eye behind home plate.

While the main appeal of the DOGPATCHERS was in their Al Capp'ish patchwork uniforms, the BRAVES outdazzled them with painted and feathered surfaces worthy of a "Custer's Last Stand" epic. Chief optimist among the redskins was "Chief Worry" Ward, a shortstop not too comparable with Boom Wagner. This character made more noise during the game than enough.

The attendance may have been strictly Shollom, but Kingsway major-domo Art Shiltch admitted that the receipts almost mark a mark of humane in the park as that which any-flavored cats around sections of the football arena.

Edmonton's fans at least 1,500 of them, may have suffered while proving their civic pride, but when they have recovered from last Thursday's dismayed nightmare they'll remember the admirable objective and decide it was worth sufficient for. What a game."

WORLD FOOD and the PRAIRIE FARMER

WHAT ARE WE GOING TO PRODUCE?

By Dean B. D. Sandiste

(HOPE—This is the third of a series by this well-known author—Ed., written expressly for the Weekly Press of the Prairie Provinces)

In any consideration of a peacetime plan for the Prairie Provinces we immediately face the question of the relative importance of grains and livestock, and the means by which we can maximize the two to best advantage. We want to utilize our different soils to best advantage, make the most useful contribution to the world's food pile, and at the same time maintain our land in good condition for future generations.

We should aim to develop our production in accordance with the natural advantages and limitations of each soil type, and gradually make demands for different types of food products. With respect to the latter there are many possible quantitative at the present time. It is certain, however, that there are approximately two and one-quarter billion people in the world and that a large percentage of these should be better fed than they have been in the past. World food supplies have been long on stands and short on periods. To balance the world diet more livestock, dairy and poultry products are required. Reports presented at the United Nations Food and Agriculture Conference indicate that practically all centres would have to increase their volume of these products if the people were to be properly fed. There is a limit to the increases that can take place in certain densely populated countries and increases that do take place will be at the expense of wheat production.

It would seem that western farmers may look for a reasonable outlet for livestock and dairy products in the long term and that a withdrawal of lands from wheat production in certain European countries will establish an outlet for larger quantities of our wheat than were required during the immediate pre-war "normal" years.

In connection with wheat production, our aim should be to confine attention to that crop to the areas which have been proven capable of growing wheat of the highest quality. High protein content has always been the standard for export wheat and the reputation of Western Canadian wheat was established on this basis. The withdrawal from wheat production on lands which do not produce high-protein wheat would a wise in maintaining the reputation of this product and keep the volume within the limits of exports demand.

Large areas of our prairie soils are well adapted to the production of coarse grains of the best quality. We may expect that some coarse grains will move from the West to the East to assist in maintaining the livestock population on eastern farms and some will be exported to other countries for milling, brewing and other uses. As a long term policy, however, we should plan to convert the bulk of our coarse grains into livestock products on western farms. This will be particularly true the further the location is from terminal shipping facilities. Western farms are a long way from the ultimate consumer and we must, as far as possible, ship our products in the most concentrated form. For example, 1000 pounds of coarse grains can be moved in the livestock products and developing a proper mental farming layout. A shift from straight grain farming to this step may shrink the cash returns temporarily. Savings will relieve the situation during the transition stage.

In my next article I shall discuss how we may fit into beef and dairy production.

HOW TO STOP STRIKES

When a plant employing 20,000 loses 2½ million man-hours by strikes and work stoppages in one year it has almost ceased to be news, in today's continuous succession of labor disputes. But when a firm which had this experience in 1944 records a loss of only 3,500 man-hours in 1945, that is News!

Such is the story at the Bridgeport Manufacturing Company. The United Automobile Workers local union at Bridgeport was often described as the "enemy patrol" local of the biggest international union in the United States. So startling was the change this year that an international officer of the U.A.W., noting headlines announcing "strike" in a half-dozen of Detroit's major plants—with Bridgeport side-stepping peacefully said "How I've seen everything!" A large Detroit newspaper which kept in type for instant use the headline "Briggs on Strike Again" found no further need for that line.

The change started when the local, at its annual election ejected trouble-making officers, and elected sound leaders in whom the rank and file of the membership had a growing confidence. They were elected on a ticket whose objective was to fight for teamwork in the plant. Gordon Marshall, vice-president says this about it:

"We have come a long way since the days when we used to hide our badges so we came out of the plant, but I won't be content until Labor finds its fullest effectiveness in building industry, not only in industry, but as a pattern for every area of the nation's life. I found 30-cent-an-hour-ing Steel Re-Armament that I had to change myself, be honest with my wife, and get rid of bitterness in my heart against men in my union as well as men in management.

"Since then I have been trying to solve the problems in the plant and in my home on the basis of not what is right but what's right. This resulted in our being able to note's 67 grievances in 30 days by direct negotiation between the union and the company. They had been before the War Labor Board for 11 months wi hout settlement. This meant a's an incalculable saving of tempers, time and money to both union and company, and a new spirit of teamwork leading to increased production."

Half the time we're so busy wanting what we haven't got that we don't see what we have.

CANADA A MEETING PLACE

Canada has played an important role in the war, and her status as a nation has been enhanced in the eyes of the rest of the world.

I think one of the signs of the excellent standing which Canada enjoys is the holding of so many important meetings in the country. We have only to recall the UNRRA conference, and the Provisional International Civil Aviation Organization meeting as examples.

And now comes the first conference of the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, which is meeting at Quebec City, October 16 . . . FAO to give it its short title.

FAO FOR BETTER LIVING STANDARDS

In the words of Prime Minister Mackenzie King, "FAO is concerned primarily as a forum for the collection, the spreading, and the encouragement of advances in food and agriculture in all country, a status to which make possible a far higher standard of well-being than most of the world's people have ever known."

If we look at all this from a straight business point of view, we will all realize that a higher standard of well-being throughout the world will result in a higher demand of agricultural products, among other things. This all boils down to the fact that it's such a world the Canadian farmer will have a wider market for the things he produces.

FAO will keep in touch with developments everywhere. It will collect and disseminate a wide range of statistics. It will be expected to act as a spokesman for both producers and consumers in international meetings.

The FAO Conference will meet at least once a year.

HOUSING IN USSR

I have just been reading an interesting, and very informative article about housing in Russia. As I one of the things I learned is that the people of that country pay a good deal less of their income for rent than do the people of Canada.

I found, for instance, that in a check of the budgets of 80 families living in a Moscow apartment house it was found that the rent charged amounted to no more than two to five percent of the total income of the tenants.

Just to give you an idea of the housing bill in Canada, as compared with this low figure, the average city dweller in this country is said to pay anything from 20 to 30 per-cent of his salary in rent.

In Russia, rent is not charged for profit, but to recover the cost of building and maintaining a house. The rent is calculated according to the type of housing afforded, the salary earned by the lessee and the number of people he has dependent on him.

The majority of the dwelling houses in the Soviet Union belong to the state, to co-operatives and to public organizations. Individuals may also own the houses in which they and their families live.

Vacant living accommodation in buildings belonging to the local Soviets is allotted to citizens by an Issuance issue by the housing board of the Soviet. Houses owned by individuals are entirely at the disposal of their owners.

The car consists of a gigantic wheel approximately 12 feet in diameter, which contains the driver's seat and has a pressurized body which is largely made out of a special glass and light metal. The car, which the Inventor has named "The Bomb" is jet-propelled. It uses liquid gas as fuel, and works almost on the same principal as the German V2 rocket. According to the inventor, the "Bomb" will only be used after measurement and testing of fuels, lubricants and combustibles and after the running of the bureau body has been ascertained to the "lightning" ride. In his opinion, the construction of the new car will result also in the practical possibility of a journey in to space. The "Bomb" weighs about a ton and will cost $5,000.

WORLD FOOD and the PRAIRIE FARMER

DAIRY AND BEEF PRODUCTION

By Dean R. D. Steakie

NOTE—This is the fourth of a series by this well-known authority, written expressly for the Weekly Front of the Prairie Provinces.

Any plan designed to feed people properly and thus contribute to the peace of the world will give a prominent place to the dairy cow and the dairy industry. Milk, butter, cheese and other dairy products have been more highly appreciated than ever during the recent war years, and nutrition authorities stress the importance of maintaining the dairy industry at a high level during the years that lie ahead.

The Prairie Provinces have not been regarded as a great dairy producing area, but the fact remains that great strides have been taken since the output in all dairy products during the past thirty years. The performance during the period of the present war indicates the possibilities of dairying in a territory mainly thought of as contributing to world grain supplies. We have nothing to fear in the matter of quality of our commercial butter in competition with butter from other parts of Canada, western butter grades high.

Large areas of the West are ... [illegible] ...carried on as a regular enterprise, has created a profitable market for pasture and roughages and has been a means of marketing grains at high prices that would be obtained on the rough grain market.

Western Canadian range cattle have established a reputation for quality. Cattle from the farming areas, particularly from those farms where they are raised in small numbers, have not reached the same standard. Too high a percentage fall into improvement to true cow only be brought about through the consistent use of good sires and better fitting by means of marketing more grain in the form of good beef.

Good breeding, proper feeding, and a shortage of money has made it difficult for many cases in the past the use of our beef and dairy cattle to buy good sires or install labour saving equipment. It was often necessary to "cash in" on grain rather than hold it for feeding. Investments which dairy and beef producers have made in the form of Victory Bonds should provide an opportunity to purchase better sires and bring about other improvements in their production programme during the next few years. Now is the time to consolidate our position and press forward with the job of placing on the market beef and dairy products of the best quality

What can you Spare that they can Wear?

NATIONAL CLOTHING COLLECTION

For needy and destitute in war-torn lands...

In war-torn countries throughout the world, countless thousands of dazed and destitute people are today without adequate clothing, blankets or footwear. During six horror-filled years of war, the clothes on their backs have been worn to pitiful shreds.

The need is urgent — bitter winter weather is at hand. And the answer to the need lies largely in the clothes closets and attics of Canada—among the serviceable discarded wearing apparel that hangs there, idle and unused.

Look over your family's wardrobe — now! Pick out every garment you can possibly spare — overcoats, suits and dresses, underwear, sweaters and work clothes ... anything in usable condition ... anything out of date, out of fashion.

There are 125,000,000 men, women and little children in Europe alone who need your help—now! Will you do your share?

What YOU Can Do

1. Get together all the serviceable used clothing you can from your family, friends, Army and Navy kits and discharges.
2. Bundle up your contributions in readiness for the opening of the Collection Campaign on October 1.
3. Support your local Committee and help with clothing but with your time, effort and money.

ALL CHANGE!

Change is the law of life. But the dinosaur did not obey it. He seemed to be protected against everything that could happen. And he was—except against a change of climate. He could not, or would not, change to meet this new condition. Now the dinosaur is a colossal prehistoric fossil, gathering dust in a museum.

Will that ever happen to the human species? Could be. In England the great labor landslide is clearly a revolt of the ordinary man against conservative political and business leaders who refused to change. They had clung to precedent and privilege. They did not adjust to the new social climate. They did not think of the whole. Now here are a handful of their former selves in Parliament.

On Labor Day, in the United States Secretary of Labor Schwellenbach pointed to this same need for change. For a hundred years, he said, American business management has had the chance to change its motive practices and to give the nation a new lead. But they too refused to change—failed to claim their crown. So Government stepped in to do the job. And "free enterprise" may become a forgotten phrase in a dusty museum document.

Labor too, he said, must change and clean their own house. Or Government will step in and do the job. The labor union alone will become a museum relic.

Homecleaning in the nation must, like charity, begin at home. There are many stubborn dinosaur ways we will probably could change right at our own dinner tables. Demanding obedience of the children while obedient ourselves to nothing but our own desires. Demanding the family car. A change in these ways would make family life look less like a dictatorship. Less of a headache, more of a joy. A better working model of democracy in which two, three, four or more people begin to work together and think for the whole family instead of for themselves alone.

If we have held out against change we—and we are unperturbed even by the sharp swing to the left all around the world—the atomic bomb, at least, leaves no choice. We must all change and be decent to each other—men, and families, and industries and nations. Or we won't survive even as a fossil. We will be relegated to dust not worth saving in a museum. And so will the museums.

RCAF men forced to hold out over Germany were equipped with cyanamess hidden in many ingenious ways. One might be concealed in the second button of an airman's tunic with the north pole marked in phosphorous dots, or it might be hidden in his pipe stem, his pencil or in the back of a comb. All aircrew carried an emergency kit containing concentrated energy food, a tiny compass and foreign currency.

—V—

A special "Committee for Education" has been set up under the chairmanship of Vincent Massey, High Commissioner for Canada, to deal with Canadian service personnel desiring to take training courses while awaiting repatriation to Canada.

CANADA'S HELPING HAND

The change over from wartime to peacetime has not been an abrupt one, but every day more and more items that Canada is moving slowly but surely to the point where we will be able to look back and view war measures as past history.

We're going to have most rationing for some time to come, of course. And we all know the humanitarian reasons for that. The people who have had the full import of war right on their own doorstep are short of the necessities of life. We are citizens of Canada, and people of the world are going to extend a helping hand.

MORE JOBS THAN APPLICANTS

One of the real evidences of peace is the word of the Labor Department that extensive labor-shortages is passing. The number of persons now through the process of reassignment from war jobs to peacetime jobs has been steadily increasing.

But when I say that the extreme labor shortage is passing I do not mean that there are not more unfilled jobs than there are applicants for them.

As an example: On August 24, the number of jobs to be filled throughout Canada was a little short of 124 000, a drop of 7,000 during the preceding fortnight. To fill these vacancies, approximately 53,000 applicants would be available as compared with 68,000 two weeks earlier.

The labor Department notes that the decrease in requirements for war production has been offset to some extent by an upward trend in the demand for workers for civilian industries.

So, you see, we are marching along the peacetime road with its changing scenes, but they are not being too abrupt. After all, having been at war since 1939, you can't drop everything and start right in where you were before.

I don't think most of us want to be where we were in 1939, as a matter of fact. We want a better, safer world, and we're all going to work with that goal in mind.

NINTH AND BIGGEST

And one of the ways of making a better world will be to invest in Victory Bonds. That's another wartime feature that is still with us. We've supported previous loans with a will and we've asked to put our shoulders to the wheel again . . . but this time with reconstruction as our goal.

Our ninth and biggest, Victory Loan, to be launched October 28, is for $1,500,000,000. Hon. J. L. Ilsley, notes that previous loans have aimed to cover the financial needs for only six months, but because victory has brought a reduction in Canada's war costs, the ninth loan will meet borrowings for a 12-month period.

We've learned to bring peace, and now let's learn to make that peace effective.

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE

FARMERS URGED TO WRITE TO ISTAM'S

This "World of Wheat" column in the last two issues has drawn attention to the greatly increased income that has come to prairie farmers from the new varieties of wheat, oats, barley and flax that have been created and improved by the Dominion Experimental Farms, the Rust Research Laboratory and our Prairie Universities.

I am obliged myself to come to the most definite conclusion, however, that this work of providing additional valuable and money-making varieties for our prairie farmers could be "stepped up" if larger grants were to be allocated by Parliament to the Dominion Experimental Farms and to the Rust Research Laboratory. Parliament is now in session, and I suggest that if any farmers, or any other persons reading this column, agree with this view, that they would simply write a letter to their Dominion Member of Parliament, or to the Hon. Mr. Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, Ottawa, requesting that more ad grants should be made available to session to the Dominion Experimental Farms and to the Rust Research Labor tory. I am convinced myself that this is about the only way that such necessary grants can be obtained, but I am sure they can be obtained if as many farmers as possible would write such letters at once to Ottawa.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

The first official estimate of Canadian 1946 grain crops places wheat in the prairie provinces at 397 million bushels, compared with 411 million bushels last year—It is estimated that most European countries will harvest this year the poorest grain crops of the entire war period, the smallest since the early 1900's.

In this column of September 19th we stated that Broomhall had reported that the United Kingdom is harvesting an excellent wheat crop. This was an error on our part. Broomhall actually reported some excellent crops from some English fields. The latest estimate places the British wheat yield at 70 million bushels compared with 91 million last year. The Soviet Union is reported to have planted a larger grain acreage and to have harvested a bigger crop than in 1945.

A Column for Service People

By William Lawrence

Next week this column will try to give a picture of "what to see" about the various rehabilitation benefits. In the meantime, here are some more answers to questions service people and ex-service-people are asking about "rehab".

Am I exempt from Income Taxes for six months after my return from overseas?

The service pay and allowances you receive during your first six months after registration are tax-exempt. If your discharge comes before that six months are up, your civilian pay immediately becomes subject to Federal income tax at normal rates. The rehabilitation grant, clothing allowance, war service gratuity, re-establishment credit, and rehabilitation training benefits paid to all ex-service personnel are exempt from taxation.

What trades or occupations, aside from office work, can a veteran enter?

There are quite a number—plasterer, carpenter, bricklayer, electrician, painter, X-ray technician, dental mechanic, optometrist, florist clerk, dressmaker, hairdresser, are only a few of the trades for which the many veterans under the "rehab" program There is also an urgent need for nurses in Canada today. Women are eligible, benefit with men, for all the vocational training benefits provided for veterans. You might discuss this with your re-service counsellor or with counsellors at the nearest "rehab" centre of the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

How do I qualify for full-time farming benefits under the Veterans' Land Act?

A man who has been honorably discharged from the Canadian Armed Forces is eligible if he has served in a theatre of actual war, or if he has had at least 12 months service in Canada or if he was awarded a war disability pension. Just as important, he must satisfy the Veterans' Land Act officials that he has had real experience in farming. With these qualifications, a man may receive financial assistance of up to $6,000, of which no more than $1,500 may be used for farming equipment, livestock and the like. The veteran makes a down-payment of 10% of the cost of Lands and Buildings in addition to contracts to repay two-thirds of the cost of Land and Buildings over a period of not more than 25 years with interest at 3½%. The remainder of the cost of land and buildings plus any amount authorized for stock and equipment becomes a free grant to the veteran if he fulfills the terms of his contract for ten years. You will be hearing of E. Scott Hunt Hunt is a Regional Supervisor, Veterans' Land Act, in about 40 cities across Canada. He is the man you will finally have to deal with.

Wise Methods of Saving Last of Garden Crop from Frost

For a change Slice raw sliced cucumbers try these out in their fingers dipped in seasoned flour and then sauteed in a little hot fat until crisp and brown. Cut half each slice of green tomato and saute them this way also.

Along with two excellent relish recipes, Mrs. Agnes Norton gives a recipe for Cucumbers au Gratin that is really worth trying

RAW CARROT RELISH

2 cups chopped carrots, (4 large)
2 cups chopped sweet red peppers (4 medium)
2 cups chopped green peppers, (3 large)
4 cups chopped cabbage, (1 small head)
1 cup chopped onion
1 cup sugar
1 quart vinegar
2 tablespoons salt
2 tablespoons mustard seed
2 tablespoons celery seed

Mix all vegetables. Combine remaining ingredients and heat to boiling point. Pack vegetables into hot sterilized jars and cover with hot vinegar mixture. Seal. Yield: about 3 pints.

CUCUMBERS AU GRATIN

½ cups soft stale bread crumbs
6 cups diced, diced ripe cucumber
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
½ cup grated cheese
2 cups thick cream sauce
Reserve ¼ cup of crumbs. Place alternate layers of cucumbers sprinkled with salt and pepper, and remaining bread crumbs in a greased baking dish. Add cheese to cream sauce and pour over last layer, sprinkle with remaining bread crumbs. Cover and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F, for 30 minutes. Remove cover and continue baking until crumbs are browned, about 10 minutes. Six servings.

RIPE CUCUMBER RELISH

2½ large ripe cucumbers, about 3 qts. cubed
2 large onions, 1½ cups chopped
½ tablespoonful salt
1 teaspoon turmeric
½ cup dry mustard
2 cups vinegar

Peel and remove seeds from ripe cucumbers. Cut into pieces about inch cubes. Peel and chop onions and add to cucumbers, sprinkle with salt, let stand one hour. Add liquor roughly. Mix turmeric and mustard with 1 cup vinegar add drained vegetables and cook slowly 15 minutes. Combine flour and sugar with remaining cup of vinegar Heat vegetables combining drained liquid with flour and sugar paste. Heat this sauce slowly to boiling point and cook, stirring constantly 10 minutes. Add vegetables and reheat to boiling point Pack in hot sterilized jars Seal Yield about 3 pints

A Question for Editors and Readers

What is the national goal—or have we a goal? Would our chances of success be greater if we knew which way we were going? The question is: What do we seek, will it be good for us when we get it?

A friend asked me the other day this startling question: "What are we trying to do anyway—what is the right and proper goal of national effort?" This remember, was since the end of the war. Had he asked me that question when the war was going on I would have answered without hesitation, the defeat of Germany and Japan, but I said: "The goal of the nation is a higher national interest".

What other answer could one give? Isn't that what every individual feels, isn't that what every cooperation every body's goal? Isn't the combined goal of all the units in the nation? Our objective is a higher national income.

But my friend couldn't see it that way. "Look", said he, "the goal of national effort should be full employment. It may be difficult to reach it by mere production—let that be as it may, but my claim is that that is the goal we should strive for. It means a waste of human and material resources, a destruction of products, a bonehreaker of many kinds.

"You ask all war, or will be soon", I answered as I ordered two more cups of coffee to strengthen my arguments. "Your contention means that wasted effort has a value so long as the workers get paid for it, regardless of the value produced. It assumes the idea that inefficiency means progress. You are becoming the pattern parrot of Marxism. You are trying to chain labor saving devices and restrict trade. You are preparing a sterilized world—a world of standardized houses or to step forth virtually naked into the rigors of harsh climates, other Arctic-made conditions equally appalling

And remember, it's the people who, if a real peace is to come after final victory must rebuild their broken homes and towns and cities; there are the children who, with cars, must join in making this a finer and more prosperous world.

Can we expect such things of them while they are sick and suffering from the lack of essential clothing?

For the most of such clothing, the full fruits of ultimate victory over the Axis can be lost

But there is no need for any such set back in the arts and other sciences places in millions of Canadian homes are being cluttered with castoff, yet still serviceable, SPARE clothes, shoes and bedding.

Millions of pounds of such matter are stored and never to be used by us, are available to the war ravaged destitute The National Clothing Collection, which opened October 1, is designed to transfer our serviceable castoffs to those stricken peoples. And now is the time for you to rout your attic or catch-all storeroom and force it to yield its share of goods supposed to those in desperate need.

WHAT CAN YOU SPARE THAT THEY CAN WEAR?

"For Want of a Nail"

Most of us are familiar with the military adage which opens with that line and goes on to tell how the message, lost, by reason of the loss of a shoe, cost the loss of a horse, of the general who rode it, and, ultimately, the loss of the battle in which the general's leadership was essential to victory.

Through its frequent repetition, or through sayings of similar character, the lesson of the importance of seemingly trivial things in great achievements has been pretty well established in Canadian men's

Yet, we wonder how many have thought of the importance of their cast-off clothes, shoes and bedding to the restoration of this war torn land. A. M. Carmichael Sells Business

Forty-five years of continuous service to the people of Fort Saskatchewan and district as a hardware merchant came to a close for Mr. A. M. Carmichael when he sold his business recently to Mr. F. J. Williams of Bruce.

Mr. Carmichael came to the Fort in 1899 and three months after arriving here opened a hardware business.

Mr. Carmichael stated he has seen many changes take place in the Fort at that time and also had his ups and downs. He was a big loser in the fire here on February 21, 1912.

He has always taken an interest in the affairs of the town and community, having served two terms as Mayor of the T wn, four terms on the Council and was secretary of the School Board for many years.

In the field of sport Mr Carmichael has always taken a keen interest in curling, taking part in all bonspiels. He was also a good booster for baseball when the Fort was re-opened as harness ma- s' the Fans' ball team in the province.

Mr. Carmichael wishes to thank all his friends and neighbors for the patronage extended to him during his many years as business and expresses the hope that same support will be accorded the new owner.

Must Register Farm Slaughters

Before farmers slaughter livestock, they must register at the office of [illegible] Trade Board. At the same time they must report to the Local Ration Board at the end of the month, and coupons to cover the meat must be surrendered.

If a farmer slaughters more meat than is required for his own household consumption, he may sell it to a neighboring farmer or to a person who possesses an authorized slaughter permit at the coupon rate of four pounds to a person. Sales to licensed slaughterers must not be lower than one-quarter of beef or one side of pork. This regulation makes no provisions for the sale of veal or lamb.

Where licensed slaughterers already holders purchase meat from a farmer under the above regulation, it will be his responsibility to immediately stamp the meat with his own slaughter permit number.

Don't Delay Orders For Fertilizers

Though the war is over there is not much possibility of improved [illegible] in connection with the supply and delivery of fertilizer materials for some time to come, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has announced.

With a heavy very demand for fertilizers in Canada, the United States, and from some European countries which must increase food production in order to overcome the serious shortages, the supply is below what is required. At the same time the shortage of bot ores is acute. Meanwhile, fertilizer manufacturers in Canada continue to receive their materials in monthly shipments and to keep the plants operating to capacity in the fondest hope must move out from the plants to farmers as quickly as possible.

All this means that again this year farmers are urged to place their orders for whatever fertilizers they are required for 1946 as soon as possible, and be ready to take delivery during the months of November, December and January. If a lot of fertilizers is not moved during these months, manufacturers will be unable to meet the demand next year.

The Department says that a farmer can keep most fertilizers indefinitely in fair condition providing they are stored in a dry cool place, not over a stable or on a cement floor. A wood floor covered with alfalfa hay and not piled against a wall is a good [illegible]

Contribution of Returned Men

In a recent speech at Ottawa, Mr. Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service, discussed veterans employment. In closing he said, "It will be our problem to ab- sorb the straight thinking and broad-minded approach to life which they can give us."

If there is on thing more than another that gives a homecoming veteran, it is to see frustrate in the country struggling with such evils for power or money. Was it for this that some of his best friends died? He hates to see labor and management at each others throat. He wants to see the spirit of teamwork learned on battle applied in industry.

This spirit is demonstrated in a plant where a Works Council was set up with the objective of creating teamwork which could be a pattern for all industry. Experience of the last two years has proved that teamwork produces higher wages, more and maintained profits that conflicts, p ems in product on. Output has remained at 108 percent of normal, as against a wartime reduction it was after all ov- time. These figures are actually better than this because overtime has greatly reduced with a marked improvement in the health of the workers.

The attitude of the company executives is that it is only possible to see the true place of labor and management in a plant in light of the "common destiny of industry"—to [illegible] a Christian democratic way of life that works". They feel that the trade union is no essential a part of industrial teamwork then "if it did not exist it would be necessary to invent it. It is the co-ordinating factor that enables labour to make its maximum contribution to the general well-being."

The reaction of the men is indicated by one worker who remarked. "The biggest thing in the annals of this country is the Works Council and what it stands for. It is worth fighting for with all we've got."

The trade union secretary added. "What is being done here is important not only for your firm, but for the whole of industry."

This is an encouraging demonstration for our returned veterans of the "straight thinking and broad minded approach to life" of which Mr Mac Namara spoke.

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE

Wheat

The Minister of Trade and Com- [illegible] announced in the House of Commons that the Government undertakes that for the ne- five years producers will receive not less than $1.80 a bushel for wheat basis 1 Northern in store Fort Wi- lam, Port Arthur or Vancouver, or the authorized deliveries for such crop year, and that the Government has instructed the Wheat Board to offer Canadian wheat for export on terms at prices not higher than the current export price of $1.56 a bushel.

This action of the Government has met with both approval and criticism. It seems, however, that any Government that attempts to set the price of an export commodity is entitled to a great deal of sympathy, for they are faced with three difficulties, each of which pulls them in a different direction. First, to set a price that will be satisfactory to producers secondly, to set a price that will be satisfactory to consumers and that consumers are willing and able to pay so that they will not be induced to grow their own wheat; and third- ly, to set a price so that the tax payer may not have to pay too much should a loss come about on the buying and selling operations.

The whole matter is bound up with innumerable international complications and conditions over which no one in Canada has much if any control.

SHAPE OF INCUBATION

Through mistakenly making plans for incubation instead of insulation in his house, a householder came to grief. He used cereal chaff as the insulating material There was a certain amount of moist imbedded grain in the chaff when it was placed in the walls and between the joists. All went well for about two years. Then insects began to appear in large numbers and the house was swarming and common stored-product insects They were everywhere, and much time and expense were required to rid the premises of these food pests Materials of inorganic origin, states the Dominion Division of Entomology, are much to be preferred as insulating materials because they cannot serve as food for insects.

THE ROAD AHEAD

A Column for Service People

By William Stephenson

This week's column answers some of the frequently asked questions about who to see in connection with various phases of rehabilitation.

Q. I would like to apply my Re-establishment Credit to the setting up of a small business. Whom should I contact in this matter.?

A. You must write to, or visit, the nearest district office of the Department of Veterans' Affairs, since in the final analysis it will be this Department which will approve or disapprove your application. Of course, casual commercial advice can be obtained from any of the hundreds of Citizens' Committees throughout Canada, or your local Chamber of Commerce, or Better Business Bureau. On the whole, however, the DVA will be found to have the most comprehensive machinery for handling all the circumstances connected with your case.

Q. Now do I go about getting a home under the National Housing Act?

A. Secure a descriptive folder from a branch office of the National Housing Administration or one of the approved Lending Institutions and answer fully all the questions therein. When your application has been approved, can, or write to, the District Supervisor of Re-establishment Credits at the nearest office of the DVA. You must do this in order to get the proper authority for the expenditure of your Credit.

Q. In the event that I do not wish to take advantage of the NHA, when do I see about building a home with my Credit?

A. The District Supervisor of Re-establishment Credits at nearest office of DVA. Only from him can come authority to use your credit, and if the authority is not given, the DVA will accept no responsibility for assigned business.

Q. What is the process by which I obtain whatever business data necessary for me to operate my own business?

A. See the local office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board. If you have established them that your business has a good chance of succeeding, they will show you how to obtain a business license. They will also give you sound advice about the method for getting the supplies you need to set up your stock. Local Citizens' Committees, or Better Business Bureaus can be found to have the most comprehensive machinery for handling all the circumstances connected with your case.

WORLD FOOD and the PRAIRIE FARMER

By Dean R. D. Sinclair

HOGS, SHEEP AND POULTRY (NOTE—This is the fifth of a series by this well-known authority, written expressly for the Weekly Press of the Prairie Provinces.)

The remarkable increase which took place in the production of hogs in the Prairie Provinces between the years 1939 and 1944 constitutes a feat that has been prevalent, namely that Western Canada is a natural swine-raising area. Our coarse grains are well adapted to the production of bacon hogs. It seems logical to convert these grains into pork products in the part of Canada where they are produced and thus save a long haul on a bulky product.

The pigs which have been raised on prairie farms during the war years have contributed the bulk of the bacon which has been shipped to Great Britain under agreements between the British Ministry of Food and the Government of Canada. It is to be hoped that a similar contract can be maintained with Britain during the post-war years and that Canadian farmers will maintain production at a level that will enable us to hold our position on a market that is subject to keen competition. Pig production should be one of the strong links in our agricultural chain.

Within the individual farmers' must decide, under his own conditions, what part pig raising is going to play in his farming scheme, it is a fact that over a period of twenty-five years pigs have created a profitable outlet for farm growing grains. Hence is a food product that is likely to be in steady demand. It can be readily cured and shipped long distances. It is a very manageable meat product.

We must strive to improve the quality of our western hogs. Lean pork will be more important than fat when the extreme wartime shortage of fat is relieved. At the same time it will be important to lower our cost of production as much as possible. This may be done by using tested breeding stock, utilizing labour saving equipment, and following the most approved methods of feeding.

Considerable areas in the Prairie Provinces are well suited to sheep ranching and abandoned lands which have been reseeded or are reverting back to grass can be utilized to good advantage by sheep flocks. Farm flocks, in the mixed farming areas, have supplied a valuable addition to the annual income. The per capita consumption of lamb in Canada is low—from 3 to 6 pounds per person per year. It should be possible to increase this without affecting the consumption of other meats and then make possible the establishment of additional farm flocks. An increase of one pound per person would create a market for an additional 200,000 lambs. The use of rams of good types, careful attention to docking and castrating, marketing at proper weights and finish will ensure Canadians a very acceptable meat product.

Our poultry flocks have contributed substantially to Empire food supplies during recent emergency years. As in the case of swine production, we have reached a new high and have demonstrated that prairie farms can produce eggs and poultry meat in volume. The importance of poultry in converting farm grains into protein foods is not properly appreciated. On the basis of 1940 performance it is estimated that the poultry of the three Prairie Provinces consumed approximately 60,000,000 bushels of grain. While some reduction in the size of our flocks may be necessary when European countries get back into production, we should be able to look forward to the farm flock's constituting a dependable source of supplementary revenue.

The pig business is big business in Western Canada. Sheep and poultry add a sizeable sum to farm income. On many farms pigs, sheep and poultry have not been quite fairly treated from the standpoint of buildings and equipment. They have been waiting for better days and have been getting along with makeshifts. Some of the revenue obtained from these classes of stock has been invested in Victory Bonds. These savings will serve as financial backing for the building of new piggeries or furrowing houses, more modern poultry facilities when materials become available. Such improvements will add to the appearance and value of the farmstead and pay for themselves in the long run.

GOOD management . . . essential to successful farming, as to any business enterprise . . . is largely a matter of timely marketing and careful spending . . . waiting for the time when it is most favourable to buy.

We all want things now . . . things we have not been able to get for the past several years. Some of these things are necessities . . . some are things that will contribute to our comforts and pleasures.

Eventually, these things will be more plentiful. By waiting a little longer we will help to keep prices of things we need at lower levels and we will buy at better advantage when we do buy.

Meantime we can invest our savings in the safest securities obtainable . . . Victory Bonds. More Victory Bonds will be offered this Fall. They pay 3% interest . . . double bank interest . . . and they are "liquid capital".

If we need cash in an emergency say bank will buy Victory Bonds at any time. And any bank will loan money on Victory Bonds.

The Ninth Victory Loan will be our last opportunity to buy Victory Bonds for a whole year, so buy double this time—the same rate of savings as in previous loans will pay for twice as many bonds over the 12 month period.

FARMERS CAN BUY VICTORY BONDS ON CONVENIENT DEFERRED PAYMENTS THROUGH ANY BANK

. . . just sign a short form letter which Victory Loan Salesmen carry (banks have copies) ordering the bank to buy Victory Bonds for you. Pay 5% when ordering and the balance as may done during the next 12 months. The interest the bonds earn pays the interest on the bank loan.

NATIONAL WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

To donors and others who have contributed in any way to the RED CROSS WARTIME BLOOD DONOR Service

in Alberta Division Clinics:

Dear Friends:

The letter is to say "THANK YOU!"

The volunteer Blood Donor Service of the Canadian Red Cross Society was established on August 26, 1940, and since that time, we have transfused over 1,200,000 cubic centimetres in Canada. As we are now entering the second winter of war, it would like to express to you our sincere appreciation for the blood you have generously given.

There is always a joy in doing something for another but there is a special joy when it means the saving of a life. This Blood Service is saving lives in the front line hospitals of the war zone in the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, and in the home hospitals. If you are not one of the "Blood Brotherhood" you really regret it.

More depending the future. It is most unfortunate that many people who have given blood in the past have failed to call at a proper transfusion centre. The Red Cross is not a commercial organization. The service rendered by the Red Cross is that of giving to the sick and wounded of the Canadian Forces. The value of your gift is not measured by the number of bottles presented or by the number of persons who receive it.

It is anticipated that it will take at least three months to complete the survey, so we again say "Thank you" for your continuous giving for your period and we shall appreciate it if you join with us when we call for your donation of something to that is a part to the Canadian Red Cross Blood Donor Service.

Yours sincerely,

DR. R. C. RILEY,
Chairman, Blood Donor Committee.

WINGS over CANADA

by Russell L. GIBSON and Robert REEDS

A farmer down in Mi J vey has recently proved a point in favour of the time saving value of the aeroplane. Not long ago in this column we told of a small airport run by mighty profitable even if it's just a small town proposition with a couple of planes to fly from the big cities who want some place to fly.

The farmer in question—and look out a big news one—is a couple of big level smooth farmer, about one foot wide and 2,000 feet long. He had to have out one fence to do it, but aside from that there was very little work involved.

Then he put up a wind sock to show the direction of the wind and sent a number of bulletin board mailers to each city airport within 100 miles advertising the "best chicken dinners in New Jersey" for $1.50. Within one month his customers ran into several hundred. Pilots who had been unconsciously taking off and circling their home airports got a tremendous boost out of finding their way across country to the farm, making their landing and taxiing up to the kitchen door.

The chances of the same thing being done by Canadian farmers within 50 to 100 miles of such cities as Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Regina and Vancouver are one in 1. Ideal farmers to try it out would be air force veterans with a piece of land or son on his father's farm.

Quite apart from the question of regular air t ... between Montreal and Toronto, there is some room for light aircraft on a commercial basis with the cheaper light planes now coming out. At least one industrial firm ... there is also a ... part opportunity.

Most of Canada's popular ... within 50 miles of a ... belt between Toronto and Montreal could do a thriving business ... by light aircraft on a ... simply to refuel back planes and themselves.

Any farmer who ... sure to get plenty of free advertising for his aerodrome ... The same, no doubt, will apply in the Quebec City-Montreal area and also out west.

So far the only check on peacetime private flying in Canada since VJ day has been the lack of new planes. Just about all the usable air force planes have been taken over from War Assets and overhauled and put into use. There haven't been many, and many of them have already changed hands a second time, for the upkeep costs just about wash them out for civilian use.

Perhaps by the time this reaches print, and perhaps before, new Canadian built light planes will be rolling from the assembly lines in Hamilton, Ont. Orders already on hand indicate a production of at least 1,200 planes in the next two years. By spring they'll be coming off the assembly line at the rate of at least two a day.

There has been a lot of speculation about how many private planes there will actually be in Canada in the next few years. Before the war the number of privately-owned planes in Canada was fewer than 100.

In the United States there were 20,000 private-type planes registered before the war, and if you allow Canada one fifteenth of the United States population that would still call for 1,300 such planes in Canada.

So 1,000 new planes in the first two years is a pretty conservative estimate when you figure that doesn't even bring us up to the pre-war U.S. level. So far the chief reasons for our lagging behind have been restrictive regulations, high costs and lack of landing facilities.

The whole aviation industry in the United States and Canada is of course there have been ballooning new murder, so to speak, about red tape and regulations holding down flying there and Canadian regulations have also been restrictive. The Department of Transport realizes this and more liberal regulations are contemplated in Canada, but at time of writing they've yet to be announced.

Tariffs which have made a Canadian aviation industry possible have also in some instances held it back. Tariffs on items which cannot be made in Canada and which there is absolutely no prospect of making here—motors particularly, — have driven Canadian aircraft costs up.

The bright side of the picture is that we now have a good many thousand young air force veterans who have learned to fly and will want to go on flying in their spare time. These boys may well send our next two years standard up to 5,000 planes, but before we whisper that figure we have to heal in a lot of ifs.

Oddly enough it takes a warm heart to cool a hot temper.

Good Testing Service

In accordance with a promise made nearly two years ago, Line Elevators Farm Service now offers a complete seed testing service to growers of wheat, oats, barley, rye and flax. Examination and testing of samples will include consideration of five important factors:

1. Germination. Tests will be made as immediately.
2. Weed Seeds. The presence of noxious weed seeds will be reported on request.
3. Smuts. All wheat samples will be tested for bunt (stinking smut) and tests will be made on oats or barley if requested. Reports will include recommendations as to seed treatment.
4. Other Diseases. As samples are received from the germinator, they will be examined for the presence of other diseases.
5. Mechanical Damage to the seed will be determined since it has an important bearing on the method of seed treatment.

A two-ton tractor trailer built according to the plan and specifications given has been in service for several years. This trailer has been loaded frequently in excess of three tons without any evidence of structural weakness in the framing or axle, and there has been no noticeable wear on the tires or tractor spools.

Detailed information is contained in the suggestions which deal fully with the selecting and fitting the front axle from 1½ or 2-ton used truck for a 2-ton capacity trailer; the frame used with an inverted front axle; the hitch frame made of 4 inch pipe welded together in the form of a V; the hitch leaf, brakes, and platform, together with all the necessary measurements of the axle assembly, main frame, hitch frame (pipe), alternate hitch frame (channel), hitch lock, and platform. Canadian Homes Survey

Moderate and low-cost homes in Prairie Provinces Are Still small

Seventy homes have central heating; another part of Canada except the Maritime Provinces. Nearly 60 per cent of city houses, 17 per cent of small town houses and 7 per cent of farm homes (considerable Prairie figures are 16 per cent and 6 per cent for cities and small towns). Prairie farm houses are the only dwellings in Canada where so few people need kindle on before dark that researchers wanted them a completely clean sheet on this account

Electric power account most running water and on their homes than women in any other region of Canada. They also need gas or electric ranges and refrigerators to bring them up to the national average for ownership of these facilities.

Analysing the findings of these "Canadian Homes" Survey by the five main geographic regions, Lever Bros. Ltd. have revealed how living conditions in one region compare with each other in different parts of Canada and with the country as a whole.

A. Massey, Lever Products, speaking to the Kiwanis Club of Montreal. "The best answer to how homes compare with each other is in different parts of Canada and with the country as a whole."

Refrigerators, mechanical or ice, are owned by 66 per cent of city housewives, 32 per cent of village houses wives and 12 per cent of farm housewives. The comparable national figures are 62, 29 and 10 per cent. Other Prairie folk reported that for cooling food they need house or cellars in the basement, food safes, window ledges, etc. 5, 7 and 9 per cent reported no facilities of any kind for keeping food cool.

Overcrowding, which is Canada's worst housing headache, has not missed the West. Aggravating it are boarders, lodgers and hired help who live in one is every eight city homes, every tenth village home and every ninth farm home. To add to the crowding, some relatives, married sons and daughters, parents, grandparents, etc., are living with 13 per cent of city families, 7 per cent of village families and 20 per cent of farm families. This is not all due to wartime shifts in population, as investigators found no surplus of living accommodation anywhere in Canada. As a consequence, Lever's found 16 per cent of city homes, 15 per cent of village and 10 per cent of farm homes had the family suffering the inconvenience of some member sleeping in the living room, dining room, kitchen, or anywhere a cot could be put up or pulled out.

In an examination of the state of home interiors, Lever investigators found more than half of Western homes interiors confined, discolored and in need of paint, paper and general refinishing. More than one in every seven houses in Prairie cities and on farms are on run down that only major repairs or replacements will restore the original appearance of walls, floors and ceilings. In each, by unsatisfactory condition is every tenth house in small [illegible]

Partridge Hill

Another welcome home party was held Tuesday evening for the boys who enlisted from this district.

Those recently returned are: Cpl Robert Whitton, RCAF, Pte. Norman Ryn, LAC. Vernon Oshaldeston and Pte. R. W. Wallis. In spite of the very busy season a good crowd was present at the hall to extend a welcome to the boys.

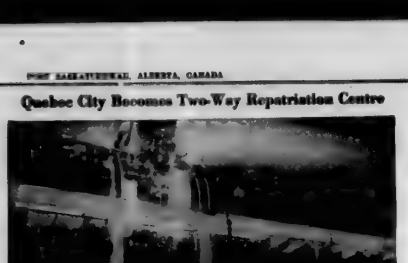
A social hour of music, games and welcome home speeches was followed by lunch. The singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" brought to a close another pleasna evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Pomeroy of Fort St. John arrived by plane in Edmonton last week and spent a few days visiting relatives in this district.

INAPT INCUBATION

Through mistakenly making plans for incubation instead of incubation in his home, a householder came to grief He used agreat chaff as the insulating material. There was a certain amount of insect infested grain in the chaff when it was placed in the walls and about two years. Then insects began to appear in large numbers and the house was swarming with common stored-product insects. They were everywhere, and much time and expense were required to get rid of them. Improper materials should be used as insulating materials because they cannot serve as food for insects within the Division of Entomology.

Quebec City Becomes Two-Way Repatriation Centre



STRATHEDEN FIRST IN: Quebec City started on July 30 to share with Halifax as a repatriation centre for Canadian servicemen coming back from the German War and British civilians and child war guests returning to the Old Country. First troopship to dock at the Wolfe's Cove pier which the Canadian Pacific built for the famous Empress of Britain was the Strathedens (top) with happy airmen and soldiers being disgorched from there to their homes all over Canada in C.P.R. special trains (bottom left) on July 31. On August 1 the other side of the picture was presented when the first boat train for Quebec since the outbreak of war left the C.P.R.'s Windsor Station in Montreal with passengers including the British children (bottom right), among them the lucky one in the centre left hitting home his Canadian lucky strike.

TIMELY FARM NOTES

By F. H. Newcombe, District Agriculturist, Edmonton, Alberta

Most breeders realize the necessity of a real herd sire. They know that, largely depending on the sire, the calves each year will be inferior or superior. Exceptional sires head the majority of pure bred herds in the province. When the use of good sires is accompanied by good feeding and severe culling, progress continues.

Many owners of small herds are aware of these facts, but feel that they cannot afford to buy extra choice of higher priced bulls. Some females out of ruch they make no attempt towards definite herd improvement. Better business by pooling with other herd bulls of medium to good quality, the standard of the herd and of future sires can be gradually raised. Where bulls costing $200 to $1,000 are probabilities, a start can be made by securing good sires that will sell in the price range of $150 to $200. As the quality of the herd improves, the investment in the sire increases. Thus through a slower method, the small herd can be improved at a minimum cost.

Pure bred breeders on the other hand cannot afford to use bulls unless they are exceptionally good. Calves may often sell for an average of $50 more when sired by a choice sire and thus pay in one calf crop

Ardrossan

We hear that Howard Hutchinson and Catherine Reece had a little trouble reporting back to Edmonton the other night. The hitch hiking was a little slack and the waiting was slow. After time out for a rest they managed to secure a ride back. Oh well, you almost got to Calmar's in time for work didn't you kids?

If I have too much about what I have done, I won't have enough sinoan left for what there is yet to do.

T. B. Questions and Answers

Supplied by the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary
Edited by F. H. Heise, M.D.
(National Tuberculosis Association)

Q. How are T.B. germs (tubercle bacilli) taken into the system?

A. The droplets of moisture forced out during cough, and containing tubercle bacilli, are inhaled Tubercle bacilli may also be taken into the body by way of food, i.e., bacilli deposited on food by coughing, or from hands, or, in the case of cattle tubercle bacilli, by way of milk and its products.

Q. What diseases may predispose one to tuberculosis?

A. The infectious diseases of childhood, especially measles, are thought to prepare the way for development of tuberculosis. Any disease seriously undermining the health may be followed by evidence of tuberculosis. In most instances, perhaps, this is a reactivation of a dormant tuberculosis.

Readers who desire any questions answered are asked to send them to the Record Office or send them direct to the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary, whose careful attention and early reply will be given.

Josephburg

Our school was paid a very welcome visit by T. J. Jamin in response to a request that he give us a travelogue of a trip which he and his family made over unfrequented routes through the Rockies this past summer, a short account of which was published some time ago in the Journal

T. J. is a fine speaker, pleased to be a member of the province of Alberta, our local writing wizard, and is himself a walking encyclopedia of the National School in the city

Accompanied by his wife and two young youngsters, the party drove their Studebaker over some incredible country West of Jasper through, over or under the Bus River Pass, with a general idea of reaching Prince Rupert by cutting across country

Their experiences and difficulties not to mention their discoveries would fill an interesting volume and they were able to show us proofs of their presence in the shape of snapshots, eyes and even a section of a Japanese war balloon culled right from the cow (Sounds suspiciously like a mixed metaphor)

In the short time at their disposal the intrepid disciples of Alexander Mackenzie gave the interior of B.C. a pretty through once-over, eventually reaching civilization again via Kamloops and Edmonton. While in the neighborhood, they also travelled the famed Kootenay Trail of the nineties and were only deterred from making the famous trek to the Yukon by the fact that such a journey was not sufficiently feasible

The balance of the trip to the West side of the Island and down to Seattle and back home via Spokane, taking in Grand Coulee Dam, Crestan, Wenatchee, Golden, Jasper and home must have seemed very small beer to our hero! There's still the Antarctic continent but short of this nothing but Mars in an atomic bomb.

The following is an original poem written by Annie Strochiain, a grade eleven pupil at Josephburg school.

WINTER

The leaves have fallen on the ground,
And snow is lying all around.
The birds that twittered make no sound
For we know they're southward bound.

The snow has softly flattered down
And mothers hurry off to town,
Some with smiles, but some with frown
For clothes as warm in eiderdown.

The ground is now a bed of white
Which is, indeed, a lovely sight
But with this comes the awful plight
Of sickness, which we have to fight.

This sickness we can well prevent
By chasing Gremlins that are sent
To bring about a speedy end
To joys and sickness we have spent.

In days before, when spring was here
For then those things we did not fear.
We lived in days, carefree and queer
Just planning a happy year.

There's one thing that we have first note,
That's right! You've guessed I mean to skate.

"Now hurry boys, and don't be late,"
The children shout from every gate.

Yes winter's here we must admit
So bring out coat and cap and mitt
And there we see the reason sit
Beside the wood with which they knit.

Now, pleaas, these points you must remember,
For in the dreary, bleak December
When you watch each dying ember
You'll be glad you did remember.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Broomhall reports that the rye and barley harvest in Norway this year will be considerably short of domestic requirements—Wet weather in the United Kingdom is hampering the harvest of a wheat crop lower than the one harvested in 1944—Argentine wheat acreage is estimated at 14,100,000 acres, the lowest in the last six years.

Local Clothing Pick-up Starts Saturday

Residents of the town of Fort Saskatchewan are reminded that the house-to-house pick-up of their used clothing for needy Europe will be very soon. The Boy Scouts will gather the clothing on Saturday, October 13 on the south side of town, beginning probably around 10 a.m. If you live south of the railway track, try to have your clothing donations ready early Saturday on your front porch or at your front gate, and thus save time for the boys and drivers. The Girl Guides will do the sorting and packing of what the troops bring in that day to the depot upstairs in the Town Hall

The boys of the Y.P.U. will pick up from house-to-house north of the tracks on Monday, October 15, after school. It will greatly help if roomers in the log blocks will put their donations out in the hallway about 4 o'clock Monday, and if householders will have their parcels ready on the porch or at the gate. If you are not reached by supper time, you will be shortly after. Girls of the Y.P.U. will do the packing during the evening.

We hear of a number of country residents using these rainy days to sort out the accumulated clothing of years from trunks and closets. We are glad to say that some excellent and practical gifts have been made but the ladies in charge of packing have not always been kept busy. Some districts have failed to turn in the quantity of things expected at the time exported. Don't let your district fall down. Keep in touch with your representative on the Clothing Committee, and meet your deadline with a generous supply of discarded clothing. You may save many lives, and you will make democracy really attractive to people who know only the horrors of nazism and the terrors of war.

Word has just been received by Mrs. G. Race that her son Allan, who formerly lived in this district has been mentioned in dispatches for "gallant and distinguished service" in Italy. Allan enlisted in Edmonton in May, 1941 ad served with the Royal Canadian Dragoons in England and Italy and was serving with them in Germany when the war ended. He was wounded in Italy in July by an anti tank shell which exploded in the turret of his tank. He was home on furlough for a month last year.

In your present wardrobe, have you a dress, a suit, a coat or a cloak which you first wore five years ago?

Few of our readers can truthfully answer "Yes," to that question. Yet if that garment or suit—now five years old—were all the clothing you possessed, you would be better clad than any one of millions of men, children in liberated Europe alone are "statistically naked" today and that more than 135,000,000 are in desperate need of clothing, shoes and bedding.

Those are the facts—and you can do something about correcting them.

The National Clothing Collection provides you with this opportunity. It is not asking or expecting you to donate the clothing, shoes or blankets you now are using. It is asking you to dig up or dig out all serviceable items among your cast-off and forgotten clothes that they may be distributed to the suffering and destitute millions in the war-ravaged lands.

WHAT CAN YOU SPARE THAT THEY CAN WEAR?

Looma

Mr. Albert Wensel of Looma passed away in Edmonton on Friday, October 5th. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife, one son Albert Wensel of Looma, two daughter Yvonne and his father Mr. William Wensel of Edmonton, Lorena Wensel of Looma, two sisters, Mrs. C. Scatter of Edmonton and Mrs. A. Tinkey of Williston, North Dakota.

Mr. Wensel started a general store in Looma in 1927. It was a much needed store in this district and he did all he could for his customers. His obliging and congenial manner won him many friends. He took an active interest in all sports for young people and was instrumental in building our Community Hall and up to the time of his death was keenly interested in a community skating rink.

Owing to ill health Mr. Wensel has not been active in business for the past three years, but he was always pleased with a cheery word for every one and all of us will miss him very much.

The sincere sympathy of the Looma community is extended to his family in their bereavement.

GREAT POTENTIAL MARKET

The greatest potential market for industrial goods in Canada and the world at large is to be found in rural areas. Sixty-six per cent of the people of the world till the soil. Some twenty per cent of gainfully employed Canadians are farmers. These farmers represent the one undeveloped reservoir for the absorption of products. These people are short of everything from farm tractors and kitchen stoves to hats, shoes, paint and nails. If their purchasing power can be sustained, the greatest industrial expansion of the twentieth century can be initiated. If the farm people are impoverished by low prices industries lose their main market and labor loses jobs. These are facts which every Canadian should know and appreciate.

Recommend Pasture For Dry Soil Area

Grass crops offer numerous problems but the most difficult one to overcome is to supply good herbage during the summer months. From experiences gained at the Dominion Experimental Station, Beaverlodge, B.C., orchard grass, alfalfa and red and white clover are the four most important drought resistant crops. Red clover is perennial but when the ultimate pasture is need for one or two years as a hayfield the white Dutch tends to be killed out. Considering these conditions the greatest reliance must be placed in alfalfa and orchard grass

The most common practice is to seed grasses and legumes with a grain crop in the spring. Where moisture is a limiting factor, and it most frequently is, spring seeding is more reliable with the legumes broadcast on the surface in February. Soil heaving from light frosts assures sufficient burying of the seed so planted. The surest way to get a good turf is to sow the grasses and legumes without a nurse crop, either the fall and February method noted or the complete mixture in the spring as early as possible which will usually result in a good crop the second year. Under alluvial or delta soils, in low lying areas and on peat and muck areas moisture is usually more plentiful than on clay or sandy clay soils.

Considering the better drained soils, orchard grass is the first consideration. When a hay crop is to be cut red clover should also be used. Ladino clover is perennial in habit and should be included in a'l mixtures. Alfalfa, due to its value as a feed and its drought resistance, should always be used. Perennial ryegrass ranks next to orchard in pasture value and deserves consideration. White Dutch clover should be included unless the field is to be in hay for two or more years. Italian rye grass due to quick growth can be delayed on to add to the total herbage for the first year. The recommended mixture in pounds would be as follows: orchard grass 10, perennial rye 4, Italian rye 4, alfalfa 3, ladino4, white Dutch 1 except in hay red clover 6 in hay or 2 if for pasture only.

Successful Career Ends With Sale of Business

A story of what can be accomplished with will and determination is exemplified in the career of Mr. P. A. Moret who recently sold his hardware business to Jack Wright. Walter Sherman and Wilfred Lamoureux.

When Edgar Bergen left for New York Monday, Charlie McCarthy, Bergen's wise-cracking, monocled alter ego, was also packed and ready to go, especially in time for the New York trek was a miniature home-trailer designed for Charlie.

The trailer is an exact to-scale duplicate of Bergen's conventional all-steel, 8-ton, eight-wheel van listed touted. The doors and windows are equipped with automatic control locks, and every modern substitute for home comfort and luxury are now ever[y] lights which operate on a trailer-to-car battery. Bergen's dressing room, with its full-length mirror, is also provided with a comfortable chair.

For incidentals the top slides off, and the side drops down, and the whole leather lined trailer is ready for business. After all, it's only again the perfect housing for Mr. Bergen's smart dummies.

The housing unit may be perfect, but Charlie is not. Yesterday publicity was released to the two newspapers, DENY, was released to the Los Angeles publicity that Edgar Bergen was one of the first purchasers.

Bergen spent all day last Saturday and Sunday moth-proofing his closets and those hoping Charlie McCarthy's wardrobe.

"One moth of the stuff," says Charlie, "and my termite breakfast would be all over!"

WORLD FOOD and the PRAIRIE FARMER

By Dean R. D. Sinclair

HORTICULTURE AND THE FARM GARDEN

(NOTE This is the ninth of a series by this well-known authority written expressly for the Weekly Press of the Prairie Provinces.)

In the process of making available more adequate diets for the world's population horticulture is going to have an opportunity to play an important part. Fruits and vegetables are classified as "protective foods." They constitute a valuable source of [illegible] minerals and vitamins.

It is not likely that the Prairie Provinces will ever become self-sufficient in the matter of fruit supply. We will no doubt import the bulk of our fruits from areas which are better adapted to the production of this type of food material. At the same time horticulturists have developed numbers of hardy early varieties of tree and small fruits which would well find a place in many gardens of farms. Along with the establishment of shelter belts should go an effort to introduce some fruit trees of proven variety and set out a berry patch.

The diets of Canadian people, and prairie farm people in particular, are lacking in vegetables especially in so-called "leafy green" and "yellow" type vegetables. According to figures issued by a special committee of the Canadian Food Board, the average daily consumption of vegetables in country farm homes, —scarcity of labour for the garden, a short growing season, drought in certain seasons, and lack of proper protection for the garden during the summer and proper storage facilities for the winter.

Through some reorganization of the farm work, time will have to be found for many of the garden, proper fencing will provide the necessary protection, and the construction of a good root cellar or suitable basement with a frost-free vegetable room will take care of the storage problem. Too often the garden is an afterthought. When we consider the good condition in which vegetables are delivered by market gardeners to city consumers throughout the winter and early spring months we realize what may be accomplished through the use of proper storage arrangements.

In the field of commercial vegetable production the West has made a notable contribution during the war. The output of irrigated areas in [illegible] and that counties in sufficient quantity and of satisfactory quality can be produced to justify the establishment of canning and dehydrating facilities. As our population increases and export markets are developed for processed vegetables it should be possible to integrate this phase of our agricultural[illegible] crop on not too [illegible] farms.

The provision of cold storage lockers with quick freezing units in rural areas of the Prairies will open up new possibilities in connection with fruit and vegetable storage and preservation. Advances along this line are likely to follow one another in rapid succession within the next few years. Farmers who have set aside some new capital in the form of Victory Bonds or other securities will be in a position to take greater advantage of new developments. Your investments would yield a greater return in terms of better rural living.

In this series of short articles I have suggested that the farmers of the Prairie Provinces have an opportunity to share in the great undertaking of feeding the people of the world more adequately than they have been fed in the past. I have a strong conviction that something of permanent value will come out of the United Nations Conference on Food and Agriculture. Savings not usable for spectacular results but as nations plans ground emphasis on better nutrition and work together to bring about the conditions that will make adequate diets more and better food the apparent surpluses will disappear and the products of the farm will make their proper contribution to improving health and assuring permanent peace.

We may import setbacks in this process. It will be well to be prepared for interruption. Savings not usable and regularly added to during these years of industrial activity. There might explain the high mortality rates and the acute nature of the [illegible] disease among some races, such as Negroes, Mexicans, Indians, etc.

Readers who desire to help to find a cure are asked to send them to [illegible] Association, Calgary, where careful [illegible] will be given.

The Recipe Corner

The last of the perishable fruits, like grapes, is now at the [illegible] and it is a time we will all want to make the most of.

Not many people are grapes as extensively to make desserts, but a number of delicious ones, both hot and cold, can be made with grapes as the "characters" ingredient.

Here are recipes for three grape desserts from the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

GRAPE DIPLOMAT PUDDING

2 eggs, yolks
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 cup
1 tablespoon gelatine
¼ cup water
2 cups seeded blue grapes
½ cup sugar
1½ cups soft stale bread or cake crumbs
Heat 1½ cups milk in top of double boiler. Combine the 2 tablespoons sugar, salt and slightly beaten egg yolks, measuring ¼ cup of milk. Add gradually to hot milk and cook, stirring constantly, for 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Soften gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes and add to milk mixture, stirring until gelatine is dissolved. Pour half the sauce over 2 greased mould and allow to cool slightly. Wash grapes, cut in half and remove seeds. Combine pulp and juice and cook together 5 minutes. Add sugar, mix well and cool. Blend with a little of the grape mixture then add to remaining grape mixture and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Pour into a greased baking dish (one-quart size) and leave to cool. Meantime, make a plain sponge cake batter and spread carefully over the cooled grape mixture. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F. for 30 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees F and bake 15 minutes longer. Turn out on a large deep serving dish and serve hot. Six servings.

GRAPE BROWN BETTY

1 cup grapes, whole grapes
½ cup brown sugar
1 cup soft fine-textured fat
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 cup [illegible] cereal crumbs
Dash of salt
Dash of cinnamon

Wash grapes and remove pulp from skins. Put pulp to boiling point and boil gently 5 minutes. Rub through a sieve to remove seeds. Combine pulp and juice and cook together 5 minutes. Add sugar, mix well and cool. Blend with a little of the grape mixture then add to remaining grape mixture and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Pour into a greased baking dish (one-quart size) and leave to cool. Meantime, make a plain sponge cake batter and spread carefully over the cooled grape mixture. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F. for 30 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees F and bake 15 minutes longer. Turn out on a large deep serving dish and serve hot. Six servings.

GRAPE PINEAPPLE UPSIDE-DOWN PUDDING

1 cup [illegible] sugar, preferably blue
1 cup sugar
½ tablespoon cornstarch
Dash of salt
Plain or [illegible] cake batter

Wash grapes and remove pulp from skins. Put pulp to boiling point and boil gently 5 minutes. Rub through a sieve to remove seeds. Combine pulp and juice and cook together 5 minutes. Add sugar, mix well and cool. Blend with a little of the grape mixture then add to remaining grape mixture and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Pour into a greased baking dish (one-quart size) and leave to cool. Meantime, make a plain sponge cake batter and spread carefully over the cooled grape mixture. Bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 degrees F. for 30 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees F and bake 15 minutes longer. Turn out on a large deep serving dish and serve hot. Six servings.

T. B. Questions and Answers

Edited by F. R. Heise, M.D. (National Tuberculosis Association)

Q. Is tuberculosis inherited?

A. Tuberculosis is not a hereditary disease, but infection can be transmitted from a tuberculous mother to a child after the fourth month of pregnancy, through the umbilical cord. This would be called congenital, not inherited. It is however extremely rare.

The disease has been thought by some to run in families, but this is probably because it is transferred from one member of a family to another by infection, through carelessness or ignorance regarding cough and spitting. Sometimes a parent has T.B. and doesn't know it. For these reasons it is advisable to examine all residents of a house where the disease has been found.

Q. Can one inherit a resistance or immunity?

A. Yes, it is probable that a child born of parents who have had tuberculosis and have developed a resistance to the disease will have a greater resistance than a child born of parents who have never had the disease.

Q. Can one be helped the guy?

A. Unselfish comfortings are necessary of their benefactor in the last four months of the year.

If we are to help feed the hungry peoples of devastated Europe, this is the time to make our greatest effort.

To do our part, we must reduce our own consumption of meat and other scarce food everyone in Canada gain a fair share.

What is why rationing is necessary.

THE CHALLENGE OF AN EMPTY PLATE

In most liberated European countries, there is a desperate shortage of meat.

As a great food-producing nation, Canada must, can — and will — help to meet this emergency.

The job will not be finished at the year's end. Food countries in Europe will continue until the next harvest.

This year, Europe is relying on Canada for a shipment of 700 million pounds of beef, pork and canned meats.

Up to the end of August, only 479 million pounds had been sent.

MEAT RATIONING AIDS TO EVERYONE'S NEEDS

The producer who disagrees, the retailer who calls, the consumer who buys and eats — they all play a vital part.

AS A CONSUMER, HERE IS HOW YOU CAN CO-OPERATE

1. Try to plan your meat purchases before leaving home by determining what cuts your family and their approximate weights.
2. Make sure you have enough valid coupons and tokens to cover your proposed purchases by referring to the Consumer Coupon Value Chart and the Coupon and Value Calendar. Copies may be obtained from your Local Ration Board or Ration Branch.
3. Keep the dates your "red" coupons become valid.
4. Do not buy more meat than you really need.
5. Avoid shopping at rush hours.
6. Be patient. Remember — your butcher may have inexperienced help.

HORTICULTURE AND THE FARM GARDEN

(NOTE This is the ninth of a series by this well-known authority written expressly for the Weekly Press of the Prairie Provinces.)

In the process of making available more adequate diets for the world's population horticulture is going to have an opportunity to play an important part. Fruits and vegetables are classified as "protective foods." They constitute a valuable source of [illegible] minerals and vitamins.

It is not likely that the Prairie Provinces will ever become self-sufficient in the matter of fruit supply. We will no doubt import the bulk of our fruits from areas which are better adapted to the production of this type of food material. At the same time horticulturists have developed numbers of hardy early varieties of tree and small fruits which would well find a place in many gardens of farms. Along with the establishment of shelter belts should go an effort to introduce some fruit trees of proven variety and set out a berry patch.

The diets of Canadian people, and prairie farm people in particular, are lacking in vegetables especially in so-called "leafy green" and "yellow" type vegetables. Feeding Europe

"Crops this year in Europe are much below normal. Half the population of France is undernourished. Infant mortality has gone up 50 per cent. A quarter of a million farms have been damaged or destroyed. One hundred million German mouths dot the soil preventing cultivation".

These facts, quoted by M. Raoul Dautry, Minister of Reconstruction in the French Provisional Government, highlight Europe's big problem. What are the people going to eat next winter?

Victory in an empty belly is not much fun.

Sometimes we Canadians are prone to blame the Europeans for the mess they are in and to suggest that they can feed their own war out of it. But we must stop to think that if it were, it is their suffering and sacrifice that we would not have had time to prepare for final victory? Would we get off lightly in another war when atomic rockets would be the chief weapons?

Mr. Churchill has recently said: "The bomb brought peace, but men alone can keep the peace. In the next three years we must remould the relationships of all men of all nations in such a way that international bodies by supreme authority may give peace on earth and justice among men. Our pilgrimage has brought us to a sublime moment in the history of the world".

Canadians rank fourth in war production among the United Nations, surely our potential leadership can be even greater in peace. With a great common purpose can we not further develop the national unity which has withstood two wars?

In the next few years Europe will need food, clothing and machinery. Her need is our chance to prove that democracy is more than lip service to an idea.

M Dautry may well be looking to us, when he says: "This battle is not at an end, our European civilization is undergoing a moral crisis without parallel in its history. Everything has been shaken by the war. Everything is open to question. The peoples of Europe are looking for solid and lasting principles which will guide them towards a life of peace and understanding between men and between nations".

HOW MILK IS USED

Approximately 50 per cent of the total milk production in Canada goes into butter, 20 per cent to field milk sales, 10 per cent to cheese, 3½ per cent to concentrated milk products, 1½ per cent to ice cream and 15 per cent is fed and used on farms.

Milk production has increased in Canada from 18.8 billion pounds in 1939 to 17.6 billion pounds in 1944, an increase of 11.8 per cent.

Chilling of scalding and wounding pigs only often results in respiratory troubles such as pleurisy and pneumonia. When this happens pigs [illegible] and rest of one hundred [illegible] outside of pens a much higher. With the advent of cold nights and the wet [illegible] weather it should be remembered that clean, dry, well bedded shelter quarters should be provided at least for younger pigs, if not both and loose are to be avoided.

Simms Oil Balls. The digestive system is active in such that only a limited amount of [illegible] is [illegible] and. Oil balls in ration of evenp-fed and weanling pigs are often the cause of severe losses. It is absolutely necessary, therefore, that oil balls be removed, either by means of the Ball Sifter at time of threshing by machine adjustment on Power Agriculture should be consulted for particulars in this connection.

Protein Balance in Feed. If skim milk is not available, protein supplement or tankage must be added. Use your pigs rather of starting in to be prevented and most economical gains are to be expected. If milk is not available add tankage at the rate of 10 per cent. Protein supplements are used, add it at the rate of 10 to 15 percent.

Lack of Minerals or of Substitutes is available. If weather continues fall and deeply, or if the 3 the pigs now kept indoors fish oil (Pitchafisher) of high quality should be substituted for natural sunshine. This, those passing through ordinary pigs is not sufficient. Mix [illegible] one part of Steam fish oil with two gallons of warm cracked barley or wheat, then add to the balance of grain mixture to make up and hundred pounds. Due to the fact that fish oil is very concentrated it is supposed to aid for any length of time, [illegible] added to a hundred hundred pounds—or less—depending upon the number of pigs, be mixed at one time. The [illegible] may be added to feed daily. The dose is one teaspoonful per pig per day. After pigs are three and one-half months of age, green mull cured alfalfa can be fed in racks to very good advantage. Alfalfa fed to breed sows during the fall and winter will ensure stronger and healthier litters in spring, but don't forget the feeding of Potassium Iodide also.

Hairless in Winter and Spring. Fattened Pigs Lack of Potassium Iodide in pregnant sows rather often results in hairless and weak pigs in winter and spring farrowed litters. To prevent this, dissolve one ounce of Potassium Iodide in one gallon of water and give one tablespoonful of this solution per sow per day.

A little advice to the men! Don't go near the ladies who are pushing clothes at the Clothing depot in the Town Hall if you want to wear your hat all winter. The other day on the completion of pushing, and it was time to go home, Rev. Rance was minus a hat. After a futile search he was discovered in one of the cartons that some good lady had pushed to one side. Result, Rev. ICE WELLS FOR QUALITY

Higher quality cream and greater returns can be looked for next summer by those planning to construct an ice well. Ice wells are an economical and convenient means of holding cream at low temperatures and it's a good idea to look ahead and prepare the ice well right after harvest. The well should be ready before frosts set in and during the winter months ice can be secured with a minimum of labor and expense.

Did you ever read Mark Twain's delightful description of New England weather? If you have not do not worry, because we have been having just such weather here in Alberta. Weather to help in, cell, to give away, says Mark All four seasons have visited us in the space of four days and we are utterly bewildered whether to [illegible] whether to put on crop or take it off, whether to take less as in swimming in case of a deluge or lessons in desert [illegible] case of prolonged drought. One moment we are bewailing our empty cisterns; at the next we are invoking Government assistance to drain off excess water

Right in the midst of our perplexity, Mr. King has gone on a trip to Ottawa leaving us to face the music. If the Hague of Fort Saskatchewan should decide to follow their lead, this indeed are we lost.

We are accustomed to calling for Government aid in all manner of ills, that we feel helpless to fend for ourselves

In the miners need more meat? Ask the Government. Is the lumberjack cross because he can't get a decent shop? Ask the Government. Does the farmer [illegible] a new nipple? Ask the Government.

"From cradle to grave" is the extent of our social security and what is to say that we shall not stage a silkworm strike when it comes to our dying day unless the Government undertakes to see that our graves are [illegible] and have air conditioning installed?

Which reminds us of a story we heard of a man who left instructions with his executors that he was to be buried on the cool afternoon. "I have paid rent", said he, "all my life, and I'm hanged if I will continue to pay rent after I am dead".

N E S

The air when in times past would have resounded to the sounds of industry hard at it, now resounds to the cries of children.

When is it going to end?
We will when people pay and abstain from borrowing and better working conditions and meanwhile the Old World [illegible] on [illegible] another notch and many days whether it can get along with two weeks a day instead of three or one meal instead of two.

There's one bright spot in the picture. Canada appears to be working heavily during into cupboards and closets to give of their plenty to the [illegible] of Europe. One hears that no family can be found with quality, even if quantity does not appear. We simply cannot realize to what straits people have been driven in the matter of clothing and [illegible] somewhere that that which we call rubbish, may be a godsend to people over there.

Mathew Hanbish in his radio address to Canada on Sunday properly described the status quo of Great Britain who for years to come will keep herself clothing because to the few clothes her ruined factories can produce at present, are needed all to help her with her foreign exchange.

If only we could realize how well off we are and how little in the matter of sacrifice this war has demanded of us and buckle down to hard work, leaving grievances to a more opportune time, we should show ourselves worthy of our calling.

N E S

Our good friend, Mr. Bisley, has handed us the promise of a sixteen per cent reduction in income tax, when he brought down his 1946 budget. By the way, why does he "bring down" a budget? Does he keep it upstairs for fear the nation get into it or does he suspend it from the lofty branches of a tall tree out of reach of the magpies? We have always wanted to have this point cleared up for us.

In the same breath he tells us he is launching a bigger, better and heavier Victory Loan to [illegible] (we love that last word) the good work that he and others of his ilk are doing to see our boys in the forces get a square deal. More power to his elbow! It's the least we can do to show them our appreciation.

N E S

How we remain to be sure!

Here we set out to show you that Josephburg, all doubts to the contrary, is still on the map, and we have't succeeded you one iota of progress in the form of [illegible] progressive community. Take our word for it! We're still on the map and intend to remain there. In answer to your kind enquiries, we still state hopefully that we are still able to sit up and take a little nourishment. In spite of hail, frost, weather and budgets, we are still hanging over and up by the matter of wheat, coarse grains, livestock and poultry and day by day our turkeys chuckle to think what fine carcasses they are producing for the Christmas market.

Which reminds us that Christmas is not very far off; but our pen is empty; our paper is depleted and we must leave such discussion for a future date.

The Ninth Victory Loan

It's different this time.

Do you remember, way back to [illegible] Victory Loan in the days of money, our attitude, and our [illegible] sports?

Remember those [illegible] about bonds? We weren't seriously convinced of their value. We weren't sure we'd get our savings back.

But we did know we stood in deadly peril. Peril of losing not only our money but all we had and were and could be in a civilized world. Sick fear and desperation, faced with the choice of bonds or bondage, we chose bonds. We threw our money into the common pot and sent it off to war.

The first Victory Loan was won over. Do you remember how the money we lent geared the war machine in ever increasing tempo—ship building, Ninth Victory Loan—to subscribe as magnificently as was done when we stood united by the crisis of war. The urgency of the appeal is gone, but to a widespread [illegible] satisfactions, fevered dreams and [illegible] restlessness we find a common meeting place of minds.

It is this—Deep gratitude for the survival of our way of life. Deep gratitude that we have been spared the ravages of war. Deep gratitude that out of our abundance we can share with those who bore the brunt for us. Deep gratitude that no more must we pour our substance into the abyss of hate, of destruction and death, but can turn now to the healing of wounds, to feeding the hungry, to conservation, and satisfy our work in our own peace loving land.

In this mood in this humble attitude of thanksgiving, we meet the Ninth Victory Loan.

A Challenge and a Confirmation

By R. J. DEACHMAN

In a recent story I pointed out that the true goal of economic effort was higher national income—not full employment. A friend opposes that point of view. He claims that the individual seeks security—not abundance, and he quotes Beveridge to prove his case and in the last paragraph makes this statement, unusual but true: "Labor must be useful for with labor". His letter follows:

"You are wrong—your friend is right. We are living in an age when we are not concerned about human progress in the future, but about the ills of the town. We confuse human progress with human ease and comfort, today we [illegible] to not "full employment" but full enjoyment.

If by "national size" you mean the sum of the total of all the people, I would say you are wrong when you say that our national size is a higher national income.

PRODUCER AND CONSUMER

"Look at the organizations that flourish amongst us. Labor demands more pay for less production, farmers want controlled production in order to create a scarcity and raise prices, trade associations want less competition so that they can charge more, manufacturers want protection to keep goods out so that they can have a larger share of the smaller output that will be available.

"Are the grain growers of B.C. sorry that the Ontario fruit crop is a failure this year? Are the coal miners sorry that we can't get our car or supply of coal from the U.S. this winter? Do the workers at Research Enterprises want the plants converted to the production of something useful? The answer in every case is "no". The people as a whole are utterly indifferent to the size of the national income. What they are concerned about is their share of it.

Radiograms

CJCA's Public Relations activities have extended into Edmonton's annual Sir-Isi program. Sir-Isi is a YMCA sponsored adult organization whose prime purpose is to promote Social Education to the general public. Each fall they organize an educational program covering six two-month periods.

This year enrolments attend sessions of their choice each Friday This fall, radio is one of the subjects offered and CJCA's Public Relations Department was invited to plan the series of sessions.

Weekly subjects will cover the various phases of radio—its place in our community "behind the mike" activities—public service, etc. Five heads of the various departments at CJCA will handle sessions, which will consist of informal talks, studio tours—student participation and open floor discussions. Just another public service offered Edmontonians by CJCA's Public Relations Department.

Some people say they'd give their shirts to bring in a new world. But they don't invest in it financially or take off their coats to fight for it.

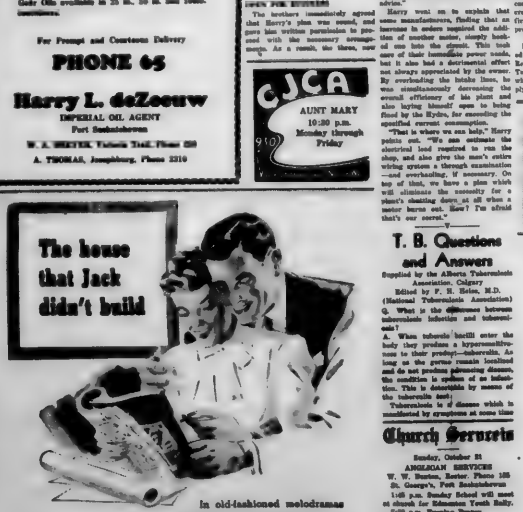
The house that Jack didn't built



WE'VE ALL HEARD of the house that Jack built, but nobody hears of the houses that thousands of Jacks haven't built. They've existed in dreams, or they may actually have been planned, but for one reason or another they have failed to materialize.

When you see an old weed-covered plot transformed into a street of cozy homes . . . when you see old tumble-down barns replaced by fine new buildings on prosperous farms . . . you can usually figure that a mortgage loan has helped these people to realize their dreams.

In old-fashioned melodramas the mortgage was a threat to family security. Today it is just the reverse. Thousands and thousands of families live in peace and comfort in homes they own themselves because of mortgage funds made available through the Life insurance companies.

A portion of every dollar invested by Life Insurance companies has helped finance town and farm mortgages for solid thrifty borrowers all across Canada. The balance is in government and municipal bonds, industrial securities, etc. Life Insurance holds prosperity at the same time that it stands guard over the homes and loved ones of four million policyholders.

It is good citizenship to own LIFE INSURANCE
A Message from the Life Insurance Companies in Canada

THE ROAD AHEAD
A Column for Service People
By William Stephenson

A very good example of the manner in which a group of veterans can combine for the greater good of all concerned is supplied by the Tilbury brothers. There are four of them altogether, the sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. Tilbury, of Hamilton, Ontario; although one, Ken, being in the merchant navy, does not enter in the picture. The other three have pooled their gratuities, credits war savings, and other resources, and are in business for themselves.

RABBIT LEADS OFF

The eldest of the trio, Harry, ex-soldier-lieutenant, RHF, was the owner of this family consortium scheme. Before the war, Harry spent four years with a large electrical manufacturing company, and would have been welcomed back by the firm. However, he felt that there would be greater opportunities for him and his brothers in embarking out on their collective own, so he went to the other two with his proposal. That is, he wrote to them, because at the time the idea first came to him, the others were separated from him, by a couple of oceans, with a flight sergeant with the RCAF, two in Royal Army Service Corps, and an airport in electronics, having assisted in the installation of radar stations all the way from Florida to Goose Bay, Labrador. Flight-Lieutenant Bill Tilbury was flying with Transport Command of the RAF, and was based in India.

LOOKS FOR BUSINESS

The brothers immediately agreed that Harry's plan was sound, and were also written permission to proceed with the necessary arrangements. As a result, the three now together again, have opened a hardware and radio repair shop in Hamilton. Harry is the expert on general electrical problems, Bob looks after the radio end, and Ken is the store manager.

The boys do not intend to limit themselves to selling utensils and condensers. Harry has a revolutionary conception of what electrical maintenance should mean, which he will put into practice as soon as equipment is available. He thinks that there is a very real need, in the Hamilton industrial set-up, for a firm which will contract to service and maintain small machine shops. He believes that the "season of prosperities" adage can have a commercial application.

DRIVE IN THEIR SOTTO

Harry says: "Let small shops, employing up to a couple of hundred men, keep a maintenance man on the payroll. He must come to be listed as an electrician, but generally speaking he should be able to change a light bulb. Ach boo about such things as power factor or line load, and he'll probably end by giving him double talk. Well, we can provide the answer to such problems. Our work, like our motto, will be small and the patient is not ill. Infection may go on to disease. Q. At what time of life does most first infection take place?

A. During childhood, i.e., before the fifteenth year With the isolation of patients in sanitoria and better precautions against infection, and discovering incidence of disease, the first infection is now perhaps being prolonged to later years.

Persons desiring information on the above subject are asked to send them to the Record Office or direct to the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary, where careful attention and early reply will be given.

Q. What is the difference between tuberculosis infection and tuberculosis?

A. When tubercle bacilli enter the body they produce a hypersensitiveness to these germs—tuberculin. As long as the germs remain localized and do not produce advancing disease, the condition is spoken of as infection. This is describable by means of the tuberculin test.

Tuberculosis is of disease which is manifested by symptoms at some time

LABOR'S CHOICE

In an article which appeared Labor Harry, one of the workers, but he may in the Montreal Star, William refused on the principle that if all Stephenson, who has the past five years workers united on the issue, there has been working to create teamwork would be enough jobs to go around, in American industry through the management programme of Moral Re-Armament, for the sake of another man's livelihood.

"Which way will labor swing the world? In its hands now lies not only its own destiny but the destiny of nations and empires. Labor represents the chosen men and the ordinary man in the world's audience. Today the ordinary man has to decide between two opposing ideas. He has the choice to be governed by a strong dictatorship, or by democracy which puts him pay and the brotherhood of man, at the mercy of his own desire for power and prestige, so that he becomes an easy tool in the hands of whatever unscrupulous forces are aiming to subject him. Or he can find a great moral force which enables him to take a stand for what is right rather than who is right at every point of decision."

The choice was illustrated recently when a Canadian shipyard was closing down. One gang was asked to work overtime $16.50 extra in the weekly pay envelope looked good to them.

"The best in labor and management united on a program of team work and unity, can out think and out work any extreme class ideology. Such unity in the nation is the basis for all nations. In labor's hands lies the decision of whether we will share, with all men, the ideals of justice and fair play, or whether we will share the misery of war. It is labor's responsibility, with management, to see that the world's goods are equitably distributed. Labor is not out for a larger share of the world's goods at the expense of other nations. Labor is out for a world in which there is enough for all nations to share in the goods of the earth.

"Labor must realize that the world's problems are not solved by the struggle of class against class, but by the struggle of all classes against the forces of selfishness, greed and fear which divide them. Labor must realize that it is not the only group in the community which has rights. It has the right to work, but it has no right to withhold the right to work from others. It has the right to a decent standard of living, but it has no right to deny that right to others. It has the right to a voice in the conditions of its employment, but it has no right to dictate to the employer in matters which are his responsibility.

Reports that have come out of war-devastated countries are heartrending. Confirmed stories tell of countless deaths due to exposure . . . of vermin people sharing a single shirt of fleet wrapped in news paper for lack of shoes . . . of children ravaged by illness and disease due to inadequate clothing for their emaciated bodies. All are in desperate need of clothing, shoes and bedding. Unless these needs are filled, the indescribable misfortunes of exposure will take a greater toll of human health and human lives . . . adding to the huge total unthinkable to ordinary experience.

These people are our friends and allies. By sending clothes to them now we not only give them warmth of body, but also the inner warmth of heart that comes with the knowledge that they have not been forgotten. By helping them, we help ourselves . . . for with adequate clothing and improved self-respect, these fellow world-citizens can go on to rebuild their part of a war-shattered world.

The drive is set for the period of October 1 to 31. Go to it now. Push your contributions to a bundle so that years will be ready when your neighborhood receiving center opens. Durable, wearable clothing, shoes, sheets and blankets; infants' and children's wear, hosiery and underwear of everything usable will be welcomed as heartily as new!

Notices that take at easy time will be easy most for approaches to morrow.

this is the Branch Bank where Jack keeps his money—so he does not have to keep his savings at home with the danger of loss, fire, or theft, and can pay bills safely and conveniently by cheque.

this is the Teller in a branch of a different bank in another city, who made sure that the man who presented the cheque was really the man Jack intended to pay. Then the amount of the cheque was added to that man's deposit account.

this is the Clearing House maintained by the banks so that customers' cheques can be exchanged and the banks can make their accounts with one another every day. Soon here, Jack's cheque was sent to the clearing department of his own bank, and from there to the branch where Jack keeps his account.

this is the Ledger-Keeper who made sure that the signature was really Jack's. Then he debited Jack's account. The amount is entered in Jack's passbook next time he comes in, so he always knows exactly where he stands.

This is a chatty outline of what happens when you pay an out-of-town bill by cheque. Many people pay their large local bills that way too. To be able to pay by cheque is a convenience convenience which costs you little or nothing. Banks are the bookkeepers for millions of your fellow-Canadians.

Carnauba Palm a Valuable Wax

From the coast-cold midwestern area of Brazil comes the world's native supply of the world's most valuable wax, the product of the Carnauba palm tree. The uses of Carnauba wax are many. It goes into phonograph records, linoleum, sealing material for dry-cell batteries, and is used in the manufacture of floor, shoe, and furniture polishes; grammophone needles, carbon paper, electric insulators, soap, candles, lubricating oil and carbon paper. The wax is also used for water-proofing paper, cardboard, textiles, and industrial machinery, and in the manufacture of various rubber and ointments, artificial fruits, plasters, matches, rubber cements, paints, and varnishes. A coating of the wax enables new pennies to increase their speed in vending machines and thus saves time in the vicinity of banquets. It is used to harden basements, crowds, and pencil-fills.

The value of the carnauba palm, however, is not limited to wax. The trunk provides rural housing material; the leaves, thatching, fences, brooms, and fuel for industrial use. The bark is used for house fuel. From the roots are made baskets, brushes, mats, hats, ropes, nets, and other articles. The sap provides a wholesome tapioca, and a fermented drink. Young shoots are used as the vegetable, and the heart of the young palm makes a starch, similar to sweet (coconut) flour. From the fibrous covering of coffee-like drink. Stalks and other residue provide fuel.

The wax comes from the serried, fan-like leaves, radiating from the crown of the tree. Giving the appearance of a coating of dust, the wax forms during the dry season, preventing excessive evaporation from the tree. Drought increases the yield of wax, but severe drought over a period of years may kill the tree. Young trees begin to produce wax after eight or ten years.

Clothing Committee Expresses Thanks

Anyone still desirous of contributing to the National Clothing Collection should see his local postmaster, who is authorized to continue receiving donations. The campaign however, is officially over, and the committee that was gathering clothing at the Fort Saskatchewan Town Hall has ceased its work. During the time weeks it functioned, some 4000 lbs. of clothing were received, packed and shipped. It has taken the co-operation of a large number of people to accomplish this, and we can scarcely express to everyone the gratitude we feel. We would wish, however, to say a special "Thank You" to the Canadian Legion for the use of the room in the Town Hall, to the Town Council and Mr. Ken Thomas for providing heat and making the town trunk available, to Mr J. State Spends All of Gas Tax on Highways

Renewed effort will be made by the Alberta Motor Association to ensure that motor revenues of the province are used entirely for the maintenance and construction of highways.

This is expected to be one of the main qualifications for consideration when annual meetings of branches of the A.M.A. are held in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge later this year.

Particular attention has been given to the manner in which the province that the name of Montana, which some years back had highways that were far below standard, now has built up a fine system of hard surface roads. This has been accomplished to a great extent by passing a law which states specifically that all gasoline tax revenues must be expended on highways.

When a delegation of Montana business men visited Edmonton recently, they told of what Montana had accomplished. They also expressed appreciation of Alberta highways in an interview condition.

For many years the A.M.A. has campaigned for the objective of having revenues taken from motorists in gasoline tax and motor licenses diverted unselfishly to highway purposes.

The Recipe Corner

For those who, any day now, will be bringing in beets from the garden to store for winter use, here are a few reminders. Beets keep best at a temperature between 32 degrees F and 36 degrees F. To keep them crisp in storage, evaporation should be prevented, as a covering of sand is called for. Twisting rather than cutting the tops off reduces bleeding and this helps not only to preserve the colour but also to pre vent. Roots

RUBY JAM

4 cups peeled, finely chopped beets
6 cups peeled, finely chopped apples
6 cups boiling water
3 cups sugar
2 lemons, grated rind and juice
2 oranges, grated rind and juice
½ teaspoon allspice
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ginger

Boil vegetables in water for 20 minutes. Add sugar, bring to a boil and boil 10 minutes. Add grated rind and juice of lemons and oranges, and spices; boil until thick, about 15 minutes. Pour into hot, sterilized jars, seal and cool. Yield, about 3 pints.

PICKLED SPICED BEETS

15 large beets
3 large white onions
2 teaspoons celery seed
1 tablespoon salt
1 teaspoon mustard seed
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon
½ cup brown sugar
3 cups vinegar

Boil beets until tender; peel and slice. Peel and slice onions and mix with beets. Pack in hot sterilized jars. Add spices and sugar to vinegar, bring to boiling point and pour over beets; seal. Yield, 4 pints

Valuable Facts

The Advanced Registry for Pure Bred Swine of the Live Stock and Poultry Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, provides for the recording and performance of pure bred swine through testing their progeny, and includes the recording of all pure-bred swine information during feeding and finishing periods, and similar necessary facts respecting the carcass. The supervision is carried out either at the breeder's premises or a government-owned pig testing station. The advantage of the information obtained through this service has become an important factor in the development of constructive breeding programs by the individual breeders in the improvement of Canadian stock for export.

A Message TO FARMERS from a Farmer

H. H. Hannam is President and Managing Director of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture. In a message addressed to farmers, Mr. Hannam says:

"The farmer who is wise will look ahead and plan carefully.

"And in these years when prices and returns are more satisfactory than they have been, when labor is scarce, when farm machinery is restricted, when building materials are not readily available, a good course to follow would be that of putting a substantial share of the year's earnings into sound securities such as Victory Bonds. These reserves will not only provide a measure of insurance against difficulties in less favorable years, but at such time when supplies are favorable and costs will probably be lower, their purchasing power will be greater and return from them correspondingly increased.

"We believe this is good planning from the farmer's standpoint. At the same time, it is the very best of planning from the standpoint of the Nation."

SINUS PAIN

3-Purpose Medicine Helps Clear Out Congested Sinus Areas

One best way to get relief from torturing sinus pain is to clear congestion from nasal passages and give sinuses a chance to drain. A few drops of Vicks Va-tro-nol in each nostril is usually enough to bring this comforting relief.

3-Purpose Medicine . . . Va-tro-nol is so successful because it does three important things: (1) shrinks swollen membranes of the nose; (2) helps clear out pain-causing congestion and (3) soothes irritation. Many sinus sufferers say it's best relief they've found. Try it!

T. B. Questions and Answers

Supplied by the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary

Edited by F. H. Heise, M.D. (National Tuberculosis Association)

Q. Could a person who has had tuberculosis contract milk a very rare disease of tuberculosis [illegible] disease, develop symptoms and have the disease show up in the X-ray within a month's time?

A. Yes, if the exposure has been intimate. In the gravest pig, definite T.B. can be detected a month or six weeks after inoculation if the dose is large enough.

Q. When T.B. germs lie dormant in a person from childhood, does it mean that the germs [illegible] for years without multiplying? If so, why don't they multiply?

A. Tubercle bacilli may lie dormant in areas of disease for long periods of time but why this is so is not definitely known. Presumably they are surrounded by lime or some tissue which deprives them of nutrition and they hibernate, so to speak.

Readers desiring questions answered are asked to send them to the Record Office or direct to the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary, so, why don't they multiply?

Shoes Saved a Life

A well known firm of United Kingdom shoe manufacturers has received an unusual testimony to the hard-wearing qualities of their shoes. The testimony comes from a Belgian who bought a pair of golf shoes from them in the month after he was arrested by the Germans, he says. For twelve months he did hard labour—building roads, digging, chopping, and coal loading. Throughout the year he wore his golf shoes. At the end of 1942 he was released on parole because, "thanks to my shoes nobody could hear me when I started running". Determined to reach England he set out on a long march. He walked through France, over the Pyrenees and into Spain. That he did so was due to his life on the formidable climb, he says, was due to the toughness and nonslip qualities of his shoes. THE WARTIME PRICES AND TRADE BOARD
FARMERS' BULLETIN

FARM MACHINERY OFF RATION LIST

All rationing controls have been removed from sales of farm machinery, and restrictions on the production or importation of such machinery have been lifted.

Price controls remain. Generally, maximum prices for farm implements is the price at which such items sold during the basic period August 15—September 15, 1941. Granted prices do not include cost of delivery to the purchaser.

Under Consumers' Credit Order No. 323, section 10, terms of sale for farm machinery are: 1/3 of quoted price paid in cash; the balance of the credit price to be paid within two years of the date of the contract in stated amounts at specified dates. Any allowance for a trade-in is to be deducted from the unpaid balance.

Because the lifting of production restrictions, it is expected that the shortage of implements such as manure spreaders and binders will fade the maximum output of farm implements during the year July 1, 1945, to June 30, 1946, to a 30% increase (on tonnage basis) over the output in the preceding 12 months.

Farmers' Poultry Prices

Farmers selling B.3 types of poultry, except turkeys, direct to consumers are permitted a 3½% margin over the wholesale ceiling prices established for the area in which they are located. Turkey producers are allowed a 30% margin over the wholesale level.

Potato Storage Allowance

(Order A-1360 now in effect)

A storage allowance of 3c per 75-lb. bag of potatoes and 7c per 100-lb. bag is allowed on November 1. Another 3c per 75-lb. bag and 6c per 100-lb. bag may be added on December 1, and another 3c per 75-lb. bag and 7c per 100-lb. bag on January 1, 1946. There will be no storage allowance for February, but monthly increases will be resumed on March 1.

FARMERS' RATION COUPONS

Coupons covering farmers' sales or farm household consumption of meat and butter, and sales of preserves must be forwarded to Local Ration Board's [illegible] producers' envelopes (No. 61). Reports for November should reach Local Ration Boards not later than December 10.

Following are the valid coupon dates for November:

	MEAT	BUTTER	SUGAR	PRESERVES
November 1.....	M 9	128	"	"
" 8.....	M 10	"	"	"
" 15.....	M 11	129	66, 67	P 30, 31
" 22.....	M 12	130	"	"
" 29.....	M 13	131	"	"

Farmers are required to send in "M" coupons to the Local Ration Board for meat they consume, and meat they sell to farmer neighbours at the rate of 4 lbs. per coupon. Farmers' slaughter meat need not turn in at the end of the month more than half the valid meat coupons in the ration books of their household. For men who purchase meat from other farmers must surrender to the selling farmer one meat coupon for every 4 lbs. of meat purchased, even if this means surrendering big coupons not yet valid.

FARM SLAUGHTERERS

Farmers who slaughter for their own household consumption or for the consumption of their farmer neighbours, are not required to hold a slaughter permit. Any excess of farm slaughtered meat over the farmer's or his neighbour's requirements may be sold only to the holder of a regular slaughter permit in quantities not less than a quarter of beef or a side of Pork. Sheep, lamb or calves slaughtered by the farmer for his own or his neighbours' use may not be sold into the meat trade.

Licensed slaughterer's quotas for cattle have been temporarily suspended and until further notice a licensed slaughterer may slaughter all the cattle needed for his requirements.

Rationing is your assurance of a fair share.
It is a protection against waste . . . shortages . . . inflation.
What is why farmers are asked to continue to collect and turn in coupons to their Local Ration Boards—once a month—in the 58-61 envelope.

For further information apply to the nearest office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

Keep up the Record

Sales in the 9th Victory Loan for Fort Saskatchewan and Heidelberg Sub-Units up to the present are only 35% of the $200,000 quota set

In the past eight loans this district set an enviable record by going well over the top in every loan and it is to be hoped that when the final day on which the campaign ends, that once more we will go over the top.

Crop conditions have evidently affected loan sales in this area, but the Victory Loan committee and salesmen are not disheartened They are confident that the quota will be reached if everyone will dig down a little deeper and SIGN THEIR NAME TO VICTORY by BUYING; ONE MORE BOND.

Play Safe

With the accident toll mounting, motorists and pedestrians alike are reminded once more that the first days of winter are approaching. Streets and highways are slippery and afford little traction, and falling snow and the mist often obscure vision. If accidents are to be kept at a minimum motorists are advised to play safe by easing up on the gas pedal and those on foot by stopping and looking before crossroads. Bicycle riders are also reminded to stay at the side of the road where there is less likelyhood of being hit by a motor vehicle if it starts to skid.

Rush of Tourists, Hunters to Alberta

Hunters and tourists from the United States are expected to take a record number of cards in the annual draw for five years.

That opinion has been expressed to officials of Alberta Motor Association by Michael Lerner, of New York City and Miami Florida, who was in the province while on a big game shooting trip to Jasper National Park. The same belief also was expressed by Abe Lerner. Both are well known famous big game hunters.

Thousand of people are waiting to travel, as there has been a pent up demand during the war years, said Mr. Lerner.

There will not be tourist facilities in Europe for some time, following the devastation caused by war, while the food problem in Europe is another factor that will discourage travel to European countries.

Many different factors combine to show that Alberta can expect a big volume of tourists in the new year and for the next few years. It has scenic attractions that are unsurpassed and hunting that ranks with the best anywhere, said Mr. Lerner.

If I don't fight for a new world I'm not fit for it.

There will be increases in freight rates between [illegible] hence in enlarged [illegible] wide markets for our wheat and other Canadian products, were shocked indeed when they noticed that the Canadian Government was about to increase tariffs. As we all follow, we should be able to appreciate the tariffs is substantial [illegible] an advance [illegible] items. Steel tubes, a most important material for almost every industry in Canada, have had the tariffs increased from 6 to 20 percent, and Diesel engines, which are used by many factories, and by country elevators, and which hitherto have been imported free of duty are now to have a duty [illegible] equal to [illegible] of 20 percent.

The reason for putting the economic clock back with exasperance We all know that [illegible] the tariffs [illegible] manufacturers with which to buy our wheat and other export products. As we have mentioned [illegible] we have witnessed nearly decrease exports. Sacrifices then arise, weigh on the market and so reduce prices. Tariffs, too, sow the seeds of war. The world can have peace and free trade, but that [illegible] tariffs. It is the purpose of essential war. We have been told this over and over again by great authorities. All farmers should protest strongly against these new Canadian tariffs.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Reports from Spain confirm that the second crops of the 1945 harvest were considerably below averages and below the requirements of the country [illegible] requirements for Europe and North Africa during the present season have been unofficially estimated at 684 million bushels, about 87 percent of the available world surplus supply.

The Belgian food situation is reported as satisfactory; crops suffered considerably as a result of the drought this year, but imports have kept the food supply at a satisfactory level. U.S. farm income is expected to reach a record high this year of $25,400,000,000, compared with the previous record of $19,794,000,000 in 1944.

THE ROAD AHEAD

A Column for Service People

By William Stephenson

ARMY PAYS DIVIDENDS

An excellent example of how a term of service in the armed forces can be turned to civilian advantage is supplied by Urbain Joseph Bourgeois, of Aylmer, Que. Urbain, known to his friends as "Bordon," was a file-mill duties for a time, then was window before the war; by reason of promotion to the rank of corporal and training and experience gained in the given work of an Ukiln inspection assay, he is now employed in the civil service, where he does eternal work on its chemical, but in modern way in the Central Registry of the Army, for which many merchants are a common occurrence, and when a man might be in North Africa one day or would like to have him back at Court lawyer Valdemar Hvidt. He his old job, but Bourgeois feels there is more security in his present work however, he is able to utilize the knowledge and experience gained before the war. Having met almost every sort of person during his years as a war, he developed a pleasing personality and a lot of self-possession. Added to these qualifications, he has a quick mind.

Herbie Bourgeois is quite convinced that the combination of army experience and expert assistance from the Employment offices have given him a break in life which he might not otherwise have obtained.

suffered on the fighting fronts, will be required to carry on in that sector of work in civilian life. Taking his discharge at Area 7 of 14 he applied at the Income Tax Division in the National Employment Service. Then he went back to Aylmer, to enjoy a little vacation.

Just three weeks after his demobilization Herbie was summoned to the Employment office and informed that a job with the Civil Service had been obtained for him. He reported for training. Denmark's labor Prime Minister, was visited by Supreme Court lawyer Valdemar Hvidt. He suggested the Prime Minister get together some of the leading men to tackle the unemployment question.

Stauning looked at the list of men. "If you can get these men to tackle anything together," he said, "you have done more than I have ever been able to do."

The conference met and an association was formed called L.A.B. (Landsforeningen til Arbejdsbeskaffelse—Beha-cupolgo) Hvidt was elected president of the association.

"The answer to no work is work," said Hvidt, "and it is everybody's responsibility to find work for others. Our only wealth is our people and the work of our people. Unemployment is not just a humanist and economic problem, but above all a moral problem. It depends on our will and courage, our imagination and selfishness. Let's get to work."

They did. First the big unemployment monster was chopped into small parts. Local committees were formed and it was made a home town project to see what could be done. In many communities L.A.B. found ready response because of the pioneering work enlisting local citizens to take civic responsibility which had been done by Moral Re-Armament, of which Hvidt was a national leader.

What happened in one town was typical.

The leading industrialist got interested. "But," he said, "we would need the mayor's cooperation, and everybody knows that the mayor and I are not on speaking terms. I would hate to block the way for this project, so take my name off."

Next day he called up: "I've been thinking all night about it. This is bigger than our squabbles, so I am going to offer my services to the mayor." He published a letter in the local paper that was an apology. His action started things going and local community projects sprang up all over the town.

All through the war years L.A.B. seemingly equipped with "unpolitical" activities, build up a network of pilot riots.

In 1943 Hvidt and his associates in L.A.B. ignored the orders of the Nazi occupiers and turned to prepare Denmark to meet the huge unemployment expected after the war. The L.A.B agents in this "preparedness campaign" were wealth farmers' sons from the disbanded Danish army They personally visited every landowner in the country. A hundred thousand farmers in 1300 villages were asked what jobs were waiting to be done on their farms and how many extra men they could employ after the war.

As a result the labor department got a detailed picture of the work possibilities in farm communities unparalleled in any other country They knew every roof that leaked, every field that needed drainage, every barnyard repair job. And even more important, every farmer in Denmark found himself taking a personal interest in finding work for at least one more fellow Dane. Fifty thousand men found work in this way A leading newspaper commented, "The three letters L.A.B. will in years to come mean work for many idle hands."

That this development is receiving world-wide attention is evident from the following comment by George Light, Chairman, National Trade Union Club, London, England

"I have known this scheme since its inception The cooperation shown by people in all parts of the country has been remarkable. Much has been done, much more remains to be done The ghastly tragedy of unemployment is everybody's responsibility in the country. It can be solved if its playing a reserve part. We must drive poverty from our midst. This is one practical way of doing it."

Danes Tackle Unemployment

by Gudrun Egeberg

Danish Correspondent for — NEW WORLD NEWS

Denmark is finding a cure to unemployment Today, in spite of the difficulties of getting coal for industries and transportation for farm exports, fifty percent of the Danish communities have no unemployed. And fifty thousand farmers have asked for extra help for 1945-46. In 1939 thirty percent of all workers were normally unemployed

The story behind this goes back to the war years when Denmark was financing. Denmark's labor Prime

A.M.A. to Discuss Alaska Highway

Taking note of the Alaska highway by the Canadian army on April 1 has aroused keen interest in Alberta circles, announcement of this step was recently made at Ottawa.

The future operation of the Canada-Alaska highway, particularly from a business standpoint, will be discussed at the annual meeting of the Alberta Motor Association, which will be held at Calgary on December 6.

The A.M.A. has pointed out repeatedly that Alberta, taking advantage of the construction from this province with the Alaska highway which will eventually become the famous "round the world" highway, should be the foremost all-year gateway to the Canadian northland. Additionally, with the completion of the Bow River section of the Jasper highway.

Attention also is centered on the progress being made by the B.C. government on the construction of a $6,000,000 road from Prince George to Dawson Creek, B.C.

The Shipshaw power plant in Quebec, which provides energy for the Aluminium Company of Canada, has a potential kilowatt hour capacity greater than that of Boulder Dam in Colorado.

THE JOB'S NOT FINISHED

Fighting has ended . . . but having laid down the tools of war we can't fold our arms and consider the job done.

A lot of things have to be attended to. That's why we're having another Victory Loan.

And it's just necessary that we buy 8th Victory Bonds as the bonds we bought while the war was on.

A lot of war expenses remain to be paid. Other expenses connected with our war effort are still going on. So—Canada needs money to meet these bills.

Our allies look to us to help provide food and other necessities which liberated people sorely require. Canadian farms and Canadian factories must furnish these things. Canada needs money to provide credits so that needy countries may buy from us.

Our fighting men must be re-established in civil life and those sick and wounded returned to health. That is their due. Canada needs money to do this.

The 8th Victory Loan, therefore, is a challenge to every Canadian to help Finish the Job!

FORT SASKATCHEWAN and DISTRICT MUST

BUY MORE VICTORY BONDS

This time one loan must do the work of two. There will not be another Victory Loan for a year. We must buy bonds this time—bonds the payment we bought last time. That will not be hard to do because the same rate of savings as in previous Loans will pay for twice as many bonds over the 12-month period.

Americans Want British Cars

The United States officer who was ... mentioned with London intimate ... to be sent to Britain to buy ... in America has forecast a big [de]mand for United Kingdom motor cars. In an interview with Mr. H Symmons, United Kingdom motor manufacturers and traders, he said "The American boys over here are ... their own cars and they already know the good points in the makes. The United Kingdom models that he mentioned would attract the most attention with the American public include the famous ... car of average horsepower, the famous saloons the lines of which appeal to him immensely and a certain more powerful sports car. He claimed he could easily sell at least a thousand of the last type of ... troops while in England have paid ... many tributes to British-made cars, but the buyer's market, so far as personally know reserves for "small types" ... motor cars in the United Kingdom leadership is acknowledged.

MINE-WEEPERS KEPT BUSY

At the moment there are still a hundred British minesweepers in service. They will have to carry on their hard and hazardous work for at least another year in order to clear Britain's shores of mines. The Royal Navy itself laid down 160,000 anchored mines in home waters, and the enemy too managed to lay a large number. At present time, about 500 to 550 mines are being rendered harmless in a week, but the work may have to be interrupted during the winter. Then the main task in clearing the shores of Britain from the danger of mines will probably not be able to be completed until next summer.

THE MAIL BOX

Editor, Dear Sir:

Circular letters have been mailed to the Premier of Alberta, his Cabinet, all Officials, Barrister, John Acton and Company, daily and weekly newspapers, in an effort to find out, how many people knew of the proposed vote and went among the blind people of Alberta.

Some interesting factors developed showing the trend of human nature. Not many comments were received through the press, but the clubs, social service and welfare organizations, gave good response.

We cannot answer the many questions we are asked regarding the charities because we don't know. We have not received one reply from any church official, pastor or minister. We hope they are taking time off to study the plight of the blind people in Canada. May we suggest that Christians, church members, laymen and preachers, study 1 Corinthian 12-31, Luke 10:30, 37, we then learn we are our brother's keeper.

Our Provincial Government is not interested in the building of homes for blind people. Premier Manning said the government is making every effort to get improved pensions for the blind and O. A. Pensioners.

Though an election is in the offing in Calgary not each alderman has received the circular letter, not one member of the council has responded.

We should like to emphasize we are not asking for donations, or asking anyone to subscribe to the building of a home for the blind. All we ask is your correspondence, your influence, your ideas and thoughts, and the prayers of true Christian people. There are men and women in Alberta who are always ready to be the leaders and protector of those who are in need and will give housing or build homes for the blind if you Mr. Citizen give your approval. Just one problem—A totally blind man 72 years of age, fell down stairs breaking three ribs, with complications, lay for a week and a day in a condemned rooming house, slowly dying from want and lack of care, until taken to the General Hospital.

Alberta Farmers' Union
October 22nd, 1945

The Editor,
Dear Sir:

In view of the tense situation which is developing in the ranks of labor we think that all bodies who can exercise any influence towards dealing in a conciliatory manner with differences which have arisen should do so before it is too late.

The situation with regard to the packing plant workers has reached the stage where immediate action is necessary. In view of the present firmness and sweet situation, if a strike was to occur, it would bring about a desperate adverse effect on western agriculture and all consumers.

With regard to the packing plant workers we believe these men are taking a realistic attitude. They recognize that technological advances in all industries automatically brings about less need for workers services. They also recognize that if markets are to be maintained, the workers wages must not be reduced.

They are therefore wishful to negotiate with representatives of the Packing Companies, in order to draw up an agreement which will have the effect of shortening the number of hours in a week, work week without reducing their "take home" pay. It seems to us that this desire is in accord with all up-to-date economic thought and is fair, reasonable and just.

Up to the present we understand their advances for negotiation have been refused by the companies and as the purpose of negotiation is to ratify and if possible merge the different views of the two parties in an attempt to bring about an equitable arrangement, we think this stand taken by the companies is hard to justify.

As it is essential to the welfare of agriculture that a strike be averted at this time as the cattle situation is already at a critical stage we urge that the necessary steps be taken to bring about a meeting between the company representatives and the Union so that they also have the opportunity to carry on negotiations which may lead to a satisfactory settlement.

Yours truly,
H. E. Nichols,
Secretary.

DISCHARGED PERSONNEL MAY RETURN TO OLD JOBS

The Reinstatement in Civil Employment Act, passed by Parliament in 1942, sets forth conditions under which employers MUST REINSTATE their former employees in their employment after discharge.

This Act and its Regulations are administered by the Dominion Minister of Labour, through the National Employment Service. Reinstatement Officers are available in the National Employment Offices to answer inquiries, and assist in adjusting cases.

Employees—either men or women—are to be reinstated if:

(a) they worked for their employer 2 months immediately prior to enlistment, and were not replacing another employee who has since been reinstated;

(b) they left their employment to join the Armed Services, the Merchant Marine, or the Fire Fighters Corps;

(c) they apply to their employer for reinstatement, verbally or in writing, within 2 months following discharge in Canada or 4 months if discharged Overseas.

Provision may be made for extension of time if the employee's health prevents him or her from returning within the specified three months. In this event, the employer must be advised within the 3 or 4 months, as the case may be.

The following points in the legislation are also important:

1. Discharged men and women upon reinstatement are to be given conditions not less favourable than would have been enjoyed had they continued in employment instead of joining the Forces.
2. The period of time spent with the Armed Services is to count for seniority rights, pension rights, vacations with pay, and certain other benefits.
3. Discharged personnel who cannot perform their former duties are to be reinstated in the most suitable employment available, at which they are capable of working.
4. If an employer dismisses a reinstated employee within 6 months, he must be able to prove in court that he had reasonable cause for so doing.

ALL EX-SERVICE MEN AND WOMEN ARE URGED TO USE THE FACILITIES OF THE NATIONAL EMPLOYMENT SERVICE WHEN LOOKING FOR WORK.

How to Feed Turkey for Christmas Trade

The Christmas market is generally considered as the best for turkeys. At that time, they have reached market development and weighing when dressed, from eight to twenty-five pounds, can consequently meet the needs of a family of almost any size, says A. G. Taylor, Poultry Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa.

The turn fattening is applied to the finishing or conditioning of poultry for market and put into housecrib does not buy a bird because of the fat it contains. What is wanted is the most saleable flesh and a little fat. Fat enough to cook the bird is all that is required Excess fat supply boils out and is the expensive part of the turkey How then can turkeys be conditioned for the Christmas trade so that they will have a maximum of flesh and little fat?

The answer is found in the method of feeding practised on the modern turkey farm of today The plans of those rearing turkeys has changed very considerably during the last ten years. They will have to carry on their growing birds to limited quarters (on wire or on range) and keeping proper records before the birds constantly so that the pault or growing bird will be in good flesh at all times. The bird does not have to wander far and wide to find food enough for its daily needs and upon the food which has been supplied to grow frame and muscle.

Young turkeys are usually started on turkey starter mash for six to eight weeks, then changed to turkey growing mash and mixed grain and fed three feeds until market age. The mash and grain are fed in separate hoppers. As these hoppers are self-feeding the birds eat what they require at leisure. In this way they will never hungry and seldom eat a full meal at any time As the weather grows colder in the fall the birds not a greater proportion of grain than mash and consumption increases.

Variety always aids in inducing the turkeys to increase the intake of food and from about the middle of October when the supply of grain feed is increased per bird, to a point that is not any extra feeding which may be decreed. Moist mashes are palatable and most acceptable to turkeys when fed in tempted quantities in the middle of the day These are merely the regular growing mash moistened for each feeding with skim milk or water, although milk is better To keep the birds with good appetites, they should be fed slightly less than they will eat up clean at each feeding.

About three weeks before the birds are to be killed for market, give them a light feed of whole corn just before they go to roost at night, says Mr. Taylor Make sure that the corn is dry and free from mould, he says, warning that new corn should be fed fresh before the birds constantly so that the pault or growing bird will be in good flesh at all times. The bird does not have to wander far and wide to find food enough for its daily needs and upon the food which has been supplied to grow frame and muscle.

Water, grit and shell should always be before the birds.

End War Control Milk, Cream Sales

An announcement of interest to milk and cream producers and the trade is in the statement that another wartime control will be lifted at the end of this month when the Agricultural Prod Board removes its remaining restrictions on the purchase and sale of milk and cream. Many Excellent Booklets Issued

One of the most interesting, informative and instructive features of the Dominion Experimental Farms Service is the publication of their work in permanent form so that it will be known without the slightest fear that they will per-ish in the wastepaper basket and tantamount booklets exist among the very worst.

Most of us were taught at school that all good should be under uniform pronunciation was more unanimous and far Unfortunately, as we grow older the right conclusions, as far as these lectures are concerned, and yet too often nothing happens What farmer in the Prairie Provinces has not, unconsciously, had more weeds in his fields, crop than in the simple crop after crop rotation.

Some light, though not enough as thrown on this problem in a recent pamphlet by Dominion Cerealist (The Modern Canadian Society—Agronomy by Mr. N. G. Lerch Point Dominion Experimental Farm, Alberta

The results of experiments reported by Mr. Lerch show that one year out summer weed seeds germinate a period of drying before they will germinate He further brought to the practical effect of making dormant seeds germinate, and the process may be hastened in direct sunlight.

This has an important bearing on the effect of a hot harvest tillage If we bury some of these seed before the required drought period is complete, they may remain dormant for years, and germinate when they can do most damage—not intentionally, of course!

We still know too little about weeds, and farmers should press for more research.

Municipal District to Erect New Building in Fort

The postponed October meeting of division to survive the 180 homes that the council was held on Monday, November 5th, with all members in attendance.

After the adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting and the financial statement for the month of September the following accounts were passed from the different committees.

The secretary reported that application had been made to have a number of townships in the district brought in the school districts of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act, and that a petition circulated had already been made by officials of ministering the act. A full report is to be received at a later date.

Mr. Meyer and the secretary were a committee to meet with a committee from the Provincial Government's Marketing office in Fort Saskatchewan for the purpose of erecting a building to house some of the units of the road machinery.

A report was also submitted to the effect that a few of the councillors and addressees, together with the inspection of residences, of all residents in the outlaw weather strains your car's transmission and differential, says your car. Get a Purity "W" Winter Change now, and add to the life of your car and the pleasure of your driving.

The council reverted its decision on the application of Max Holloway to install fuel oil pumps on lots 10-15, block 1, Turner Heights. Mr Dan Goldsbrough was appointed delegate to attend the Alberta School Trustees' Convention which is being held November 14, 15 and 16

A report was sent to the government by some unknown person that the new room built in the basement was a fire trap. A fire inspector was sent to the school and on completion of his investigation stated that the accusation made was entirely unfounded. There is an exit to the north and one to the west within a very few feet of the room. The only thing the inspector could find wrong was the lack of a fire gong in the room. The board had already ordered one of these gongs which will be installed in the very near future

$80,000 Needed to Reach Quota

The end of the 9th Victory Loan Drive is coming to a close and unless the people of Fort Saskatchewan and Sub-Units dig down a little deeper we will fall far short of the quota of $240,000 which was set for this loan.

Council approved of the sale of lots 13-14, block 2, Turner Heights for $600.00 each.

The secretary reported the sale of an impressed tax sale lot to Mike Ivanoff, lot 2, block 1, Turner Heights for $5.00.

The water and sewage question at present is a very serious one. Several months ago, but due to the war it was laid over as the first year-four project to be dealt with.

Beaver Hills W.A. held its regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Lehmann with the president Mrs. Rose in the chair. Rev. W. D. Rose. Among other matters a motion was made to have a rummage quilt of all-woolen patches, to be [illegible] to Edmonton and a committee was named [illegible] Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Lehmann and Mrs. Hall. "I was hungry and ye gave me to eat I was naked and ye clothed me", said the Master and "Inasmuch as ye did it to the least of these my little ones, ye did it unto me". East Edmonton

A pleasant surprise came the way of Mr. Alfred Martin recently, when an invitation to attend a dinner of and an event in honor of the Alberta Jersey Cattle Club held in the Royal George hotel, he was pleased to find he was the recipient of a handsome gold Challenger wrist watch.

Mr. Martin has filled the office of president of the club, and has been on the executive for many years, and so, in recognition of his outstanding services in the Jersey cattle field, his work in popularizing the breed in northern Alberta, the club presented the occasion to honor him with a complimentary address, and a parting gift.

The Martin farm, complete with its large herd of pure cattle, has been sold to W. J. Mallin of Leduc, who takes possession this week. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Martin and Mr. Alf Martin are leaving Edmonton for a sojourn in the west, intending that a change of climate may prove beneficial to Mr. Martin's health, which has been a source of concern of late.

Mr. Gordon Hodgson, Calgary Power Company, was in attendance in connection with the petition sent in by eighty-two residents of the district to the South of the City in which they urged the Council to grant to the Company the right to build transmission lines on the highways so that they may be served with electric ele ctricity.

Municipal District Council Briefs

The Council of the Municipal District of Strathcona, No. 20, held its November meeting on the 12th instant with all members in attendance.

After the adoption of the previous meeting and the financial statement for the month of October the meeting heard reports from various committees. In this regard the Council received that officials of the Prairie Farm Assistance Act had investigated the plight of wheat in the townships included in the Council's appl cation for assistance and that they had reported that the average yield was considerably in excess of the government yield of eight bushels per acre. In view of this there will be no payments made under the P.F.A.A. this year for wheat in the district.

The Council's representatives on the Power C mmittee, the Reeve and Deputy Reeve, advised that the Committee had met the Minister of Trade and Industry and the Chairman of the Power Commission in connection with reference to the proposed electrification of the Municipal District. It was decided to be represented and sent to every resident of the district and as soon as replies are received it is hoped that a definite statement will be made as the proposed scheme.

Mr. Meyer and the Secretary made a progress report regarding the acquiring of lots in Fort Saskatchewan for the erection of a building to house units of the district road and grading equipment. The Town Council had given them the choice of three lots one of which would be transferred to the district on payment of $5.00 per lot and as soon as a building is put up.

Mr. Gordon Hodgson, Calgary Power Company, was in attendance in connection with the petition sent in by eighty-two residents of the district to the South of the City in which they urged the Council to grant to the Company the right to build transmission lines on the highways so that they may be served with electric ele ctricity.

All councillors who may be able to attend the municipal convention were appointed official delegates.

Mr. Mark Latour, Brunner, was appointed Returning Officer to conduct the municipal election next March. Deputy Returning Officers and Enumerators were also appointed.

With the handing of correspondence and the passing of payments and accounts the meeting adjourned at

TIMELY FARM NOTES

FIXING POULTRY ON THE FARM

Birds that lack proper fleish should not be marketed. They are not a demand by the buying public and tend to depress prices for birds in the higher grades. It will pay to hold the unwise until properly finished.

Where the number of birds is large, crate fattening can be used to advantage. A crate six feet long, eighteen inches wide and twenty inches high, is divided into three compartments with four birds in each one.

with milk in the consistency of thin cream, and in a few feed or two afters of feedings. While grain should not be fed during the chicken period, young green barley will finished with a skilful fattening. Three weeks, and those with have access to the range will make good use of this.

Birds should be starved for twenty-four hours before starting on the fattening mess. The first feeding should be light, and the amount gradually increased until the birds are on full feed on the third day, receiving no amount that can be cleaned up in half an hour. Do not leave feed before the birds between feedings. Clean the troughs and give water to drink.

BACTERIAL RING ROT AND THE HOUSEWIFE

The scriptural test to "taste doesn't make sense" to housewife, but if the one of the pairing knife shows a reddish cast to the table one begins to wonder. Nevertheless, if they know what to look for, can help a considerably in the control of one of our most serious potato diseases. Bacterial ring rot, a comparative new comer to Alberta can be checked effectively only if the growers and consumers both watch carefully for signs of the disease.

J. L. Richardson, Supervisor of Potato Control, says that bacterial ring rot shows up first as a ring of small soft, watery spots usually just inside the stem end of the potato. Later, the whole ring becomes darkred, and the potato breaks down with a soft rot. Samples of potatoes showing signs of bacterial ring rot, may be mailed for identification to the Field Crops Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture at Edmonton. Badly rotted specimens should not be sent.

There may be many sound looking potatoes in the lot among which the diseased ones were found. If ring rot is the cause, none of these should be used for seed since there is a strong possibility that all will be affected

When final U-boat commanders hoisted black flags of surrender, it was a "go ahead" signal to the three out of every eight Canadians who normally depend for their livelihood on export

For five years the flow of foreign trade has been largely a government responsibility. But now, to help create peacetime jobs, Canadian enterprise must do its full share in finding customers abroad. This means doing business all over the world, in strange and distant cities, in a hundred languages and currencies.

Canadian banks have a key role in this complicated but essential peacetime task. Every day their foreign branches and correspondents arrange credits, handle documents and perform other business operations to bring buyers and sellers together across the obstacles of distance, language and custom.

This banking service is of primary importance to business and to every Canadian worker as Canada turns to the task of recreating trade abroad to provide jobs at home.

(C)Ch's "Phebe Hollins and Holly"), the landlord of a furnished flat in Bayswater, London, was questioned by the Income Tax Commissioners about rent he received from a serviceman's family.

"Mr. Jones," the Commissioner asked, "is it true that you have let your flat to Mr. and Mrs. Jordan at a rent of £3 a week?"

"Yes, sir," replied Mr. Jones.

"Do you mean to say that you have let all that nice flat to Mr. and Mrs. Jordan for only £3 a week?"

"Well, sir, the Jordans were very nice people. But they're not funny at all. Not one joke in the whole four. And when they showed us through their home, I opened every drawer, and jumped back but not a thing fell out!"

Mrs. and Mrs. Jones's home problems took a turn for the worse October when one of their Kent County, California farmhouses went up in smoke. Pilot and Molly evacuated as unoccupied house that was being remodelled for occupancy by Sergeant Herman and Wendy. California, caught fire from unknown causes and was completely destroyed.

The house, uninsurable equipment, was valued at approximately $6,500. When all their assets razed, the Jordans themselves occupy another house several miles away.

Over The Top Once More

The citizens of Fort Saskatchewan and Sub-Units may well be proud of exceeding their quota of $240,000 set for the 9th Victory Loan. They were lagging behind until the closing days when they went on a closing spree and as usual sailed over the top, heart needles record.

According to reports received from Campaign Headquarters Tuesday, sales amounted to $260,000 or 110% with additional uncompleted returns still to be added.

This is no mean achievement considering that the quota for this loan was boosted by $60,000 over the previous loan, and the crops throughout this district were only fair

Out of a total population of 900 people in the Town of Fort Saskatchewan, sales in this 9th Victory Loan amounted to $70,000, which means that for every man, women and child here an average of $87 worth of bonds were purchased.

The people of the town are to be heartily congratulated in rallying behind their committee in order to make this loan such a complete success.

In addition, transportation systems have been disrupted, thus hindering the organization of distribution.

Improved Nutrition Would Increase Sale of Many Farm Products

Looking down the road the bread nation dietitians the possibility of an expanding demand for the products of agriculture and fisheries as the beneficial effects of improved nutrition become known and understood. Dr. F. F. An increase of almost 5% in essential products produced in Canada is therefore anticipated if the Canada food and also throughout the world, by bringing additional foods into general consumption. Even with the new peace in increased food production and the lifting of restrictions on the use of imported foods it will not be humanely.

Women's Styles Return Again

Good news for style-conscious women comes in the Wartime Prices and Trade Board pre-announcement that all restrictions on the manufacture of women's, misses' and juniors' woolen coats, suits and sport jackets have been removed. There is one modification—that no manufacturer may offer more than fifty styles of such garments in any fall or spring season.

Restrictions on manufacture, sale and delivery of women's, misses' and children's outer wear also have been removed. From now on any style goes for sleeves, belts, pockets, collars and cuffs, and culottes and hood shirts will be back in market again.

T. B. Questions and Answers

Supplied by the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary

Edited by F. H. Heise, M.D. (National Tuberculosis Association)

Q. Is there any danger of infection from exchanging books with a tuberculosis patient?

A. Unless the patient is very careless about coughing there should be no great danger. The hands should be washed thoroughly before eating, and the fingers should not be moistened to help turn pages.

Q. Is it advisable to allow children under 12 to visit in a sanatorium?

A. A sanatorium should be no free from danger of infection as any place on earth. However, if the youngster is permitted to associate with patients who have positive sputum, infection may occur.

Readers desiring questions answered are asked to send them to the Record Office or direct to the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary. Every practical question and early reply will be given.

CAUTION IS ASCHEW

Of all products of a sub-tropical clime, cotton is commercially the most important, and dates back to the earliest times of which there is any record. The first mention of it is found in Indian books written more than 800 years before the Christian era. The first European writer who is known to have mentioned it is Herodotus who wrote in the 5th century B.C. He spoke of a tree which bore wool as growing in India, bearing, instead of fruit, a wool like that of a sheep.

A PREVIEW SALUTE TO EDMONTON

The information to follow could serve as a preview to the "Salute to Edmonton" program scheduled for December 1 on Canadaren Bengari's "HOUSE PARTY" broadcast heretofore at 6:30 p.m. each Saturday.

Edmonton is now the second largest manufacturing centre in the Dominion of Canada. Its manufacturing industries are closely associated with mixed farming. Meat packing plants, creameries, flour and feed mills, cereal plants, poultry, egg houses and egg pasteurizing factories report booming activities.

Biscuit-making plants, garment factories, breakfast foods, soap and soap powder, tent and awnings, sash and door, bedding, woollens, furniture, vinegar, paint, and soft drink plants are operating at capacity. The Great Western Garment Company is the largest plant of its kind in the British Empire.

Boat building, aircraft fabrication, and lumbering are on the increase, all declared foreign trade and many developments in Canada's great Northwest.

Edmonton's permanent population has grown by leaps and bounds from 29,000 in 1940 to 112,000 in 1945. It is estimated that by 1950 the permanent population brings the figure up to 150,000 persons who must be fed and clothed.

In the same five-year period, Edmonton's Street Railway traffic has nearly doubled; building permits are up six-fold; tax collections have been setting new records each succeeding quarter, and the city's bonded debt has been reduced 30 percent. Bank clearings have boomed from two million dollars weekly to nine million.

That, in a nutshell, is what could come over the airwaves on "House Party's" salute to Edmonton December 1.

New Color License Plates

Alberta license plate for cars in the current period which opens April 1 will have a changed color combination, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association.

The colors will be black numerals on an orange background. This color combination is distinctive and has been found to give satisfactory results when used in several of the states.

The 1946-47 number plates will be made available as early as possible in March, following the practice in recent years.

Orders for 100,000 new plates were placed some time ago by the provincial secretary's department, and these are expected to be delivered early in the new year.

A single plate will be used on cars in the new year, following the system operated during the current license period.

Dessert is something which we all enjoy and anticipate at the end of a meal. It is the climax or special treat. A dessert must complement the meal. If the main course is substantial, then choose a simple dessert, but if the main course is light, then round out the meal with a rich dish deemed pudding.

Actually the word dessert comes from the French word meaning "to clear the table". Under the regulations of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, of Canada, the following suggestions for meals pour every day dinners the substantial and wholesome, and that will be sure to clear their plates.

CHOCOLATE PUDDING
1 tablespoon gelatine
2 cups milk
6 tablespoons or 1½ ounces grated unsweetened chocolate
2 egg yolks
2 tablespoons sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
2 egg whites
2 tablespoons sugar
Few drops peppermint flavouring
Soak gelatine for 5 minutes in ½ cup milk. Place remaining milk in top of double boiler and scald. Add chocolate, grated chocolate and stir until chocolate melts. Beat egg yolks with 2 tablespoons sugar and salt. Pour hot chocolate mixture gradually over egg yolks, stirring constantly. Return to double boiler and continue cooking until mixture coats a spoon. Chill until partially set, about 45 minutes. Beat with rotary beater until light and fluffy. Beat egg whites until stiff and add the remaining 2 tablespoons sugar and flavouring. Fold into chocolate mixture and pour into a moistened mould. Chill until set and serve with cream. Six servings.

R I P E

ORANGE BREAD PUDDING
6 slices white bread
2 tablespoons butter
½ cup orange sections or slices
2 egg whites
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons grated orange rind
2 egg yolks
½ cup milk
Spread bread with butter and cut into cubes. Place in greased baking dish and arrange oranges on top. Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff. Gradually beat in the sugar and add orange rind. Beat egg yolks, add milk and fold into beaten egg whites. Pour over bread mixture and oven-poach in a moderate oven at 350 degrees F. for 40 minutes. Six servings.

O A T

OAT FLAKE PUDDING
1 cup rolled oats (quick cooking)
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup raisins (optional)
1 cup milk
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup light molasses
2 tablespoons melted butter
1½ tablespoons lemon juice (½ lemon)

Mix rolled oats with soda, salt, cinnamon, raisins and spice. Combine the eggs, molasses, water and lemon juice. Add to the dry ingredients and turn into top of double boiler, lightly greased. Cook over boiling water, about 1½ hours. Six servings.

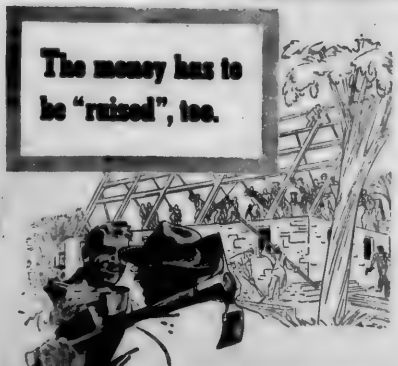
The answer to unemployment is work. We can solve the problem of work for all if we all work at it.

The money has to be "raised", too.



WHEN there's a loan to be raised a man's neighbors . . . sometimes a whole community . . . often pitch in and help him do the heavy end of the work.

And so for the money needed for materials, that, too . . . although few people stop to think about it . . . often comes from co-operation, too.

Four million or more Canadian "neighbors" pool a part of their savings in Life Insurance. Their premiums add up to a huge sum, part of which is available for farm and town mortgages, so that when a farmer, for instance, wants to build, or enlarge, or renovate, he can raise the money readily.

The Life Insurance business is strictly a "neighborly" business . . . a great co-operative enterprise which aims at the protection of the people by the people.

A portion of every dollar is visited by the Life Insurance business in loans to farmers, towns and town dwellers who considerately need such huge loans to realize their ambitions and get ahead. The remainder is invested in government and municipal bonds and other investments under government supervision. Every time you pay Life Insurance premiums you can feel safeguard the future of his loved ones . . . his plan shown in Canada's progress.

It is good citizenship to own

RELAXING CONTROLS

Do we realize that Canada's cost of living has risen less than that of any other country? Canadians are the hardest people in the world because of energetic co-operation, our government was able to subsidize essentials such as milk and oranges, making the necessities available to all three-fourths of all-out "The war's over now. Why don't the government get busy and remove these controls?" But are we, the people of Canada ready for the lifting of controls?

"Aw dad," begged Jimmy, "let me have the car all by myself, just once." His dad yielded to him. He got the car. What a wonderful feeling of power to have the keys in his hands and no one to check him! But Jimmy raced the car through a red light, and Jimmy in the hospital while he and dad pays the bill.

Are we men sure enough to have unrestricted buying power put into our hands? Have we the inner control necessary? Or will we indulge in an orgy of spending, race through the red light of inflation and land up in the hospital—depression? A sound economy depends on sound people, people who give honest measure whether in weight or work, who care about their neighbours, whose pattern is not "grab" and "get".

To quote Donald Gordon, Chairman of the War Time Prices and Trade Board "In the reconversion of our economy each segment of the economic structure has its part to play and every citizen will have to bring all his intelligence and realism to bear on the task." How long the controls will last will depend "on the degree of restraint shown by the public in the use of accumulated purchasing power"

The quick demobilized axe of controls comes our opportunity to show that our patriotism is not a feeble flame but a burning passion. Our dollars properly spent can help to build confidence, enterprise and national security. So shall such a spirit grow that when control that, when controls are relaxed, there shall have been bred in us the consciousness of our individual responsibility in our country's economy.

Importance of Planting Trees in Alberta

The Forestry Division of the Department of Lands and Mines again emphasizes the importance of planting trees for shelter belts, windbreaks and woodlots in Alberta and their value.

Since the spring of 1922 many hundreds of thousands of trees have been distributed by the agricultural service for these purposes by the Alberta Forest Service and many agricultural areas have been benefited by this policy.

The results are becoming increasingly gratifying as the trees distributed several years ago are now affording protection against soil drifting, the high winds that are prevalent on the prairies and also in improving living conditions and beauty during the hot summer days.

Woodlots planted on marginal and sub-marginal parts of the farm are proving very beneficial in providing fuel and posts, and when all of the farm requirements for fuel as well as of the lumber required from time to time.

A great many Dun and Red Oak trees have been distributed by the Alberta Forest Service in past years and these species have proven hardy in a great part of the province.

A large quantity of Dur Oak and Red Oak are available for distribution in the spring of 1946 and it is suggested by the Forestry Service that each applicant include a number of these in their applications.

Trees free of charge, the recipient paying the express charges covering shipment, are to be given by the Forest Service in the following purposes:

1 For planting within natural Poplar or Willow bluffs
2 For replacements in established windbreaks or shelter belts.
3 For rural schools, churches and cemeteries.

Trees are not available for beautification only, nor for the establishment of new windbreaks and shelter belts. Persons requiring trees for the former purpose should secure them from commercial nurseries, and for the latter application should be made to the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Tree Planting Division, Indian Head, Saskatchewan.

Trees available for distribution in the spring of 1946 include the following:

White Spruce
Ledgepole Pine
Scotch Pine
Douglas Fir
Bur Oak
Red Oak
Green Ash
American Elm

In addition to the above, cuttings of Laurel Leaf Willow, Golden Willow and North-west Poplar will be available.

All applications must be filed in

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE

SOME TARIFF INCREASES HERE INDEED

In the autumn three weeks ago attention was drawn to the amazing action of the Dominion Government in raising tariffs on certain commodities while at the very moment representatives of the Canadian Government were arguing the world to adopt lower tariffs.

This great storm of disapproval which ensued has persuaded the government to rescind these tariff increases. With the exception how ever of one on Diesel Engines, on which the tariff raised 25 percent (from 10 to 35 percent) which opposed the increase, the government decided continue with there pretents until the returns on Diesel Engines of 25 per cent is itself also removed, for there is no more reason for this tariff than there was for the tariffs on other goods which have been cancelled.

The mere cancelling of these increases is not enough. If our farmers and all of us, in these present are ever to be prosperous, we must be able to export all that we produce, and this can only be done by Canada being willing to import freely large quantities of foreign goods, and these large importations can only be made when the existing high Canadian tariffs are sharply reduced, better still, eliminated altogether. No area in the world will suffer more than Canada if such tariffs are maintained than our Prairie Provinces, no area will benefit more by the removal of there evil tariffs.

German flour milling capacity is reported to have been 55 to 60 percent destroyed during the war. The official Argentine Crop Report shows the condition of wheat as fair, with threats of rust and locust damage. Although India's wheat crop is larger than last year's imports from Canada have been necessary in order to meet requirements.

Cuba imported a record amount of wheat flour during the first nine months of this year, all from the U.S.A. The U.S. Department of Agriculture predicts that enormous relief requirements will step up international wheat trade this year to the highest level in 15 years.

and received in the office of the Director of Forestry, Administration Building, Edmonton, before January 31st, 1946, otherwise they will not be given consideration.

Democracy must again become a general force in the world before it can become a political success. The public life of any nation depends upon the private lives of those who run it.

Change December Ration Procedure

Consumers are assured of the same amount of sugar for the month of December although the ration procedure will be slightly changed, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces. Instead of one sugar coupon and two preserves coupons being issued valid the third Thursday in December, four preserves coupons FH, SH, 2H, 3H, each with an information value of one half of sugar, will become valid.

As well as allowing a greater choice of preserves to consumers wishing to substitute preserves purchases for sugar, use of the two extra preserves coupons will finish up the "P" coupons at the end of the calendar year.

Lion of the Tribe of Judah!

You gave your life for each of us,
But by your death, you gave us,
And still you are in reach of us,
In all your heavenly glory.
You loudest in along God's way,
Of righteousness.
Oh Son of God forever stay
And hear our earnest prayer.

Chorus
Watch and all circle, all storms at an
For you are Lord and King.
To thee, the world shall bend the knee
To thee, their homage bring.

Though storms still rage, on land and sea,
Your might and Light give cheer.
Oh Lord o'er us thy presence be
We pray that you stay near.
Give us not fainting over nor fear,
But living Waters pure.
Our souls, refreshed, our faith abides;
Through prayer our rich, you cure.

In sunny lands, your eagles spread,
Midst thieves and selfish fear,
Such heroine rare and Living Bread
Our cup of joy o'erflows.
Upon your loving arms you lay
The world's anointing oil.
O Lord, we cannot comprehend,
We pilgrims of the soil.

There is no correct thought, nor sin,
You may man can hide.
For we all, without, within,
Oh Lord be then our guide.
Teach us the Laws of God and Thee,
Our spiritual eyes we avow;
Expose the want of Pharisee
Oh save us from their grave.

You've freed us from the Law of Death,
That dark mysterious night,
We fear not death, our Saving breath,
The darkness, theme to light.
With You in Heaven for the blest,
With angels of our God.
We there shall find both joy and rest,
Forever more, praise God.

The Radiograms

"HELLO, THE NORTH"

Before wartime broadcast restrictions came into effect, CJCA received a program designed primarily to serve listeners whose duties called them to remote areas of Northern Alberta.

The program has been revised to meet the needs of the day and is now back on the air . . . bigger and better than ever.

To begin with, the program reaches far beyond the area covered in previous days, by means of short wave VERAL Today Canada's Great Northwest has many populated areas that were practically non-existent before the war. Points like Dawson Creek, Fort St. John, Aklavik, Norman Wells and Yellowknife are flourishing communities. Thousands of Canadians and Americans are scattered at remote points from Rome to Chantrell; from Coppermine to Tuppor Creek.

"Hello, The North" will give them an opportunity to hear voices of their loved ones from Edmonton. Besides, they will get the latest in the news world. Recent numbers will be played. There will be a special salute to Yellowknife.

In time, the entire 30-minute program is designed to prove entertaining to all and of special personal interest to all whose lives have been thrown at the fringes of civilization.

It is heard every Saturday evening commencing at 11:30.

The Recipe Corner

Toast naturally is to "mourn by the fire", but the browning of bread on its crisp and hot has become so popular that toast now means toasted bread. Neither can add the feeling of a meal more easily than crisp, hot toast.

Many toast is known variously as French or Dutch, but whatever the familiar name, it is a substantial family requisite and welcome guest course. Sunday morning breakfast becomes a meal of special interest when you serve French toast with bacon, maple or the family's favourite jam or jelly.

Here are puzzled about what to serve a hungry crowd for supper on a cold night, the home economists of the Consumers' Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture recommend scrambled eggs on spicy Spanish toast.

French toast sandwiches are especially popular for an evening lunch or after outdoor winter sports. Make the sandwiches of your favourite filling and cut into desired shape. Dip both sides into the egg mixture. Brown on both sides in hot fat and serve at once.

French toast can play, with equal success, the leading role or as the dessert course. When prepared for the dessert course, it may be served with unpeeled guests arrive, serve plain French toast with hot spiced applesauce or pureed fresh tomatoes in season. It is simple and quick but a really interesting dessert!

Why VICKS Is So Good
For Relieving Miseries of
Childrens Colds

More than two generations ago—in Grandmother's day—mothers first discovered Vicks VapoRub. Today it is the most widely used home remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds. And here is the reason . . .

The moment you rub VapoRub on the throat, chest and back it begins it starts to work two ways at once—and keeps on working for hours—to bring relief. Its vapors, released by body heat, are inhaled with every breath—carry direct to clogged upper breathing passages, relieve muscular soreness or tightness. It penetrates surface skin. Often most of the misery of the cold is gone by morning! That's why VapoRub is so good to use when colds start.

Rural Electrification

The public meetings on Rural Electrification which are being held in many districts should receive the support of everyone concerned.

The advantages to be gained from electrifying farms and country in the world, yet only one out of every five farms have production, improved living conditions and also it would create direct and indirect employment for many.

Canada, with the possible exception of Norway, has the greatest harnessed water-power per head than any other country in the world, yet only one out of every five farms have electricity.

Electrifying of farm homes would be a boon to farm women, because it will take the drudgery out of rural life. Water can be electrically pumped for less than a cent a day. Electric washing machines and irons can be operated at a very small cost. With these labor saving devices farm women can cut down their hours of work thus assuring them of more leisure in which to do some of the things they have dreamed of doing.

If rural farms and towns could enjoy all the conveniences found in cities, many of the young people who now drift away from them would be satisfied to stay, and in so doing would help to build up prosperous communities.

Now is the time for everyone to make a determined effort to attend these meetings in their respective districts and put this project across by backing up the Rural Electrification Advisory Committee.

Heavy Registration in Applied Science

The following registration figures are announced for the Faculty of Applied Science in the University of Alberta. In the first year, 293 students are registered; of these, 63 were direct from high school and 169 from the military services. In the second year, with a total of 149, the proportions are reversed, the figures being 58 to 68. The numbers entered in the third and fourth years are also larger than usual, being 72 and 54 respectively; but the percentage of returned men is, in each case, about 20 per cent.

The normal first year registration of high school graduates has, in recent years, been roughly three times the number accepted this year. Unfortunately, through lack of sufficient space, equipment and teaching staff, a number of these had to be asked to wait their turn, for it seemed only right that every returned man who had the qualifications should be given that chance for which he has waited so long.

World of Wheat

A BARRETT OF SEED

As the season advances it becomes more and more apparent that there will be a scarcity of good seed this year. The reference to Registered and Certified seed but also to commercial seeds. Farmers, therefore, who are planning on saving any quantity of new seed had better be quite certain that they can fill it before they hand all those grain to elevators.

There is one source of quite good seed available, which is what is termed "Crop Testing Plan" "A". This represents stocks in the hands of certain farmers who had samples representing their crops grown as "Crop Testing Plan" plots this last summer, and which samples were graded "A" in "Crop Testing Plan" tests.

An "A" given by the "Crop Testing Plan" means that the seed is true-to-variety and a high degree of cleanness. Those who are in need of this kind of seed might therefore inquire if in their district there is a farmer with such stocks in his bins. As a rule farmers are willing to sell such good seed to their neighbors for only a small premium. During the past fifteen years, "Crop Testing Plan" records have shown that even in million bushels of such "Crop Testing Plan" "A" seeds have been purchased and used with satisfaction by prairie farmers.

Mrs. E. S. Taylor Learns Of Brother's Death

The tragedy of the Japanese occupation of Tarawa in the Gilbert Islands early in the Pacific war and the murder of several well known residents has a link with Mackay in the disappearance and now officially presumed death at Japanese hands of Captain L. E. Handley, retired master mariner, whose widow has been a resident of Mackay for some years, living with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Macdonald, of George-street. Captain Handley last visited Mackay five or six years ago.

Some details of his career in the islands were given in recent issues of the "Pacific Island Monthly," Sydney. Described as one of the best known master mariners of the Central Pacific, Captain Handley resumed for and wide in his youth and then settled down as a shipper of Burns, Philp ships which, prior to 1914, traded in the Marshalls and Carolines. In 1919 he was still on the job, but then the Japanese took over these groups and began a systematic program to squeeze out Europeans. They made things hot for Captain Handley generally, and when he returned from each voyage, had him before authorities for hours of questioning—nothing would persuade them he was not meeting American ships and giving away Japanese secrets. Finally he left the Marshalls and well over 30 years ago settled at Tarawa.

When the Japanese landed at Tarawa Captain Handley defied them, and those who escaped subsequently say the Japanese tied him up with wire and "frog marched" him across the islet. He was not seen again, and a recent announcement from the headquarters of the Western Pacific High Commission said that from information received it was now necessary to assume that he had lost his life.

A former shipmate of Captain Handley's, writing of his ships, says that he was very well liked by the natives of the Marshall Islands, from whom he obtained valuable information about Japanese fortifications, which he no doubt passed on to the right quarters.

Captain Handley is a brother of Mr. E. S. Taylor, Fort Saskatchewan.

LEGEND OF SILK

Next to wool, silk is the most important of animal products used in weaving. In all probability it was in China that attention was first given to the rearing of silkworms and the manufacture of silk. Chinese history and legend ascribes to Si-ling-chi the honor of having discovered the art of spinning and weaving silk. She lived about 2700B.C. and for her discovery she was revered as a saint.

UNION—HOW ?

The statement appears in the Nation of Nova Letter by Stephen King Hall, condensed in the November issue of Reader's Digest. No longer more pessimistic or clearer statement on the question has been made.

But what of the conclusions given "World Government of World Destruction." Would putting the nations under a world government give them less desire to drop bombs on each other than they had before? Has any other form of formal union, marriage, articles of incorporation, the Government of the Dominion, made people any less self willed and antagonistic?

If married people throw plates at each other, if workers and employers in the same company never pulled off strikes or lockouts, if we were not each somewhat wary of a new conflict over the control of industry, we might think that a union of the nations would really unite them and give the answer to atomic bombs.

Until we find the answer to divorce lawsuits to industrial peace and to international peace we have found it when together they turn to God and find a common interpretation of their differences and resolve their differences toward their differences.

Lincoln was right. A nation cannot exist half free and half slave. And the Lisbon Conference has just shown that neither can a world. Nations and the world can together find freedom from the fear, hate and greed which causes them to fly at each other throats Men who, under God, have found this real unity, can make their example so revolutionary and appealing that it sweeps across

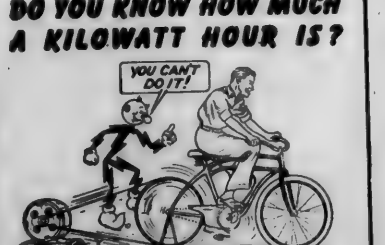
DO YOU KNOW HOW MUCH A KILOWATT HOUR IS?



It is said in order to learn the value of anything, try to make one yourself. In the case of a kilowatt hour of electricity, you'll find it quite a task to make even one.
Several years ago a stationary bicycle was built to drive an electric generator. At numerous Electrical Shows many tried their hand, or rather legs, at generating electricity. At one show, 215 people pedaled the machine until they were tired, and their combined work produced only 2½ kilowatt hours of electricity!
At Madison Square Garden a champion six-day bicycle rider pedaled the same machine in a desperate sprint of one minute. The meter showed that he made about five-hundredth of a kilowatt hour. If he and his team mate had kept up this sprint for six days and nights (impossible of course) they together would have made about 67c worth of electricity—poor pay for a week's work for two famous athletes.

Josephburg

Our rink has its first skin of ice on and "real honest to goodness" old fashioned proverb. The flooding this year has been a triumph for modern methods quite a contrast to the old system which relied on the old crew more and hand dipping. This year has called for three tractors, a truck and a heavy duty pump. The water is procured from a slough on Fred Thomas' place; is pumped by tractor power into tanks mounted on wheels and is then hauled rapidly to its destination.

Times change and we with them but just whether one oh same we have a satisfaction from mechanical aid same as one did from weary muscles is a moot point Incidentally it costs more and that more has to come from someone's pocket Two of our most faithful workers, Don Frey and Morley Hoang have been busy mumping and have been unable to put on their weight.

Mumps—we are busily tracking word as we pen this—is not taking the toll of our children that we feared. There have been a few really severe cases but on the most part it (as it is thought) are more of an annoyance than anything else. Still "it is the worst day that brings forth the adder and which crows very walking". We fearfully finger our jowls each morning and expect the worst. There could be only one thing worse than Mumps now and that—you've guessed it—would be Measles at Christmas time. That would be the woods.

Josephburg continues to grow—she's sure a healthy child. This time it is a large addition to the Albert Tomas store, last time it was Parkway service. The latter structure is nearing completion and if the weather keeps fair we shall wake up to find it a fact.

We now have a certified carpenter in our midst, Gus Thomas, and as long as material holds out we may expect the building boom to continue. Those wishing to share in the wave of prosperity are advised to get in touch with any of the naturalized Scandinavians in Josephburg and take their place in the queues best on getting [illegible] to the [illegible]

Mr. Rudolph Koberg has returned home from a trip to Calgary in the interests of the U.G.G. Next week he begins a series of ratepayers' meetings in connection with the School Division. It is to be regretted that so few ratepayers avail themselves of the opportunity to find out at first hand just how their school matters are being conducted. We know of no one more capable of dispensing the necessary information or more patient in his explanations.

Contemporary artists like Jascha Heifetz, Josef Hofmann, Lauritz Melchior, and others will be seen as well as heard. This is the nearest possible to the real thing—the appearance of the artist in person.

The Rotary Hospital League of Edmonton will provide this rare opportunity, when Josef Hofmann, master of masters at the piano, will appear in person.

T. B. Questions and Answers

Supplied by the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary

Edited by F. C. Boley, M.D.

(National Tuberculosis Association)

Q. How many types of tuberculosis are there which affect the human race?

A. Tuberculosis in the human race may be divided in clinical terms of the organs which are most commonly affected. The latter usually causes disease outside the lungs, especially in children, but may also cause T B in the lungs.

Q. Is it true that few people contract first or primary infection after the age of twenty.

A. Probably few city dwellers are infected with tubercle bacilli for the first time after the twentieth year. Rural dwellers, moving to the city after the age of twenty may receive their first infection after this age, as exposure is more likely.

Readers desiring questions answered are asked to send them to the Rat-ral Office or direct to the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary, where careful attention and early reply will be given.

The Recipe Corner

"Most people like the most pie". When the crust is tender and flaky and the filling luscious and fruity or rich and creamy, pie is the first choice of dessert.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture say that we can still enjoy pie for dessert while keeping the fat supply to salad, if our cream pies are served.

Pie is not only a pie, when it has only one crust. It doesn't matter whether it is of the deep dish type with a generous amount of fruit in the bottom, or an English tart with bottom crust only and a small amount of fruit.

There is also a wide choice of contents, one crust pie . . . some with uncooked filling is uncooked pastry and everything baked together . . . others with fillings cooked then poured into pre-cooked shells.

DEEP DISH PLUM PIE

1 quart fruit (canned without sugar)
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup sugar
¼ cup flour
1 teaspoon almond extract
1 tablespoon fat

Pastry

Drain fruit, heat syrup to boiling. Mix salt, sugar and flour. Stir slowly into boiling syrup. Place drained fruit in a deep baking dish. Pour thickened syrup over fruit. Dot with fat. Roll out plain pastry to ½ inch thickness. Make several slits in the centre. Fit pastry over the fruit, press down well over the edges of the baking dish. Cut and flute the edges. Bake 30 minutes in a hot oven, 450 degrees F. Six servings.

HARVEST PUMPKIN PIE

½ cup raisins
1 cup cooked pumpkin
2 eggs
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon

Necessity of T. B. Seals

Dr. W. W. Cross, Minister of Health, today urged support of the Christmas Seal Sale being conducted by the Alberta Tuberculosis Association.

He said, "Christmas Seals do so much for prevention and early discovery of tuberculosis, and so much for the comfort, training and rehabilitation of patients, that it is difficult to say which of their many accomplishments is the most valuable."

Dr. Cross referred to a statement recently made by Dr. J. H. Holbrook, Superintendent of the Mountain Sanatorium at Hamilton, that tuberculosis can be wiped out in a generation. Of this outcome he said, "It is quite possible, but will require tremendous and unremitting work. The Alberta Tuberculosis Associations, through Christmas Seals, are working toward that goal, and giving us invaluable assistance."

Such "public works" are well named, for they do provide work for vast numbers of the public. Dollars so employed create thousands of jobs, build up the country, and at the same time offer the utmost security for policyholders' funds.

Urge Support of T. B. Seal Drive

Officials of the Alberta Tuberculosis association are once again appealing to residents to support their annual Christmas seal campaign. The amount needed to carry on this splendid work in Alberta is $90,000. Contributions received up to Tuesday reached $25,000, not quite one-third of the amount needed.

Nearly all funds raised in the province is used right here in Alberta to provide X-ray treatments through the mobile X-ray units which travel throughout the country. Approximately 200,000 Albertans have been X-rayed but more units are needed to carry on the fight against this dreaded disease.

Seals have been mailed to residents and they are asked by the officials of the association to send in their contributions as early as possible.

By H. G. L. STRANGE

The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration (U.N.R.R.A.) is not up to sufficient relief to people in distress in countries—not excluding Germany—devastated by the war. The U.N.R.R.A. is financed by 31 countries, and each agreed to contribute 1 percent of its national income of the year 1943. Most countries have paid up in full, including Britain and Canada. The United States, however, still owes 350 million dollars of its share.

The need for funds is more imminent than originally expected so that the Director of the U.N.R.R.A., Mr Lehman—an American—and General Eisenhower recently pressed the United States to step up what it still owes. They have further asked all countries to contribute still another 1 percent of their national income to alleviate widespread suffering, hunger and cold." One hundred shiploads of foodstuffs a month are now being shipped, but in spite of that the Directors stated to Congress a few days ago that during the month of November, 10,000 people will die of starvation and disease in Warsaw alone."

Mr Lehman further affirmed that "there is a serious risk of deaths by the millions this winter in Europe from starvation and disease unless considerably more funds are at once made available; that in Europe 100 million people are actually starving or are on the border line of starvation.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Cuban corn production this year is estimated at only about 80 percent of normal as a result of drought damage—Sweden's 1945 bread grain crops will not supply sufficient milling quality grain for the country's consumption requirements—England and Wales seeded 2,180,000 acres to wheat in 1945, compared with 2,062,000 acres a year ago

Broomhall reports that timely rains have fallen in parts of Europe where dryness has persisted for a considerable period, and as a result, ploughing and seeding operations have been facilitated—Wheat crops in Argentina and Australia are approaching harvest. There have been few complaints recently, and average yield are reported.

Home-Made Peace

On a single day in New York State, 600 G.I.'s filed action for divorce. They did not seem to realize that the tension for which they fought is essentially a home-made tension. Her that, in breaking up those homes, they were cutting at the very roots of our democratic ideology.

Sound home—"little democracies" where people voluntarily agree to live and work together—are the basic units in democracy. Destroy the idea — let home become a "little dictatorship", a war's castle, country club or cave, a legalized love nest or a battleground for self-united parents and children—but wedlock, for any reason, drift into deadlock easily. Soldier through very divorced and you lose not only the idea behind democracy but any possibility that democracy can work.

In Europe there are millions of displaced parents and homeless children, without hearths or firesides, who are suffering and hatred, bereavement and fear sticking across all the otherwise tragic landscape and we, the conquerors, still prate fearless here if we simply restore their devastated homes. We are deluded and re-store the idea of a sound home.

In Canada too, homes continue to break up—the homes of ex-service men as well as those of the returning soldier. When the marriage knot comes out in two pieces of wood and the children are left to grow up without parents, the home is destroyed. We must create a nation of sound families if we are to make any significant contribution to the family of nations.

The first Christmas made home out of a barn. The spirit of Christmas can make our homes into temples of heaven that have grown like a barn due to coldness and indifference. How homes will we create this Christmas? We will make a home-made peace and a home-made peace can last.

Gordon Williamson Back on Airways

To sport fans of this district, the news that Gordon Williamson is back on the airways will come as a welcome announcement. Gordie, prior to his enlistment in the RCAF in 1942, was one of Northern Alberta's widely-followed radio personalities, and his sport news and play-by-play broadcasts always had a wide local following.

Williamson also made quite a name for himself in the airforce. He served as Public Relations Officer for the famous city of Edmonton Squadron, and was overseas for three years. Most recently, he has been posted at P.R.O. at Northern Air Command.

Flight-Lieutenant Williamson is returning his duties on Sunday, December 9th, and will with CFRN. He plans to broadcast three sports programs each day, with a special sports broadcast on Sunday, from Gordie, we learn that he'll be glad to publicize all of this district's sporting activities on these shows. All he asks you to do, is drop him a line at CFRN in Edmonton.

A Sunset Scene

Never shall I forget an evening in our meadow by the lake, when I saw the sunset behind the tall spruce trees not very far off.

I had gone for the cows one autumn evening and was returning. I usually let them drink water at the lake, so I sat down and waited. As I was sitting I saw a picture in the sky more beautiful than any artist ever could paint. The sun just was setting behind the trees which showed every leaf.

I had such a peaceful feeling when I was sitting there, I completely forgot all my thoughts and just stayed at the magnificent sights I saw. The golden beams spread their great arms and the sky was heavenly blue above and that beautiful glow of the red sun seemed to fade into pink and then yellow at last blue which then drifted into dark blue.

Not only did I see that wonderful sight but I also smell the fresh grass which had just been threshed, and now all the leaves were running home with racks behind them.

And now I'm grown up and the pen no longer chimes at six o'clock, but my memories are as fresh to my mind that I can almost see it more clearly now than when it was before me.

I do not think anyone could ever see any sunset as wonderful as the one in the evening in our meadow.

Sunset

Sunset, the time of homecomings can be quite easily called the procession of cows from school or play. The cows seem slowly and composedly go to their pasture. Little birds go back to their nests for the night and all the murderous brutes are quiet as if paying tribute to another perfect day.

Then there are the sounds of the clanking of milk pails, the lowering of the cows' udders ready for their calves, the reign of hungry horses and the creaking of the old barn door as it swings back on its hinges to shut off all to outer.

As the sun sinks to its western home in the west of its blinding power and spreads its mellow golden beams on the new retiring earth. The fiery clouds on the horizon, with their golden trimmings paint a picture that remains in one mind's eye for a lifetime.

There are also those cloudy dark days when the sun seldom shows itself. It gets dark too early, is cold and often wet. One's sports go down and one often finds himself very poor company for any of one's friends.

If we cannot see the sun go down we have the feeling of an imperfect and poorly ended day. But the storm times come like sun comes out and the world goes round happily and merrily again.

The above essays were written by Alice Thomas, grade eight and Dan Odd Undershultz, grade ten Joseph Berg school.

THE FORT RECORD

VOL. 38 No. 49. FORT SASKATCHEWAN, ALBERTA, CANADA WEDNESDAY DECEMBER 12, 1945 Subscriptions $3.00 Year U.S. $3.00

$12,000 Loss When Fire Destroys Barn

Fire of unknown origin which broke out in the barn on the farm owned by Mr. J. D. Jamieson, Fort Saskatchewan about 9 p.m. last Saturday evening caused damage amounting to $12,000.

Mrs. Dawson who was in the upper part of her home at that time first noticed the fire and called to her husband who immediately notified the telephone exchange who set the fire alarm going.

Members of the volunteer fire brigade responded to the call but arriving at the scene of the fire could not possible save the barn and its contents due to the fact that it was a raging inferno. There only hope was to prevent the fire from spreading to other nearby buildings. They are to be heartily congratulated upon the very efficient manner displayed. It was due to their untiring effort that kept the loss to a minimum.

In the barn at the time of the fire were 30 head of cattle and horses, and it was impossible to save one of them. There were 10 sets of harness and some saddles also a large quantity of feed and grain.

Some poultry, a pump and motor and other machinery was also destroyed.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Bremner Couple Honored on Anniversary

On saturday December 8th, over fifty relatives, friends and neighbors gather at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Alexander of Bremner, to extend their congratulations and good wishes to them on their silver wedding anniversary. Everyone spent a very lovely evening recalling happy memories of the past. Mr. Tom Hodgins (the brides father) on behalf of the relatives presented the bride and groom of 25 years with a chest of Rogers flatware, along with other gifts from their family, and expressed the hope that they would be spared to spend their diamond anniversary together. Then on behalf of the community Mr. Tom Jackman made a presentation to them of a silver casserole and silver candle holders. All joined hands and sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows". A lovely lunch was served. A three tiered wedding cake adorned the table, a gift from Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander.

Millet Curlers Win Ash Trophy

The Fort Saskatchewan curlers met defeat Tuesday night when they were challenged by two teams from Millet for the Ash Trophy.

Playing on No. 1 rink were Wright, Simmons, Banks and Brenton for the Fort and C. Moon, R. Campbell, G. Rupert and A. Moll for Millet. The game was being 16-5.

Playing on No. 2 rink were Carscadden, Evans, Johnstone, and McLellan for the Fort and J. Barth, H. Pague, T. Cochrane and B. Hopkins for Millet, with the Millet team winning 15-8 making an aggregate total of 29 to 11 in favor of Millet.

Josephburg

Evidently we were not touching the right variety of wood last week when we reported that sausage was making poor progress in our community. Several pupils have fallen victims to the scourge during the past few days. Two song of the first batch are reappearing but a true statement shows a net deficit. If we are not mistaken, a contagious disease. If this be so, teachers are not exempt, for we learn that Miss Thomson, who is supervising at Good Hope School, has joined the ranks. What a life! One or two adults—we won't mention names—have succumbed to the berge and we just wonder who then can be saved.

We have acquired three new pupils this week, members of the Schoeppe family which has taken up residence in the Hysted (nee Dene) house lately. They come from Strawberry, some 25 miles west of the city and evidently, have heard rumors of this land of milk and honey hereabouts. We welcome them in some degree for in tinged with regret that we have lost some good neighbors in the persons of the Hyntaks.

Mrs. Carl Stoeber entertained the ladies of the Josephburg Red Cross at the Andy Upperchuk home. At this meeting, which is a preliminary to an early dissolution of the organization, it had been decided that each member should be dropped in a pail (figurative) and would be fished out by some fellow member. Surprise was the key note of the innovation. The members are to be congratulated on a very splendid record of concentrated effort and we doubt not that Fire Chief Jacobs wishes to take this opportunity of thanking all the members of the fire brigade for the very efficient manner in which they fought the fire at Mr. Jason recently, especially considering the hardships under which they had to work.

The few fire practises which the members so whole heartedly attended and the co-operation shown at same have certainly proven their value.

Lets strive for more and better fire practises boys, it might be your property next.

Bremner now seems destined to many a serviceman's heart, not to mention his kids, has been gladdened by the fruit they can harvest. What will be their next objective, we wonder, for we cannot feature such active citizens rusting in idleness.

Wilfred Mann is back in our midst patiently waiting discharge from the services and Bernie Fisher expects to be demobbed in the near future. Both these gentlemen have taken wives unto themselves and will in all likelihood settle down to a useful life of citizenhood.

Murder-ray wholesale murder has been committed in our midst during the past week and chickens were guilty of the dead, cut down unexpectant to eat and to drink after their murderous deed. Mrs. Bachleuner's Eve for several dozen innocent turkeys, who asked nothing more than to be allowed to lead peaceful lives in our district. Unfortunately for their blindness, the murderers will in all probability go their way unpunished and incite others to follow their example. In all their life nothing became them smarter as well as the leaving of it, and if they could have beheld their gleaming carcases hanging in carried rows, it would have relieved them in some degree for the loss they had sustained. "Full many a flower is born to blush unseen and waste its sweetness on the desert air" does not apply to these noble critters, who doubtless will be called upon to grace the festive board of some good Canadian. Pardon us if we still shed the odd tear on their behalf.

"They came to us so readily
They lived with us so sturdily."

The motto of the Airforce might well be theirs. Freely translated, in their case it might read—Thus they wing their way skywards.

Another of our exposits dropped in to gladden our geological hearts one week-end, in the person of Private Brookbank. Priede is taking 34 credits in grade 12 this year at Sexsmith High. Alas then it will, but still has a soft spot in her heart for Josephburg—her home and school. We predict this young lady goes places.

Ardrossan

200 Witness First Hockey Game Here

A crowd of arround 200 turned out Tuesday evening to witness the game between the Ledue senior hockey team and the Fort senior team.

If the score is any indication the Fort boys evidently put up a better fight Tuesday night than they did when they played at Ledue last Thursday. At the present time they are still trying out players, but we venture to say that some permanent players are selected and the boys get used to playing together they will give any team stiff opposition.

The score Tuesday was 2-1 for Ledue with timef scoring from [illegible] for the Fort. In the first period Ledue having got [illegible] goals in the first and second periods.

The next game Thursday was 5-1 for Ledue. Ledue scoring 1 in the 1st period, 3 in the 2nd and the Fort 1 in the 3rd which was scored by Bentom from Willieton.

Tuesday night sent the Fort boys to Millet where they will again try the Bremner team tangle with them here at 8:30 p.m.

Radiograms

Two thrillers, and entirely different from the other, great big holiday Robinson is around five o'clock each weekday.

At five o'clock Molly Malcolmson, owner of the program "Land of Let's Pretend", takes on the role of medium between the kiddies at home and Santa at the North Pole.

The kiddies' letters to Santa are mailed to Molly (the phoney Santa—who answers from "the other end"—and reads the letters to him. The over-busy letter are sent to Santa by his special messenger.

The other thriller precedes at 4:45 when the kiddies hear the adventures of "Superman" "Superman" has been a comic strip favorite for a long time . . . now the kiddies thrill at hearing him and following his daring adventures over the airwaves.

T. B. Questions and Answers

Edited by F. R. Heise, M.D. (National Tuberculosis Association)

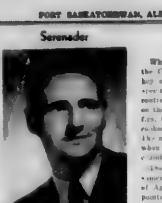
Q. Is there such a thing as being immune to tuberculosis?

A. There is no true immunity. If sufficient numbers of tubercle bacilli enter the body, you develop the disease. There is a partial immunity. This is shown by the manner in which certain races and individuals withstand the disease better than others.

Q. If a T B patient is discharged as cured, would he be immune to further infection?

A. Any person having tuberculosis may be subject to relapse at any time if his health habits are not good. Just how long tubercle bacilli may lie dormant in the body is not known, but we do know that they may for many years.

Serenader



A young man from the west who sang his way into the army but who still sings, forgiveness for the sense of mirth in the tenor sax of Sandbar Serenade, a weekly variety and comedy show heard Sunday over the CBC Trans-Canada network at 6.30 p.m. He is Fred Hill, of Vancouver, a new radio star.

The Recipe Corner

Whether the bird chosen to grace the Christmas table is a goose, turkey or chicken, it should be a very special one. Since it is to be the centre of attraction when it appears on the Christmas dinner table it must fare, be as imposing as possible, then cooked to a luscious golden brown. The meat should be tender, yet moist, solve rut and the dressing rich and crumbly.

The home economists of the Canada Department of Agriculture say there are several points to keep in mind if the results are to be a credit to the cook.

When buying poultry it is easy to distinguish grades by the government grade tag. For roasting, poultry should be plump, well formed but not too fat. Allow ¾ to 1 pound dressed weight for each person to be served. Dressed weight is the weight of poultry as purchased, before it is drawn and it includes the head and Careful preparation is worth while. Pin feathers should be carefully removed and all hairs singed so that the skin is smooth and clean. If poultry is to be kept it is well to wash with water in which a little baking soda has been dissolved, but it should then be rinsed and thoroughly dried inside and out. Poultry should never be allowed to soak in water as this causes loss of flavour.

The bread stuffing is best if three days old. It will then crumble easily. To make even crumbs quickly, remove the crusts and cut each loaf in four pieces, place one piece in a towel and roll between the hands until well crushed. Then proceed with the remaining portions.

If dressing for poultry is made the day before, time is saved at the last minute.

The stuffing will vary with the type of poultry. The delicate flavour of turkey should not be spoiled with a strongly seasoned stuffing. The slightly seasoned stuffing should be used with geese which has a strong flavour. Before stuffing, sprinkle the inside of the bird with salt. Stuff loosely. If the cavity is packed too tightly there is no room allowed for expansion of the dressing and the result is a firm soggy mass—so allow approximately ¾ cup of stuffing per pound of turkey—dressed weight.

The way in which a bird is stuffed and trussed makes a great difference in its appearance when served. Fill the neck with sufficient stuffing to give the bird a plump appearance. Fold the neck skin towards the back and fastened by folding the wing tips back on the wings, "arms akimbo" fashion. Then place bird on back with legs towards you. Cross drumsticks, having leg over skin, to hold stuffing in place. Tie a piece of cord about 1½ yards long and place centre of it under the tail. Bring up ends over crossed drumsticks, cross cords and repeat, pulling tightly. Cross cords again and bring up firmly between the drumsticks, and the body. Turn bird onto breast and bring cord around wings to centre back, so that it holds the lowering joints close to the body. Tie cord securely on back, holding wings and neck in place.

And now the all important matter of cooking. It must be done to a turn, the acme of perfection to grace the festive board. Place turkey or chicken breast down on a rack in an uncovered pan, and add no water. Geese requires slightly different treatment. Rub the outer surface with salt, place breast side up on a rack in the roaster. Add 1 cup boiling water and cover tightly. Cook about 1 hour, then

Increase Prices of Raisins and Prunes

An increase of approximately 3½ cents per pound in the price of raisins and prunes from the new crop of California raisins and prunes has been authorized by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

There has been a substantial increase in California prices since 1941 and the Prices Board has decided to pass on a portion of this increase to consumers. It is emphasized that the increase applies solely to the last crop of California raisins and prunes which is beginning to come into Canada.

Further information on poultry is given in the bulletin, Poultry Guide, which is obtainable free of charge from the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT HILL

10:15 p.m. Tuesday

Canada's death rate from tuberculosis in 1944 was the lowest on record. Despite this, nearly six thousand Canadians died of the disease. This is too heavy a toll to pay to a disease which can be conquered. Your support of the Christmas Seal Campaign will help bring tuberculosis under control.

Present Malting Barley Situation Temporary

The present price system whereby producers of feed barleys receive the same combination feed payments as producers of malting barley, is temporary and one that will not prove cheap in a letter from Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Dominion Minister of Agriculture, which was read at a special meeting of the Malting Barley and Linseed Flax Committee held in Winnipeg on November 30th. The Minister of the National Barley and Linseed Flax Committee held in Winnipeg on November 30th. The Minister of the Prof. T. J. Harrison, it was stated, "This is only a temporary thing having to do with this year's crop. It will be made very plain before the seeding of the next crop that farmers can rely upon the present price relationships have the assurance of the Hon. J. G. Gardiner that the price situation, any and the farmers will be informed officially to this effect. Although the current shortage of feed has prevented the export of malting barley, farmers would be well advised to at least maintain and even expand the production of malting varieties for which maltings, premiums will again be paid

NEW GRAMOPHONE

A record company of England has announced two important developments: a new recording system and a new revolutionary gramophone. The combination of gramophone and records made under the new system is stated to produce living music of a previously unattainable quality by means of which for the first time symphonies can be heard in the home with the same clarity, definition and realism as in the concert hall.

SEED TREATMENT

The modern method of seed treatment is by the use of Memorial Dust—Ceresan or Leytosan. This treatment is not only effective against smut, but in addition does much to protect the seed against damage from certain other plant diseases carried in the seed, commonly called root rot, and is address Memorial Dust envelopes the seed in a protective film which helps to guard it against certain harmful organisms that are present in the soil commonly called soil-borne diseases. Memorial Dust, furthermore, as I know myself from experiments made with thousands of bushels of wheat seed that were free from smut, tends to increase germination and to give a stronger plant, thereby, of course, tending to increase yield and the grade of the grain so treated are the advantages that come from the use of Memorial Dust, that even though the farmer may be quite certain that his seed contains no smut spores, yet my own definite opinion is that it would still pay him handsomely to treat all his seed with Memorial Dust. Costs are low, however, somewhat scarce. Farmers, therefore, who need it should lose no time in placing an order with their local dealer as soon as possible so that he in turn can have supplies brought in.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Drought conditions last year (1945) reported in parts of North and South Africa. Acreages of the new crops may be likewise affected and will be received soon—Canadian feed grain supplies available during the current crop year are officially reported at 12,600,000 tons, compared with 14,200,000 tons in 1944-45

Planning and seeding of Britain's new winter wheat crop have made good progress lately—The Argentine government has announced a basic price of $1.22 a bushel, in terms of United States dollars, for the 1944-45 crop.—This is the highest minimum price set since the policy of basic prices as a farm relief measure was adopted in 1933.

Simplify Sugar Preserves Plan

From January 1, 1945, sugar and preserves rationing will be combined in a single plan which will set consumer rations at a level slightly higher than during the last 6 months of 1945, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board announces as part of its policy to simplify as many phases of rationing as possible.

Under the sugar-preserves consolidated plan, either sugar or preserves may be purchased with one kind of coupon. On January 17, "sugar" coupons numbers 66 and 69 will become due, and in February the last of these coupons, number 70 and "S" coupon number 1 will be validated. Each coupon will purchase any one of the following items: one pound of sugar; 24 ounces of jam, jelly, marmalade, fountain fruits or cranberry sauce; 4 pounds honey, 20 ounces honeybutter; 48 fluid ounces maple syrup; 4 pounds maple sugar.

Preserves "P" coupons, the last four of which become valid on December 30 for purchase of preserves or sugar, will expire on Jan. 31, 1946.

The ten pounds allowance of sugar for canning for 1945 will be provided through ten "Q" coupons. As in 1945, these coupons may be used to purchase either sugar or preserves on the same basis as other regular coupons.

T. B. Seals Endorsed by Premier Manning

Premier E. C. Manning endorsing the Christmas Seal Sale now being conducted by the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, said today he hoped the campaign would be unusually successful. His statement follows:

"I am wholly in accord with the aims and objects of the Christmas Seal campaign of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association, and I trust that this year the response will reach an all time high.

Christmas Seals provide the Mobile Chest X-ray Units now touring Alberta, supplement the diagnostic services of the Department of Health, provided for the treatment of needy patients, rehabilitation of patients through special vocational training and health education. The sale is sponsored by Rotary and Kinsmen Clubs throughout the province.

Employment in Britain For the Disabled

A register for disabled persons has been opened in Britain on which anyone suffering disability through war wounds or accident at work or any other circumstances may register for a post, and a right, when suitable employment is offered, to the various privileges to which they are entitled, and also all may be given the opportunity of obtaining employment. They may attend vocational training courses, free of charge. The Government Employment Exchanges are to organize refresher courses suitable posts for the disabled, and the Minister of Labour will compel factory owners employing more than 20 people, to choose a specific number of employees from the ranks of the disabled, the quota to be determined after completion of the register. It is estimated that, at first, it will amount to only one per cent of the total staff employed, but should the necessity arise, this may be increased later on. According to experts, the number of disabled persons in Britain likely to register can be estimated at about one million.

WHEN TURKEYS LAY

It is believed by some breeders that turkey hens will commence to lay earlier in the Spring if they are housed in warm buildings during extremely severe weather, and especially from February 1 onwards. At no time should turkeys be housed with chickens, because chickens are carriers of blackhead disease although the chickens themselves are seldom affected by it.

Don't entertain doubt—be a bad guest.

Dear Ladies:

I am taking this opportunity to offer my sincere thanks for the very lovely parcel you have sent me. I suppose the highlight of the sentence was the dividing of the cake amongst my friends, who at the moment were somewhere.

It's surprising how things like handkerchiefs are mislaid. The ones in the parcel will happily add to my depleted store.

The little I wrote can hardly show my appreciation, so wishing all of you a Merry Christmas, I remain,

Yours truly,
Richard Lamoureux.

Ypres Valley

Officers of Ypres Valley Ladies' Aid were all re-elected when the Annual meeting was held Wednesday, November 13th at the home of Mrs. Fred Dexter. They are Mrs. Fred Dexter, Pres., Mrs. W. E. Pearce, Vice-Pres.; Mrs. L. Kostrosky, Sec.-Treas.; Mrs. Bert Dexter, Pioneer Committee. $845 was reported to have been a very good year financially, and a fine spirit of optimism prevails as to all local responsibilities. The next meeting will be at Mrs. Wm. Gunn's on January 14th.

School Flashes

A hockey game will be played at Lamont the week between the Fort High and Lamont school team.

The executive decided to have membership cards printed for student union members. Fees for this year are one dollar.

Five regular carnals have been planned for the school year.

A Christmas party is being planned for the 20th of December.

Patrick Hill

A quiet service was held at the home of Mr and Mrs. Joe Smith at Partridge Hill on the evening of Dec. 9 when three small grandsons were baptized by the Rev Rose The grandsons were Arthur Gilbert, son of Mr. and Mrs W Alton and Ralph Joseph and James Henry, sons of Mr. and Mrs. H. S Smith.

East Edmonton

Nightly bursts of fun was the unanimous verdict on the East Edmonton "Penny Carnival" held in the community hall on Friday evening, November 29th.

The moving spirit of the frolic was Mrs. Evey, high school teacher, who with Miss Ellen Pell, president of the club, and a committee of willing people, put on an evening's entertainment that went over in fine style.

All the members of the club participated to the top of their ability, taking charge of the fortune telling booth, darts and ring throwing, fish pond, bingo, games of grandma, competitions of various sorts.

A box of apples donated by the club by Mr. and Mrs. Jas Sanders was raffled in the hall. Mrs. May Enos held the winning ticket.

A refreshment booth presided over by a group of charming young girls was generously patronized, and at the end of the evening Mr. Andy Adamson added to the hilarity of the occasion, and to the treasurer's cash box, by auctioning off the left overs remained of the carnival's stock in trade.

Approximately forty five dollars was taken in at the fun fair, and considering the pleasure to the teenagers on their successful venture into the entertainment field.

A skating rink on the school grounds is being created by the hard efforts of the boys and girls themselves. We pump the well dry day after day and carry the water by buckets to flood the rink. Seeing their absorption in the project the parents have come to the rescue, pooling their contributions of money to pay for a few tankfuls of water brought from the city.

Plans for rural electrification went forward briskly at the meeting called by the advisory committee on the evening of December 5th in the East Edmonton community hall.

Our school children were treated (?) to the lowest film on Friday when eight students only, responded to the summons of the school bell. Its Mighty has our assistant caretaker's pompe and the junior room was closed and since that time one after another of the members of the senior room have followed suit. True, two deserters have returned to the stand ard, but we fear the example of others may be too strong for the remaining heroes. Well, it will have to be a hot-cha a meeting which will prevent us from running up the flag daily while they—

"What matters one gone If the flag floats on!"

We received a very welcome letter from an ex-pupil, Valmore Fischer, this past week. Valmore was obliged to leave school studies and take his training in the Canadian Army. He states that he is a staunch believer in military training for young men and that for his part he has enjoyed it, but that now he would like to take his discharge and return to school. More power to his elbow. We hope he makes the grade.

Thanks to the pertinacity of Rudolph Rippel, the rink has at last been covered with ice. It has taken a hundred and ten tanks of water to do it, due to the enlarg ng of the boundaries, but this did not daunt our friend Rudolph. Early and late, warm or cold, he has braved every discomfort to carry the job through. Certainly here's hoping he will be rewarded for the lighting system can be put through, but w-h heavier w re, it is hoped that this will be adequate for all purposes. The wiring near the ice is no small undertaking.

About a dozen hockey boys turned out on Sunday afternoon to air their uniforms, their shines and their muscles. The temperature was not so hot but this proved no impediment. Shinson accounted for the absence of some ardent spirits.

Sunday was "Wear Girl Day" at the country points of the Fort Saskatchewan United Church Charge. For the benefit of any reader who may not be familiar with the title, we present this explanation. Any member of a congregation, young or old, is privileged to present a gift suitably wrapped in white tissue, which gifts are later distributed by some church agency to underprivileged boys and girls less fortunate than the donors. This appears to us to carry out the Master's injunction—"If ye love them which love you, what thank have ye?", for in this case the donor does not even know who the recipient is. It is a grand custom which might easily be introduced in any land, for the poor ye have always with you!

The Junior collectorate or another good custom commendation and promulgated to such a degree that the whole world will be community This, in our humble opinion, applies also to Halloween, for surely we can grow old and muffly and our spirits be not sobed to the matter anyway. We humbly submit to correction, but beg to remain.

Norman Fisher has returned to the bosom of his kith and we are informed by his photograph appeared in the Journal among other returnees. Welcome home, Norman! We trust you will soon become re-acclimatized.

The annual meeting of the Beaver Hills W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. Reigh Fisher on Dec. 19 instead of Dec. 23 as first proposed. It is hoped that all members will make a special effort to be present.

The Christmas entertainment at our school will have to be postponed due to illness and absenteeism. Possibly Santa Claus will be prevailed upon to delay his return to the frozen north to accommodate us. The poor old lad has already been frustrated by his efforts on our behalf. He has laughed incessantly from his seat in the Hudson's Bay grandstand each for days—nay for weeks—and such exercise must constitute a drain upon the internals. Laugh and grow fat, but laugh anyway.

Local Boys Construct Vital Equipment For Turner Valley Oil Experiments

At the request of engineers in charge of experiments now taking place in Turner Valley oil field, Mr. Pete Jacobs fi w down last Sunday for a consultation. While there he was asked if he could design and improve up n a certain piece of metal article that is vitally necessary in the exploration of Upon arriving back here he and his brother Albert of Jasper Mountain were both busy night and day for the next Monday p roviding this piece of equipment which must be full proof.

As far as we can gather, this device is necessary in the testing of gas and oil in that is known as Drill-Stem and consists of the action of the charge which sets off the series of explosions to be used in the experiments.

The work in which the experiments are to take place is 7800 feet deep, and has a pipe 6 inches in diameter which goes down the full length of the well. Inside of this pipe another smaller pipe 2½ in which this Dertiflead is inserted and around which are 2 rows of brass agnets. The rods are 30 feet high from the bottom of the well, the purpose of which are to keep the full force of the blast at the base of the well instead of it coming in contact with the casing.

3,000 quarts of nitro glycerine is to pump through these agains following up an equal amount of nitro glycerine cleaning fluid which washes all the nitro glycerine from the agains the casing. The purpose of the well is then set off by a charge.

Local observers hope by this method to make it possible in the immediate future for the operating oil wells to produce twice the original output of oil.

To be singled out and entrusted with the making of such a delicate piece of mechanism certainly speaks very highly of the skill Pete and Albert have in turning out precision workmanship of the highest quality.

Former Resident Dies in Accident

Leo Collins a former resident of Fort Saskatchewan and well-known in the district was recently killed in Calgary when he was running to catch a train and slipped underneath the wheels.

He was head man for the Department of Agriculture on Oliver Farm several years later going to Lord Bessbury's and then went to work for R. McCrimmon for two years. The sympathy of their many friends in the district is extended to Mrs. Collins and family in their bereavement.

Co-operation Asked In Preventing Fires!!

During the last few years there have been several very disastrous fires in Canada resulting in loss of life and injury. Such conditions are deplorable when they could be prevented with ordinary precaution.

Christmas with its festivities and frivolity are most likely times for such unfortunate calamities, and it is with a view, therefore, of preventing same here that we are asking of everyone particularly at this time of year:

That proper, safety Christmas tree decorations be used. Only approved electric colored lights are used; while conditions usual to Yuletide festivities create extraordinary hazards contrary to the safety of guests or patrons attending the functions, and such conditions must be immediately remedied.

If in doubt about any fire hazard which may exist contact the fire chief or members of the fire brigade, they will only be too willing to assist you.

If your fire hose is a bone of contention, don't heed about it, and get into a stew. Meet your neighbor half way.

THE MAIL BOX

Dear Mr. Editor:

May I ask the privilege through your columns of extending a Christmas greeting to the many friends who have been so kind to Mrs. Rose and myself and our little family, to all of whom we cannot hope to say "Merry Christmas" by personal card or spoken word.

I should like to congratulate those families into whose circle men and women long in the services have just returned. Yours indeed will be a merry Christmas. We admire your willing sacrifice of Christmas pleasures and other things at the call of duty, and we wish you this Christmas a double portion of joy to make up.

The Christmas atmosphere of those who can never expect a reunion is not easy. In the midst of celebration eyes are bound to fall on a photograph or an empty chair. In will be best to let these memories come that will not long away. After all, they can add to the richness of Christmas. The beauty and the wonder of God's gift at Christmas were not realized until the Christ-child Babe grew to be the Man who died upon the Cross, and the meaning of all our Christmas hoolings was being forgotten. It will this bring until young men went out who were willing to die for others. They would have us all keep Christmas now with great gladness and great gratitude.

Yes, and with great expectation! Many people, today the darkest and worst that still grip much of the world, expect only trouble. Christians know that the good will of the Christmas season is a sign of worldwide goodwill to come. It was an evil hour when there was no room in the inn and a tragic time in which lived the men in patches.

shepherds who watched their flocks and the true men who searched out propheoy. But they were alert and expectant, and so to them were granted the heavenly song and the glorious star to guide them to God appearing in human flesh. There was no joy at Christmas for the pre-occupied innkeeper or the scheming Herod or the sleeping multitudes, but to Simeon, who "was waiting for the consolation of Israel" was given the joy of holding the Holy Child while he cried out unto God "Mine eyes have seen thy salvation, which Thou hast prepared before the face of all peoples; a light to lighten the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel."

Just so, today, there will be no joy for those who celebrate going ill-gotten or gains selfishly avoided, nor for those who seek only to shut their eyes and drown their cares. But to those who with longing and expectation look to the pastors of the future such as are in the Christ, will be given joy on Christmas Day and all the year, whatever comes!

May you all be numbered among those who enjoy the blessings of the Season of Hope and Good Cheer

Yours sincerely,
(Rev.) Whitfield D. Rose.

SPRUCE-TOOTH HARROW

The spruce-tooth harrow is effective in chasing the air spaces in spring plowing and in killing small weeds. The quality of the work depends largely upon the moisture content of the smaller soil, the sharpness of the teeth, and the speed of operation. Frequently, the use of the spade-toothed harrow causes the spread of poisonweeds instead of their destruction.

Christmas Parish Letter

BEN ACCORD — GIBSONS — FORT SASKATCHEWAN

Dear People

At our Confirmation we became familiar with the Catechism, a short form trying to explain some of the major points of our faith. I would like to present to you another short Catechism, this one about the Christmas season.

1. What does Christmas celebrate? —On Christmas Day, December 25, the Holy Church throughout the world celebrates the birthday of our Lord and Saviour, Jesus Christ

2. Does such a Festival require preparation?—Yes, for many centuries the four weeks before Christmas have been used for devout preparation for the celebration of Christ's birthday. This is the Season of Advent (the coming of the Saviour). 3. What does "Christmas" mean, and its message declare?—The feast of Christ or Christ-mas. Its message declares God's gift to the world of His only begotten Son (who for us men and for our salvation came down from heaven) thereby be saying God very next to through Jesus Christ. The angles sang and the Wise Men and shepherds worshipped the new-born babe for they recognized that through this new life was man's hope of salvation from their sin.

4. What were some of the first Christmas Carols?—Catholic Association was the first carol (2) Luke the Virgin Mary song, "My soul shall magnify the Lord, now called, "The Magnificat." (3) Zacharias gave the world the Benedictus, "Blessed be the Lord God of Israel. (4) The angel host proclaimed the immortal song of Peace, "The Gloria in Excelsis. (5) The aged Simeon ends with the Nunc Dimittis 'Lord, now lettest thou thy servant depart in peace."

5. How does the Church honour Christmas?— On this day the Church appoints special psalms, prayers and Scripture lessons. She bedecks her altars and vestments in the festal mood of white Emphasis of a mystical nature is placed on the Holy Communion. It is one of the festivals of the year when every confirmed member of the Church must communicate if they live up to their promises made before God.

6. How then should we keep Christ-mas?—By putting first things first. The festivity of Christ's birth before our personal festivities. We honour ourselves if at Christmas we honour Him, the Saviour of Mankind.

My friends, in order that we may begin the festival of Christmas in the proper manner I propose to hold the Service of Holy Communion in each parish on Christmas Eve. As you know festivals and feast days go from sun-down to sun-down as our Christmas festival begins at sun-down Christmas Eve The Service in Ben Accord is to be held at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 24, Gibbons at 9:30 p.m., Dec. 24, Fort Saskatchewan 11:30 p.m., Dec. 24. This Service, like Easter, is one of the greatest of the Church year. I know that only sickness or road conditions will prevent you attending.

The months from June until now have flown past it seems, yet I know that it must have taken longer than it feels because it takes time to make friends and I am ever conscious of your many friendships. Please God, I may be worthy of them. It always amazes me the added warmth we feel from friendship during the Christmas season.

My wife and I would like to thank you for all your many kindnesses during the past year. It has made our times have very happy and even more comfortable.

As I look back over the past year, I realize that you have achieved objectives beyond my wildest dreams. By mid-year each parish had sent its full apportionment to the most important part of our work—that of missions. You have rallied to the support of your church and more important to the en-riching of your privilege of worshipping Almighty God. All this has been very heartening to me and to many of you as well. While much has been done, the New Year will have challenges, which I know you will face with purpose and constant born of faith.

Some of the Wardens have asked me to say to you, through the letter, that the offertory at the Christmas Eve Services does not go into church funds. The offertory at these Services will be your Rector for work in the parish in ways that he believes to be fitting. If you would make special Christmas offerings to the Church please do so on the Sunday Service preceding Christmas.

To you all we send our very best wishes for a Happy Christmas Season. May God bless your homes and keep your Son Jesus in info-hoping wherever they may be.

Your friend and Rector,
W. W. Buston.

Repainting of Road Signs is Stressed

Re-painting of guard rails and approaches to bridges will be brought to the attention of the provincial government authorities by the Alberta Motor Association

A resolution to this effect was adopted at the recent annual meeting of the A.M.A. in Calgary.

Attention was drawn to the condition of many of the signs now along the highways. It was stated that many were in badly need of repainting.

In the interest of safety, it was suggested that the provincial authorities should be asked to carry out necessary painting as early as possible when weather conditions permit.

The A.M.A. also will make representations to the provincial government the need of uniformity in traffic regulations. This should be established by provincial statutes of the cities and towns should be prevailed upon to make uniform regulations, it is claimed.

$41,000 Still Needed to Reach Quota

Many Americans [illegible] Christmas Seals. They [illegible] Tuberculosis Association.

Typical of the attitude of many people in the Lethbridge district is that taken by Mrs. Alexander, a southern Alberta rancher.

Enclosing a small letter of the 17th I note your request for an increased donation this year. My first impulse was to send the usual two dollars, but on reflection, remembering the free chest X-ray that each member of our family received during the summer, and that another lady who wasn't on the assessment, and is now progressing nicely I enclose herewith my check for $5.00, wishing that I could afford to send you many times that amount."

$50,000 is the Alberta objective for 1945 Seal sales, are that this sum will be realized before the campaign's close, but receipts are still many thousands short of that figure. Most people are prone to put off sending back their donations. They are urged to "do it now."

Up to Dec 17, total receipts were $49,000 but to reach their objective $41,000 is still needed If only half of these stayed away a dollar each the Association would have $100,000.

SET PRICES FOR TURKEYS

Turkeys for the holiday season must not sell above the maximum prices set by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board which are as follows: Retail ceiling prices for young turkeys, grade A, 45c per pound, grade B, 41c per pound, and grade C, 37c per pound, with a reduction of 3c per pound for old hens and 6c per pound for old toms.

Producers selling single turkeys direct to consumers may charge the prevailing retail price for dressed, graded turkeys in the district where the birds are marketed.

Feminine Santas for Servicemen

Santa Claus will go feminine this year and change his beard for a trim Red Cross uniform, and as will his helpers, his shortsters and his messengers—at least for the Canadian servicemen in hospital both here and overseas.

No hospitalized serviceman will be overlooked if the Red Cross can help it, from one end of the country to the other in Britain and on the continent, according to Dr Fred W Routley, National Commissioner for Canadian Red Cross Society

Overseas, Canadian servicemen in hospital and barracks will receive a special Christmas treat in the form of extra messing, provided from approximately $21,000 allotted from National Headquarters of the Red Cross.

Special gift parcels, sometimes in the form of a useful pair of socks stuffed to the top with extra fine toilet articles, games and books will greet each serviceman this day.

Red Cross workers will spread a fresh, fragrant evergreen in every ward There will be Christmas trees, Christmas dinners, some more than the conventional turkey variety, concerts followed by a gala Christmas night programme of song entertainment and many more surprises. Red Cross Corps girls have formed a special travelling choir to sing Christmas carols to the bed ridden.

The affair started shortly after 10 o'clock, and at 4 minutes to the premiere Christmas carols for servicemen and [illegible] still another making bright Christmas favours for beds and trays

For those who are bed ridden, Red Cross hospital committees are busy doing Christmas shopping, wrapping and mailing

"We're going to make it as much like a home Christmas as we can," said Dr Routley

"Christmas, I find, comes earlier, it will be a time to think of others, and it appears in some form, no matter how slight, in the gaiety and the debt that Canada owes to her fighting men and women."

TIMELY FARM NOTES

By F. E. Hammonds, District Agriculturist, Edmonton, Alberta

CATTLE IMPROVEMENT POLICY (Pure Bred Sires)—An income in the amount of assistance offered to Alberta farmers interested in improvement of their herds was announced recently by Hon. D. B. Mc-Kinnon, Department of Agriculture. Under the old Bull Exchange Policy the Department assisted in the choice of a suitable animal, paid cost of transportation to the railway station and to the purchaser, and contributed towards the maintenance of the bull. Under the new Cattle Improvement Policy the Department contributions has been raised to 25 percent, and it is now necessary to furnish proof of slaughter of a previously owned bull before assistance under this Policy is available to those who have not purchased a bull under previous Bull Exchange or Policies, and who are not breeders of pure bred cattle

More than two thousand bulls have been placed under previous policies, and in 1944-45 fifty per cent of the bulls were placed with applicants residing north of the North Saskatchewan River, an area which contains less than 20 percent of the Alberta cattle population That there is plenty of room for herd improvement is indicated by the comparatively small percentage of Alberta cattle that are purebred or grade sires, and it is expected that the provisions of the new policy will aid in correcting this situation.

Full information and application forms are available from District Agriculturists, or direct from the Live Stock Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture. Early application is desirable in order that sale for distribution under this policy may be purchased to the best advantage.

JUNIOR CLUBS GET UNDER WAY

Forty-six Junior farmers and farmerettes in the Edmonton district are this year enrolled as members of Junior Beef Club Clubs. For seventeen head of these in the Gibbons area it is a new venture so they are starting the activity for the first time.

Clubs are centred at Gibbons, Clover Bar-Fort Saskatchewan and Ben Accord. In all three clubs this year calves of Hereford breeding are being fed. Gibbons and Clover Bar-Fort Saskatchewan purchased their stock from Charles Oldenburg of Tofield, Alberta, while the Ben Accord calves came from Reed Armstrong of the Stettler district. All calves are all good type and all are now well on feed and showing promise of good grains.

All members are very keen as evidenced by the manner in which they are tackling the project and by 100 percent attendance at the meetings held to date. It looks as though consumers in Edmonton would have an opportunity to stick their teeth into some very tasty, juicy, meats and steaks following the Show and Sale which will culminate the project next June. And what is more important forty-six young farm people will have had an interesting and profitable season and will have learned a lot about the best methods of finishing beef cattle.

Mr. Hine and Mr. Lail have almost completed their building where they will do shopping and have mixed feed. It will be known as Wye Road Feed Store.

LIFE INSURANCE
A Message from the Life Insurance Companies in Canada.

When Dr. Wade turned away from the telephone his face was white. Sara, his wife, came into the living-room quickly. She had been standing in the hall. Eavesdropping.

"Hugh, you can't go! You can't! It's Christmas and the children and all coming, and you, oh, it will simply ruin all our plans!"

"Now, now," Dr Wade said. He slipped off his house jacket and moved around the tree that sparkled with gay ornaments and bright tinsel and strings of popcorn. From the closet he brought his overcoat and overshoes and his cap with the fur-lined earings. Sara watched him desperately. Once she planned toward the window there blazed against the glass. Wind howled about the eaves.

Dr. Wade stood by the door and drew on his gloves and picked up his bag. He looked down at his small wife whose hair was streaked with gray, whose eyes were anxious and desperate, but proud and loving. A smile rested lightly on his lips as he waited.

Sara bit her lip and looked away. Then she looked back again her eyes held nothing but affectionate approach. "You—you—" she said, and stood tipter and kissed him.

Dr. Wade backed his coupe out of the garage. He was glad that he had taken the precaution to put chains on the night before. With a storm like this the street department would be busy getting the roads cleared.

In the village Dr. Wade stopped and went into Cy Anderson's store to make some purchases. An hour later he stopped for gas at the foot of the logging road that led up to Bald Ridge. Even with chains it would be impossible to go further with the coupe. So he produced snowshoes from the rear compartment of the car, strapped them on, and a canvas pack on his back, tucked his bit under one arm and started up the road.

The storm had increased rather than lessened in fury. Frequently—more frequently than he liked to admit—Dr. Wade had to pause to rest, turning his back to the wind.

It was two hours later when Dr. Wade saw the blurred outline of the cabin. Ordinarily the trip would have taken him less than thirty minutes. He knocked and the door opened at once. He stepped inside and leaned against the wall, breathing heavily. Slowly he became aware of the warmth. Life came back to his numb. He looked up and smiled.

Young Brad Jones was watching him, wide-eyed, dumb gratitude in his face. Behind him his young wife lay on the bed near the stove, her face white and drawn, biting her lips to keep from crying out.

Dr. Wade had delivered hundreds of babies, but this one was different. It was different because it was Christmas and a storm raged outside, and his children were coming home and he wasn't going to be there to greet them. It was different because he had stopped in Anderson's store and brought something that brought tears to Mrs. Jones' eyes, and made it impossible for young Brad to speak.

It was late afternoon when Dr. Wade started for home. The storm had abated, but the wind was colder, sharper. Now that it was over the doctor's thought leaped ahead, to his very home and children. He was sorry he hadn't been there to greet them. He and Sara had planned so many surprises.

Sara met him at the door She helped him off with his coat and brought his slippers from before the fire. Her eyes were shining.

"The children didn't get here. The storm held up the train. They just phoned from the station. They'll be here any minute, and we'll both be on hand to greet them. Oh, it's going to be the best Christmas ever!"

Dr. Wade smiled and thought of the expressions on the faces of young Brad Jones and his wife. "Yes," he said, "the best Christmas ever." And

Peace---May it be Everlasting

Peace! Peace on Earth; Goodwill Toward Men: This is the prayer that has been in millions of hearts throughout the past six years. Our fervent hope is that it be a lasting peace, so that our children may grow up to live in love and tolerance for each other.

A peace where men and women will extend a helping hand to those who need it—Where people can travel to all lands and know they will be welcomed instead of being looked upon as one who is there to ferret out the others secrets—Where all races, religions and creeds can attend their own little churches and worship in their own way, safe in the knowledge that bombs will not come hurtling out of the sky, or that they may be driven out like cattle and lined up against a wall and shot.

Only when all the people of all nations come to understand the true meaning of brotherly love and friendship for their fellow men will there be everlasting peace.

CHRISTMAS GIFTS

By the Rev. W. B. Baston

Christmas means many things to many men. As we think back upon past Christmas seasons certain things are uppermost in our mind. As we look forward we anticipate some of the coming Christmas events with more pleasure than others.

To some, Christmas means a day when the seals are broken on the bottles of spirits gathered for the occasion. To some, it means turkey, to others a Christmas tree and bright decorations. To a few it may merely mean a public holiday. Some of us will think of it as the birthday of our Lord and attempt to treat the day as such. Perhaps to many Christmas Day is but any one of those things, but a combination of those all, and the way in which we as individuals or them together will depend upon our faith, our income, our friends, our locality (near or far from home), our children and other loved ones, our enjoyment and other like things.

As I read the newspapers I see one another thing which Christmas means to the public. Each edition carries a small sign which reads, "so many more shopping days until Christmas." The radio is pouring like a stream into my ears—the advertising in the store windows reminds me of the same thing, and in my turn I am caught upon the busy swirl of crowds crowded shops, rushing people, colored tissue paper, stickers, stamps, post offices, Christmas cards—until I have to fight a feeling of distaste and abhorrence against this great day which subjects me to these many things. My good nature is not helped by the fact that many of the hundred Christmas cards I look at, with the idea of giving them to others, have no bearing upon a Christian Christmas, but are rather pretty winter scenes with poems, which are as far out of keeping with Christmas (CHrist Mass) as they possibly can be. However, I must in and admit the truth, Christmas gifts are important. I like to give and I like to receive, so do you, and so we are commercially encouraged to do.

How did all this happen? Was it ever thus? Let's have a look.

The first real Christmas Gift was given nearly two thousand years ago. It was a gift presented to the world by Almighty God. It was a true gift, for it was given in spirit of love, as all our gifts should be. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."

Next there was the gifts of the Wise Men who responded to this pure priceless gift of God by presenting their select gifts of gold, frankincense and myrrh.

So we see that Christmas gifts are indeed important. Because of the first Christmas gift we have faith and hope and love alive in the midst of a groaning world. Perhaps, however, through the passing of time we lost the knowledge of our great parents' ideas which we should be giving at this time. In the above home of our Christian life we should be able to find gifts for all. Here are a few gifts addressed:

To my country: To my country I should give Confidence. As I unwrap the wrapping I must be careful it is not the one which will wrap up for ignorance is back of any check. As I pick ribbon I must be sure it is strong enough to hold the parent together or disaster will surely result. I must address this parcel well or it may be lost. If I fail to deliver forgiveness I will assure its delay or some other good thing in this direction—many dire results will follow. I know them and you know them too.

To my opponent: To my opponent I must give Tolerance. True, we do not see "eye to eye" in some thing, be they religious, political, economical or some thing else, but I know that tolerance must be my gift if any sort of co-operation is to result and that co-operation is necessary if we are ever to settle our differences. We believe in God as man's Final and common goal—this gift is a necessary starting place before the other necessary steps can be taken.

To my friend: To my friend I must give helpfulness. I like my friend because of many thing, if these things are good I must try to help him. I like my friend in spite of certain things, if these things are not good, I must help him overcome them. The more people we can send this gift to the better. I must help and not hinder my friend in all such good works as he is attempting to accomplish.

To my child: To my child I must give a Godly example. My theory can help only so far. My drama for my child's eyes are great and high, and if ever they are to come about, I must give them such an example that will lead them into a proper understanding and appreciation of life as God has meant it to be. There are two methods: "the come method," which says, "Come follow me in the right path;" "the Go method," which says, "Go, walk in the right path." A child will follow a good example to heights where it can never be chased.

To my mother: To my mother, I must give Christian conduct, that is love and understanding and sympathy and helpfulness. In fact all the things that some day I may desire from a child of mine.

To my father: To my father, I must give honour. The honour which a man deserves, who in my youth gave such good gifts to me that I am now equipped for life. Now I add that we who are fathers should attempt to be worthy of this gift.

To myself: To myself I must give respect. Before I give a gift I must first secure it. To secure this gift for myself I must conduct my life upon a certain standard Christ made that standard. How painful is man when he cannot make this gift.

To all men: To all men I must give love. Love born of understanding and a desire to treat men as God's highest creation "As ye sow so shall ye reap." With what measure you give so shall it be measured unto you again. Man can take no more from life at the midst of his fellowman than the amount he chooses to place into it. I do not refer to the "X" sign.

To God: To God I must give my soul. As I make this gift I understand Christmas and Christmas Gift. I know Him who God made that great first Christmas gift to the world. I realize how we have become entangled in the modern net, the present conception of Christmas Gifts, but also I realize how by giving Christian Christmas gift I will be able to experience real Christmas Peace and Gladness These things were made known to us through our Lord Jesus Christ—the Christmas Gift of God to the world.

What Is Democracy

Newly formed governments, these days, are not acceptable to us if they are not "democratic." But what is "democratic"? Can we demand democracy in other countries? Or is it something that can only be inspired?

To many Canadians democracy means simply the privilege of voting for the leaders they would like and then criticizing what they get. This is not very inspiring to other countries. They may envy us our food, electrical gadgets and our comforts, but what is there to make them want our "democratic" government?

True democracy, of course, is more than a form of government—more even than the privilege to choose and criticize. It is the full expression of man's caring for each other.

It is a matter not simply of clothing our leaders but of caring enough for them to see they grow in moral, spiritual and intellectual stature and are really fit to lead. Then to help them do their job by the way we do our own. "You have made my work of government easier," said one national leader to a group of patriots who were living their lives and doing their work by the highest moral standards.

Democracy is also an expression of our caring for the ordinary man. It is the responsibility we take for our own millions and for the whole problem of juvenile delinquency. It is what we do individuals and families do for the unemployed and the unemployment—for the unhappy and for the broken homes and strained relations that have made them so. It is how we change so that we can get along with the fellow we couldn't get on with before.

The collectivist idea is to leave such matters to the cold and mechanical handling of government. This leaves individual capacity for caring—robs us of the exercise of heart which is so necessary to the growth of human beings as exercise of body. Were we to renew again the early pioneer spirit of caring for and sharing with each other, we might still inspire the uncertain countries to be democratic. To demand it of them simply breeds resistance or protest.

World of Wheat

By R. G. L. STRANGE

HAVE YOUR WHEAT CROP TESTED

During the past fifteen years thousands of farmers have increased their incomes by taking advantage of the service offered by the "Crop Testing Plan". The testing done determines whether crops are true-to-variety, or whether instead they consist of bad mixtures which indicate that farmers are needlessly losing money on yield, quality and grade. The "Crop Testing Plan" service is open free to all farmers operating in the Prairie Provinces. Any farmer, therefore, who desires to have his wheat crop tested for trueness-to-variety need only send a small handful of wheat representative of the seed he intends to use this coming spring. The "Crop Testing Plan" will grow this sample, have it analyzed, and in due course post full first six months of 1946 was 68 million dollars less than in the same period in 1944. The first official estimate of the Argentine wheat crop is 168,734,000 bushels, compared with previous trade estimates of from 176 to 200 million bushels.

Broomhall reports that the long drought in Spain has been broken with abundant rainfall in all parts of the country; further wheat savings will be made. Condition of the U.S.A. winter wheat crop is generally fair to good—Imports of rice into India which have been at a standstill since 1942, will be resumed before the end of this year.

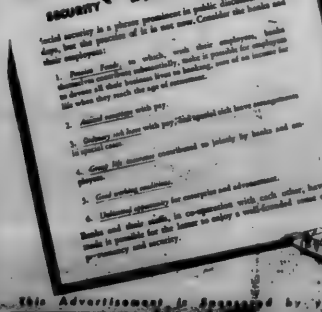
SEASONS GREETINGS

"...SO NOW WE'LL HAVE A BANKER IN THE FAMILY!"

"Well, Bob has finally decided! When he's finished school he wants to go to work in a bank. And I'm glad—for a lot of reasons..."

He'll get a thorough training, and can even receive university instruction in banking and economics while he is working. Banking isn't learned in a day, but he'll get lots of help—and every opportunity to move up as he proves himself. The road to the top is wide open, and others



Social security is a serious preoccupation in public discussions these days, but the provision of it is not new. Consider the banks and their employees:

1. Pension Funds, to which, each year, employees, banks and shareholders contribute generously, make it possible for employees to devote all their business lives to banking, sure of an income for life when they reach the age of retirement.
2. Salaries adequate with pay.
3. Ordinary sick leave with pay; full salaries also have unemployment in special cases.
4. Group life insurance contributed to jointly by banks and employees.
5. Good working conditions.
6. Unlimited opportunity for competition and advancement.

Banks and their staffs, in co-operation with each other, have made it possible for the former to enjoy a well-founded sense of security and security.

Corp Bill Travers had tried not to remember that it was the day before Christmas. He'd played a game with himself, pretending not to notice the heightened spirit around camp. But he couldn't keep kidding himself when the sun the giant spruce being set up in front of the barracks. Today was December twenty-fourth, tomorrow would be Christmas and Norma hadn't written.

They'd first come to grips on their honeymoon. They had planned to take a short motor trip up north but, when they'd reached the point where they were supposed to turn back, Norma had insisted that they go to Canada for a few days. Bill had tried to put his foot down, but Norma had argued and cried. When Bill saw her pouting, young face, so pale and wet, his determination crumbled. He'd been of sand. They went to Canada; Bill returned to work five days late and had to look for a new job.

Despite that, he continued to give her no matter how far off the beam she was. At first he looked down because he loved her and wanted her to be happy. Later it was because he was afraid that if he didn't yield she would end their wonderful marriage would end.

Seeing the boys on a holiday, hung big bright red and silver balls on the evergreen boughs, made him remember how much fun his three Christmas eves with Norma had been. The way she always laughed when he insisted on putting up the high ornaments with their rusty bo pick. She'd hold her breath while he teetered on a chair, reaching up to the top of the tree to put on the silver star. Then he'd hug down.

"Bet, I missed it," he'd say, handing her the old pick. "How put this carefully away so I can use it next year." And they'd look at each other very seriously, kiss very gently and say very quietly, "Merry Christmas, darling." Yes those had been the perfect moments.

One of the boys, a friendly chap from the Windsor, passed by and called, "Hi, Bill! All ready for Christmas?"

"Yeah," Bill said dully, "all ready."

All ready and no place to go! But that wasn't quite true. He did have some place to go, a lonely place. His own little home, only a five-hour bus trip from camp. But he couldn't go because of a foolish vow they'd had during his last furlough. And because Bill, for once had refused to give in.

"Well, I'm going now," he said. Then after a moment of tortured silence, "Goodby Norma. We have a few days leave for Christmas. Let me know if you—if you—"

She cut in, her voice sounding high and queer. "Good-by, Bill."

The Mid-western boy came along again.

"Come on the mail's in. Maybe we've got something." He took Bill's arm, pulled him along.

At the camp post office men were waiting eagerly for their names to be called. Bill was only half listening. He vaguely heard several "Thompsons" and suddenly he jerked his head to attention, for "Bill Travers" had been said a third time. Passings was traveling from hand to hand until it reached him. The neat, printed letters told him it was a gift from Norma.

Bill ran all the way back to his barracks and there, oblivious of the other fellows around him, began to open his present. Under the brown paper, there was white tissue and red ribbon, but no card. Then he burst into laughter. Then tossed the wrapping high into the air and whooped. "Typical! This woman of mine!"

"What's up?" One of his companions came over jubilantly.

Bill grabbed his cap. "I've got to get a bus ticket in a hurry. My wife sent me a beautiful gift, and I'm going home for Christmas!"

After his hasty exit his bunkmate peered cautiously into the cardboard case and called to the others in the barracks. "Come over here and take a look. Travers must be nuts, getting so excited over a present like this. Why, it's nothing but a rusty old ice pick!"

The Recipe Corner

The outburst of Christmas cheer, the chiming of the bells, the worship, the feast, the fun and all that goes to make a Merry Christmas, are rendered more inherited from a long line of ancestors and from many countries. Warm hospitality at this season is a tradition of long standing, so we gather our families, our friends, and those for whom we are making Christmas, to share the happiness of the day.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, offer a few suggestions to simplify some of the Christmas problems.

In keeping with the Christmas colour scheme the island should be red. The choice is between cranberries, tomato juice and beets. A jellied salad will be the easiest to prepare and serve, since it requires only garnishing with greens and dressing at the last minute.

Dessert will probably be plum pudding or mince pie, but it is wise to have an alternative choice for children and those who may have already indulged rather heavily in the feast course. An old-time homemade vanilla custard ice cream served with a red fruit sauce is just right. If the ice cream cannot be made at home, it may be purchased the day before Christmas if the grocery store has a freezer unit to accommodate it, or there is other suitable storage.

JELLIED BEET SOUP

1 tablespoon gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 cup juice from canned beets, or beets
2 tablespoons light corn syrup
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup tomato prepared horseradish
1-5 cup vinegar
1 cup diced celery
1 cup diced cooked beets

Soak gelatine in cold water for 5 minutes. Bring beet juice or winter to a boiling point. Add soaked gelatine and stir until dissolved. Add corn syrup, salt, horseradish and vinegar. Chill. When mixture begins to thicken, stir in celery and beets. Pour into a moistened ring mould and chill until firm. Unmould on salad greens and fill centre with cabbage salad. Five servings.

MINCEMEAT UPSIDE-DOWN PUDDING

This pudding requires more management than pie, therefore is luscious and juicy but easy on the shortening.

1¾ cups sifted pastry flour or 1 1-2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons shortening
¾ cup granulated sugar
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup milk

Mincemeat

Sift together the dry ingredients. Cream the shortening slightly, add sugar and egg. Blend well. Add dry ingredients alternately with milk, to make a rather thin drop batter. Grease the bottom of a well-greased sauce pudding mould with a few toasted almonds. Spread with a generous layer of mincemeat. Fill mould no more than two-thirds full with batter. Cover and steam until thoroughly boiled, about 1½ hours. Turn out and serve with hard sauce or a hot pudding sauce. Six servings.

COLD "PLUM" PUDDING

2 tablespoons gelatine
½ cup cold water
1½ cups boiling water
½ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon lemon juice
1 cup dry bread crumbs
1 tablespoon granulated sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon ground cloves
1 orange, juice and grated rind
1 lemon, juice and grated rind
½ cup chopped nuts
½ cup raisins
½ cup citron or mixed peel

Dissolve gelatine in cold water. Add boiling water, brown sugar and salt. Let stand until partially set. Melt butter, add crumbs and granulated sugar. Stir over low heat until well browned. Beat jelly until light. Add other ingredients in order, a grease mould. Chill until set. Six servings. Serve with foamy or custard sauce.

Pte. Donald Bishop arrived Saturday night from his post at Vernon, B.C. to spend an 18 day leave, and to take part in the Christmas festivities with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Bishop.

An explosion of sound that ripped through the lethargy of a peaceful Sunday morning brought East Edmonton residents to their doors with alarmed and anxious faces the other day. Speculation on the cause ran rife, the wildest being that some one had got a bit careless with an climate bomb, but Mrs. J. Anderson, with her usual good sense properly diagnosed the meaning of the uproar, and immediately phoned the gas company in Edmonton that there was trouble on the pipe line near the Ritchie corner. Emergency repair crews were quickly at the scene of the break, and the damaged pipe was repaired in a few hours, greatly to the relief of Edmonton residents whose radios had been shut off to the possibility and the hazards of a complete gas failure. No serious damage resulted from the accident to the pipe line.

This correspondent comes to life at last in spite of three drearily short days, and in spite of the resentment of that awakening day when the ground hog comes out of his hole. Perhaps this resurrection is due to the urge of the Christmas Spirit; perhaps to the constant weekly challenge of that Josephberg correspondent, who calls on all of us to keep our pens a standard, and reprimands us in every issue of the Record for our shortcomings

The whist drive, held at the Griffin home at end of the Pembina Road Christmas Party, was generously supported by relatives and friends of the people, and a few friends attended from Fultonvale

There were eight tables. At the close of the play the winners were declared—Mrs. Nicholson for the ladies and Jack Perins for the men Useful and suitable prizes, supplied by Mr. Cole, were presented. Then came a timely, welcome lunch, prepared and served by the ladies, and accepted, not to the detriment, of musical honors (as the phrase goes) but to that of an interested discussion on ways and means of building a Community Hall to serve effectively the combined districts of Fultonvale and Franklin. No definite plans had been formed when our party broke up, but a meeting may be called soon to continue the discussion.

The proceeds from the whist drive amounted to the gratifying sum of $11.00 This has been increased since by donations from Mr. and Mrs. Gibb, Mr. and Mrs. Comeo, Mr. and Mrs. Cairns, Mrs. Flowers and Mr. and Mrs. Clark Now the funds have reached $13.00 The teacher and pupils of Franklin School are grateful to all friends for their generous interest and help towards our Christmas Party.

The boys are returning by ones and twos from overseas, and more have still all the time to come. The more recent arrivals are the Kuhlck boys, Gotlieb and Ford; Harry Fendrick, Roy Wilson and we learn that Mike Manchuk has landed and is on his way home. Don Prescott, we are told, is back from Calgary, and Reg Holmes is at Vancouver with his discharge in his pocket. So far as the writer knows, "Pompey" Bull is the only one left to return

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Stanley Dennis who went Home Christmas Eve, December 24th, 1939.

The depths of sorrow we can not tell, Of the loss of one we loved so well; And while he sleeps a peaceful sleep, His memory we shall always keep. Lovingly remembered by his wife Katherine.

In memory of Sgt. Henry Wilbert Humphrey Hare who was killed overseas December 23rd, 1942.

HE GAVE HIS ALL

I prayed for strength to give all in the cause.
If need should be my life, my sight, a limb.
All but my son whom I could not spare.
Although I knew my country needed him.

He gently laughed at me and humbly said,
To stake all he most loved against the Hun.
He was his wings and bearing life was brief,
Said, "It's worth while and thanks for all you've done".

The later came, as he believed it would.
He was another of the gallant few.
I only pray for strength—I hear him say,
"If I can take it, mother, so can you".

Always loved by his Mother, Thelma, Birdie, Robert, Art and Jimmie.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to the Ardrossan Community for their floral gift to us.

We have been advised that a light should produce at least 6 to 32 thousand candle power to meet the necessary requirements and in order to give the public the utmost in efficiency and satisfaction we have installed the

This machine is worked by a photo electric beam which registers the exact output of candle-power your headlamps produce, and at the same time shows the angles at which your lights are focused to the road.

School reopened on January 8 with but one seat vacant in the senior room, but with eleven people only in the junior room. The teacher, Miss Dreger, has recovered from her bout of sickness and hopes to her pupils to follow her good example. A sit down strike with everyone determined to sit tight on his accustomed desk would be welcome.

If the balmy weather continues, we may look for a host of our summer birds to have deserted country Alberta in favor of the West coast, to return to their former haunts in May. If migration was restricted mainly by the fear of cold feet, we can assure those friends that they will not suffer in that respect just now. Fortunately human memory retains impressions, unless those impressions be too deeply impressed, for but a short time.

We seem to have memories, away back in the remember of 1945, a period when cold feet were fashionable and everyone indulged in them. Cold feet, literally and metaphorically, is a distressing complaint, which some laymen consider incurable. Actually neither variety is incurable. The physical species, doctors tell us, is due to poor circulation. Two sovereign remedies for poor circulation are exercise and cold water.

We once heard of a man who kept himself glowing with vitality throughout one winter by the aid of but one bathful of cool. Naturally we were desirous of obtaining the recipe, so potent and so occasional Scotter-like we asked how he accomplished it. The answer was that whenever he felt chilly he put the sack of coal on his back and run around till he became warm. Try it! It works!

Another old chestnut dealing with the same topic tells how a man read an advertisement which advised its readers to buy one of our stoves and save half your fuel. This gentleman, who had been educated to believe that two and two make four, walked into the establishment and asked if it were true that this type of stove would save half the fuel. "Certainly", said the salesman "Very well", said the man "I'll take two and save it all". You can plainly see that this must have taken place prior to war restrictions.

This issue recently prescribed by the medical profession is that of water, or if water be any object, snow will make a good substitute. The application is equally good. Put the offending members into a tub of freshly pumped well water and keep them in it for an hour or so, taking care that the temperature of the water remains fairly constant. Remove them and by friction dispose of all traces of moisture. A grindstone, coarse sand-paper or even a common brick will accomplish this and we guarantee that you will not complain of cold feet again.

If one's feet are not too cold, it is usually sufficient to take off one's shoes and stockings and stand out doors for a much shorter period of time. Upon re-coming one's footwear, one will notice that the floors seem no longer cold.

Seriously though we had a friend who was a martyr to cold feet and whose school house floor was of the old fashioned unheated type. In desperation he did try soaking his feet in cold water and rubbing them briskly dry with a coarse towel and he claimed a complete cure. The method, of course was that he induced good placement remedy we admit, but nevertheless, it does not appeal to us we readily understand that it would work.

WINGS over CANADA
Presented by Dr. Russell L. GIBSON and Robert REEDS.

The newest and latest thought in the subject of airports for small towns comes from Northwestern Quebec and Northern Ontario where instead of each town building or arranging for the building of an airport all on its own, a number of towns are planning to get together on the subject.

Realizing that any one town in that part of Canada has little to gain from a single airport in Timmins, Kirkland Lake, Sesqui-Rouyn and Val d'Or, with unanimous agreement to other smaller towns in the area to build smaller landing strips.

The idea came from the fact those northern centres with rapidly expanding populations are cut off from Toronto and Montreal by regular rail journeys realized that no airline would serve just one of them.

As a result plans are under way for a Northern Air Conference to be held shortly in Val d'Or and to be held on a business conference basis.

In the past many Canadian air conferences have been held from time to time, and while much useful information has been passed around there has been little result in the way of concrete action.

In the case of the conference scheduled for Val d'Or the entire town council of each of the larger towns is expected to attend with the specific purpose of making definite decisions concerning airport construction in the spring.

This conference will provide a pattern, will provide concerted experience and mistakes which can be taken into consideration by other parts of Canada when regional conferences are planned.

A chain of small airports for town in British Columbia for instance might result in a provincial conference there with definite decisions.

If several small airports can be built in a single area aviation will multiply in usefulness. There will be many more opportunities for aviation jobs for veterans wishing to run air taxis if there is more plane to which they can land.

SMALL PAPERS READ MORE CLOSELY
Recent Study Reveals Some Interesting Facts
Both news and advertising in small newspapers are read more closely than in large papers, Dr. Clifton Bush, head of the Stanford University Division of Journalism, reports.
Only in graphic matter such as pictures, maps and comics were the larger papers able to compare on a virtually equal basis with their little brothers, the survey showed. Dr. Bush reported his finding to a meeting of the Northern California Newspaper Advertising Managers' Association.
In advertising readership, the small papers averaged better than twice the scores made by the large, the analysis showed. For reading matter, the ratio was approximately three to one.
Dr. Bush decided reading matter scored so high in the small paper because there are fewer items and the content is primarily local.

Soil Conservation An Urgent Problem

Since histories have neglected to emphasize many of the more important factors that could have been learned from the past, these lessons have had to be learned the hard way. The bank of knowledge has already resulted in the destruction of a very large percentage of the soil in North America, Canada. For example a few years ago authorities in the United States estimated that one fifth of the land brought under cultivation had been destroyed to the point where it was not worth working. There are places in the world where the soil profiles have been washed out to a depth one hundred feet.

Here in Canada the country is not far behind the Americans in wasting soil, for only a few years ago a large area was blown out so that the Dominion Government was obliged to take over the land and at great cost seed it down to grass. While further drifting has been stopped for the time being the soil will probably never be to good again.

Possibly the settlement of the situation has been more clear by stating just what goes to make up soil. It is composed of three main substances, sand forming the organic matter and soil bacteria. In addition to providing plant food, the organic matter gives the soil its water holding capacity. Before the land is ready for crops bacteria is available, soil forming the land and the practice of summerfallowing in particular destroys this organic matter with the result that under proper rotations are followed the percentage of organic matter in the soil is low that the soil will lack and only plant food, but will also lack cohesion and its ability to absorb and hold water. The state of deterioration has already gone so far that best soils drift and gully readily.

If soil is to be maintained or

The Recipe Corner

Some old time recipes are treasured in many homes and continue to be enjoyed. "Trifle" and "Figs in Blankets" are among these. Others have modernized their names, but the ingredients are unchanged. "Scalloped Potatoes" become "Holy Poly" and "Pickled Lilly" is now "Pimentlit".

No longer do the recipes call for indexes as a leavening agent. This was a mixture of baking soda and salt commonly used.

Methods have also changed. Baking soda was usually dissolved in sour milk or hot water. Now, up-to-date cooks prefer to sift it with the flour.

From the kitchen of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, these modernized recipes for old favorites are offered.

Time For Action!

It is time the business men of Fort Saskatchewan started thinking about forming a Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce or a Men's Service Club of some type to boost the town and really put it on the map.

We believe that Fort Saskatchewan had a Board of Trade some years ago, but due to lack of interest it was allowed to die.

In the past year a great many businesses have changed hands, some have amalgamated and other new businesses have opened, and we believe the general opinion of most of these young business men is that there should be some organization whereby they could meet once a month to discuss ways and means of making Fort Saskatchewan a town that people will want to come to live in and bring up their families.

A live and progressive organization could do a great deal in helping to promote some of the necessary services that are essential if a town is to prosper.

The Record is only too willing to assist in any way possible, and invites suggestions from any business man that would start the ball rolling to form such an organization.

How about some action soon?

Deserve Better Support

The Fort Senior Hockey Team is striving to put Fort Saskatchewan back in the spotlight it once held a few years ago in the field of hockey.

The support they are receiving at the present time is not very encouraging. True there are quite a number of boys and girls (turn out and root for them, but lack of adult supporters is noticeable.

There is only one way in which to encourage and promote good, clean sport and a better brand of hockey, and that is the whole hearted support of every citizen of the town.

Let's show the boys we are behind them 100 per cent by turning out to the game next Tuesday night when they play against Calmar.

Baker Discovers New World

A baker once peeked into a brief case and found a new world. It was not a blueprint that he found there. It was just a list of names.

G. Cecil Morrison, president of the Morrison-Lamothe Bakery, Ltd., Ottawa, was the man who did the peeking. The briefcase belonged to one of his employees. And the names he found were the names of the two men who were beginning to organize a union in his plant.

On the present of needing to cut down the staff, he promptly fired those two men. "I hated unions," he said, "so the devil hates holy water. I thought they were communistic." Shortly after this Morrison's contract with Moral Re-Armament made him realize that the arbitrary firing of men was just about as undemocratic.

As a result he reinstated the men, paid them their back wages and apologize to the national head of the union.

Apologized to Rival

Teamwork which before had only been a phrase, now became a reality. He carried it out from his plant to his competitors. He apologized to a rival baker for a long-standing feud over a trade name.

So when the war broke out he was in a good position to take decisive action in stabilize the price of bread. This with the co-operation of Government, competitors and consumers, he, perhaps more than any one other person, was instrumental in doing.

At the outbreak of war Canadian bakers were caught between rising costs and price ceilings. It looked as if bread must go up in price or the bakers go out of business. There seemed no basis for working together towards a solution.

"Honesty and following God's direction" worked first in my family and then in my business. Why not in the whole industry?" Mr. Morrison asked himself. The name of bakery operators who had refused to co-operate with each other came to mind. He went to work to unite them in a National Baking Council. When it was later formed he was elected president.

Drastic economies, simplifications and even sharing of transportation and trade advantages became possible when teamwork among the council members replaced cut-throat competition. The Government co-operated by withdrawing the processing tax on flour and later appointed Morrison Administrator of Bakery Products for all of Canada.

The net result was that, in spite of labor costs going up 28 percent, and the cost of ingredients 20 percent, the price of bread did not rise and the industry was put on a sound basis. Said one labor leader, "If the price of bread had gone up one cent a loaf the cost of living would have risen 10 percent across the country."

You can feel the result in the Morrison-Lamothe Bakery, too. The workers and department heads call their boss "Cam." His office door is open to every employee. The workers like and trust him. An "Inside" Monitor

Morrison proudly tells of the latest instance of working democracy in his plant. It involved the bread bakers. Their war-time production bonus plan had got out of balance and was unfair to the company, though profitable to the workers. As often when there are policy questions to be settled, "Cam" invited them all to lunch—what he calls an "eatin' meetin'." He laid the facts before them and the men came up with a suggestion that proved satisfactory to all.

"Any employer who is saying 'Just wait till labor again becomes plentiful,' says Mr. Morrison. "We must deal with labor fair, 'tell-gently,' and on the basis of what is right, or our privilege of doing so will be done by somebody else by force of law. The irony of the whole thing is that it will be done with our money, it won't be done so effectively, and we won't get credit for it.

It takes more than sweeping statements to clean up the mess we're in.

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE
Director "The Over Seeing Plan"

PRAIRIE WHEAT AND VICTORY

Dr W F Hanna, newly appointed Officer in Charge of the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Winnipeg, and who served with considerable distinction at home and overseas with the Royal Canadian Air Force, recently addressed the Manitoba Agricultural Association at a luncheon given in his honour.

Dr Hanna offered the opinion that Manitoba, with its rich acreage, did a great deal to maintain the food supplies of the allied armies during the dark days of the first great war when food was scarce. Similarly, said Dr Hanna, Prairie resistance wheat have done it, main air adequate supplies of Dominion during this present war, and in the years to come they will have been had vast years. Had our wheat crop consisted of the same fruit variety, many of which were quite unsuitable, then our crops harvested during the war years would have been serious hundreds of millions of bushels less than they were. The difference between wheat that survived rust, and which would have gone under and the rust resistant varieties varieties is one of the most striking examples that was available and which saved millions of dollars and many populations no doubt needed.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

It is reported that fall wheat seeding in the United Kingdom fell below the official goal, and that considerable spring seeding may be necessary if it is to be reached—Moderate general rains were recently reported on the Argentine Although the rainfall will be beneficial for the growing corn, it will delay threshing of small grain crops

Crop prospects in several parts of South Africa have been improved by heavy rains—Soil conditions in the west of Europe are reported to be fairly satisfactory. Reports indicate that acreages have been increased compared with a year ago.

Tourist Traffic For Alberta

The following figures, reprinted from the Financial Post Dec 22, 1945, provide a commentary on the need for good roads in Alberta.

Lifting of gasoline rations almost doubled the influx of U.S. tourists into Canada in 1945. Foreign vehicles entering Canada and staying more than 24 hours or travelling beyond point of entry, to the end of October, 1945, totaled 773,143 as 368,542 more than 1944.

Estimated expenditure of travellers entering Canada by car in 1944 was $3 million dollars

Following are 1944 figures by provinces for vehicles entering Canada to the end of October for 1944 and 1945.

Letters to W.I.

Thank you very much for the lovely parcel I received from you before the officers left, and I certainly appreciated everything in it. No need to tell you it was all shared with my comrades, some of whom were not so fortunate as I was at the time, and so enjoyed every bit.

I am home now and will soon be discharged as I am going back to finish high school.

Every where I've been, your good work has been mentioned and very much appreciated.

Thanking you again for everything,ladies and the best of luck this coming year

[illegible]

I received your welcome gift parcel to day. It contained many delightful items which are seldom seen in these parts and so much appreciated when received from thoughtfull friends at home.

Christmas is rapidly drawing near but I have roundly been advised of a more important date

Yours sincerely,
Bay Cambay.

New Highway Program

The Alberta Post War Reconstruction Committee Report at Page 4 says:

"The Alberta Department of Public Works has Planned a highway program to bring the existing Main Highway system up to standard and to increase the present 2,800 miles to 6600 miles, at an estimated cost of $63,000,000; improve and re-grade district highways from 2,500 to 4,000 miles at $15,000,000; tourist roads from nil to 700 miles at $7,000,000; and local development roads from 40,000 to 55,000 miles at an approximate cost of $13,000,000, all of which would involve an approximate cost of $120,000,000 and supply employment for about 5,000 men annually for approximately 10 years."

The A.M.A. endorses the program and says, now is the time to start. Get behind the Alberta Motor Association crusade for a road program worthy of Alberta. The A.M.A. annual fee is only $10 a year.

The Dawning

Every author famous or unnoticed must have his emotions and feelings about the new filling contents of the products to a new day. It would seem that any effort of mortal man to fully describe this scene or capture its beauty on canvas is puny indeed.

The night of dawn is best set off by a frame of nature, untouched by man's hand For one to watch the mounting orb of blood red fire above high point is doubly fascinating if there is a carpet of green spruce stretching for miles below

TIMELY FARM NOTES

F. H. Reesemann, District Agriculturist, Edmonton

NEED FOR FARMERS TO KEEP RECORDS

Tremendous strides have been made in the last forty years in all phases of agricultural development stated the latest issue of Economics Annalist New crop varieties have been discovered, better methods of breeding and feeding livestock have been found, better machinery has been developed, while marketing facilities for agricultural products have been improved and much has been accomplished in grading farm products.

In spite of all these advances, however, a large percentage of farmers in Canada have not yet realized that the day of the self sufficient farmer is past and that to make a success of commercial farming the farmer must be an efficient business manager Farm management research, says the Annalist, provides a basis for the application of the best technical information in farming, in order that the farmer may obtain the highest return from his labour and investment.

Farm management studies carried out by the Economics Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, during the last 15 years have attempted to show farmers the factors responsible for increased profits. It has also been necessary for the research workers to collect and analyze information of all phases of farm business and make available information based on farmers' experience in order that what has accomplished through efficient farm management.

Conditions change from year to year and vary from region to region and by type of farming. It is therefore necessary, if the greatest use is to be made of farm management studies that more and more emphasis should be established. Farmers may thus be shown that with proper management farms can be put on a paying basis, and that higher the efficiency in the use of land, labour, live stock and capital, the higher will be the net returns.

ELECTRIC MOTORS FOR USE ON FARM

When an electric motor is purchased for any operation on the farm, the proper type of motor should be selected for the work involved. Electric motors are available in various types, each type having specific features making them suitable for specific types of work. If the proper type is not selected for a certain job, the results will probably be unsatisfactory and the motor may be severely damaged, says William Kalbfleisch Engineering Section, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa

In electric motors which range from 1/60 h.p to 1 h.p. that will operate from 110 volt, 60 cycle single phase, rural power lines, there are three main types of electric motors, namely—split phase, capacitor and repulsion induction motors which have the following characteristics:

Split-phase Low initial cost, no brushes, size range from 1/20 to 1/2 h.p.; starting ability low due to poor torque for starting heavy loads; suitable for use on fans, washing machines, grindstones, cream separators, refrigerators, potato peelers, shallow well pumps, fans, milk coolers, concrete mixers, drill presses, spray painters, or any other job where the starting load of the machine is not more than one half of the load of the motor.

Capacitor Medium initial cost, no brushes, size range from 1/20 to 1 h.p.; starting ability medium to good due to a reasonably good torque for starting under a heavy load, suitable for use on cream separators, refrigerators, potato peelers, shallow well pumps, fans, milk coolers, concrete mixers, drill presses, spray painters, or any other job where the starting load of the machine is not more than two thirds the load of the motor.

Repulsion-Induction Initial cost higher than other motors of the same size, starting ability very good for starting heavy loads, size range from 1 h.p. to 7½ h.p.; starting ability medium to good due to a reasonably good torque for starting under a heavy load, suitable for use on cream separators, refrigerators, potato peelers, shallow well pumps, fans, milk coolers, concrete mixers, drill presses, spray painters, or any other job where the starting load of the machine is not more than two thirds the load of the motor.

Most of the pupils have recovered from their indisposition, and once more we have most of the seats occupied We may consider ourselves fortunate that even the sickness we showed a concerted front. If such visitations have to manifest us, it is a mercy of providence that each should be stricken at the same time Now that the children have had their share, the adults are beginning to follow suit and some of the parents are on the sick list now. However be positive that we have not had a return of Spanish 'Flu. Certainly our Health Unit has the situation more fully in control than we had in 1919.

Bruderheim brought its junior hockey team to test our boys out and carried away the boron to the tune of 7-2. Our heroes put up a good fight and our goalie defended splendidly but the third period proved to be their undoing as the fray Considering they had done the clearing of the ice previous to the game and had put in some strenuous practice, it is not a matter of surprise The lighting, thanks to our senior electrician, Rudolph Hippel, is a great improvement, and additions to the system are still contemplated The quality of the ice surface is not of the best and needs the attention of the hockey players. Volunteers for this important task are earnestly requested to step forward.

Supt. J. J. Le Blanc addressed a fairly representative group of Clover Bar Divisional teachers at the Masonic Hall on Saturday on the subject of school libraries. Our superintendent has been indefatigable in this connection and his efforts have not met with the cooperation they deserve. The travelling library therefore stands under demand, and some alternative in the shape of a central library is mooted.

Mr. Le Blanc brought with him data he has secured from two divisions which have found the central plan to work well, and Walsingright— together with suggestions from the department of Education. He suggested the formation of a committee with one member from each of the three levels and possibly one more to represent High School interests, to look into the matter and make contact with him. We would welcome suggestions from anyone, teacher or layman, as to how best to tackle this important question. Mr. Le Blanc thought that the school could probably be willing to turn to his volumes, other than straight reference books or privately owned editions, to form a nucleus to which each year new books might be added.

Clover Bar Sch. Local which meets on the first Saturday of each month at the Masonic Temple at 8:30 p.m., extends a cordial invitation to any teachers to drop in and stir their vitors.

At the conclusion of the speaker's address, discussion took place on the subject of the regular teachers' banquet to which all teachers present, trustees, ratepayers and friends, are warmly welcome. Last year the banquet took the form of a luncheon pro-

Fort Shotcut Calmar By 2-0 Win

About 300 hockey fans turned out to witness one of the best performances the Fort boys staged, when they defeated Calmar Tuesday night.

The boys were out for revenge for the 4-3 beating they took last Saturday night at Calmar.

From the drop of the puck they pressed the play, but could not make a tally in the first period.

After about 5 minutes play in the second period Ted Peddels put on a spurt from centre ice to score the first goal which was followed a few minutes later by one of the visitors' goals scored in the netter. when Omar Williston broke away with the puck from around his own goal and manoeuvred stick-handled his way through the Calmar boys to drope their goalie out and flip in another goal.

The Calmar boys tried hard in the third period to stage a comeback, and for a little while kept our goalie busy, but the way he handled those shots it looked as if it was the simplest thing in the world to land goal.

The attendance at this game was somewhat better, but there is still lots of room for improvement. Give the boys a real boost next Tuesday night when they play Namao, by doubling the present attendance

Lineups are as follows:

Fort: P. Gunning, H. Theodinsen, T. Pavelo, E. Godfoot, O. Williston, R. Good, W. Benson, H. Godfoot, B. Godfoot, T. Lemmerman, G. Ortscruff, P. Reynolds, R. Reynolds.

Calmar: R. Kortgard, M. Shelin, E. Hannis, T. Berede, L. Cook, D. Kortgard, M. Karabonik, A. Kenis, E. Wentlin, B. Trefonek, T. Hoffman. Referees were L. Medora and V. Martin.

T. B. Questions and Answers

Edited by F. H. Heise, M.D.
National Tuberculosis Association.

Q. What do we know from tuberculin tests?

A. A few weeks after tubercle bacilli have first become planted in our bodies, our tissues become sensitive to the products of the germs. Then, if a small amount of tuberculin is injected into our skin through a tiny needle-scratch, and left in as a patch test, the skin will show red, raised "reaction" in a couple of days. The tuberculin, undoubtedly test cells who has been infected. It says nothing about having the disease. A positive reaction says, "Search further."

Q. What does the X-ray tell us?

A. The X-ray is invaluable because it shows up the shadows in the lungs of people who have old T.B., now arrested; new trouble not yet suspected, or disease that requires to be watched at intervals.

Readers desiring questions answered are asked to send them to Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary, where careful attention and early reply will be given.

ALBERTA LEADS

Year-end issue of the Sanford Evans statistical report contains many interesting information about Alberta's position in relation to the other prairie provinces.

Following are interesting pictures, picked up at random, indicate that Alberta leads in various fields of endeavor, and particularly that Edmonton and district especially, seem destined to a prosperous future.

In 1945 livestock marketing in Manitoba totalled 10 million dollars; Saskatchewan 19 million and Alberta 24 million.

Alberta leads the western provinces in average weekly earnings by employees with $28.35. Manitoba's average is $26.39 and Saskatchewan $24.94.

Alberta's labor force is accommodated in county general store sales. Last year's sales in Manitoba were $11.7 per cent of total in 1945; Saskatchewan sales are up 110 per cent and Alberta country store business in total was 113.4 per cent of the previous year.

Among western cities, Manitoba's 1945 construction programme was Winnipeg a close second—$7,578,000 in Edmonton; Calgary building permits totalled $7,295,000; Regina, $5,716,000 and Saskatoon $2,207,000; and $7,513,000 in Winnipeg.

Bureau Head Rogers, released recently, indicated that Alberta's population is 827,000 as compared with 722,000 in 1944, Rogers' distribution indicates that the Edmonton office caters to more than half of Alberta's population—497,000 as compared with 272,072 from Calgary and 136,931 from Lethbridge.

These are figures that speak well for the future of the province and its the largest city . . . Edmonton.

T. B. Association Still Need $15,000

The need Christmas Seal sale for the province reached seventy-five thousand dollars, an increase of twenty-three thousand dollars, for the same period as last year. Fifteen thousand dollars is still needed to reach the quota set, and officials are hoping their hopes upon a free will donation to make this objective will be reached.

DRIED BEANS

A total acreage of 96,400 sown to dried beans was recommended for the province by Commissioner Peterson at the recent Agricultural Conference of which Ontario will account for 61,-900 acres, Quebec, 15,000, New Brunswick, 1,200, British Columbia, 900, and Alberta, 500 acres.

Down

Slowly stars and darkness Fade in the blue of day: Keep think of morning, Replace the blue and gray.

Morning's crimson brushes Colour the sky of morn, Birds awaken with the Morning scene is born

Time that ties o'er meadows Runs make in crimson light, Morning's rosy hill-days, All is airy and bright

Small birds hop on meadows, Sparkling fresh with dew, Telling all in singing Of joy that night is through.

Nature's up and awaking, The birds all sing quite gay, Down will come tomorrow, But now get out 'tis day.

Down in earth's awakening, The fresh new start of day, Ushering in new morn, The start of work and play.

Down in life's beginning, Fresh of day's new light, The promise of new day, And end of dark and night.

The above poem was written by Jack Heal, a grade ten pupil of Fort High school.

Down

From the cold clammy darkness of the night a faint light emerges in the east. Minute by minute its intensity increases. Across the cheery eastern clouds objects can be faintly discerned in the half-light. Putting away their dark ghostly mantles of night, the hues of day assume a natural shape. Now the faint bloodshot rim of the sun is seen peeping hesitantly from behind the eastern hills. Here and there the mist rises, making silently towards the pink flushed clouds above.

This is a new day; the beginning of a new world refreshed from its night of sleep. This day will be the dawning of a new life for many of the joyful creatures of nature. The earth gradually changes in shade of colouring, out of light, warmth, and joy. Dawn! the time of day when everything is at its best; a period of a silent beauty and meaning, of true happiness, without the trials and hardships of the day. The sky greets us a friendly pinkish glow, as if hoping to see the world fresh and light again.

In the bushes, along the marshy meadows, and in the fields, the birds begin their chirping. The cows are seen moving their lumbering ponderous forms across the dry ground their morning feeding place. Across the creek a few slim deer are seen going to drink. The insects begin their daily hum of happiness and the fish swirl and playfully scamper.

Now the full round sun is beginning its long sky journey across the heavens, spreading out long graceful golden beams to the far east counter of the hills and valleys. The tiny creatures of the forest, that lost in wonder, start about their work, running here and there with quick light steps. The trees and shrubs appear a brighter green, as if the sun's rays had immensely changed them.

The sun climbs higher and one feels that the light has somehow made him stare. He is of a brighter yellow now, and leaves behind the last clammy darkness that had earlier enhanced the creatures of the forest.

The best part of the day has gone, the world has slipped back into its same old point of interest and much quality. The earth has lost its freshness and feeling. Down, the pink flushed fairy, has slipped away again, but she will be back for her duties, but beautiful part on the morrow.

The above essay was written by Gary Westover, a grade 10 pupil of Fort High school.

The Recipe Corner

Use cake which keep homemakers busy is that of "kitchen" politics", consistently on guard to reduce all waste to a minimum. This is particularly true in the case of fats.

Fat is a necessary ingredient in the preparation of many foods. Fat is a precious commodity Now must be wasted

Fat shells made from cookie dough are new and interesting. If pan do not grease pan make them upon fons and save the top crust.

Toast croutons in a dry pan in the oven. Use bacon dough in gravy meat, or chicken pie

Never let the fat smoke Smoke means burning or breaking down which results in waste Keep all fat cool. If left in a warm place, it will become rancid or sour. Use dripping from roasts, broiled meat or poultry in making sauces for scalloped dishes, cheese dishes or in creamed soups.

A few suggestions for saving fat come from the kitchen of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Why VICKS Is So Good

For Relieving Miseries of

Childrens Colds

Many times two generations ago—in grandmother's day—mothers first discovered Vicks VapoRub. Today it is the most widely used home remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds. And here is the reason

The moment you rub VapoRub on the throat, chest and back at bedtime it starts to work two ways at once—and keeps on working for hours—to ease coughing spasms, help clear congestion, relax tense, upset nerves, bring on soothing, relaxing comfort and invite restful sleep. Often most of the misery of the cold is gone by morning! That's why VapoRub is so good in the treatment of colds. Try it!

A Step in the Right Direction

Alberta is to have a system of highways second to none in the Dominion according to an announcement made Tuesday by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works.

The building of such a system of highways, which will be started this spring, will certainly be welcome news to the thousands of car and truck owners, and to the thousands more who intend to drive cars as soon as they become available.

With the surfaced highways receiving first consideration, tourist traffic should leap ahead, resulting in millions of dollars coming into the province which hitherto it has been deprived of due to road conditions.

When this five year program is completed, and all the main highways are hard surfaced with secondary roads gravelled, a good percentage of the money it costs motorists in depreciation today, would be expended in other ways and would help to keep more people employed.

This is a step in the right direction that will help to make Alberta one of the leading provinces in the Dominion.

Radio-Telephony in British Trains

A new system of mobile radio-telephony having the advantage of not being encumbered with fixed stations, has been perfected by the British Home Office. The system, which operates on very short waves, was originally designed for use in police cars patrolling large towns, and it has proved very satisfactory. It has now been improved, enabling the crew and passengers in an aircraft to be in radio-telephone contact at all times also, to enable passengers to hold important long-distance conversations during their journey. Very high frequency radio-telephony has previously been regarded as having a limited range, but the use of the new system enables the range to be extended to an unlimited distance by the use of automatic relay stations.

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE

Director "The Crop Testing Plan"

GOOD PROSPECTS FOR THE 1946 CROP

The precipitation which occurred over the province this last fall between harvest and freeze-up, for the three Prairie Provinces averaged weighted for wheat acreage, over aged 102 per cent of normal, all according to the records from 7-90 Rural rain gauge stations. Well moisture is stored in the ground, usually distributed snow evenly from last heavy rains earlier in the season. This moisture which was for added moisture, analyzed the work of the Oxford Group under the leadership of Dr Frank N. D. Buchman and warned that it was dangerous to Hitlerism to ally ourselves of Christianity. The official line also declared that democracy for the suppression of the Oxford Group in both Germany and the occupied countries had been treason.

The document also exposes the bond between democracy and Christianity and says: "The Oxford Group exposes the Christian religion as a garment of a world democratic aims. It adds: "The Group and the democratic governments each other and render each other's work fruitful. This fact is common enough, that one can establish a correlation of life which democracy opposes and fights because of its Christian arguments . . ."

Under the slogan of Moral Re-Armament, the Group has become the pacemaker of Anglo-American diplomacy."

Finally in a sentence which leaves no doubt as to the Reich's aims towards Christianity, the document says: "They (the Oxford Group) encourage their members to place themselves fully in touch with the Christian Cross and to oppose the cross of Christ with the Cross of Christ as the former (the swastika) seeks to destroy the Cross of Christ."

For the last twenty-five years the Oxford Group has been in the forefront of the fight to restore Christian principles to our way of life Today its program of Moral Re-Armament is at work in fifty countries, fighting to create democracy's inspired ideology that will answer and outmarch the militant anti-democratic ideas that are battling for world control.

Homework and Delinquency

From time to time, Alberta has heard proposals that homework should be abolished in our public schools. The reasons advanced, in some quarters at least was that the children who put in five hours at school five days a week should not be required to do "overtime". Study periods during the school day and good methods of teaching we have been told, would achieve more than the longer hours their fathers and mothers put in on the farm in the bad old days.

Of course, children whose evenings are free from homework will naturally turn to other pursuits. An item from the London Daily Mail suggests what some of those may be:

Children at 50 Glasgow elementary (primary) schools, who just before the war were relieved of homework, are "night rioting" again.

The City Education Committee believes that lack of homework is associated with increased juvenile delinquency.

"Red hay" offences in Glasgow have jumped since elementary homework was abandoned.

About one-fifth of the city's elementary school system, representing children from mixed prosperous and low-rent families, are to be "gutless pips".

They go back to homework so that education experts can observe its effect on juvenile crime.

They will do it three nights each week for half an hour.

This is an angle of the no-homework idea that is not supported might study carefully.

Children whose parents require household chores to be done after school or in the evenings may not be tempted to loiter or fall afoul of the law. Chores play only a small role in the life of the city family today, compared with what they once did. Few households need wood chopped, for they use gas or coal; electricity has done away with filling lamps and cleaning chimneys. The list of "replacements" could be extended greatly.

The lawn to mow in summer and a walk to snoop of over a few times in winter—and what more is there?

Alberta educational authorities might well ask the City Education Committee of Glasgow to let them borrow a few needle hours that such a mild dose of school homework has had in reducing juvenile delinquency.

Natural interest and the lowest bank can't live together.

Nazi Anti-Christ Plans

Evidence that Hitler was out to smash Christianity on a world front and feared the Oxford Group as a force for Christian democracy is contained in a secret document recently unearthed in the files of the Reich Security department in Berlin News of the discovery can be regarded "as of the highest importance", was reported by Dr. Witt Mackenzie, Associated Press world news analyst in a recent release from London.

The document which was for official purposes analyzed the work of the Oxford Group under the leadership of Dr Frank N. D. Buchman and warned that it was dangerous to Hitlerism to ally ourselves of Christianity. The official line also declared that directives for the suppression of the Oxford Group in both Germany and the occupied countries had been issued.

The document also exposes the bond between democracy and Christianity and says: "The Oxford Group exposes the Christian religion as a garment of a world democratic aims. It adds: "The Group and the democratic governments each other and render each other's work fruitful. This fact is common enough, that one can establish a correlation of life which democracy opposes and fights because of its Christian arguments . . ."

Under the slogan of Moral Re-Armament, the Group has become the pacemaker of Anglo-American diplomacy."

Finally in a sentence which leaves no doubt as to the Reich's aims towards Christianity, the document says: "They (the Oxford Group) encourage their members to place themselves fully in touch with the Christian Cross and to oppose the cross of Christ with the Cross of Christ as the former (the swastika) seeks to destroy the Cross of Christ."

For the last twenty-five years the Oxford Group has been in the forefront of the fight to restore Christian principles to our way of life Today its program of Moral Re-Armament is at work in fifty countries, fighting to create democracy's inspired ideology that will answer and outmarch the militant anti-democratic ideas that are battling for world control.

No deadlock can be fully broken till somebody takes full blame.

COME UP AND SEE US SOME TIME

We have been sending out this invitation from Alberta for a long time now, and many of our friends south of the border have accepted our invitation—in spite of the inconvenient, and sometimes hazardous condition of the roads we invite them to motor over. Thousands more would rather motor in comfort nowadays when they can tackle our roads, no matter what scenery and hospitality we have to offer And who can blame them!

We need good roads. We want good roads. Sudden interest in millions of dollars in tourist trade in Alberta, they will encourage the free flow of business within the province for the benefit of all.

Do your part to promote good trade. Talk about them. Ask your representatives for action on the $130,000,000 road-building program now under consideration by the government. Get behind the Alberta Motor Association in its campaign for a modern road system by becoming a member.

A M.A. membership costs only $10 a year, and it offers a host of services of value to every car-owner. There are offices in Calgary, Edmonton and Lethbridge that will send you full information promptly on request.

Urgent Demand for Logging Workers

Winnipeg, Man.—There is an urgent and immediate demand for workers in Canada's logging, pulpwood and lumber camps, and an extensive campaign by the National Employment Service to recruit men for the woods industry is now underway, Fred J. White, Regional Superintendent, Unemployment Insurance Commission, Winnipeg, announced Wednesday.

"Never in the nation's history has the need for the products of our forests been as great as it is today", Mr. White said. "Canada's lumber and item on its peace time program is the construction of homes for our war veterans. Lumber is also needed for our industrial reconversion program and for export overseas. In addition, huge quantities of pulpwood are required for the pulp and paper industry. The manufacture of paper and news print is most essential, not only for our own consumption, but also for our export trade Every man who accepts employment in the woods now is helping to provide jobs for others".

About 2,000 workers are needed immediately in the Prairie Region alone, the Regional Superintendent declared. Farmers and farm laborers who are not at present employed on the land are particularly urged to apply.

The wages are attractive, with most of the vacancies for piece workers, but some up-wages are also available on a monthly basis. The food is good and wholesome, and operators have greatly improved camp accommodation during the war years. In addition, transportation will be supplied to approved applicants", Mr White said.

Applications should be made at the nearest National Employment Office, where all further information on employment in the woods industry will be furnished

TIMELY FARM NOTES

F. E. Downes, District Agriculturist, Edmonton

ALBERTA POSAGE CROP ENCOURAGEMENT POLICY

Alberta farming at a passing from its pioneer stage and taking on a more stable and permanent form. As this development progresses the growing of grasses and legumes becomes advantageous in the mixed type of farming, with good farming. They are coming to realize that forage crops go a long way toward providing the cheapest to cost conservation and weed control problems while at the same time supplying nutritious fodder for livestock. Dry stock production.

The Alberta Department of Agriculture has encouraged this trend through the operations of its Forage Crop Policy. This policy will operate again in 1941. It is designed to encourage farmers to increase their acreage of forage crops. Grass and legume seeds are made available freight prepaid, from agencies throughout the province. Every farmer should take immediate action to get prices, take orders and supply seed to farmers. They also have in hand a supply of information pertaining to forage seeding and management practices.

Furthermore, because of severe export markets, the Department of Agriculture has reserved considerable quantities of forage crop seeds to assist the production of forage crops to meet the needs of Alberta farmers, but in order to handle this and orders can only be accepted from customers local. Only those farmers who plans their orders with a local agent at an early date can be assured that need will be supplied.

Seed shipments will go out to agents at the early spring and will then be supplied to farmers who have placed orders. In many districts a "Seed Distribution Day" will be held with the District Agricultural person in charge. Large crop problems with farmers.

The real slogan that "Prevention is Better than Cure," is particularly in time with respect to weed control. Notwithstanding the progress that has been made in development of chemicals for control of weeds it is still safe to say that these can not be regarded as a substitute for the cultural methods that have been outlined briefly above. The latter are not limited to barley alone, but apply equally to all varieties of crops and any crop sequence plan having weed control in mind must contain, for farmers crops. The plan of any mentioned above provides an opportunity for farmers to obtain these forage crop production on their farms to a greater or less extent. Every farmer therefore should give careful consideration to placing his order immediately for some of these in the CFC Educational Service.

SMALL PAPERS READ MORE CLOSELY

Recent Study Reveals Some Interesting Facts

Both news and advertising in small newspapers are read more closely than in large papers, Dr. Clifton Daub, head of the Stanford University Division of Journalism, reports.

Only in graphic matter such as pictures, maps and comics were the larger papers able to compare on a virtually equal basis with their little brothers, the survey showed. Dr. Daub made his findings in a meeting of the Northern California Newspaper Advertising Managers' Association.

In advertising readership, the small papers averaged better than twice the scores made by the large, the analysis showed. For reading matter, the ratio was approximately three to one.

Dr. Daub decided reading matter scored so high in the small paper because there are fewer items and the content is primarily local.

The Annual Ratepayers Meeting

The Annual Ratepayers Meeting of the Town will be held tomorrow evening, Friday, at 8 p.m., in the Fort Community Hall. It is the duty of every ratepayer to attend.

Many complaints are heard during the year about what should be done and what should not be done, but on the day of the annual meeting, when the citizens should be out in full force, and take an interest in the welfare of the town, it is very noticeable the lack of interest shown. Only about 25 or 30 people attend this meeting.

During the meeting there is always a period for questions and answers and it is the privilege of the ratepayer to question any item on the financial statement on which they would like further information.

There is only one way in which a town can thrive and that is by the whole-hearted support of every person in it, whether they are ratepayers or not.

Fort Saskatchewan was one of the best town in Alberta. It can regain that position if the citizens do their part.

PREMIUMS FOR MALTING BARLEY

Because the specialization fee to prairie farmers on barley was increased from 15 to 20 cents it was intended that the price of feed barley became as high as the price for malting barley.

The situation has discouraged many farmers from purchasing higher priced seed of a malting barley. This condition, however, cannot possibly continue, and no farmers can certainly look forward this next year to receiving a premium on malting barley for his grade or article that is of superior quality and which really more to produce, must be able to receive a higher price. These, therefore, [illegible] malting barley should, I suggest, still carry on with their good work; and the first step, naturally, is to secure some good seed of a variety that is acceptable to maltsters and for which they are willing to pay the premium.

O.A.C. 21 seems to be one of the most satisfactory varieties so far as the maltster is concerned. [illegible] bushels of O.A.C. 21 seed should purchase Registered [illegible] the stocks they are purchasing are really true-to-variety to a high standard of cleanliness.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Bread: 1945 soft crop is noticeable in that the milling people, 10 per cent less than last year's production, and 5 per cent smaller than average—Wheat seeding in the United Kingdom has been disappointing so far, and there is [illegible] acreage will reach the desired goal.

Argentine wheat supplies for export and carry-over in 1946 are estimated at about 180 million bushels—Many sections of Europe have benefitted from recent rains and crops entering the winter in good condition—Warm weather has been beneficial in promoting growth of small grains on the southern section of the U.S.A.

LOSING DOLLARS BY PENNY PINCHING

Poor roads cost money. They delay business, with inevitable loss; they keep farmers at home when they want to get to market, they increase the cost per mile on cars and trucks, wear out tires faster, and increase expense for repairs. They keep out millions of dollars of tourist business that would benefit every business, every service, every farmer in the province. All together we lose far more than would pay for a modern system of highways and good secondary roads, that would increase our own comfort, convenience and pleasure in travelling.

The Alberta Department of Public Works has planned a 10-year road building program for Alberta. It is urgently needed and there should be no delay in putting it into effect. Let every provincial member know that we are in favour of it, and that our friends and other organizations to do likewise. Pass the resolution now.

The Alberta Motor Association has been successful in its demands for a modern highway system for Alberta. Get behind it by becoming a member. You can enjoy all the privileges and services that go with an A.M.A. membership for only $10 a year.

Annual Meeting to be held Friday, Jan. 25, at 8 p.m. in the Community Hall

In the world today a new kind of thought is long overdue.

Cooking Lake

"Who are the cooks for the next two and-by lunches?" is a question often heard at Franklin school. "Two girls," may be the answer, or, alternatively, "Two boys!" "And what are we going to have?" is the next question. Sometimes a menu is taken and the interim may be cheap or dredged Potatoes, as a means of getting nourishment into one day. If it is to be soup, a canned one seems to be the best bet. Meat, vegetables, carrots, an onion, plus barley, spaghetti—? and each pupil business brings in or her contribution to the "pot" will be. If unlimited potatoes has been chosen, the ingredients for that dish are necessary in the same way.

Next morning, after our evening experiment, the results (good or bore as the bet indicates) repair to the assembly hall, start the fire in the small cook stove, and, when the building is warm enough, collect the ingredients of the day's lunch, prepare them, and put them on to cook in the remembrance utensils provided by the central board. While the fire and stove are doing their work, our two cooks are not idle, but are devising themselves to the day's assignment in English, Arithmetic, etc., etc.

At noon, after the hand-washing parade, the great dish is borne in shift. I had almost said "The boss's head is carried in," for one is vividly reminded of that picture on the menu the two cooks proudly bearing in their chef-hoover. The pupils line up with dishes and bowls and spoons, and the cooks serve up the fragrant appetizer piping hot, an complete and nourishing addition to the usual school lunch.

Usually, the cooks remain for the easy road this will cashier. "The cooks washes the dishes!" "Also they washed?" Oh, they do, but the two cooks have their desk water heating, and after they have eaten and enjoyed pictures they dried everything, they proceed to the sheik again and wash their dishes in readiness for the next day.

The, then, is the Franklin plan for improving the study in the nourishing supplement to the midday lunch, but also an intimate knowledge, a workable knowledge, of essential foods and of the methods to put them into the greatest food values. And when most and most bones are more readily procurable, and the pupils are not to be able to enlarge our repertoire of the last term dishes.

The meeting at Patlowvale last Saturday night, Jan. 16th was well attended by members and friends interested in the welfare of the new community hall. The president, Norma Hocking, called the gathering to order and read the minutes of secretary Sylvia Norman, to read the minutes of the last meeting. These were then adopted as read.

The first new business was the choice of a name for the prospective hall. After many and varied suggestions and much thoughtful discussion it was decided, with the decision in favor of West Cooking Lake United Community Hall.

The president next called upon members and friends for gift contributions of articles toward an auction sale to be held at some possible. The response to the appeal was ready and generous.

A discussion then ensued as to ways and means of interesting and enrolling new members in the ever-growing day by day and at every party was the method popularly favored. It was decided to hold two Whist Drives, one at the Patlowvale hall and the other at the Griffin home.

After a tentative discussion on the question of the disposition of the new hall unit the means of obtaining the required water with the most outlay of time, labor and finances, the meeting was adjourned.

Letters to W.I.

Dear Friends:

Many thanks for the small Christmas parcel, and I really must it was small. It makes me feel good to know that there are thoughtful people, as it is 30 years since I left the Fen, and I still get lovely parcels. These parcels help to fill the gaps when before the Christmas dinner in the army. The gap usually lasts from Dec. 25 to Jan. 25.

With a bit of luck I should be home in February. I am going to Royal Depot on January 16. You have no idea just how much I'm looking to enjoy the comforts of home again.

I hope your organization has a very prosperous New Year, and that you all have a generous estimation of happiness.

Again thanks for the parcel.

Sincerely,
Arnold Mann.

Dear Mrs. Bleak

I received my belated thanks for the Christmas parcel you sent me.

I really felt a little guilty in accepting it as I finally got Christmas leave and was home myself here at home.

I would like to congratulate the women of the district for their splendid morale building work, you are taking up where we left off and your work is greatly appreciated by the boys in all services.

I am extending to duty after a thirty day leave and whether I will be discharged or sent home to run in my sixty-four dollar question, as my future movements are still very hazy.

May I thank you again for the parcel, and with best wishes to all I remain

Yours truly,
Pat Butler.

Dear Mrs. Bleak:

I was pleasantly surprised to receive a parcel today from the Women's Institute. I want to thank you on behalf of myself and the other two boys who are billeted with me.

The contents of your parcel were greatly appreciated as some of the everyday necessities which you enclosed are practically unavailable over here.

Thanking you again for your thoughtfulness and wishing you every success in the new year.

I remain, yours sincerely,
Arnold Portenhuis.

People who care become people who dare.

Why Vicks Is So Good
For Relieving Miseries of
Childrens Colds

Since then two generations ago—in Greensboro, N.C.—the discovery of Vapo-Rub by Pharmacist Vicks Vaporub Today it is the most widely used home remedy for relieving miseries of children's colds. And here is the reason.

The moment you rub Vicks on the throat, the chest and back it begins to work two ways at once—and keeps on working by instinct—as you breathe. Its vapors (1) carry the medicating ingredients deep into the bronchial tubes to help relieve coughing spasms, (2) while at the same time Vicks stimulates chest surface circulation to help draw out the miseries of the cold. It's like a poultice and "direct heat" all in one. Try it!

Local Boys Play Important Role In Turner Valley Oil Experiment

A great deal of credit will be due to Albert and Peter Jacobs of Fort Saskatchewan for the experiments which they conducted before a large audience of the equipment tonight at the Turner Valley Oil Field proves successful.

Pete and Albert were called upon to help in connection with the setting off of 5,000 quarts of nitroglycerine, one of most powerful explosives next to the atomic [illegible]

Arriving at the Oil Fields Albert and Pete [illegible] careful study of the equipment tagges ed new designs of these vital pieces of machinery to the engineer in charge.

After approving these changes the engineer in charge placed [illegible] responsibility of handling the shoot in the hands of the brothers.

As experiments of the nature have never been conducted before it was necessary to make a number of tests.

Designs for this special equipment were made and the parts finished were turned out as some of the Calgary machine shops

Engineers in charge held out high hopes of the experiment being successful due to the equipment being used.

It understood that the experiment will take place this week-end providing no other difficulties are encountered.

It has been estimated that Turner Valley Oil Fields will produce the 1965 natural amount of oil that it has been [illegible] the experiment proves successful.

[illegible] Edmonton is to leave again Friday for the Oil Fields to assist in the final setting off of this great explosion

It was due largely to Peter Jacobs skill in designing a modification to an aircraft hydraulic gun turret while he was in the air force, and for which he was awarded the British Empire Medal, that the brothers were called upon to [illegible] this experiment

Radiograms

The CBC has, of late, featured this up and coming city and several of its citizens on network programs.

A few weeks ago Calgary's "Stamp Party" ensembled a salute to Edmonton and to its newly elected Mayor Ainlay.

A short time later, Elizabeth McCordick was heard on a commitment on "Singing Stars of Tomorrow."

Last Sunday, another prominent vocalist, Kathleen Bosley, was the "demonstrator" for the Toronto Conservatory of Music in the Sunday morning series of piano, singing, violin and voice programs.

Air-minded citizens of Canada were thrilled with the dramatic presentation of the world's first "snowy flight" by "Wop" May and The Mercer from Edmonton to Fort Vermilion. This feature was part of CBC's popular Wednesday evening program "Within Empire".

All in all, Edmonton and Edmontonians have had a field day in the radio world.

CANADIAN CATTLE FOR MEXICO

The largest single shipment of dairy cattle ever made from Canada, is shown recently passing over Canadian National Railways lines in a special train. It consisted of 250 pure bred Holstein, Ayrshire, Guernsey and Ayrshire cows and heifers, purchased by the Mexican Government, and shipped at the request of President Avila Camacho, of Mexico. The cattle were bought in Canada for export to Mexico. The top photograph shows Dr. C. H. Blanchard, Canadian Minister of Resources in a Canadian National Railways (stock) car, inspecting the cattle, ready to enter a C N R steam ferry to start their journey to Mexico. Personal interest in the shipment was taken by Dr. W. A. Riddell, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, Ottawa, and Dr. J. G. Taggart, Chief Veterinary Director of the Canadian Department of Agriculture, who supervised the loading of the cattle at various Dominion Government stock yards, for export shipments from Canada.

TIMELY FARM NOTES

FEEDING IODINE TO PREGNANT STOCK

With spring on its way it seems an appropriate time to make sure that our pregnant breeding stock are receiving a ration adequate in the various nutrients essential for the production of strong, healthy young. Of these essential nutrients, iodine is probably given the least consideration and yet lack of iodine often is the cause of more worry or dead young being born than all other causes combined. An iodine deficiency goiter can be detected in mature stock but makes itself evident in the young at time of birth. In lambs and calves the deficiency usually shows itself by the birth of weak or dead young, with or without flabby and enlarged goitrous necks, while in pigs the young are born weak or dead, probably hairless and with thick flabby skins. In foals the only symptoms may be weakness at birth and inability to rise and suck.

Non-pregnant stock may be able to get along on the naturally occurring iodine, without too much harm, but pregnant stock, due to the increased requirements, are unable to obtain sufficient iodine from natural sources. Therefore, it is essential to add iodine to the ration of pregnant stock during at least the latter part of the pregnancy if death losses are to be lessened. The simplest method of supplying iodine to stock is with salt. Commercial iodized salt is the post has been subject to criticism, but a process of stabilizing the iodine has been developed and if the stabilized type is used it is fairly satisfactory. The red color of most commercially iodized salt does not indicate iodine content, but is merely a coloring added to distinguish iodized from uniodized salt.

To be sure of having a high iodine content in the salt the iodine may be added to the stock salt on the farm as needed; two ounces of potassium iodide added to every 100 pounds of common stock salt will be sufficient. This can be added easily by dissolving the iodide in about half a pint of warm water and then sprinkling the solution over the loose salt and mixing well. Not more than will last the stock 2 months should be mixed at one time so as to avoid losses of iodine.

For some one of the most convenient methods is to dissolve one ounce of iodide in one gallon of water and give in the feed at the rate of one tablespoonful of the solution per cow per day.

Potassium iodide costs only around 60c an ounce and may be secured from any drug store. Even one more lamb, calf, or young pig saved due to feeding iodine to your pregnant stock will repay the cost and extra trouble.

GREEN TOPS AND GRAIN NOW

There is undoubtedly a shortage in the province of good clean seed of the Cereal Crops. Inspection made of elevator equals indicate that farmers generally are not placing enough value on good seed yet it is fair that many of them will require it. Farmers should therefore be warned that if the value of hundred bushels good supplies is left until spring disappointment is almost sure to result.

All elevator agents are prepared to fill seed requirements in Oats and Barley and to bring in the necessary supplies at reasonable prices. This will be announced at the end of the grades 1, 2 or 3. To avoid disappointment see your elevator agent now.

FORAGE SEED

The Recipe Corner

The word "cereals" immediately presents a picture of breakfast food. Some people forget or do not know that they can also be used in soups, main dishes, muffins and hot breads, and also desserts and in cookies.

Canada produces large quantities of cereals in great variety. They are therefore an easily obtained food. Canadian people should use more of them. Whole grain cereals are those from which little or nothing is removed in processing. They are a more complete food than those which are refined. There is a choice of flaked, cracked and rolled types, also meals and flours, all of which are inexpensive.

Cereals should be examined frequently to make sure they are in good condition. All should be kept tightly covered in a cool, dry place, to protect against insects and vermin. Glass coolers or tightly covered tin containers are excellent for storing cereals purchased in bulk. Those which come in packages may be stored in their own containers, but must be kept tightly closed.

To prevent the development of weevils, heat the cereal in a warm oven (not higher than 200 degrees F) for about an hour. Cool well before storing. Whole grain flours and meals containing germ and any prepared flours containing fat will turn rancid unless kept in a cool, dark place. The home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, offer several excellent recipes.

The One Year

A newspaperman was assigned to make a new year forecast. He laid on his desk editorials from all across the country. "People simply are not facing facts," he said.

The facts are, as Thomas Edison once put it, that—"There is no experiment to which man will not resort in order to avoid the real labor of thinking." This might be restated today by saying there is no fate man will not accept in order to avoid the real pain of changing. He would literally "rather die," for instance, than have to apologize to anyone. And, in Year 1 of the Atomic Age, he literally may have to.

Every once in a while, as during the ice age, conditions arise on earth which demand that its creatures change or perish. Today, with weapons in the laboratory that may make atom bombs look like a kid's fireworks, we again have these conditions. If we don't change now, in ways which will enable us to get along together, the human species will become as extinct as the dinosaur or dodo.

No commission on earth can save us. We ourselves must accept a commission—a commission to be different. We must determine to change in ways which, as a family man, a business man, a public official or as members of a certain race, or class, or nation, will enable us to get along with other people. Then people won't want to throw bombs at each other.

How can we start the change? We have known for the last 2,000 years—since the beginning of the Christian era. Christ told us that all we turned to God would find the inner freedom he desired and the inner discipline he needed. We would find the way to make life both happy and orderly. And men who find life happy and secure get along with each other, and with other races and nations.

The change that is needed for every one of us this year, therefore, is to turn from self-control to God-control. Let Him take over our minds and lives and usher in a mighty renaissance of new world thinking and living. Then Year 1 of the Atomic Era can be a year—not of fear, uncertainty and menace—but the first year of a Golden Age.

PRAIRIE SOIL ZONE

There are five major soil zones in the Prairie Provinces and each zone has many different types of soil. These climatic and soil variations give rise to widely varying conditions for crop growth. For the past 30 years, the Dominion Experimental Farms Service has stations located in the more important regions.

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE
Director "The Crop Testing Plan"

There is an old Roman Proverb over 2,000 years old which freely translated says "Those who carry on their rights forfeit them."

We have an excellent illustration of this proverb in the tariff situation of Canada as it affects our farmers. Years ago all Canada's wheat was readily sold because there were no high tariffs in Canada which obstructed the importation of our customer's goods into Canada, which meant that these foreign people could, by the sale of those goods, obtain Canadian dollars with which to buy our wheat. Then little by little and quietly, certain industrial concerns in Canada persuaded our Government to set up high tariffs which before this war seriously curtailed the export of our farmers' product. Our farmers, it seems, have gone to sleep on this matter of tariffs. Few farmers ever say a word about it and certainly take little action to have these evil tariffs reduced. In short our farmers, like many another good people have "slept on their rights."

The Canadian Government has now set up a Tariff Board to consider the whole tariff question. People are invited to submit briefs which, as a family man, a business man, a public official or as members of a certain race, or class, or nation, will enable us to get along with other people. Then people won't want to throw bombs at each other.

How can we start the change? We have known for the last 2,000 years—since the beginning of the Christian era. Christ told us that all we turned to God would find the inner freedom he desired and the inner discipline he needed. We would find the way to make life both happy and orderly. And men who find life happy and secure get along with each other, and with other races and nations.

The change that is needed for every one of us this year, therefore, is to turn from self-control to God-control. Let Him take over our minds and lives and usher in a mighty renaissance of new world thinking and living. Then Year 1 of the Atomic Era can be a year—not of fear, uncertainty and menace—but the first year of a Golden Age.

Tractor Work Cost

According to the Engineering Section of the Dominion Experimental Farms Service, the total cost of operating a farm tractor (depreciation, interest, housing, repairs, repair labour, oil and fuel) motoring, safe.) and pleasure, is made up primarily on the year as with, the annual use of the machine. For example, a 15 horsepower tractor which operates 1200 hours per year costs about $16.00 per day, while the cost is about $12.00 per day when the same tractor is operated 1,000 hours per year.

The main building of the University of Montreal comprises 6½ miles in corridors, 9,000 doors, 2,021 openings and 6614 metal windows.

Scholarships Offered By Western Board

Two scholarships of music to cover tuition, board and room and $100 a scholarship have been announced by the Western Board of Music for licentiate diploma holders of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta Universities by the government of France for the study of music in Paris, according to an announcement made Monday to the annual convention of the Alberta Music Teachers' Association, held in the University Senate room.

The announcement of the new scholarships was made by Prof. John Reimes-King, professor of music at the University of Alberta and president of the convention.

At the same time it was announced that the Western Board of Music is the scholarships at its annual meeting to be held in Edmonton on Feb 2.

The Western Board of Music represents the Universities and Department of Education of the Provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba and consists of nine members, three from each Province.

The aim of the Board is to maintain a close contact between the music (grade) and examinations with courses in the pupils, their teachers and parents.

Some of the advantages they offer are:

To engage the most eminent examiners.

To lower examination fees and allow examiners more time.

Credit to be given for music in High Schools.

An up-to-date, progressive and sound syllabus. Theory to be started earlier, at an easier stage.

The Board proposes to send examiners to places which are some distance from the cities if it is feasible at all to hold examinations, with the hope that it will encourage students and teachers toward greater musical activity.

If further information is desired enquiries should be addressed to Professor of Music, University of Alberta.

Cars Will Last Twice as Long

That is another thing that good roads in Alberta will do for motorists. Good roads will extend the life of our cars and trucks, cut down expense bills, and contribute enormously to motoring, safe.) and pleasure.

Those are things to think about in considering an improved road system, besides the lower trade that it will bring, and the encouragement it will give to business within the province.

Good roads will benefit every resident of this province. It is to your advantage to press for a road building program, by talking about it, by urging any group to which you belong to send a resolution to the provincial government, and by asking your provincial member to vote for such a program. We need action, now.

If you are a car owner, you can add your voice to the messages of the Alberta Motor Association by becoming a member. You will find the many services provided by A.M.A membership far outweigh the modest fee of $10 a year. Get in touch with your nearest A.M.A. office—in Calgary, Edmonton or Lethbridge—for full information.

Tofield, Jan. 24, 1946

Dear Mr. Knowles

Have heard so many remarks re your paper just one of the items which is much talked of is our curling news, hardly ever a scratch or sum'nut. Don't you sincerely think you are neglecting your duty. This concerns all the town people as well as their country friends, and as local news what could be more interesting than a full line of games played during the week, who donated prizes, etc. After all these business firms pay a weekly ad. Would it not be fair to give them a little extra advertising by mentioning their names as donors in different competitions. Not a word about the farmers day of curling. What do you think? Will we have to ask the Edmonton Journal to run our local news?

I am not a curler, but having heard these remarks thought I should pass them on.

Yours truly, Subscriber

EDIT

In fairness to us, and as we cannot talk to the party in person why not send the above letter as there was no signature attached, the sec'y concerns we have is to answer it through the columns of the paper.

From the first month we took over this paper, we have repeatedly asked citizens of the town and members of the various organizations to phone or send in any news of local interest. Some have responded, others have not.

It is impossible for a small town newspaper to gather all the news itself due to the fact that they cannot afford to hire a staff of reporters such as is found on daily papers. Even with their large staffs of reporters most of the news one reads about regarding the activities of organizations in the cities is phoned or mailed in to them by a member of these organizations who is elected for that purpose.

Referring to the Curling day for farmers. We did not know there was to be a Bonspiel for farmers last week-end until the Thursday evening after our paper was in the mail, so therefore could not publish the number of rinks or who was playing in them. If this information had been given us we would have gladly published it, and as such it would have been more of interest to everyone who enjoys curling, and would have given those who so desired an opportunity to see the games. But to publish this three or four days after it is all over it becomes history and of no interest.

We did, however, publish a full list of rinks and players when the season first opened, and after the Christmas bonspiel a list of the winning teams were published along with the prizes and the firms who donated them.

All the various organizations in town have secretaries, and as we stated before, if they will phone or bring in their news we would appreciate it.

Perhaps the writer feels a little hurt because we publish the hockey news each week and not the curling news. This is due to the fact that the Hockey Club seems it a point of bringing us a report of their games, despite the fact that they caused a special page for us to attend all games, which unfortunately we cannot find time to do.

We, from time to time have heard rumors referring to lack of local news and the amount of district news in the Record. Surely if every people in the district paper take enough interest in what go on in their communities and appoint someone to send in this news they should be corrected space in the paper.

On several occasions we have asked different individuals if they would care to gather and report local items of news, or if they knew of anyone who would undertake to do this at a remuneration, but so far we have had no results.

If the writer of the above letter knew how much time and effort is spent in publishing a newspaper, he or she, instead of harsh and undue criticism, might further our cause in trying to build up local news in the paper by gathering and reporting such items of interest.

C.F.R.N. Radio News

If your hair is straight—it's due for a curl! If it's curly—it will soon be standing on end! Here's the reason:

In co-operation with the Edmonton Paint and Glass Company of Edmonton, our local Research Paint Dealer is sponsoring one of the most highly-rated mystery-drama over on the air. The show is called "The Sealed Book", a program produced by famous Jack MacGregor, of the New York radio station, WOR.

"The Sealed Book" is being broadcast over CFRN every Wednesday night, same to nine-thirty. Some of the program titles in the series are enough to give you the creeps in themselves "The Accusing Corpse", "Death Rents a Web", "Design for Murder". Every episode is a complete story, superbly told, acted and produced. So, if you like your radio drama on the thrill chill side, we're sure you'll enjoy "The Sealed Book".

Carrying on in the tradition of "Chapel Chimes", one of Northern Alberta's oldest devotional radio programs, comes a new gospel program over CFRN.

The new radio half-hour will be called "The Heaven and Home Hour", and will be conducted by the Rev. Chase A. Sawtell. Also on the program will be the familiar music conducted by T. Elgar Roberts, well known to many people of this district. The Rev. C.A. Sawtell has had quite a career in radio and evangelistic work.

Reared on a farm in the State of Illinois, Mr. Sawtell received his theological training from the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. Before coming to Alberta in 1930, he acted as pastor of the Calvary Church in Los Angeles, which was organized by Dr. Charles E. Fuller of Old-Fashioned Revival Hour fame, and was also on the faculty of the Bible-Missionary Institute.

For the past 6 years, Mr. Sawtell has been exclusively engaged in radio and evangelistic work from Calgary His "Heaven and Home Hour" from that city was released over two Alberta stations, one in Calgary and one in Grande Prairie. The two radio pulpits in those parts of the province, and wherever it has been heard Assisting Mr. Sawtell on the program will be the musically talented wife of this radio pastor The Sawtells will appear in person here and their residence in the city of Edmonton. The "Heaven and Home Hour", two-thirty every week day, will feature gospel singing, organ, piano and vibraphone selections, as well as inspirational messages from the Bible.

Boots of Labour

"I do not starve", the old man said,
"And I am always free,
Though I sleep from the time I leave my bed
Till I rise hardly see."

Our days revolve about the type of work we do. Whether or not we find time for relaxation, depends upon our hours of labour.

When one is asked about a position, one usually passes the question, "How are your hours of labour? Are they long and tedious; do you enjoy comfort while at work?" Many factors and items probe our minds.

Work in the out-of-doors often proves more healthful than indoor tasks. The benefit of clean, fresh air efforts not only one's physical condition, but often the mental condition.

Many people prefer the occupations that require only hours. Others prefer the never-ending novelty of breakwork.

Women are more susceptible to nervous strain than are men. The nervous system of a woman is finer and not so strong as that of a man. Should women's hours of labour be shorter because of this? Yet we have the old saying:

"A man never works from sun to sun

But woman's work is never done."

Is there any truth in the above statement?

We should not be slaves to our occupations for such is a blessing! In spite of the number of times we complain during each day, what should we do if we did not labour?

How endless the day would seem! Relaxation and entertainment would not be enjoyed or appreciated.

Despite the fact that the world will soon be filled with labour saving devices that enable one to forget about everyday tasks; we shall always work. In the first place, not everyone will be able to afford the luxury of idleness. Secondly; someone must perform these things in running order. Thirdly; we must work, because we are destined to do so.

It is not a disgrace to work. We work to remain healthy in body and in mind as well as working for a living. But whatever our employment is, let us always take into consideration the hours of labour—the most important factor.

The above essay was written by Velma Thomas, a grade 11 student of Josephburg School.

Police Force Opens Drive on Headlights

The following article was published in a recent issue of the [illegible]

City police, armed with a robot headlamp tester, have opened a drive against motorists driving with glaring headlights. Members of the traffic squad have been ordered to keep a sharp lookout for cars with badly adjusted lights and two men are to be assigned to full time headlight checking.

First catch by police in the drive was Harry Fedor of Leduc, who was fined $5 and costs when he appeared in city police court Tuesday afternoon charged with glaring bright glaring lights. He was apprehended in the city Monday evening.

Sgt. Woodwards of the traffic squad stated Tuesday that the minimum required headlamp power is 2,000 candlepower for ordinary lights and 7,500 candlepower for the sealed-beam type. The beam of light must drop at least four inches in 75 feet and at that distance from the car must not be more than 42 inches above the ground. The lights must illuminate the road for a distance of 300 feet.

Members of the traffic squad are issuing a summons against anyone found driving with lights that are above the horizontal limit. Motorists whose lights are level, or whose lights are weak, are being warned. Police officials point out, however, that the warning period will not be lengthy and all motorists are advised to get their lights checked immediately.

The robot tester, a hand-held instrument weighing only a few pounds, records the "drop" of the headlight beam, the candlepower of the lights and also indicates if the lights are tainted or have a faulty reflector that will cause the lights to shine upwards or to one side. It has been used by the RCMP for a considerable time.

Police officials pointed out that the drive will not be short-lived, but will continue and that the checking by means of the robot tester is being instituted as a regular feature of police speed duties.

Motorists will also be required to "dim" their lights when passing approaching vehicles and proceedings will be taken against those failing to do so.

NOTICE

We have installed for your convenience a
ROBOT HEADLAMP TESTER
identical to the one that is now being used by the R.C.M.P.

Come in NOW and have your lights checked and adjusted and save the embarrassment of being stopped and in all probability having to appear in court. The cost of this service is very small.

A. and Mrs Mariocci, President of the Ladies Aider Society, wish to extend a special word of thanks to all the ladies and men of the town and country who so generously contributed and gave of their time to make the banquet a success.

It was not the intention to serve a lunch in the evening but due to the fact that there was an abundance of food left from the banquet the ladies decided to stay at their task a little longer and serve a plate lunch at midnight.

The severe weather caused the postponement of the United Church Official Board meeting scheduled for last Tuesday, February 3th. It will now be held on Tuesday, February 10th at 8 p.m. in Pivri United Church with representatives present from all the four congregations served by Rev W D Rose.

Starting with Sunday evening, February 10th, Rev. W. D. Rose will conduct the United Church fortnightly Sunday evening services until Easter in addition to the regular Sunday Dunday morning services. Members of the congregation are being asked to submit their favorite hymns to be sung and to put forward questions about religion which the minister will attempt to answer; and these will be the features of the evening services, which start at 7:30 p.m.

The regular meeting of the W.A. met at the home of Mrs. W. D. Rose Wednesday afternoon. Twenty members and four visitors were present.

Mrs. Webb Sr. rendered two lovely solos accompanied by Mrs. Rose. Later Mrs. Rose gave an instrumental solo. Daintily refreshments were served by Mrs. H. Gant, Hrs. C. Glover and Mrs. M. Pinker.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute will be held Wednesday, February 18th in the Union Hall.

Mrs. W. A. Johnstone will show motion pictures of local scenes; also a few scenes taken over Germany.

Everyone is welcome. Members are reminded to bring a "Remnawich".

Sorry Lee an employee of Jasek' Welding and Machine Shop has resigned after 2 years of faithful service.

Sorry expects to spend a short visit with his parents in the drive was Harry Fedor of Leduc, who was fined $5 and costs when he appeared in city police court Tuesday afternoon charged with glaring bright glaring lights. He was apprehended in the city Monday evening.

Sgt. Woodwards of the traffic squad stated Tuesday that the minimum required headlamp power is 2,000 candlepower for ordinary lights and 7,500 candlepower for the sealed-beam type. The beam of light must drop at least four inches in 75 feet and at that distance from the car must not be more than 42 inches above the ground. The lights must illuminate the road for a distance of 300 feet.

Members of the traffic squad are issuing a summons against anyone found driving with lights that are above the horizontal limit. Motorists whose lights are level, or whose lights are weak, are being warned. Police officials point out, however, that the warning period will not be lengthy and all motorists are advised to get their lights checked immediately.

The robot tester, a hand-held instrument weighing only a few pounds, records the "drop" of the headlight beam, the candlepower of the lights and also indicates if the lights are tainted or have a faulty reflector that will cause the lights to shine upwards or to one side. It has been used by the RCMP for a considerable time.

Police officials pointed out that the drive will not be short-lived, but will continue and that the checking by means of the robot tester is being instituted as a regular feature of police speed duties.

Motorists will also be required to "dim" their lights when passing approaching vehicles and proceedings will be taken against those failing to do so.

Honor Vets of World War II At Banquet and Dance

The Welcome Home Banquet and Dance given in honor of the Fort Saskatchewan boys and girls of World War II, held on Friday evening is one that will be remembered for some time.

The banquet got away to a good start under the able administration of Mr J. D. McLean, who called on a Rev W. W. Bolton to say grace.

In his remarks as chairman following the banquet, Mr. McLean said, "Never before in the history of our country has the spirit of unity existed between men and women in the service that helped us win the war.

Rev. W. D. Rose in his toast to the absent ones praised the boys for their heroic deeds.

When the call was made with enemy planes during the battle of Britain it was they who bent back those planes and made it possible for the boys on the ground and the sky more and breathe a sigh of relief.

Replying to the toasts were Ray Hyde, Sgt. Major, Henry Lancaster, for the army, and Walter Sherman for the airforce All three of these men spoke on behalf of the members of their respective service present for the welcome extended them.

Following the toasts the chairman Mr. McLean called for two minutes silence in memory of and in respect for those [illegible] who failed to return.

The banquet closed with the singing of O Canada the King

The ladies of the town W.A.'s in Fort Saskatchewan cannot be to highly praised for the excellent banquet they provided, and without whom the banquet could not have been such an outstanding success.

The banquet room was artistically decorated with flowers, and the table decorations were carried out throughout in colors of red, white and blue.

A free dance was held following the banquet and reports indicate that the evening was a huge success.

Josephburg

A Youth Service for the Young People of Josephburg will be held in the Reform Church on Sunday, February 15 at 10:00 a.m. All those interested are invited to attend.

We did not sell off the Christmas Cement before February arrived, but only by the skin of our teeth. All the youngsters concerned were in sufficiently good health to take part and in spite of inappropriate exhibition played their part.

The crowd was not of the capacity-house variety usually associated with this event, there few but parents knew that it was to be held. Added to this the night was none too grand.

It was a well balanced program, enlivened throughout by well executed vocal numbers taught by our talented teacher Miss Turner. A one-act play by members of the senior room was ably directed by Mrs. Fleury and a group of clever boys gave an exhibition of horizontal bar exercises which lent variety to the program. As an exceedingly colorful operetta "Snow White" was the main item presented by the junior room.

Mr. Rudolph Hennig acted his usual part of genial M.C., and at the conclusion, the long-awaited bags of Christmas treats were distributed to all children. It was not the same thing as a Christmas Eve, but on at Christmas time, but it was a good imitation.

Beaver Hills held its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Ed. Unterbuchit. Interesting discussion took place and plans were laid for future projects.

Josephburg wishes to go on record in congratulations to Jacobs Bros. of Fort Sask. who were chosen from a large hundreds of aspiring technicians, to assist in the tons[illegible] off of the depth [illegible] in the all hearing [illegible] of Turner Valley. School Flashes

Last week we were unexpectedly rousted from our desks by a fire drill We found one of the usual exits blocked for an experiment necessitating a change in procedure. No confusion was evident but we needed about one more minute to clear the school. Under normal conditions we can clear the school in one minute or less.

After the fire drill we were advised regarding the use of the new fire-fighting equipment by our principal.

The School Board is to be commended for their easy in supplying this very necessary equipment.

Lunch, provided and prepared by the ladies, was served to the several sony little groups enjoying an exchange of views on this and that.

Next the party was asked to become matters. As a result, it was resolved, on a generous motion by Mr. Josh Purtan, seconded by Joe Sudard and Ed. CFRN Radio News

Now that the "Lone Ranger" is coming again over CFRN every Saturday at one o'clock— the familiar cry of "Hi-Yo Silver" is again on the airways. And even though the programme is officially listed as a "children's show", we know that many an adult manages to be near the radio when the thundering hoof-beats come on.

Readers of this paper will be interested then, in the story behind some of the "Lone Ranger's" realistic sound effects. Take the sound of a thud, made by the failing villian, after a well placed shot from "The Lone Ranger". The reason it sounds so real, is that it actually is the sound of a falling body. The man who does the falling is Ernest Westaway, who has dropped to the mat more than 1,000 times during the last two-year hits of the programme.

Westaway explains that when he started as a radio, a stamping of feet was originally used to produce the effect. Then one day in full dress rehearsal, a substantial fit sounded so real to him director, who was listening in the control room, that he asked Westaway to repeat it for the actual broadcast. And he's been doing it ever since!

Fultonvale

On Saturday "Mr. Groundhog" was to make an appearance in order to decide the weather for the next six weeks. We all sat in deep wonderment, "did he see his shadow?"

Alack, alass, I'm afraid he did. Why? Very soon afterwards Old Mother Nature Switch Off the sunny Teashore over our fair country-side, making rather a very pretty bit of scenery; to look across the fields and see the trees from the smallest to the beautiful spruce in their very soft fur-like appearance.

And to arise Sunday morning to find Mr. Jack Frost visiting us, painting his delicate pictures on the window panes, and to feel his presence when one ventured outside, to be greeted with temperatures at 30 degrees below zero we are quite aware of the fact that he is paying us a visit, and hope to see it short. Why must everything happen to us? Do we deserve this treatment from Mr. Groundhog who is very comfortably hibernating all winter and then comes out to give us a deal like this!

Mr. Frank Boyce was visiting with his parents and sister Joy over the week-end.

A number of Fultonvale's young people attended a dance at Mission Hall on Friday night. A very enjoyable evening was had by all.

From week to week as The Fort Record appears in our mail the topic of discussion is "Who writes Fultonvale's news", do you know? We ask each other this from week to week and still we cannot find our reporter. Will someone please share his secret with us?

Anyone wishing to join the new Community League may do so by seeing Mr. Horace Hackley, the president. We are very sorry a mistake in name was made in the last edition but hope it will be forgiven.

We hear there is to be a Skating Carnival and Moonlight Dance on Cliff's Lake (Rat ranch) in the near future when the ice has been cleared and is available. We hope to be able to announce it in our news column.

If all the world were just like us,
Is that the world I'd like to see?

The Recipe Corner

A good stew is a culinary triumph. They may be made from a wide choice of foods, and variety may be achieved by combining different meats Whatever the ingredients or method, all stews should be good.

If the meat is dredged with flour, it develops flavour, thickens the gravy and gives it more attractive colour.

Variety may also be obtained by the use of different vegetables which vary in flavour, colour and texture Onion always adds interest in flavour but use only one other strong flavoured vegetable such as turnip or cabbage. Add the vegetables just in time to cook tender Many a stew has been spoiled by overcooking the vegetables A delicate salt will be required when the vegetables are added

Stews afford the ingenious homemaker a wide scope for her imagination Try a cup of cream in a veal stew, or a little curry powder in a lamb stew Add a few thyme cubes with a baby beef and good seasonings. Experiment cautiously and taste carefully. The flavour should be subtle

Attractiveness in serving is important to the success of any stew. If the meat and vegetables are arranged on a platter, and the gravy served from a separate dish, it may have more eye-appeal. Omit potatoes from the stew and when dumplings, baking powder biscuits or noodles are served as accompaniments

To Make A Good Stew

Cut meat in uniform small pieces.
Season well and dredge with flour, if desired.
Brown meat in hot fat.
Add only enough liquid to cover. Cover closely and cook slowly at simmering temperature until tender—about 1½ to 2 hours

STEW ST PREME

(In the lamb or beef (breast, shank, flank, neck or shoulder)
2 tablespoons fat
1 cup chopped onion
2½ cups canned tomatoes
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons spicy meat sauce
2 medium carrots, diced
½ cup chopped green pepper (optional)
¼ cup sweet or sour milk
Cut the meat into small strips, 1-inch length Brown with onion in hot fat Add tomatoes, salt and meat sauce Cover closely and simmer 2 to 2½ hours Add carrots and continue cooking for 20 minutes or until tender Ten minutes before serving, add the green pepper and the milk Stir occasionally.

Your Support is Needed

The advantages to be gained in having a Men's Service Club in any community are many, but probably the most important formation of one in Fort Saskatchewan should receive the whole-hearted support of everyone.

Most local organizations at present are run on a shoe string, whereas, if all these would band together into one central organization they could all advance side by side.

Projects such as a new curling rink, a covered skating rink, the completion of the golf course, club rooms for young people equipped with table tennis, etc., where they could spend their evenings instead of running around the streets, are just a few of the things a Service Club, with the welfare of the community at heart could help to make real instead of a dream.

Members of such a club could help in beautifying the town by giving any spare time to the planting of trees.

They could also assist the town in obtaining sidewalks, which are noticeably lacking, by helping to lay these walks. And could do a hundred other things which would not only benefit the residents of the town but those in the surrounding districts also

Don't forget, next Wednesday at 8:15, in the Basement of the Community Hall, is the night for the formation of this Service Club. Come prepared with suggestions and ideas that will make the formation of a Men's Service Club a success and a permanent fixture in the Town of Fort Saskatchewan.

Warning to Potato Growers

With the arrival of table potatoes on the general points in Alberta from the United States, officials of the Alberta Department of Agriculture are warning that there are grave fears that the use of these potatoes for seed would be an extremely dangerous practice. Some shipments which have been inspected have been found to contain late blight and leaf diseases which we cannot afford to introduce here.

Even in cases where these potatoes are brought only for table use, the peelings and refuse should not be left around in the spring since late blight spores from this refuse may readily contaminate the seed crop. It is known that the States from which these potatoes are coming are having considerable difficulty in keeping bacterial ring rot under control and unfortunately it is fully expected that ringrot may be one of the diseases carried by these potatoes

Good safe seed potatoes are scarce. Those who have no reason to believe that their own potatoes are diseased would be well advised to select the best from them for planting this year. Where disease is suspected in the potatoes grown at home, careful enquiries should be made before buying new seed.

O.A.C. 21 BARLEY

Through conditions beyond control of the Grain and Malting trades of Canada barley of all grades has been reduced to a common basic level in respect of returns to producers. The National Barley Committee has received assurance that this arrangement is temporary and concerns only the 1945 crop. Hence when planning the crop production programme for 1946 it may be safely assumed that GOOD QUALITY O.A.C. 21 BARLEY will again command a ready outlet and a premium price for malting purposes both at home and abroad.

By H. G. L. STRANGE
Director "The Crop Testing Plan"

Lewitans 10:19 (written about 900 B.C.) says: "Thou shalt not sow thy field with mingle seed"

Aristotle, the Greek, (about 350 B.C.) wrote "A good plant is not likely to grow from a bad seed"

Pliny, a Roman writer (about 50 B.C.) told us "After two years unless careful selections were made crops tended to revert to some common type"

Tests made since then by the "Crop testing Plan" of the past year on a variety of farmers' fields indicate that in a general advance in as badly needed help as it ever has been, for the many crops to day demand more of one good variety but only enough of mixtures often no uniformity or variety.

The purchase of some good seed, preferably Registered or Certified, from a reliable source, and returns to farmers in the way of increased incomes and from a satisfaction in having grown the best in every case. Those who have liberally the extra cost per bushel for Registered or Certified seed might inquire of any agent of the companies associated with the "Crop Testing Plan" for names and addresses of farmers whose stocks, or lots, were found to grade "Crop Testing Plan" in the district from which their seed was secured.

Below average grain yields are expected from the 1945-46 harvest in New Zealand as a result of reduced acreage and unfavorable weather conditions. Burma's 1945-46 rice crop is estimated at 172 million bushels—barely sufficient for domestic needs—Burma is normally the large exporter of rice.

The third official estimate places Western Canada's 1945 wheat crop at 382 million bushels, compared with 392 million bushels in 1944.

Letters to W.I.

Dear Mr. Black

I want to thank you and the Women's Institute for the lovely parcel and letter I received a couple of days ago. The cake was real nice when I had the legs stopped, also the candy.

I must not too bad a Christmas. I went up to Toronto to see my brother who is in the hospital there.

Well I'm not much for writing so I want to thank you all once again.

Sincerely,
Maurice Turner

Dear Ladies:

I am sending this note to tell you I received your generously packed Christmas box.

I wish to express my sincere thanks to you all for your kindness.

Hoping you have a very Happy New Year

I remain yours truly

Dear Mrs. Black:

Thank you very much for the lovely parcel that arrived the other day. It was very thoughtful of you to send it. As per usual, I found most of those articles which your parcel contained and those were very much appreciated.

The Christmas cake was appreciated by my fellow officers in the wardroom. It was the first parcel to arrive so everyone enjoyed the cake more than usual.

Thank you again for your timely parcel.

Sincerely,
Tom Peters.

Dear Mrs. Black and members of the Ladies Institute:

Just a short note to offer my sincerest thanks for the Christmas parcel. The contents were very well selected, and I certainly enjoyed it.

Things have livened up a little down here now. Since the closing of Wetaskiwin, Currie has become the Retention Centre for M.D. 16. All overseas troops come here if their homes are in Alberta. If they are to be discharged immediately or they are sent to Newton; if not they are kept here and attend educational classes.

The classes are academic or vocational training, whichever they choose. It is a very good system and most of the boys take advantage of it.

In closing, let me again express thanks and appreciation for your parcel, and for all the good work that your organization has done.

Yours very sincerely,
Bob Graham.

T. B. Questions and Answers

Q. Is it better for a patient to have a negative or positive sputum?

A. It is generally a large group who with positive sputum do not do as well as those with negative sputum. However this does not always hold true.

Q. Are all tuberculin tests equally good?

A. Yes all tuberculin tests are equally good. The Mantoux test is the most widely used.

Q. Are all tuberculin tests equally good on the sputum or are some well-off in by heating tissues?

A. Some are surrounded by scar tissue and some remain dormant in the lung for long periods of time

Readers desiring questions answered are asked to send them to Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary, where careful attention and early reply will be given.

Pattern for Statesmanship

The atomic bomb pushed the news of the Dominion-Provincial Conference out of the national spotlight last August. But just as the terrific light of atomic energy has shown us that nations must learn to live together peacefully or perish from the earth, it reveals to us also that Canadians from all provinces must learn this lesson too.

The interest and concern shown by the country in these fundamental problems has been shockingly little; yet upon their satisfactory solution the future of Canada depends. If we want leaders to show statesmanship of a high order at this crucial time, then we must show them that we will back policies For each country gets exactly the kind of leadership it deserves

Surely it is plain that the wealth of all provinces must be distributed fairly, for our whole economy is inter-dependent. If the rich provinces refuse to share with the less fortunate we will certainly not be building in our country the new world that Canadians have worked and died to create. Ours has been a proud record before the world where we have shown we will cooperate completely in any prospect of the common good. But real and costly cooperation must be born at home, springing from our deep love of this land and each other, springing from our gratitude to God that we have such great possessions to share together.

At the beginning of this year President Truman said, "1946 is the year of decision. The year we lay the foundation of our economic structure which will have to serve for generations". Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman, leader of The Oxford Group said in a speech in 1938, "Suppose everybody cared enough, everybody shared enough, wouldn't everybody have enough? There is enough in the world for everyone's need, but not enough for everyone's greed."

Canada can set a pattern for a new economy at home, which will be an example all the world can follow.

Good Roads Pay Dividends

"Car and truck owners pay for good roads whether they have them or not."

The Provincial Government is constitutionally responsible for the kind of roads we have in Alberta. It is morally responsible also because it collects the motor license fees, truck and bus licenses and gasoline tax.

Let us all help the Provincial Government to discharge its obligation to us by giving them the necessary encouragement to start now on the 10-year $120,000,000 programme planned by the Department of Public Works. Now is the time to start.

You can back the A.M.A.'s campaign for better roads by becoming a member. The annual fee is only $10 a year and gives you many valuable benefits and services.

Josephburg

in better shape than ever before in winter.

Many of the members of Josephburg attended the farewell supper to Mr. and Mrs. Ora Thomas at Good Hope on Saturday. The supper was given by the ladies of the district and will take up residence in Alberta on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, where they will have more scope for his carpenter ability. This popular pair will be sorely missed by their many friends around here.

Mr. and Mrs. Feeny attended the Clover Bar Sod-Busters' Banquet held at the Corona. Considering the weather and the shortness of notice all to earlier date, some thirty odd guests were present.

The main speaker of the evening was Mr. Bateman of the Dept. of Education's Administrative Staff. He gave a most fascinating description of Indian legend, history, his people, and especially of its educational program. Mr. Jonsson had been sent there to represent Josephburg R.C.A.F. during the war years.

Another interesting feature was the exhibition of a couple of gannet, dyed-in-the-wool, home-made, suits of fleece purported to be presented by groups selected from the forty odd members of the Edmonton Clan (pronounced sidge-y) Club together with a short talk on the aims, organization and productions of this interesting body. For the benefit of those who have never heard of the Clan Club, we might state briefly that it is Hollywood in miniature, and that the Edmonton knits constitute the concert pists, Bills up the concerto, does the fall, and in the remain, all in competition with similar groups. If any of our readers are interested, as we are sure that we are deeply so, they might communicate with Mr. Ray Usher, CKCA a prominent and active member of the association, who so generously devoted his time to preparing these two films to our Sod-Busters.

Mr. R. Hemby brought cheery greetings from the Clover Bar Natural Division and Supt. J. J. Le Blanc assured the group with organizational support.

Great credit is due to the committee who so ably engineered the evening and one and all of the guests doubled to come again next year.

The banquet is here an annual event every alone the occasion of the Sod-Busting. If you had the misfortune to miss it this year, premature resolve to be present in winter 1947. Come to our regular monthly meeting held in the Masonic Temple at 8:00 p.m. on the first Saturday of next month.

There are still far too many shortcuts in our larder room confined to their homes with sickness. A letter or card from you would be welcomed for casualties due to ill health.

We omitted to mention that Mr. John Sandercock, who at one time was Secretary-Treasurer, attended the banquet. J. S. has now completed his position in the South of the Province and is now a member of the Edmonton Dept. of Health. Dr. Klink who for years taught Cecil's School was also there.

Carnival, Next Spring.

On Friday, Feb. 8, the Shoreline and Josephburg hockey teams played the puck around on Sandy Lake. The score at the end of the third period was 1-1. In the overtime period the Josephburg team added another tally which eventually was the winning goal. Both teams played a fine game and the boys got quite a workout. They lost their only opportunity in the third period and allowed their opponents to pile up a score of 5-4. Congratulations boys.

Information re Hospital Costs

During the year 1945 the District paid to the four City hospitals and the Lamont hospital, under the terms of the contract, the sum of $6,139.80. This represents payments on behalf of 749 patients representing 5644 patient days.

A breakdown of these figures reveal that 626 were ordinary patients with 4966 patient days and 113 maternity cases with 1288 patient days. This is an average stay in the hospital of 10.7 days for ordinary patients and 18.7 days for maternity cases.

With the re-opening of one of the hospitals a record was kept of the total amount of the hospital bill incurred by those patients living in rural districts. We find that the total amount of the individual accounts rendered to these patients including the grand total by the hospital amounted to $8,316.27. The following is an analysis of the cost incurred by each of the four districts:

	No. of Patients	Total No. of Days	Avr days in Hospital	Total costs	Avr cost
			Maternity Ward
	10	184	18.1	$681.25	$29.54
			Adult Ward
	149	999	6	$8,256.97	$52.87
Total	159	1183		$8,316.27

The discrepancy in the average number of days in hospital between the foregoing and those enumerated in paragraph two is accounted for in the fact that the record kept of the 159 patients did not include any of a prolonged stay in hospital. The above costs include all hospital charges, operating room, medicines, laboratories and anaesthetics.

The number of ordinary patients admitted during the year, 626, represented 11% of the estimated population of the District. 626 Based on the records obtained for the 100 patients the total cost of their hospital sanction, 626 multiplied by $52.77 would amount to $33,020.02 treater accuracy in these figures would have been obtained had we been able to get cost records from other hospitals.

Namao-Fort Tie 1-1

The game played against Namao and the Fort last Tuesday ended in another tie game. Out of the last four games the Fort boys have played they won one and the other three resulted in tie games.

Tuesday night's game was fairly even throughout, both goals being scored in the first period by Mr. Lindsay of Namao made the first tally, which was followed shortly after by Tony Lamoureux scoring for the Fort from an assist by Mr. Underhill.

Although both teams tried hard in the second and third periods neither team could break the deadlock.

It is very unfortunate that the ice, having been newly flooded, was in such a heavy condition. The old "Varsity Rub" will be applied to many an aching muscle. Following are the results: Miss Thorne's rink was over Mrs. deKeuse's favorites to take the wooden hostess trays donated by Henry Birks and Sons, in the Grand Challenge. Mrs. Evans defeated Mrs. Holt in the Consolatory events, to take the box cups and saucers donated by the Nelson Bay Co.

Mrs. Brabbins and Mrs. Wilson played off the consolation with Mrs. Brabbins' rink coming through to win. Wine glasses donated by Mrs. Brabbins and Mrs. Herbut, were the prizes.

The Recipe Corner

The lingering memories and nobble messages of St. Valentine's Day thrill both young and old. It is the day of days for a party. So let us have "An Affair of the Heart."

Keep the refreshments simple with a scheme of red and white. The effect of an old-fashioned valentine may be obtained by placing little red candles, tipped with the lacy border of paper doilies. A heart-shaped centre piece of red carnations, bush to cushion, tea biscuits, individual jelly molds, and sandwiches which may be of the "open face" or closed variety.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggest two simple St. Valentine menus for a meal or evening refreshments.

"STARS ILL BE"

A program with unique and different qualifications has hit the CBC network and CJCA locally recently. Entitled "Stars to be", this program is a complete dramatic entity within itself, featuring Lorne Greene, one of Canada's top flight radio personalities as master of ceremonies.

Each week Mr. Greene will introduce a prominent amateur actor or actress from any part of Canada. The "find" will be heard on the Tuesday program in a heavy dramatic scene, and in the Thursday show in a role of "lighter" quality. This process follows the same lines for ten weeks, during which time five actresses and five actors will have been introduced.

At the end of the tenth week, the adjudicators will select 4 or to appear in the semi-finals during the fourth and twelfth week. The thirteenth week will be devoted to shows given by the winners, and their scheduled awards will be made over the air. Then on the fourteenth week, the series will begin again.

Local listeners will have occasion to participate by submitting their choice. These letters will play an important part in the awarding of the scholarships. The program will be heard on CJCA at 11:05 a.m. every Tuesday and Thursday.

It is not so important what you do, but how you do it.

To Turn the Tide

Dukes, nudie and movie thrills, orchestra leaders, baseball and basketball scores, rum cakes, difficult parents and teachers, impossible younger brothers and sisters, the dullness of home—these are what the average teen-ager thinks about all day. What we think about all day is our philosophy of life.

Boiled down, the teen age philosophy is to have fun in life. They like the dirt and danger of the world, and the only thing they see to fight for is freedom from parents, teachers, preachers and other "old-fashioned" restraints.

"Old-fashioned" days this would have been called the philosophy of a "free generation" and a "hobo-gypsy life to hell." It is still all of that. But today it is also the philosophy of a "lost democracy" for there are subversive anti-democratic forces on the prowl for personal or party power. All they have to do to get control of today's youngsters and tomorrow's world is to keep kids' minds on sex, sport and trivialities; continue to divide them from their parents and responsibilities; promise all the "liberties" they want.

Today, however, there is also another gang of youngsters in the field. They still think of dates, but of what they can give to a girl friend, or boy friend, not what they can get. They still think of movies but of pictures that show our homes and country as they can be —clean, strong, united. They still like music but music that sets you on your way, not the kind that "sends" you. They still go for sport but go out for the game and not the box scores.

The still think home can be dull but if it is they see what they can do to liven it up. They get all the family having fun as they pull together for a real much bigger than it ever could be if all were thinking of themselves alone. They still think parents, sisters and brothers, teachers and preachers can be difficult but know that they can change them if they start by being less difficult themselves.

Their philosophy is that. "We want a different world and, if the only way to get it is for us to be different first, we're going to be different starting now." This gang may well change the moral climate of the world, especially if you go out to help them. But it's a routine for defection, not correction. We can turn the tide of thinking and give new direction to our youngsters, but only if we find and follow new direction in our own lives.

Lose the sense of right and wrong and we lose all sense.

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE
Director "The Crop Testing Plan"

THE HARMFUL EFFECTS OF TARIFFS

During the depression years world trade declined by 60 per cent and Canadian trade declined in about the same proportion. Canada's wheat exports fell from 407 million bushels in 1929 to a low of 108 million bushels for the year 1934. These smaller sales piled up world surplus which was 81 million bushels in 1929 to 393 million bushels in 1938. These unsold surpluses weighted heavily on the market and reduced price, as was to be expected, from an average of $1.24 a bushel for the year 1929 to an average of 81½ cents a bushel in 1934. So it will be observed that as sales declined prices were cut in half and price in consequence decreased. All this caused the most eminent authorities to say that the imposition of high tariffs by the Fordney McCumber tariff of 1922 and the Smoot-Hawley tariff of 1930 in the United States, followed by the extremely high Canadian tariffs in all the countries seriously reduced the farmers' income, but tariffs also reduced the purchasing power of that section of the people who were the out of the things farmers had to buy steadily increased. It would appear, then, that there is nothing so important for the future welfare of our farmers as to have our Canadian tariffs sharply reduced.

STRINGS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF PRODUCTS

Italian wheat import requirements this season are estimated at about 60 million bushels, but it is thought unlikely that actual imports can approach that level. Uruguay is expected to suffer a poor wheat yield this season.—Chile is reported to be harvesting a smaller grain crop than last year.

South Africa recently received good rains which should save a large portion of the corn crop from failure—The winter wheat area in south-eastern portions of European Russia is reported to have been considerably increased this year.—Argentina is now using less corn for fuel because of larger imports of coal and petroleum.

A. This is a fairly common symptom of pulmonary tuberculosis. It may be caused by rupture of one of the blood vessels in the lung, or perhaps congestion within the lung.

Q. Are hemorrhages likely to be directly fatal?

A. Infrequently death is immediately caused by pulmonary hemorrhage. More generally if death occurs it is the result of subsequent tuberculous disease.

Xmas Seal Returns To Date

$62,500 has now been received in the 1945-46 Christmas Seal sale. From 31,000 individual contributors. It was announced last night by L. Ferguson, Lethbridge, president of the Alberta Tuberculosis Association.

Only $8,000 short of $70,500 objective set for this campaign, the present figure is $62,500 higher than at the same period last year.

"We feel sure there are still thousands of people in Alberta who have intended to send in their contributions," said Mr Ferguson "It is so easy to put it off, and then to think it is too late this year. We want to assure everyone that their contributions are still needed, to carry on our program throughout 1946."

Further reminders are being mailed this week to all those who have not yet responded, Mr Ferguson said. He pointed out that donations now can be deducted from 1946 income tax returns. Many people wait until the new year, in order to make their contributions larger. It is expected that the next few weeks will see the realization of the objective.

New Washing Machine

A United Kingdom firm has developed a new "shilling-in-the-slot" washing machine which is simples to operate then a radio set. It is completely automatic and will wash ten pounds of clothes in forty minutes. The housewife has to do no more than put the clothes in, add soap powder and turn on the switch. The machine fills itself with water, washes the clothes, triple rinses them and damp-dries them. It also empties and cleans itself and alerts itself off. "Launderette" equipped with ten or twelve machines will soon be opened in many parts of the country, reports the London Daily Mail. They will also be installed in working class blocks of flats.

Josephburg

The feast of Ki Valentine has come and gone and the last crumb has been cleaned from the board.

In the Junior Room the occasion was celebrated by games and feasting, the latter consisting of oodles of home made sweetness. The Valentine card box was full to repletion and a good time enjoyed.

The evening was likewise by children of the school district by the Josephburg U.F.W.A., the latter furnishing the feast of a sleigh ride to the hall. Old Man Winter supplied a perfect night, mild and serene.

The last game to be played at the hockey rink was at 8 p.m. the Wednesday and Canadian accord, dated by hockey in Edmonton. Bruce Hills and twenty youngsters piled on to the sled.

A very nice supper. The taste of it we may have proved plebeian, but the table was laden for all to feast, and feast right royally. Following the drive Referee also must have been uppermost in the minds of many, for frequently a 500 pound specimen was indulged in before re-gaining the haven of the flat roof. Perhaps the thought of Trash Bill was the object of the attention.

In all, some fifty guests were covered, after which the persons crowd adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thomas where a delightful banquet awaited the ravenous crowd. Sing song and feasting helped heal the scars of battle

Mowbee Exercise started out from the school about the same time, but by all accounts its movements did not have much to good a time as our heroes.

S S S

The Josephburg Young People held their regular meeting Tues., Feb 19. with a good attendance present. Plans were made for the skating party to be held in the near future.

S S S

Believe it or not, a gopher was seen on the Josephburg flats Wednesday. He left hurriedly on top of a lofty snow drift thrown up by the Municipal Snow Plough. He must have been greatly surprised by the changes wrought upon the countryside of his native land. One gopher does not make a spring certainly, but he does seem to think think that spring must be on the way.

S S S

A team representing Fort Saskatchewan and district challenged a city team in hockey last week and came off victors. We are proud to narrate that three of the four goals made were scored by Josephburg boys. A second game played on Friday night with the city team visitors by 2 to 1.

S S S

The sympathy of the neighborhood goes out to the family of Mrs. Geo. Hall, whose death occasion was so wholly unexpected.

S S S

We were greatly impressed by our first visit to Fray's Coffee Counter which has recently opened in Josephburg. The interior decoration progresses favorably with that of a coffee stop certainly must, the service is efficient and the bill-of-fare is in keeping. If any one of the small towns in Alberta could be persuaded to provide such attractive surroundings where refreshment could be obtained, a major problem of the tourist trade would be solved. The average hostel is quite prepared to pay for a cup of refreshment and a sip with dismal surroundings. Drive Continued on Page Four

Fort Carnival Huge Success

The weather man was on his best behaviour last Friday night when the Carnival and Dance was held in the Fort Curling Rink. Quite a number were on hand when the festivities got under way on Friday morning. The number of visitors increased through the day as the weather was quite favorable for the evening's entertainment.

Radiograms

The rollicking, easy going gang who humorpose your shoulders each morning on Swift's "Breakfast Hour" is one of the most renowned combinations in radio. He is Don McNeill, a 220 pound, ear-foot-two giant, who has been gaining on at five every week day morning for nearly 12 years to give listeners an 820 exclusive the necessary "get out of bed".

A recent nation-wide survey placed Don's "Breakfast Club" first among daytime variety programs for the second consecutive year. These awards (he has one many others) seem to come to Don as Dollar and easily as his program seems to us.

Thanks to a corner, of course. Don is a master at ad-lib. He works almost entirely without benefit of script. What he says is his — it's spontaneous . . . it's natural. Besides, he has a gift of self-understanding that has contributed in no small measure to his success. He understands teenagers (he has contributions to many clubs for his own children) and he understands himself. Welcome to the "Breakfast Club".

Don McNeill is a great success and after nearly thirteen years of Breakfast Clubbing, he comments in, "It's better than working!"

The Recipe Corner

Bread, "the staff of life", is so important an foodstuff. It can be made from coarsely ground grains, to which no browning was added. One day thought, a housewife, who was either careless or lazy, forgot a piece of the uncooked dough. When she finally found it, she found it was much lighter than ever before, although it tasted decidedly sour.

However, she liked the sour, open texture of the bread, and as a result the use of leaven gradually spread. A small portion of the unleavened dough was kept to lighten the next batch.

The basic components of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture says, that to get the necessary food values are good yeast, right type of flour, the correct temperature of liquid, 70-80 degrees F., and thorough kneading.

WHITE BREAD
(Overnight Sponge)

1 cake dried yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
4 cups liquid (water, milk or potato water)
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons salt
10 cups sifted wheat flour (approximately)
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Crumble yeast cake and soak in lukewarm water for ½ hour. To the lukewarm liquid add 4 cups of sifted flour and half the flour, beating thoroughly until smooth. Cover with a moist towel and allow to rise over night. Then add sugar, salt, melted (not hot) shortening and enough remaining flour to make a stiff dough. Knead about 10 minutes, or until dough is smooth and elastic. Shape into a ball and place in a greased bowl, and lightly grease the surface to prevent a crust forming. Cover and let rise in a warm place, 80 degrees F., until double in bulk, about 2 hours. Punch in dough, adjust heat to 70 degrees F. and dough over with smooth side up. Cover and let rise until dough is a finger print when pressed lightly or is double in bulk, about 1 hour. Turn out on lightly floured surface when half-fill baking pans. Allow to stand a few minutes before shaping into loaves. Place in greased pans and lightly grease surface of dough. Cover and let rise in a warm place until dough retains a finger print when lightly pressed or is double in bulk, about 1 hour. Turn out on lightly floured surface and cut into 2 loaves. Pat to shape and place in greased pans. Cover and let rise until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Bake in moderately hot oven, 350 degrees F. for about 60 minutes. Yield 2 loaves, 1½ lb. to 2½ lbs.

WHOLE WHEAT RAISIN BREAD

2 tablespoons brown sugar
2 tablespoons shortening
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
2 cups water
½ cake compressed yeast
4 cups whole wheat flour
1 cup seedless raisins
Almond paste, shortening and orange rind in the order for 3 minutes. Cool to lukewarm, crumble yeast and stir until dissolved, add ½ of flour, beat vigorously for about 2 minutes, cover and let rise in a warm place until light. Add sugar, salt and raisins. Beat in half of flour, or the remaining allspice using enough water to make dough but not stick. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl, brush top with fat and let rise until double in bulk about 1½ hours. Shape into loaves, grease pans and again let rise until double in bulk. Bake in moderately hot oven, 350 degrees F. for about 60 minutes. Yield 2 loaves, 1½ lb. to 2½ lbs.

Asks Support

This week the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides in Alberta, along with those in many other lands are marking the date of their founder with special ceremonies. The late Lord Baden Powell organized the Boy Scouts in 1908 and, with the assistance of his sister formed the Girl Guides in 1910

The many deeds performed by these two organizations are well-known throughout the world. During the war years many have made the supreme sacrifice in their efforts to help those in distress in the bombed areas.

A great number of churches throughout the country will hold special services on Sunday in their honor, and in memory of their late leader

The appeal they are making this week for assistance in raising money to help the Scouts and Guides of western Europe to reorganize is one that should gain the support of everyone

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF AGRICULTURE

Argentina will sharply reduce wheat exports to Europe as will South American countries because of the small harvest this year—As a result of drought, South Africa is reported to have to import 60 million bushels of corn

It is estimated that France will have only 120,000 bushels of wheat to export from countries until the new crop is gathered.

The 1945 Egyptian rice crop is officially estimated at 41,261,000 bushels, a 5 per cent increase over the 1944 crop—Officially reports from the United Kingdom indicate that is fed to livestock Are we all willing not only our farmers to put the land to work but to see that all willing to endure many severe restrictions on our food supply, including poultry and eggs? Only actions will bring results Many people and authorities are of this avail

Greater Wheat Acreage Needed

The Dominion Government was urged to request Canadian farmers to grow the maximum possible wheat acreage this year and to undertake to accept delivery from Hitler's stocks of grain, in order to alleviate wide spread famine conditions, in a story forwarded from London by Fred Kent Lamont, president of the North West Line Elevators Association.

Mr. Lamont has provided a story which situation it is apparent that there must be drastic upward revision in the Dominion Government's agricultural production objectives for wheat acreage in 1946. Wheat acreage objective for this year has been set at some figure in the neighborhood of 23,000,000 acres, namely 22,645,000 acres for all Canada. This is 5,315,200 acres less than the acreage given to wheat in 1945. The Government is fully aware of the shortage of feed prevailing throughout the world and to meet this situation it is imperative to increase cereal production as the most effective means of alleviating the critical famine conditions prevailing.

Within six months Canada will be harvesting the new crop and Canada's prime leading members ary to seek that this wheat could be poured into food shortage areas immediately thereafter. There is no universal foodstuff that can be produced in the quantities required as rapidly as wheat bread. From a nutritional standpoint such foods as meats, fish, dairy and poultry products are desirable for a balanced diet but their production and movement to market requires greater time. With shipping space available wheat is the logical foodstuff to cope with starvation conditions prevailing throughout large areas of the world.

While we are in accord with the long range agricultural policies of the government, such practices, it is our view and purpose to prevail with them—anywhere in Canada—but they can only be provided if the government, by their sanction and membership, give the support necessary for Red Cross to achieve as greatly in peace as it was privileged to do in war," said Mr. Urquhart.

HUNGER AND DISEASE

Hunger and disease are stalking the people of Europe. Pestilence and famine are rampant in many countries in Europe and Asia. Millions will fall the same way. Hundreds may escape the sword of fear of Britain and the U. and States have accomplished a miracle in their war effort, but relative to the grim task of feeding the starving millions of Europe and Asia, their efforts are pitifully inadequate. Millions will die from starvation and disease unless the people of Canada, the United States and Britain can be aroused to a sense of their responsibility and to the necessity for immediate action.

Veteran Ambassador

Shown above is J.C.A. veteran ambassador, Sam Hughes, who is commander of Gen. Paul Armour, Canada's ambassador at UNRRA Council Meeting, in 1945, now in Washington for the first time since the conference at which he was appointed. Armour, who is a Canadian by birth, is now a citizen of the United States.

Red Cross Seeks New Members

Directors and Branches of the Canadian Red Cross Society throughout Canada will hold a membership campaign to increase membership during the month of March of this year

Norman C. Urquhart, Chairman of the Society's National Executive, stressed the urgent need of a large and active membership so that Red Cross may remain strong in peace as was for the continuing benefit of returning Canadian people.

"Strength of the Red Cross," said Mr. Urquhart, "lies in its members. Become positively every month person, man, woman and child a member Carry the cross and cloud solidly united within the orders of, it was you who Lt. Red Cross to develop the great war, undertakings which brought help, comfort, and, in many cases, life itself to our fighting men all over the world. What Red Cross did in war, it can do in peace—providing its membership continues strong and vigorous."

Canadian Red Cross plans to expend approximately $4,000,000 on maintenance and expansion of peace-time work in 1946.

Outpost hospitals service will take $894,700 of this. There are 64 Red Cross Outpost and Nursing Stations in operation, a service which brings medical aid and comforts to the forlornest frontier districts of Canada. At these, during the year, some 28,000 patients are treated, 2,483 children are born, 5,338 operations performed, 691 clinics held and 12,000 children examined.

One million dollars will be spent on the new Civilian Blood Transfusion Service, designed to provide free blood, serum and plasma for every Canadian needing it.

New hospital buildings, including sanatoria and hospitals for crippled children will need $908,250.

Per week with crippled children and other hospital assistance to needy cases, $420,000 will be spent.

Other services, which include Junior Red Cross, Nutrition, First Aid, Bedding Instructions and Disaster Relief, will need $726,775. Additional expenses and contingencies are estimated at $943,164.

"Wherever there is a need for these and other Red Cross services, it is our aim and purpose to provide them—anywhere in Canada—but they can only be provided if the government, by their sanction and membership, give the support necessary for Red Cross to achieve as greatly in peace as it was privileged to do in war," said Mr. Urquhart.

Alberta Can Go Ahead — But Only On Good Roads

With the certainty that motor transportation will develop ever greater importance in our economy in the coming years, it is more than ever vital to Alberta's prosperity that a system of roads — a highways and good secondary roads be provided.

The Alberta Department of Public Works has planned such a highway program. It is important that this plan be put into effect without delay. Bring it to the attention of your friends and neighbors and self group to which you belong. Then, your private member for action.

The Alberta Motor Association — a non-profit organization devoted to the interests of motorists whether commercial or private — has prepared exhaustively for an adequate road-building program. It has the co-operation of this active group, you not only add your influence to her efforts, but also become entitled to many valuable services — for $10 a year. TIMELY FARM NOTES

By F. H. Brownlee, District Agriculturist, Sherwood

Fertilizers when one puts only money on wheat plus to mixed grain and hay crops. Where there is no legume in the rotation, the use of fertilizer will be of great benefit. Where legumes are being used to advantage and the rotation not a weak, from the standpoint of Alfalfa and the farmers not only provide the forage but produce the fertilizer and prepare the soil for their crops to follow.

A word of warning comes from J. R. Bedwell, Supervisor of Crop Improvement. He says that care must be taken to prevent the production from swinging too far in the other direction. That is, from a no crop system of wheat to a one crop system of alfalfa, sheep or cattle. Legumes have been advertised widely, both as Green Manure and as fodder crops. Because of this there is a growing demand for good legume seed. The Province has provided a supply of inc one, from legume seed growing for farmers in those districts which are suited to seed production. Seed setting, however, is very erratic. Some seasons may be exceptionally good and others very poor. The wise farmer will continue to sow from reasonable hopes to derive from the pro-

There was no doubt about the great and urgent need for the new West Cooking Lake Community Hall when a happy crowd assembled last Friday evening and filled the old building to "bulging" point, for the whole thirty-five tables provided were not enough to accommodate all those who had gathered for the first dance of the season. Not a few had to be content to get together around the stove for a friendly chat.

At the time of play the winners were declared:- Grace Kephart and Mr. Norman. Consolation prizes went to Mrs. Smith and Art Donaldson.

When the dance began it was more convincingly evident than before that the old building is not at all sufficient to accommodate all the friends of this group. Even the entrance, once upon a time the porch and cloak room, was called upon to provide space for the overflow.

SOUTH COOKING LAKE

Miss Asselstine, of our Rural Hall Staff, is holidaying with friends at Franklin School last Tuesday afternoon. Three of our teacher and nurses are most popular with our boys and girls, particularly all the members of the Health Unit; will allow us to say, because the day by day close routine of the schoolroom is supplied by "interviews" and "exercises" for more interesting, and often more pressing, than any ordinary class subject.

However, dethroned routine had his revenge next day, for one by one and silently, head after head turned home to the dozing of duties, penitence and supplication (or so it seemed to me) that Miss Cox, every inch a mistress of worshippers in ancient lands) was to be found again, with pride and angry resentment. Nevertheless, all is well now, and King Routine is at his throne again, safe until Tuesday, March 5th.

WEST COOKING LAKE

The Basket Social and Dance at Minburn Hall on Friday evening, sponsored by West Cooking Lake Community to augment their fast-growing fund for the building of their new hall, was most kindly and generously supported by friends near and far. Generous, too, were the Baskets, 21 of them, all so charmingly attractive, that the handsome sum of $40 responded to them. One grateful thanks to the ladies whose clever and artistic fingers fashioned them!

The musicians for the hour after hour filled every available floor space with dancing feet, were Messrs. Mr. and Mrs. Bell and Mr. Pearson. The promoters of the party beg to extend to these players, and to those who the generously, grateful appreciation.

Grandview Hall Academy of Minisink Hall, too, for so generously letting their auditorium building to a neighborhood community! We cannot say enough, so here is to contest with a very sincere and grateful "Thank you" good spectators of Minisink!"

To one, the generous support of all those our good friends and neighbors given us, an ordinary sum is paid, the grand total amount of $40 towards the new hall.

Josephburg

A new club, to take the place of the Red Cross, are surnamed the Josephburg Good-will Club, sprang into being on Wednesday night at the Albert Hoke home. Eighteen tried and trusty souls were present and the following officers were elected:

President, Mrs. Albert Hoke Sec., Mrs Carl Herzog, Treas. Mrs. Lawrence Thomas.

The object of the club is the improvement of community conditions whenever these conditions call for improvement. The club will meet every three weeks, before the regular meeting of the Community Service Club' Charity begins at home—and ends abroad—but if we could realize it, this club does spell HOME. Mr Hoke's cafe has undoubtedly, in no uncertain words, what the worship of numbers has accomplished for the welfare of humanity when wielded by the Chamber of Commerce. Perhaps, sometime in the near future the possibilities which might be achieved if we united the enterprise 100 per cent. We no longer have the privilege of adding our dollar to a pale Prince which we hoped to extract a modern bungalow or a brand new car, a privilege of which we have all been anxious to avail ourselves, and here is an opportunity to invest that dollar in something that may produce even greater dividends and in my case will return to me in some shape or other, whether it be a matter of health, roads, recreation centres or any of the needs of the farmers in the marketing of his goods, It's worth risking anyway! United we stand—divided we fall.

Josephburg will be represented at the Masonic Temple during the coming week for the Agricultural Short Course This should afford a wonderful opportunity to farmers to meet others in their profession and to discuss ground and to keep abreast of new ideas and new formulas. Scoring was opened near the end of the first period by Andreason, but a few minutes later our boys got the equalizer. The second period was scoreless but two penalties were handed out to the home team's credit. In the third period the Juveniles added two more to their credit, making the score 4 to 2 in their favor.

Radiograms

It now to be here before CFCA will be transmitting its programs through a 5000 watt transmitter. Plans are now completed and erection of new equipment will get under way as soon as the ground thaws.

Thawing from a 1000 watt station to a 5000 watter entails a huge expense and terrific amount of work. The power transmitting equipment and building must be moved to and set down exactly. Furthermore the antenna has to be lengthened to 500 feet with seven guy wires supported by eight towers. It includes a 75 foot tower for the radio engineers' living quarters. The transmitter building, which is now almost complete, is 24 feet square. Frank Hollingsworth is in charge of the work at the time and says that he can complete everything in two months' time. This is great news for radio listeners in this district as it means a much clearer reception and better programs.

T. B. Questions and Answers

Q. What causes a wheezing noise in the chest?

A. This is usually due to small particles of mucus which adhere to the tubes and bronchial tubes. Sometimes it may be the result of other things—such as partial obstruction of the bronchus, such as a foreign body.

Q. At times my chest aches and feels as if a cork were pressing on it. Is this serious?

A. No. Probably there is a reason for it. Sometimes it comes from such a condition as cold in the head, pneumonia, heart disease or other lung diseases, etc.

Readers desiring questions answered are asked to send them to Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary, where careful attention and early reply will be given.

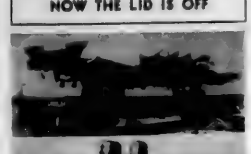
NOW THE LID IS OFF



Scenes such as this were common in 1942 when the Alaska Highway was under construction. Now the Canadian National Railways are operating it for just thousands of them, such as those pictured above, are using modern diesel-electric equipment and hopped with modern diesel-electric equipment and hopped with modern diesels. The giant shovels, wrinkles and steam donkeys had to be replaced with modern gear and the latest motors serviced by most dramatic transformation. None of the fifty employees who did the work knew why. Now the secret is out. Thousands of tons of gold are being shipped from the Pacific, the Australian Government has purchased a number of the latest equipment in strategic points. It now rests on appeals that it be released and pressed for humanitarian, the U.N.R.R.A. purposes, and that it be quickly transported to a Pacific coast port on the Pacific coast. The photographs show the engine, an engine house and, lower, tractors and air conveyors loaded for shipment.

There is No Joy in Scarcity

By R. J. DEACHMAN

The Edmonton Journal has printed a take just sent of thousands, alberta, and urged some farmers ago for the purpose of making good agricultural land out of it. Mr. Deachman wasn't thinking of the new "Dandy Unlimited" well dam it up and restore it to the use for which nature first intended it. In a simple manner like this planned does little harm. True there was a waste of time and effort but if, in the process, people grew wiser from experience and they will not make the same mistakes again. For this reason, ought to be grateful.

Some years ago I was amazed that Canada, the Argentine and the United States should get together and agree to limit the production of wheat but to provide adequate supplies of wheat for the world at all times. While it was tried but right from the start, for some reason or other, something went wrong. Russia had to sell wheat and the price in British markets fell. Argentine did not seem very anxious to carry out her end of the bargain and we were left pretty well as we were, each playing the game as was thought best.

Right now this is one of the things for which we ought to be profoundly grateful. Years after, in 1939, there came a war. It was a long war, it destroyed a great deal of the grain growing capacity of the continent of Europe. The task of providing the food of the world will be a stiff one for the next few years. It is not only a question of feeding Europe but also India and quite modest in India, China and Japan.

This story has its lesson, when groups of nations undertake to re-

The Recipe Corner

With Shrove Tuesday just around the corner, it's time to talk about pancakes. Most people make pancakes, flat-out cakes or flat cakes, as they are variously called, but there are other kinds of pancakes. Here are a few of them, and they are highly recommended by the home economists of the Canadian Council on Nutrition, Canada Department of Agriculture.

In the first place, the batter must be thin enough to pour easily. In fact we have found that the best all-round pancakes are those which are neither too thick nor too thin. Next they must be cooked quickly and evenly so they will be light and tender. Finally, they must be cooked on a griddle that is not too hot nor too cool. Sometimes the cakes become too tempting for griddle, drop a little butter on it and see if it sizzles. If the butter burns, the griddle is too hot; if it doesn't sizzle, it is too cool. Grease the griddle lightly with a piece of fat pork or suet, or with a little butter. Use a very large griddle. It may be necessary to grease the griddle between each batch of cakes. If the batter is too thick, it will be puffed and covered with bubbles but will not spread and the cakes will be heavy and tough. If the batter is too thin, it will spread too much and will be tough and tasteless.

Here are a few pancake recipes that you may like to try:

BRAN GRIDDLE CAKES

1½ cups sifted all purpose flour
1½ cups plus 2½ tablespoons pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 tablespoon melted shortening
1 teaspoon molasses
1½ cups bran
1½ cups milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Combine with the rolled oats, mixing together the egg, shortening, molasses, water and milk. Add to the ingredients and stir only enough to moisten. Bake on a hot griddle. Makes 16 cakes.

CHOCOLATE PANCAKES

2 eggs
1 cup milk
1 cup sifted pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons sugar
1 tablespoon cocoa
1 tablespoon melted fat, melt or

Combine the well-beaten eggs with the milk. Add to the dry ingredients which have been sifted together three times. Add melted shortening and beat well. Bake on a slightly greased griddle. Serve hot with butter, honey, cocoa or a fruit sauce. Makes 16 3-inch pancakes.

BRAN GRIDDLE CAKES

1½ cups sifted all purpose flour
1½ cups plus 2½ tablespoons pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 egg, well beaten
1 tablespoon melted shortening
1 teaspoon molasses
1½ cups bran
1½ cups milk

Sift together the flour, baking powder and salt. Combine with the egg, shortening, molasses, water and milk. Add to the ingredients and stir only enough to moisten. Bake on a hot griddle. Makes 16 3-inch cakes.

OATMEAL GRIDDLE CAKES

½ cup all-purpose flour or ½ cup plus 1 tablespoon pastry flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1½ cups quick cooking rolled oats
1 egg, well beaten
1 tablespoon melted shortening
1 teaspoon molasses
1½ cups milk

Key to Deadlock

How do you deal with deadlock? Some people decide they can't, or won't. So they bounce home, quit or just walk off the conversation or get involved in world affairs where just "grin and bear it" can be the solution to our problems. Others react more positively. A little on the family, industry, nation or world can begin to function again, but no one is really happy about it. The best result is to smash the deadlock, to get it out in the open, to get it discussed and to find a solution that will be satisfactory to both sides.

None of these ways exactly leaves the door open to peace. They either leave it locked or make it open but with enough to break it down. A sledge hammer is no answer to deadlock. We need a key.

A wise man once said that "when people close the door on each other, they fasten it with one of those bolts—pride, anger, vanity, glory or selfishness, or one of those insulated chains called fear, the various kinds of fear." Today we might call them the seven deadly sins. But let us treat them for the name of an industrial dispute, a family beating or even a world war, we usually will find somebody's pride, anger or some other of those motives at the bottom of it. Men trying to work out a deal both bring them into the conference room with their arms at their sides with clenched fists and bright steel armour. This suggests the missing key.

The key to deadlock is not sum up in one word. It is a combination of willingness to be dead honest with each other, backing up our own rights instead of pressing out the other fellow's.

At the dinner table or the conference table, be sure we know what we want and why we want it, and then be willing to give it to the other fellow. Be sure we know what we are willing to give and why we are willing to give it, and then be willing to receive in return what we have a right to receive. It must be a matter of satisfactory exchange. Don't let side issues or emotions form a barrier between you and your objective. Be willing to compromise either on the amount or the time of payment, but be sure you know what you are willing to compromise on and why you are willing to compromise. Be sure you know what you want and why you want it. Be willing to give it to the other fellow. Be willing to receive in return what you have a right to receive. Be willing to compromise on the amount or the time of payment, but be sure you know what you are willing to compromise on and why you are willing to compromise. Be sure you know what you want and why you want it. Be willing to give it to the other fellow. Be willing to receive in return what you have a right to receive. Be willing to compromise on the amount or the time of payment, but be sure you know what you are willing to compromise on and why you are willing to compromise.

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE
Director "The Crop Testing Plan"

COMBATTING RUST

The University of Sask. A - tatia recently made appeal to prevent the farmers from using the rust resistant varieties of wheat that are now available. Reason for the appeal was the discovery of the appearance of several new races of rust. Many of these races are capable of attacking rust resistant varieties. Thus it is important that we must continue to grow the rust resistant varieties. Reason for this is that the rust resistant varieties are the only ones that can be grown in Canada. Reason for this is that the rust resistant varieties are the only ones that can be grown in Canada. RAW DEEP CONCRETE RECOMMENDED

J. W. McNeil, Pty. Husbandry Advisory

Preliminary variable conservation of the [illegible] quarters of the property has already been a problem to [illegible] Sask. Co. [illegible] essential, and [illegible] warmth during the cold [illegible] months. While concrete is ideal from a [illegible] point of view, it is more or less cold for the farrowing sow or new piglet.

From New Zealand comes evidence of the suitability of concrete made from sawdust, for this purpose. After several years of use it is [illegible] for conservation. Proof against that it is more sanitary, more durable, drier and warmer than gratings of false board floors.

The method recommended is as follows: The sawdust concrete mixture is put on top of an ordinary concrete floor. In the sleeping quarters only. There parts of sufficient to one of cement by measure, [illegible] part of sawdust and [illegible] by measure. Sand is [illegible] For an area 6 feet and 2 inches thick, three bags of cement are required. Sawdust should be as coarse as possible, screened, and a brush down saw being the most suitable.

We Pay For Good Grain—
Let's Have Them!

If you drive or pasture a car or a truck, either for business or pleasure, you need no instruction on the value of good roads. You have experience of the time lost in losses and expensive repairs occasioned by poor roads. Add to them the millions of dollars of lost tourist business that would be changed to Alberta's poor roads every year, and it becomes more apparent than ever that SOMETHING SHOULD BE DONE.

THE TIME FOR ACTION IS NOW! The money paid by motorists for licenses and gasoline taxes is sufficient to finance a comprehensive road building program — and the Alberta Government now has such a program before it, planned by the Department of Public Works. This plan should be put into effect without delay.

The Alberta Motor Association has now completed its programme for the modern highway system, the twenty-five-million dollar plan to be financed by bringing it to the attention of all motorists and other persons or clubs to which you belong, and by pressing for action through your representative in the provincial legislature. If you are a non-driver you should also join in the A.M.A. Besides its close friendship of the rights of motorists it offers a host of valuable services that far outweigh the modest fee of $10 a year. Full particulars on request from A.M.A. branches in Calgary, Edmonton, Lethbridge or Medicine Hat.—Advt.

TIMELY FARM NOTES

F. H. Newcombe, District Agriculturist, Edmonton

The spring should be done by hand and thoroughly worked to a good moist consistency. The most satisfactory way of doing this job is to start at the back of the chesterfield in a width which can be worked comfortably with a wooden floor fairchest concrete should be applied at half each by and worked well in until the required two-inch level is reached. A dusting of pure cement is then applied to the surface and worked well over with a float. Finally the floor is floated over with pure sand. This gives a waterproof surface on the gripping surface sometimes wanted.

It is advisable to put a ledge 4 inches wide of pure cement at the doorway leading into the pen to prevent the sawdust concrete breaking away.

The floor should be given three weeks to harden before being used.

At the conclusion of a most interesting and instructive period, Mrs. T. P. Hutton on behalf of the class presented Mrs. Cooper with a gift of purse. the third, more goals to end the game with the score of 6-1 in favor of the visitors.

Twenty-four good men and true the ladies were exceptions by their absence) were on hand on Monday evening in response to a call from Secretary Hallquist. Owing to the war our community organization has been sadly neglected of late. Thanks entirely to a few overburdened public-spirited citizens, some good work was put in last summer, completely belittling the diamond. An exhibition ball tournament was arranged and carried through.

The membership had dwindled and the affairs of president and secretary were unconsidered. Hence there was no one either to call a meeting or announce any agenda.

Don Page, Treasurer, presented his annual report, which, although short notice, but showing clearly that in spite of the heavy expenditure involved in the building of the new rink—a rink probably second to no rural rink in Alberta—and to no rural rink in Alberta—there is a satisfactory condition, but will need some replenishing.

The following officers were elected for the coming year: President, Dolph Bignell; Vice-Pres., Alfred Thomas; Sec., Leopold Thomas; Treas., Ronald Page.

In addition the following committees were elected.

Sports, Wm. Thomas; Maintenance, Fred Hennig, Fred Thomas, Walter Frey, Geo. A. Hole, Lorne Hole, Alfred Fisher, Frances, Elmer Tretton, Wilfred Hess and Arnold Frey.

43 membership cards were taken on the spot and the territory was divided into four, with Alfred Fisher, Irvin Thomas, Rud. Bignell and Allan Thomas appointed as canvassers.

The Community Hall project was ably presented by Leonard Hole and the meeting wholly endorsed the undertaking of the Good Will Club in this connection. The latter are planning a monster evening for a near future date and the men propose to hold a Whist Drive and Box Social.

It is to be regretted that more competent authority on the Fort Community Service Club was not on hand to explain the aims and views of the organization. True, we have all had ample notice of just what is required, but the management has not replaced the club with such leadership and such backing, there seems to remain considerable doubt whether Community Club cannot go places in 1946.

School Flashes

The Lamont school hockey team paid a visit here on Feb. 20 and defeated the high school team 6-4.

Students have been given the opportunity to attend Class plays or school shows.

Preparations are underway for a school concert.

Major causes of death in 1945 were as follows, in the order indicated, according to the Alberta Tuberculosis Association:

1. Heart disease
2. Cancer and other malignant tumors
3. Intracranial lesions of vascular origin
4. Nephritis
5. Pneumonia
6. Accidents other than those motor vehicles
7. Tuberculosis

In 1945, the year the Canadian Tuberculosis Association was formed, tuberculosis stood at the head of the list as a cause of death. Since that time, extraordinary progress has been made in combatting the "White Plague." Most rapid advance in prevention and early discovery have taken place in the past five or six years, through adoption of the policy of mass X-ray of thousands of apparently healthy people.

By stressing the early diagnosis campaign, T.B. officials say, it is possible to reduce the [illegible] to a minor cause of death within a generation.

Care of Baby Chicks

"Once housed and yards, clean litter, good feed, careful management, together with a little common sense, appear to be the essentials in handling baby chicks, to order the present losses," says R. F. Tinney, Dominion Experimental Station, Cheshirtown, Alta.

Everything should be in readiness before chicks arrive. Too often no preparations are made until noises of arrival is received from the aggrieved agent. Brooder houses should be thoroughly scrubbed down—floors, walls, ceilings—and disinfected previous to the arrival of the chicks. All drafts must be eliminated. Leaky roofs must be repaired and made tight. Corners of the brooder-house floor should be rounded off with tins or board to prevent crowding or piling. Floors should be covered with clean, dry, litter. Clean sand, chopped straw, planer shavings, or [illegible] for the farmer, dover bush, leaves, etc. from the bare floors, are excellent. Litter should be changed whenever it becomes dirty or [illegible]

The brooder stove should be operated for several days before the arrival of chicks and a check made to see that the controls work effectively, and adjusted to maintain a temperature of 90 degrees under two inches above the floor at the edge of the heater. Do not regulate the temperature, but use a thermometer. Observe what is done the first few days may be lowered about five degrees per week, as the chicks grow older. Uniformity of temperature is essential. Rapid changes will cause over-heating, or chilling with disastrous results.

A good brand of commercial starter is best. Be likely to give results than home-mixed feeds and when followed with growing mash will give good results. The manufacturer's directions should be followed carefully. Chicks should not be fed until they are about 48 hours old.

Immediate feeding space for all chicks should be provided. For the first week or two, shallow trays or tin tones daily, leaving the mash before the chicks. Allow 15 to 20 minutes at each feeding. Changes should be made gradually to a good growing mixture.

Clean, fresh water is [illegible] chicks. It should be noted that brooder rations are based on dry-fed chicks and a 200-chick brooder will be a generous size to enable its full rating after the birds are several weeks old. When ready to range see that clean land is provided—land on which birds have not ranged for at least three years. Cleanliness and good management practices are the watchword and if these are observed, success should follow.

New Use for Mine-Locator

Among the most important and successful war weapons of the Allied Armies, the British mine-locator has played an outstanding part. Thereon, however, many war-poon bosons to much scrap-iron in peace-time, the mine-locator can be adapted to useful peace-time service. It will be used to locate nails in wood planks before the wood goes to the saw-mills, and the presence of metal wires and pipes in walls and floors can be easily determined. Police and Customs officials are using the locator with great success in their search for hidden metal articles, such as gold coins, which might be smuggled out of the country.

The Recipe Corner

It all depends on you! Do these [illegible] really need [illegible] vegetables, or are they eaten from a sense of duty?

No vegetable need be flat, colorless and weak—make it the plan to serve those that tantalize in flavor and give colour contrast, then cook them to retain all their eye and appetite appeal.

Vegetables should be added to [illegible] salted water until tender-[illegible] quest cooks . . . rather than pouring the water over them in a cold stained. Bring the water back to boiling point as quickly as possible, and keep it at that temperature throughout the cooking period. When vegetables are tender, drain and serve immediately, since standing in hot water or over steam is to disastrous to [illegible] seeking

To retain a good colour when cooking red cabbage or beets, add a little vinegar to the water. Strange as it may seem, when cabbages are overcooked they lose their pungent flavour and become tasteless. Large onions will cook more quickly if lengthwise cuts, about an inch long, are made at one end through the centre.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture suggest spiced onions as an acceptable variation of the delicious recipe for Turnip Souffle. This is a new and economically attractive way to make an old-winter-favourite as a supper or luncheon dish.

TURNIP SOUFFLE

2 tablespoons mild-flavoured fat
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
1 egg yolk
1 teaspoon salt
2 egg yolks
½ cups finely mashed turnip
1 tbs. onion
Melt fat, and flour and blend well. Add milk and salt. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat and add egg yolk, turn into serving dish and pour the sauce over them for servings.

World of Wheat

By R. G. L. STRANGE
Director "The Crop Moving Plan"

ANOTHER FACTORY FOR CANADIAN PLANT BREEDERS

Our Canadian Plant Breeders with their crew of scientific assistants, are busy [illegible] the life workers of [illegible] and [illegible] to the problems of [illegible] and able varieties of wheat.

RESCUE is the long awaited variety intended to save Glen. The wheat, a way to [illegible] quick good on all respects for baking [illegible] as Ma quit, and so it is only slightly less [illegible] grade. A good crop of No. 1 amounts it is thought a better for farmers [illegible] higher quality can fly resistant wheat, which however appears [illegible] new years.

The other variety is RIDMAN, which is expected to be an improvement over Thatcher. It grows [illegible] and Apex. It has not [illegible] but is [illegible] altogether to heat rust, [illegible] [illegible] slightly earlier, in the [illegible] [illegible] Regina.

These varieties are being multiplied and grown this year by [illegible] seed, therefore, for general distribution [illegible] spring of 1947.

Of course it is considered [illegible] to save about 20 million bushels a year short in the past but with [illegible] damaged by saw-flies. Hearty congratulations [illegible] are in order to our quiet, modest [illegible] plant breeders and [illegible] assistants who between them have accomplished these outstanding results.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

Argentina's 1945-46 wheat crop is now officially estimated at 180,540,000 bushels, a decrease of about 16 million bushels from the first forecast. Supplies of all grains in the principal exporting countries in January 1946 were about 15 per cent smaller than at the same time in 1945, with wheat stocks about 25 per cent less. Rumania is reported to be short of seed for spring planting.

The U.S. Secretary of Agriculture has called for increased acreages of one million acres each for wheat, rice and soybeans. Brussels hail reports that while the weather in France continues cold, crops have benefitted by rains in parts of the country.

Certified Potato Seed Information

The Regulations governing the production and sale of certified seed potatoes in Canada are extensive, and, for the information of growers and others connected with the industry, a copy of the complete regulations may be obtained from the Plant Protection Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, or from the district seed potato inspectors in the several provinces.

The certification of potatoes for seed purposes in Canada is carried out entirely by the Plant Protection Division. Staffs are employed in each province, varying in accordance with acreage entered for certification. The regulations are uniformly administered throughout the country. Certification involves the examination of the growing crops at least twice during the season, an examination of the tubers at harvest and at shipping time, and the issuance of tags to each grower to attach to the containers. The containers used comprise bags, barrels and crates.

According to the regulations, no containers may be sold for seed unless duly certified.

Brummer

We wish Mrs. Mark Lozan a speedy recovery from her illness.

The Brummer Trail Rangers went to Edmonton, looked over the air port then went to their clothing last week end.

The regular monthly meeting of the W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. R. G. Cran. Members of all churches and it was decided to have the next meeting in the form of St. Patricks tea at the home of Mrs. Mallo Chiswell, Wye Road.

All ladies are welcome.

The play "Jimmy Be Careful" which was held at Brummer Hall, February 20 was a great success. A large crowd turned out to watch the performance. Much credit goes to those who put on the play for their hard work. The play was also put on at Ardrossan, Clover Bar and Partridge Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Carr also Stella Glen were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Reynolds on Sunday.

Shrift is [illegible] university, we all wish her success.

Mr. Fred Jarboe is a patient in the Unique Hospital. Our best wishes for his speedy recovery.

There was a good attendance at the Brummer Community Hall Association annual meeting, February 28.

After a lengthy discussion the executive was instructed to investigate the possibilities of moving and renovating the community hall.

Modern War Brides Are Lucky

By Ellen Jaques

From the doorstep of her home in Coventry, England, to the steps of the train at her destination the 1946 war bride is tended after like a new born child.

Of all the 20,000 who have come, not one has been lost on the railroads, and out of this vast number of new marriages only 22 wives have asked to be returned to their homes.

Every week-end these days, when Canada Has got enough of from the wintertime, brisk ships have been coming to the shores of Canada.

First it was the French King [illegible] bringing [illegible] to the army of wives along the St. Lawrence.

Then the English bride ships came around the three [illegible] wives for pioneers along the west coast from Liverpool to Victoria, long before the days parents was thought of. Many of these people trace their ancestry back to these early ships and the [illegible] journey of over two thousand miles.

Now they're coming again by the [illegible] and [illegible] from the British Isles, 3 from Ireland, four from Newfoundland, 2 from Bermuda, British Guiana, New Zealand, Australia, India, Fiji, Cape Town, Malta, Egypt, and from any [illegible] neighbour Newfoundland.

The London Daily Mail Bridge officers are besieged with applications. Canada Has not a standing lot of [illegible] and [illegible] first priority rating incidentally, there are [illegible] applications on file.

Some of these [illegible] brides have been married as long as five or six years. Many of them have children [illegible] to be. R.C.A.F. is doing its private comfort for these little new arrivals as some thing The Free Board Administration of Montreal is doing to end to provide the necessities of life for them.

Imagine a ship requisition sheet asking for paper diapers by the thousands, rows and rows of nursing bottles and nipples. Fashion by the carton, baby food of a dozen different brands, milk powder, fresh milk by the hundred quarts, cod liver oil, pink and blue baby blankets.

They're coming on everything that floats from a corvette to regular troop ships. Throw some on a flat-top, the Pacific home runs or tramp steamers, luxury ships. A few came by air. A sports medical is required for the and no child under 12 months of Atlantic by air.

January was a big month 863 were booked for Canada. February was expected to number between 600 and 800. No [illegible] on this [illegible]

Wives of Air Force men already number 1237, with 875 children and 7,000 still to come.

The means a wide register the long story begins there and ends the giant wheels of destiny bring to bare. She is given everything from the baggage labels to hotel accommodation with meals, from her home to the new home she's [illegible]

Once aboard ship, she and her children are looked after by Red Cross workers and when they dock immigration officials go aboard to complete the formalities and to make them Canadian citizens.

Then they are placed in Reception Towns and start across Canada. It's a long journey from a big English village to Canada, but they're made as easy for thousands and look astonishingly fit and happy when they arrive.

They gasp at the plentiful helpings they receive and the quantities of fruit served with their meals on the trip. For one breakfast, for instance, they may have [illegible] to a week's ration of bacon and a month's ration of shell eggs in England. Tea and one half slices of bacon and two eggs.

They think it's pretty nice!

New U.K. Machine Will Think

United Kingdom scientists are hoping to produce what will be the most wonderful calculator in the world—a machine that can "think". Experiments are now being carried out by the newly formed Communications Division of the United Kingdom Department of Scientific and Industrial Research. If the experiments are successful and Mr. Wormsley the Experiments Head is confident that they will be—the machine will not only be able to add, subtract, multiply and divide, but from instructions previously laid down and stored will be able to decide what it should do in different circumstances without any human aid.

Would you believe it? We think not (comedy with a 17 year old girl who had just seen an unfavorable review of a stage play) but the fact remains that you have received thousands of smiles by pictures.

When she arrived at CJCA she had just experienced another disappointment. Her boy friend, a shipyard worker and friend that of "full of the navy" had been transferred to Vancouver.

She is Doris Rutgeh, an Eskimo girl from Baffin Island, who sang at Coronation Golf Month War Veterans' ...

Last month she ran down to Toronto Wells to receive medical treatment after the hospital was destroyed by fire. There was also by plane to an Edmonton hospital.

Interest in Opticians

A British scientist has invented a camera which can be buckled on, dropped or lost without being damaged. He is Professor Low, inventor of the bo-bomb beam—and for both long and short sight —and the camera, inevitably has been called after the optical. His latest invention, unbreakable glass-ware, is only a quarter of an ounce. They are made from one piece of fine wire with tiny, half inch lenses set just below the line of vision. The wearer can lift his eyes from his book for normal sight without interference from the glasses.

The Recipe Corner

With the family's favorite recipes for "Supper Dishes" in this file, the housekeeper has no difficulty in preparing delicious and proper menus. These dishes may either be served over meals or their bases may be such tried meat substitutes as cheese, eggs and fish, which are so welcome for Lenten season.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture say cheese is a great variety of tasty dishes and, eggs and cheese may be combined. They may be used in omelets, croquettes, rissoles, souffles, omelettes and other supper dishes. The colour, flavour and texture of cheese makes it a valuable addition to meat, which is welcome at this season. Cheese is also a nutritious blood foods, it provides that special, which is so necessary.

Cheese is also an economical food in concentrated form, with little waste after the hospital has destroyed by fire. There was also by plane to an Edmonton hospital.

Interest in Opticians

A British scientist has invented a camera which can be buckled on, dropped or lost without being damaged. He is Professor Low, inventor of the bo-bomb beam—and for both long and short sight —and the camera, inevitably has been called after the optical. His latest invention, unbreakable glass-ware, is only a quarter of an ounce. They are made from one piece of fine wire with tiny, half inch lenses set just below the line of vision. The wearer can lift his eyes from his book for normal sight without interference from the glasses.

The National Film corporated with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in the preparation of films to be correlated with their school broadcasts.

Looking Ahead
A new B.B.D. product . . . an exploding idea . . . a new bugaboo . . . spins keen.

One of the most important advantages of the new D.D.T. powder, Dreaner 50-w, is that it sprays are made up simply by adding it to water. Unlike oil-base D.D.T. products, the spray can be safely used on livestock and be safely used on livestock and poultry.
Chemists have developed an emulsifying agent which will not cause change in the stock. It has been in applied to the D.D.T. to emulsify the change in the stock which will not cause it and the virus. Home used in oil-and-water sprays can now be used in water-emulsion sprays.
A new organo-phosphate by the name of "Parasan" is now available commercially in Canada under the name "Parasan" has been extensively tested by Canadian Plant Pathologists and is reported to have many advantages over sulphur and copper fungicides and dinitro used as sprays on fruit and vegetables.

Truth and Whole Truth

Arthur Ransome reviewing World War II, described it as a fog in which all thought, with and him, in a half-truth was the most valuable commodity. Ransome, a famous correspondent during the first world war, was primarily concerned with the problem of how to get the truth out of such a fog—of how to get it out of the mouths of men concerned in the conduct of war, and of how to get it out of the minds of men who, like himself, were not in the confidence of those who were conducting it.

Ransome was not the only writer who found himself in this dilemma during the last war. Many correspondents, who were not in the confidence of those who were conducting it, found themselves in the same position. Growing Vegetables For Exhibition

Helpful hints for exhibitors of vegetables at fairs, and how best to grow them among the most coveted prize winners, are offered by J. Gallaher, Head Gardener, Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S. For root vegetables, dig a bed or long row, roughly three feet wide, feet for parsnips, less for carrots, and still less for beets and good turnips. Level off the surface and with a rake draw two long and about three inches in diameter, tapering to a point, make a hole the required depth. Fill the hole with good rich soil which has been put through a quarter-inch sieve, sow the seeds thinly on top, and when sure of a good stand, thin to one plant to a hole. Apply fertilizer at intervals, keep the weeds down and the surface loose, and water when necessary. Should the growers some also by the ground, cover them by drawing the soil up to them. Barrel and get the turnips may require a mixture of sand to lighten the soil so that few, if any, large branching roots may form. Great care must be taken that the plant is not distinguished in the thinning process, and at least twelve inches between the plants in the row.

Onion seed may be sown in February, transplanted in flats when quite young, and later to other flats and then planted to trail prepared land about the middle of May in rows 2 feet apart, plant 1 to 1½ feet apart in row. Avoid setting the plant too deep. The land should be trodden very firmly before planting, give frequent applications of a mixed fertilizer, and the surface kept loose by cultivation. Onions must be harvested before being bleached by the sun, and must shallow before they are ripe or near the surface.

A few days before the exhibition, dig the bulbs, do not pull them by their tops, shake off all soil from the roots and expose the bulb to the sun to dry. Handle with care at all times.

If celery and is sown before the middle of March the plants are likely to bolt early in the season, how thinly and transplant when quite small. Grow in well prepared soil enriched with plenty of rotted manure. Set the plants fifteen to eighteen inches apart in the row (eighteen inches is better). Occasionally, as the plants grow, earth up carefully, taking care that paper bands are placed around the stems because the soil will filter under the outer stalks. When the celery is about twelve inches high place boards twelve inches wide on each side of the row, about six inches away from the plants, and fill in the space between the boards (Hardwood now but is best). Another row of twelve-inch boards will be necessary to give the proper blanch of two feet. Instead of boards and sawdust for blanching, strong waterproof paper may be wound each plant, a long more to the row. Celery requires to grow rapidly and never check.

Lettuce should not be in a trough that contains water. The crowned seeding will cause rapid head. Water should be run on the stone from a spout leading from a container which is mounted at one end of the grindstone frame. The flow of water should be controlled by a duckboard on the spout.

Figures Novel Way to Raise Building Trusses

A new way to raise trusses for a building was used in Fort Saskatchewan last week.

Irne Timbers, who throughout the winter months, has been framing doors and building in order to erect a new one in house, a show store and shop to partners for the Saskatchewan Hardware Farm Machinery he has was going unused, everything he held for a couple of days.

Having laid the foundation and walls of the new building, ready for the building inner and ceiling, the problem now was how to raise the trusses he had built without the aid of an army of men with blocks and tackles to hoist them up.

He and Andy Jones put their heads together to discuss ways and means. Andy let drop the fact that he had rented a telephone pole from [illegible]

The boys decided that if a telephone pole could be raised why not trusses.

Andy went back to the farm and brought the hay hoist, which is hydraulically operated and the boys proceeded to put their scheme into operation

It took the boys with the help of two other men over an hour to figure out the best method of raising and setting in place the first truss. From then on things moved smoothly The other four trusses were raised and set into place in [illegible]

Mr. Dewar who was manager here for three years came from Neamith branch and had been in several branches of the bank in Alberta. He was a native of New Brunswick having been born in Shediac.

During the time the deceased was a resident of Fort Saska showed on he took an active part in all community affairs and is well remembered by a host of friends. He was a veteran of the First World War, having served three years with the Black Watch

The funeral was held in Calgary Tuesday, and besides relatives, a large number of the staff of the Royal Bank were present.

School Flashes

By devious methods and channels the rumor came to our attention that some citizens of our town are under the impression that we are selling tax bumf, things to the students, such as school rings and pins, crests, [illegible] etc.

May we point out that in a school of our size we try to foster a good school spirit, not just a passive one but a spirit that is alive and vigorous. We are proud of our school and for that reason we are proud to display our crest.

However, no student is pressured to buy any of the above; in fact, no student is even asked to buy. These articles are made available and if a student wishes, he or she places the order with our executive. Furthermore, all articles are sold at cost.

For Friday, March 22, we have planned a trip to Edmonton. We propose to leave the school at six o'clock with our first stop at the Silver Glade. At half past eight we shall forego our duties to attend one of the downtown shows. Then after partaking of lunch we shall start for home again.

Although basket ball equipment is being stored at the close of another hockey season, the volunteers to give up this well-loved sport for another year is appeased by the sudden arrival of spring-like weather.

No Injury Sustained in Aircraft Crack-Up Sunday at Fort

Lady luck was with Dick Bacon and Bennett Mann Sunday last when the tail skid of the Tiger Moth plane Dick was piloting caught on a wire fence and broke the top and bottom bolt's away.

In a somersault that left them a short time after the mishap, he said that he was taking Benny up for a ride, and turned out to the west end of the field, turned around and headed into an east wind when he was blowing at gusts of approximately 20 to 25 miles an hour He started across the field and was airborne after a run of about 200 feet.

Just after he left the ground there was a lull in the wind and his plane dropped. Missing the end of the field with a bothered wire fence was about 200 feet away, and thinking that he might hit it head on, he sideswiped to try and clear it, but his tail skid caught the top strand, throwing the plane off balance which resulted in it breaking the top skid and ten left wing

Dick just recently purchased the plane after successfully passing his pilots test in Calgary

Fortunately neither of the boys received even a scratch.

He flew the plane up from Calgary to Edmonton on Friday and on Saturday morning equipped it with skies at the Edmonton Airport, it was then checked by one of the engineers and O.K'd.

300 Years Work In Fifty Hours

Calculating machines are to me at the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research laboratories have shown spectacular results. Recently, for example, the Government Department started to work out a table of figures for a particularly urgent and complicated problem. After some time a man calculated that it would take nearly three hundred years to complete the table. They then appealed to B.A.I.S. for demonstrators who with their machines completed the union in fifty hours—and every figure had been checked and every checked for accuracy. Three mathematicians are now making a practical and valuable contribution to the United Kingdom industry's prosperity by taking from her shoulders a load of complicated statistical research.

TIMELY FARM NOTES

F. H. Newcombe, District Agriculturist, Edmonton

Fly Time—It begins to look as though Old Man Winter is on his last legs for this year and that before long we will be busily engaged in farm work. Still, I suppose no one would say that this is "Fly Time" since that is seldom if ever—in fact—in this country. It is the case however when a little effort expended will produce big dividends when "Fly Time" actually does occur.

Control—It is a little late to take up the matter of the Warble Fly Act but has been used as a witness that this pest is still a menace. Large numbers of farmers regularly treat their cattle. Judging however from the backs of the cattle we have seen lately there are many who still are not convinced that the Warble Fly is a menace.

The toll of farmers' profits exacted by this pest runs into the millions of dollars annually in the Dominion of Canada. When cattle are treated approximately half their present value, the loss per animal would be at least $5.00 per head and it is safe to say that

TO REVIVE TRADE: In preparation for the re-establishment of normal trade between Canada and the United States and Europe, Jean C. Pattenon has been appointed commercial manager for the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's hotel in London. Pattenon has been in London for many years, with his services loaned to the British Government for four of those years on war work. He returned to his London office in September, 1944, from Ottawa, where he was Canadian representative for the British Ministry of Supply.

Bacon Lost number. Three all the grubs do not "ripen" at the same time, three or after applications are necessary. As pointed out above, if no grubs escape there will be no Heel Flies.

The treatment of stable cattle is comparatively simple process. The treatment of range cattle, especially in large numbers, does present a rather serious complicated program since this class of cattle would require to be confined in small corrals. Hit stalls or run through a chute. Even with range cattle the results certainly justify the expense. After a little used cattle and in the comfort of the animals.

Darrie Best preparations are available at practically all drug stores and the particular brand or trade name is not important as all are believed to be effective The cost is negligible and does not warrant any search for a home-made substitute. One farmer reports satisfaction from the use of sand tractor oil. This practice is not recommended. It is believed that it might kill the grubs but subsoil

"It's something you girls shouldn't laugh at"

"Whether men's still are what it cost," said Mame to Cousin Edna, who was booking up the expense sheet. "But it's within the budget, you may be sure. Trust mother for that."

"Budgets sound extremely, especially on a day like this," Mame's mother admonished. "But we could never have given Elaine such a wedding unless we had budgeted. It's something you girls shouldn't laugh at.—Dad and I began budgeting on our wedding trip. We had to . . . and we just got home with a few cents margin.

"Isn't it an awful bother, though?"

"We'd be more bothered and worried without it. No, it's simple. First, we always set aside the money for That's life insurance; that means we have no worries about the future. Then we figure on so much a month for living expenses . . . and then? . . . with what's left we can be generous or save. That's the great thing . . . to feel when you're spending that the essentials and the future are taken care of. Then you can spend with an easy mind."

Budget for essentials first, remembering that one of the greatest essentials is future security . . . protection against adversity . . . and peace of mind in your old age. There can be no substitute for life insurance in any family budget.

How you, wherever you are, or a neighbour in the district, can help Canada. Ask him for advice in planning your future. It is a good citizenship to own life insurance.

Teen-Agers Tackle Nation

By Roger Hicks

Have you ever seen a play that moved you so much you forgot your self? After seeing "Dream Street Revels not" one is reminded of it. Indeed, I stepped down off his trunks "Holy smoke! I left my gut back in the theatre!

What is "Dream Street Revels not"? It is a play written by a gang of teen-agers who are out to capture $2 million kids of America with a big idea They have revealed against the drift and disunity of their gangs and the country, produced this play out of their own experiences, and set out to tackle the nation

For the past five months this gang of typical American kids has drawn crowds to see their play at Boston, New York, Detroit, Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles They have talked school assemblies and civic clubs, imagination of the kids They have seen the sights of a 4 day grand entree, and Hollywood, Calif., the leading citizens of all kinds, stayed in homes, and had all that is going on

Giving a Lead

To read about the state of the nation is one thing; but to feel it in your bones try travelling with them two dozen kids and thousand teen-age America. Your eye can quickly pass over a page of statistics showing juvenile riding the rising U.S. crime-wave, but you will never forget the red-shirted, swaying shape of a 16-year-old running down a mid-western highway, dead-drunk at nine in the morning And you will long remember kids talking about their "real" problems in the theatre lobby or, and they hunger for a way they hear "Dream Street Revels not".

Right across the country kids have talked with enthusiasm who they hope to meet, what they must have, and what they want to do.

They can't point to the jobs they feel don't exist. They have a mass of kids who appear to be grave statistics, but who are merely affecting the future of the country They are doing what they can, and the job is moving fast

The tragedy is that all this energy is endless. Even with a $2 million drama crowds to see their play, the kids are not getting enough encouragement to make the most of their energy—although they get a hand

The real problem is the state of the road? They come from all parts of the country and all kinds of backgrounds, but some of those sends from many kinds who were leaving last summer at the Mural Re-Armament World Assembly at Mack'nac

Their aim is not to start a new youth movement, but to use that the youth of the country, together with their families, spearhead a revolution that will make America think straight and love great Preparations are being made by the Alberta Motor Association to issue more than 100,000 strip or sectional highway maps shortly.

Before issuing them next map, the A.M.A. makes a careful check with the provincial public works department to obtain the latest up-to-date information concerning the highways. Then, every effort is made to provide authentic information.

These maps are distributed to branches of the A.M.A. in Edmonton, Calgary and Lethbridge. They also will be available at hotels, garages and filling stations

The ALA intends and purposes that it is going to be the medium of widespread and prevalent direct radio communication between New York and London.

It might be inferred that a building and a pole of this importance would be heavily guarded, but pedestrians were relied upon to afford protection. Radiograms

On March 4 CJCA's newsman announced for the first time that ear War Diary was available to the public. Since that day listeners have been told four times daily that it was a 20-page pamphlet containing more than 1700 World and Canadian events listed and dated chronologically from January 1939 to January 1946—available for a few cents to cover cost of mailing and handling.

This department's original piece called for 10,000 diaries to be distributed in one month. Publicity plans were to call upon radio, the press and billboards for assistance and direct entry into clearinghouse through mail and superintendents. The start was to be made over the radio only. All other media were held in abeyance.

Boom! Boom! Things happened in a hurry! Letters began pouring in . . . 400 the first day . . . 750 the second . . . 925 the third . . . 1165 the fourth day . . . and the 10,000 diaries vanished.

To date, more than 25,000 have been mailed out and letters continue pouring in at an average of 400 per day with each writer requesting anywhere from one to 10 diaries

CJCA's general office is flooded with letters, with cards, and with [illegible] stamps, dollar bills, postal notes and money orders.

And the demand for the diaries is so great that the sales are so varied and important as the writers them selves. But that's another story.

Three Sugar Coupons Valid in April

Three of the combined sugar-preserves coupons will be valid in April, 5-6 on April 4, 5-6 and 5-7 on April 15, the WPTB announces. This is not extra sugar, but part of yearly plan for sugar distribution It is stated.

During the current butter shortage it is felt that having three sugar-preserves coupons valid will give some relief by enabling people to purchase preserves or spreads instead of butter.

Posters, officials point out that although this is the second change in sugar in March it presents those who have saved up a few to buy simple syrup or sugar for canning purposes at the local rather than to wait for the regular coupon to that date. Purchase restrictions are not applied, nor is there any change from previous

An attendance of fifteen members was registered at the Willing Workers Club held Wednesday afternoon, March 13th, at the home of Mrs. Ralph Briggs. A cheque for five dollars was also forwarded to the Institute of the Blind.

A social evening, reminiscent of the good old days, sponsored by the Women's Club, and attended by residents of all ages from far and near, was held in the Community Hall on Saturday evening, March 16th.

Mrs. W. R. Chamberlain, in charge of the entertainment, provided games for tear-apers and smaller fry, and contests for all, including a musical quiz of Irish melodies, of which Mr. Adamson was top scorer. There were also old time dancing, grand march, square dances and supper waltz, the music rippling from the old piano under Mrs. Chamberlain's skilful fingers, and with Mr. Stuart Hawkins, caller-off and general ball-wether to lead the fun and frolic.

Mrs. R. Briggs, refreshment convenor, Bridget Hall served, with the help of her committee, a generous supper.

By midnight, after Mr. H. A. Craig had expressed for the company in general their thanks and appreciation to the oldsters and youngsters, enriched with food and play, were homeward bound, their way lighted by a full moon specially ordered for the Willing Workers party.

Clover Bar Village

Rev. C. E. Pocock will preach next Sunday, March 24th on the Clover Bar Circuit of the United Church. Mr. Pocock was formerly minister of the Highlands United Church, Edmonton. At present he is supervisor of the Sunday School and Lay Movement for Northern Alberta.

Miss Victoria Ryan and Mr. Fred Stephenson attended the C.G.I.T. and Teen Conference in Edmonton on March 8, 9 and 10.

The C.G.I.T. and Teen groups journeyed to Edmonton by bus for a roller-skating party on March 15th. Everyone reported having had a good time. Mr. C. E. McElroy provided the treat.

Mrs. J. Ryan who has been ill with the "flu" is now on the road to recovery.

We are sorry to hear that Mr. and Mrs. McConnell and family are moving to Edmonton in the near future. We wish them the best of luck in their new home.

Josephburg

Our bigbrood, with the exception of trouble spots, is in wonderful condition and the almost constant winds are doing their level best to remedy them. The sidehands, though possible for the most part, are decidedly bad. By night they are so rough and unpacking as to jeopardize one's health both by day as proof of it strip off one's Sam Brown in the fields is divided on a 50-50 basis between earth and atmosphere. Stubble begins to appear amid the waste, and even bare ground is in sight in places. There are those who maintain that Spring never really comes till that most elusive of feast days, Easter, arrives. If that obtains this year there is no hurry as yet to dewsie upon that Easter bonnet. In the South of the province some farmers are already upon the land, but Josephburg is not within the banana belt. It makes one wonder whether they have a Chinook brand of groundhog down there.

A new variety of gopchuck, yellow as a canary, with distinctive black markings about the rump resembling the kirk, has been observed lately around the school districts. The ordinary gopchuck, the middlemen fellow is dove grey colours, relieved by a dull wine coloured, is also present. We wish he would stay with us through the summer. In the early morning hour conversation centres on the whereabouts of prairie chickens. There are far too many magpies around for the health of bird conservation. These heartless nest-robbers destroy more birdlife than all other agencies put together. Regardless of nature, it is seldom they allow us to approach them within gunshot. A stiff bounty on their heads is the only solution to their depredations.

Josephburg Good Will Club, with a paid-up membership of twenty-eight, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hollingshead. Mrs. Albert Mohr, President was in the chair. Final arrangements for the social evening to be held in the schoolroom on Monday were completed. The entertainment committee consisting of Mrs. Albert Mohr, Mrs. Wilfred Mann and Leonard Mohr, felt their hand considerably strengthened with such powerful backing. Lunch will be sold to them, who fail to secure a line, the cold comfort being doubled by the reflection that the new method of distribution by means of individual lunches wrapped in waxed paper has proven an unqualified success.

A letter received from Beaver Hills W.A. enclosing a gift of twenty-five dollars toward the good cause. The treasurer reported the deficit the articles which each had undertaken for the Bazaar, and a resolution that the executive committee obtain from a tea-towel plainly marked G.W.C. was passed unanimously.

The C.G.I.T. girls held a successful Bazaar March 15. Unable to secure Edmonton talent local talent pitched in to help entertain. The girls report over $50 was raised.

Will Send Free Radio Messages

The Canadian Red Cross today announced its co-operation with the CBC international service in the inauguration of a new service which will commence immediately for the transmission short-wave of free personal radio messages to servicemen.

In a letter to the Society, the Department of External Affairs stated that it would appreciate the co-operation of the Canadian Red Cross in providing certain facilities as arranged with CBC for the sorting out of this service.

The service is particularly for the benefit of Canadian people who are unknown to human relatives and friends in Germany who were born in or were citizens of that country, and will be on the same basis as the service inaugurated last May and still in operation to Canadian chronics and Holland which has resulted in many thousands of letters being handled.

There will be no charge for these messages which are limited to fifty words, not including the address of the sender and the person to whom the message is directed. They must be of a purely personal nature with no reference to public affairs, business or money and must be addressed to a person, not a company or organization. They may be written in German, but translation in English is required on the reverse side of the form supplied by the Red Cross to facilitate their handling. It is important that the last known address of the residence of the person in Germany should be given even though the sender in Canada may not be sure of the present whereabouts of the relative at this time.

Those desiring to send such messages should communicate with their Cross Branch where forms will be supplied. These forms will be sent to the Red Cross Enquiry Bureau which will immediately despatch them to the International Service of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation where they will be broadcast in both German and English.

It is stressed that this service is of a temporary nature and will be operated only until normal mail service is re-established. It is also pointed out that the service will not compete in any way with that of the cable companies, as no messages will be accepted where the person address is known of the person to whom the message is directed.

EFFICIENT MAIL ORDER SERVICE

Radiograms

During the first two weeks that the War Diary has been offered the printing order has been increased four times—from ten thousand to twenty—then to thirty and finally to 35,000. At the rate the mail continues to pour in daily, it is doubtful whether the present order will last long.

Bulk orders for classroom use are on the way. Thousands of pupils in all parts of Alberta—in portions of British Columbia and Saskatchewan, too—the remote areas of the Northwest and in many states to our south—find the Diaries worth their value in gold. Combinations of letters—ranking out the dozen—and tabulating the requests has developed into an interesting pastime in CJCA's general offices.

Synthetic Sound

Newest developments in the field of film sound show possibilities of creating an entirely new world of moving expression. Experiments with synthetic sound conducted recently by the National Film Board have led musicians to believe that in the future film music will be even more versatile and distinct than ever before.

Ordinarily, music composed to accompany a film when played is recorded as light waves or as sound track negative. The combination is developed and printed just as snapshots are. The resulting print can be projected in a camera which converts the sound track into the music as originally recorded.

Synthetic sound on the other hand, is produced by the camera itself. Instead of recording directly onto the film, the sound of this new way of making sound is not to attempt to imitate exactly any orchestral instrument but to consider it as a new musical instrument in itself. Its main features are the incredible speed and complexity of which it is capable, excelling any other known traditional instrument in this respect.

Dirty, thinned-out oil means incomplete lubrication of bearing surfaces, excessive wear and costly repairs—sooner or later. Dirty oil causes deposits of sludge, carbon and varnish in the engine of your truck and tractor, with resulting loss of power. Dirty oil not only "gums up" your engine, but its impurities give it excessive properties—it may start to cut into metal surfaces. These you're headed for trouble.

Tough, heat-resistant Marvelube gives real protection. It keeps your engine free from damaging deposits. For a lively, smooth running engine, fill up with Marvelube now. Marvelube is the quality lubricant that gives trouble free performance.

NOW THE LID IS OFF

When war was declared in 1939, officers of the Canadian National Railways knew the transition to peace job that the company would be called upon to perform. Hundreds of miles of lines and war materials would have to be shopped to the United Nations from Canada and America over piers to Halifax for overseas. By rail, the Atlantic port is served only by the Canadian National Land Rail railway in Moncton, the C.N.R. emerged from the depression with a minimum of equipment. To keep the essential supplies moving, not a single delay could occur; cars would have to be unloaded and make a quick turnabout. How this big task was done can now be told. A lighterage pier 600 feet long and 300 wide was built with four railway tracks to handle 50 cars. The foundation took 1,000 piles and the pier 1,700,000 feet of timber. More than 100 lighters, 110 feet long, 34 wide and eight-and-a-half deep with a capacity of 600 tons each, were constructed. A 250-car yard was set up. Housing for the 300 C.N.R. employees needed to transfer the new supplies to the lighters was erected in 152 days. Over 72,000,000 tons of ore equipment was handled. In a single hour 100 C.N.R. trains were loaded and despatched to Halifax from a Canadian mainland depot. Not a single delay was caused in handling the essential equipment and supplies from the Railway during almost six years of war. In the upper photograph a convoy of 84 ships is shown ready to steam out of Bedford Basin at Halifax, while in the lower C.N.R. employees are unloading T.N.T. from a freight car direct to a lighter on a shore with a R.C.M.P. officer on guard. Convoys as large as 125 ships were loaded from the lighters.

British Schoolboy Gunmen Find Something Bigger to Shoot For

By Major Stephen Peet, D.S.O.

It began with cream papers—quite a help to have a look at them the day before the exam. Thus the gang stole the Colour Sergeant's equipment. The success of that raid established Robert as their leader.

Sten guns and Home Guard uniforms came next. Then mufflings. One of the gang shot a policeman, another boy beat his master and shot himself. The Headmaster had a conference with the Head, and some of the parents. They found no solution.

A book changed a gang of toughs into a group of patriots.

It was "Innocent Men", written by Peter Howard (formerly publicist minister for the Benevolent Press in England, who has recently been in the United States with Moral Re-Armament), and lent by one of the teachers to a shy, stuttering boy, because of the stens and the "shop" by Robert's standards. But Robert could not help being interested when Myrddin jumped 15 planes in steam and received a place on the Junior Football team. Robert wanted to know what had happened to Myrddin as he read "Innocent Men".

Just at this time the police were hot on the trail of the gang, and Robert was finding himself desperate. He went to see Myrddin, to talk things over. The result was a revolution in his life. Listening to God started him on a program of complete honesty to the police and putting things right with the Headmaster and Home Guard Commander. The gang found a new kind of direction. They also found real toughness.

Before long they were going into action together telling youth clubs about their new program. They interviewed mayors and talked about juvenile delinquency. They won't now; many people did that. But then there boys talked about the cure they had found. Nobody had done anything like it.

During the holidays the gang went to Scotland and helped in the distribution of the patriotic handbook "Battle Together for Britain." They visited leading industrialists, miners' and other Trade Union leaders, education directors, Headmasters.

The President of the International Institute of Scotland says of them, "In all my years of experience among youth, I have never before seen a group of boys showing such initiative and taking responsibility for the problems of the nation."

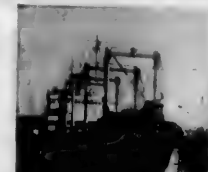
DYSENTERY IN BEES

Colonies of bees suffering from dysentery in the cellar before it is time for them to be removed can often be saved by bringing them out early, placing them in cases and packing them with plaster, chaff or old bags, says the Dominion Apiarist. The bees will then have an opportunity of taking a cleansing flight as soon as the weather permits.



BEAVER SHIPS RETURN: Canada sending United kingdom-war-loaned assets to the former Soviet boat when the Canadian Pacific steamship Beaver left Saint John, N.B., in March, one of her maiden voyages from Liverpool. The Beaver was first freighter in making homeward voyage of the Atlantic in less than war, and second since she established the service with a fleet of 14 cargo ships to replace the original fleet wiped out in the early days of the war. The Beaver is an example of the latest developments in shipbuilding and engineering. She is powered by two Diesel engines of 1,800 horsepower each, driving twin screws. She has a speed of 16 knots and a cruising radius of 12,000 miles. Her propelling unit is turbo-electric, in which steam generated in the boilers drives the turbines which turns the propeller shaft. Electric motors are used to control the speed of engines between ship's [illegible]. TIMELY FARM NOTES

TARTARIAN BUCKWHEAT

[illegible] time, weed control [illegible] the primary problems which must be faced by a farmer today. It has been pointed out that about fifty percent of the cost of land cultivation in this district is occasioned by the presence of weeds of one kind or another.

Family enough since they are a seasonal problem, most of the talking about them is done at the time when their effects are evident, namely in the growing season. It would seem however that part time consideration of this problem is not going to be adequate and that if effective control is to be obtained the problem must be kept in mind throughout almost twelve months of the year. It seems almost unnecessary to state at this stage of the game that are farmers who still do not recognize some of our worst weeds. One should be indeed glad if he did recognize them on his own farm, but common sense would indicate the necessity of knowing them by sight i.e. either the growing plant or the seed.

These observations spring from an instance during the last few days in which one farmer purchased from another oats from this sample of oats contained by conservative estimate forty percent of the seed of Tartarian buckwheat. Anyone who has had experience in cleaning grain will realize that if this much buckwheat was present in the screenings some at least must certainly remained in the grain. The sad ending to this story is that the farmer after being warned as to what he was introducing to his farm, took the grain home and so far as we know at present is intending to seed it.

Tartarian Buckwheat is an annual weed and quite a serious one in that it is almost impossible to remove it from threshed wheat. Ten percent of this weed seed in a sample of commercial wheat will cause it to be "rejected" and every farm, or knows what this would mean in dollars and cents. The plant itself resembles very much ordinary wild buckwheat. The seed also resembles the seed of wild buckwheat but can easily be distinguished from it in that it is not shiny and the corners of the seed have a slight wing on them.

It is not difficult to kill the plant since it responds to the same treatment as other annual weeds. Its danger however lies in the fact that as indicated above, once it has become prevalent on a farm it practically precludes satisfactory wheat production.

This warning therefore is given because if any farmer is not acquainted with it he may be others also. Farmers purchasing seed should examine it very closely. Elevator men can assist by pointing it out if they discover it. Above all every farmer should know all of the common weeds and if he discovers a plant either he does not recognize, he shou'd have it identified by someone who is in a position to do so.

Q. Lately upon taking a deep breath I have been bothered by a pain on my right side. Is there any harm in this?

A. This condition may be due to pleurisy. Unless accompanied by fever or other symptoms no harm is likely to result. A chest X-ray would be informative.

Q. What digestive symptoms occur in tuberculosis?

A. Perhaps loss of appetite is the earliest. Persistent digestive disturbances should lead you to have a chest X-ray.

Readers desiring questions answered are asked to send them to Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary, where immediate attention and early reply will be given.

Jobs Follow Organization

But Employers and Workers Must Assist

During the war organization of manpower was made possible through co-operation of employers and workers.

This co-operation is no less necessary to assist in organizing the employment market during the present critical period.

Some manpower controls still remain. These are still law. There are minor changes coming in organizing the employment market.

Remaining controls are designed to help employers and workers—and actually require only minor assistance from the public.

YOU ARE URGED TO COMPLY WITH THE FOUR CONTROLS WHICH REMAIN:

1—Employers MUST notify the National Employment Office of any need for workers, as soon as that need is known.

2—Where employers engage workers outside the National Employment Service they MUST notify the nearest NES Office within three days, that an employee has been engaged. (Form NES 312 is provided for this purpose.)

3—Unemployed workers seeking employment MUST register with the National Employment Office if unemployed for seven consecutive days.

4—Generally speaking, any employer or employee MUST give seven days' notice to the other party of any intention to terminate employment. (Form NES 120 is still required.) Exceptions may be learned from the nearest NES Office.

The purchase to industry—employers and employees—should help the National Employment Service to promote a high level of employment by complying with these simple rules.

Only with public support can an employment service give full assistance to the community.

Make full use of the Local Office of the National Employment Service. It is there to serve your needs, and those of the entire Community.

Cooking Lake

(NOT TO STRIKE TILL LATE)

Another Transport Strike! Last Saturday evening complaints of pedestrians, (an unusual sight nowadays) came to be seen going out somewhere along the Cooking Lake highway. Very soon loyal members of the West Cooking Lake community, on their way to the Griffin Card Party, held in the interests of the new hall. The reason for the unusual pedestrianism was a steel-sheer strike. "We protested" by all cars, a strike so unusual as to give one the strange feeling that witches and warlocks had sent about their business, watched Doctor Norman Vincent Peale "turned teeth".

In spite of this rebellion, however, whether unpleased from above or below, a goodly company eventually arrived at the Griffin home, on-sight players for five tables. And later on a supper table was required for further hunger pains.

At the close of play the leading four were Mr. Bell, Bell and Hunter, Nora Young, with the two at the rear were Harvey Harrison, representing a lady, and Jim Gainsby Simple but useful prizes were awarded.

A comedy lunch was served by friendly gossips chatting in the kitchen. Afterwards, during a lull in the conversation, a collection was taken, resulting in the generous sum of $6.55 for the new West Cooking Lake Hall. The card party will be held at the Pembina Community Hall.

WEST COOKING LAKE

Mellony Wiest was the enjoyable guest of honour at a party given by Mr. and Mrs. J. Kephart last Friday evening for their beautiful daughter, Mellony, numbered in the interests of West Cooking Lake Community Hall.

Five tables were required and many, many flags; also guest pictures on the part of Mrs. J. Kephart, who had to instruct the "young" players in the fundamentals of "calling" operations". At the close of 13 well fought engagements, Mrs. Gordon Wiest, Table No. 1 defended by Mr. Colen, Mrs. McLean, and Mr. and Mrs. R. Hosking, Jr., were declared very acceptable prizes. The table which entertained more than one hundred in the account of No. 1 was No. 4, for not a flag could it boast as the location of festivities. Mrs. Wiest was compelled to harvest flags in order to pay homage to the visitors.

FRANCE SEEKING 20,000 HORSES IN CANADA

Mothers and young. Please increase your stock. Such was the message delivered by W. L. Watson, manager of the Montreal Horse Parade, while at a dinner attended by the leader representatives of the trade and industry in Montreal last week. Other members of the French mission were Albert Pratt, left, and Paul Hatchuel, right, standing before three of the newly acquired animals at the Montreal Horse Parade.

Nothing more important to the war-torn Allied countries of Europe than the rapid rehabilitation of their agriculture to fight starvation, and France is no exception. Before the spring farm operations are begun, she plans the horses killed or stolen by the German Army of occupation, the French Government has sent a purchasing mission to Canada to attempt to obtain 20,000 horses from this country.

The mission, which is headed by the chief of the agriculture and rationing division of the French supply council in Algiers, Albert Pratt, has been in Canada for a few weeks only but has made very active use of the Canadian National Railways Montreal Stock Yards. Already 700 horses have been purchased and started on their long journey to France in two C.N.R. special trains. Each train carries 200 passengers who are made to care for.

The 20,000 to be selected will come from Quebec, Ontario, Western Canada and the Maritimes, with preference given to the latter region for France.

BEE BEES

Do you keep quards in place on power shafts, belts and chains, to prevent being caught in them? Farm accidents seem to be always with us—on a B. T. Staghanson Agricultural Engineer, but their frequency is certainly be reduced by proper operation of power machinery.

All tractors manufactured at present are required to be equipped with a hydraulic governor, which automatically keeps the engine speed constant with respect to power absorbed. Tractor manufacturers are also supplying safety fluid governors for tractors manufactured before these stand-ards were set up.

Keep all shields and guards in place always—stop machinery to adjust and oil. When machinery becomes clogged, disconnect power before cleaning. Keep hands, feet and clothing away from power driven parts. Keep off implements to use a seat or platform is provided, and keep others off. There are enough hazards in farming without going out of your way to encounter them.

COW TESTING AND BREED RECORDING

In view of the tremendous herd improvement that is resulting from the Cow Testing devotion, every dairyman should consider the system of milk recording and cow testing, and know what each cow in his herd is producing.

During the year 1945, eighty-nine herd owners tested 1,178 cows under the Provincial Cow Testing Service. Of this number, 749 cows rather conservatively estimated on an eight month milking period. The saving production of these cows was 304 pounds of butterfat. When this is compared with the provincial average production per cow of 165 pounds, it is quite evident that where herd owners are supplying a record of milk and butterfat production, the breeding and feeding of the dairy herd has been conducted along sound lines, as indicated by an increase of 140 pounds of butterfat per cow over the average of the province.

Even more startling differences in production exist in the herds of owners in the Greatest Herd Average Butterfat Competition sponsored by the Alberta Dairymen's Association and the Alberta Department of Agriculture. The average of the four highest producing herds on the Cow Testing Service, comprising over 70 cows, was almost 500 pounds of butterfat, or more than three times the provincial average.

The Dairy Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, Edmonton, offers a system of Cow Testing available to all herd owners in the province. Full information can be obtained on enquiry.

SHEEP

Shorn wool production in Canada in 1946 totalled 14,512,000 pounds. Alberta led all provinces with shorn wool production of 4,000,000 pounds.

Wool production about one quarter of the calories and protein Canadian people consume. The amount of protein consumed in Canada is almost as much as that obtained from meat, poultry, game and fish combined.

"They Get Their Men"

The tyrann of public service CJCA offers their listeners one numerous and varied. Livestock prices, weather reports, hockey flashes, announcements or activities of community welfare organizations, articles lost and found, fund-raising campaigns are just a few.

But one of the most unique yet least known services is CJCA's "missing persons" department and the co-operative set-up between CJCA, the R.C.M.P. and the City Detective Department.

Here's how it works. A person wishing to locate another, calls at CJCA. The necessary information is listed, then the enquirer is sent to the police (City or R.C.M.P., depending on possible whereabouts of person) where he passes on the information they require.

This completed, the police phone CJCA with the "go signal" and in a few minutes the appeal is made. This system eliminates duplication, confusion and over-lapping. CJCA reaps the fame to the police who in turn notify the enquirer when information is received.

Many persons have been located on very meager information. Others lost for years have turned up. Last week a lady in Ontario located a man in Alberta whom she had not seen nor had not known for over 30 years.

It's amazing how quickly and how often someone turns up with some information that helps locate the person in question.

A great leader never sees himself above his followers except in carrying responsibilities. — John Ruskin.

"Sunshine in sealed packages", that is what eggs have been called. Can you imagine the plight of the housewife and the chaos of the kitchen should our eggs suddenly go on strike? Many households from Great Britain know the difficulties and have had to face the problem during war years, when egg supplies were so limited, of preparing the family's favourite dishes without eggs. However, they have surprised their appreciation for Canada's restrictions of dried eggs, which enabled them to [illegible] and now [illegible]

Eggs are a versatile, economical food and should find their way to almost all meals, either by themselves or in a wide variety of combinations. There is an old saying "not eggs and love [illegible] which aptly describes their beneficial qualities.

Eggs are a portable food. To maintain their original quality eggs should be properly stored. Keep them in a clean, cool, dry, well-ventilated place. In temperature also plays an important role in successful egg cookery. A low even heat gives a palatable, tender product, which is easily digested.

The Food Inspection of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, say that leftover whites will keep for several days if tightly covered and stored in a cool place. However, never allow them to freeze. They may be used in sauces, icings, meringues, fillings, in cakes and puddings, crêpes, omelettes and angel food cakes. Leftover egg yolks may be hard cooked by dropping them into simmering salted water for 15 minutes. They may then be served and added to sauces, French dressing or used to garnish a salad.

World of Wheat

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

The Canadian Wheat Board has ordered that all mills and processors buy wheat each month the amount of wheat used monthly for domestic milling or processing, to 90 percent of the wheat used during the corresponding month in 1945. The world wheat crop of 1945 is reported in India; the population faces serious famine conditions.

Argentina's corn crop is estimated to total between 187 and 210 million bushels. Despite the heavy damage—It is reported that about 50,000 tons of wheat destined for Finland, Yugoslavia and Czechoslovakia have been diverted to Italy to help combat famine conditions. Further cuts have helped the overall picture for Northern Europe and North Africa.

Men become fit for freedom when they unite for what is right, not when they divide over their right.

In The Provincial Legislature

By Floyd M. Baker M.L.A.

The closing week of the 3rd Session of the Alberta Legislature was highlighted by discussion on two items. Bills, as an Act respecting the rights of Alberta citizens, and the other a Health Bill.

The Act respecting the rights of Alberta citizens is preambled by a list of undeniable fact. It points out that this country has fought two world wars for the declared purpose of assuring a better democratic society in which all people will receive a better share of the [illegible] and material resources of the country. One would say that [illegible] the people, and the conditions will do the same thing unless we exercise our moral responsibility in such a way that the freedom and security for which men and women fought may be experienced [illegible]

TIMELY FARM NOTES

F. B. Newcombe, District Agriculturist, Edmonton

DO NOW AHEAD

The good work done in Alberta in the control of Bacillus Bang Infection to cattle herds and the Alberta Department of Agriculture is urging all who grow potatoes to help them keep this destructive disease at bay. The caution has been greatly emphasized by the introduction in 1946 of seed potatoes of the pure strains of large quantities of table potatoes and were brought in. It cannot be too strongly stressed that these potatoes are strictly table potatoes and were brought in to relieve the shortage due to poor crops last year. Many of the imported potatoes are known to be infected with a mosaic disease affecting the seed portion of them and all—Ring Rot. On no account be persuaded to use these American table potatoes for seed. Those who have not had experience with the disease should remember that Ring Rot may be recognized by the presence of light, soft, creamy rot in the potatoes just further than one has stuck one spot of infection has become the moisture

Make your seed is good. If you have not sufficient of your own try to obtain it from a neighbor whose crop is known to be free from disease Don't use for seed any potatoes grown from your local store unless you know definitely that they came from a source free from disease. Don't buy the Dominion Tag nor Dominion Stamp and don't accept substitutes.

The planting of Ring Rot infected seed potatoes is only one of the ways Ring Rot may be spread. It can be carried in manure that has been fed to animals which have eaten infected potatoes.

VACCINATE TO PREVENT LOSS

Dr. P. B. Talbot, Provincial Veterinarian, reminds us that vaccination is an important aid in the control of contagious abortion. Calfhood vaccination against Bang's disease, the contagious abortion organism, Bacillus Abortus (Bang-Bacterium), has been found extremely successful in controlling this disease. Dr. Talbot points out that calfhood vaccination against Bang's Disease, are preventable by vaccination, and all live stock owners should see that their animals are protected before possibilities of outbreaks of Bang's disease during the spring months.

The prevention of diseases depends upon two procedures, says Dr Talbot. First, in keeping the disease away from the animals, and secondly, in controlling the disease against those diseases that have already gained entrance. Vaccination is one of the most important means of control.

CLEANING FARM DAIRY UTENSILS

From the Dairy Commissioner, D. H. McCallum, comes word that cleaning of farm dairy utensils is usually the greatest single factor affecting the keeping quality of milk and cream. It may even be the greatest factor in milk contamination. To keep farm dairy utensils in the most satisfactory condition they must be free from dust, dirt, milk and open seams, the presence of which makes cleaning and sterilizing impossible.

To clean and sanitize utensils the milk should be thoroughly rinsed out of the utensil with lukewarm (not hot) water immediately after use. The utensil should be scrubbed with a clean brush (not a cloth) in a wash tank of hot water containing a dairy washing powder Any common brand of washing powder containing a "wetting agent" may be used by following the directions on the package. Most dairy plants as well as dairy houses, can supply such washing powder in convenient packages. The utensil should then be rinsed thoroughly to clean hot water

Sterilization completes the process and is always necessary to destroy harmful bacteria.

STERALIZATION OF DAIRY UTENSILS

Methods of sterilization of farm dairy utensils, recommended by the Dairy Branch of the Alberta Department of Agriculture, are:

1 Heat treatment—Subjecting—all utensil to a special hot air oven for a minimum temperature of 180 degrees F. for half to one hour

2 Boiling Water—Utensils should be submerged in boiling water. Sterilizing the utensils with a ten bottle of boiling water from the cook stove is entirely inadequate.

3 Chemical treatment—A fresh solution of sodium hypochlorite, prepared according to directions on the package, should be brushed or sprayed on to every part of the equipment so that it is wet for at least five minutes. Chlorine compounds lose their germicidal effect with time and should only be purchased in small quantities.

If sterilization is accomplished by means of dry heat or boiling water, it should be done immediately after washing. The chemical treatment is more effective just before using the utensil.

The Recipe Corner

In planning meals for the home keep these points in mind: It is necessary to think of them first Milk, Uses, in a food in its entirety.

THE home economists of the Dominion Department of Agriculture say that it is easy to plan dishes that have the required amount of milk for the children and still appeal to the adult members of the family Milk soups, scalloped dishes and many delicious desserts carry a large proportion of milk and yet are not suggestive of baby food.

The save of milk in the home is very important. As soon as possible after delivery, the milk should be taken into the house and put immediately into the refrigerator or other cool place. The bottle and cap should be washed, before putting away, in order to remove sediment and stir into consommé

The ceremony was picked up on the spot by three CJCA radiomen who flew to Whitehorse for the occasion. It was fed to CJCA's recording studios in Edmonton over the telephone lines that were specially installed by the C.C. Bethel Signal Battalion.

This line, incidentally, is part of the Canadian-owned Canadian operation since the ceremony

The historic ceremonies lasted 15 minutes—very economical in time entirety; then the program was condensed into a 15-minute broadcast. It was released over CJCA later the same day

Program of Whitehorse ceremonies at 2:30 It was then 4:30 in Edmonton

Marvel Maheux, assistant engineer; Gordon Shotts, operator, and Ed Bryant, announcer, handled the broadcast at the Whitehorse end. Gordon Shillabeer and Doug Bennett-ordnan were on the receiving end, in the studios of Edmonton.

As an added feature of the day's broadcasting, Ed Bryant whipped up a story of Whitehorse, the home of Sam McGee" and was hooked up on Canadian Bison broadcast of the ceremony. These events mark the ninth and tenth times that CJCA has brought Canadian listeners simultaneous ac- of Canada's vast northwest.

On an elevated spot on the Alaska Highway, nine miles above Whitehorse, Honorable Ray Atherton, U.S. Ambassador to Canada, representing the United States, "handed over" the operation and maintenance of the Alaska Highway telephone communications and airfields, to General A. Laundry Men's Hats Invisible by Machine

Shortly before the outbreak of war, a United Kingdom firm, specializing in producing machines for marking laundry linen, placed on the market an apparatus which stamps linen invisible the cypher can be read only by the laundry-worker with the aid of a specially ruled wood mercury vapor discharge lamp. Twenty five workers were employed in the small factory. During the war laundry requisites were forgotten—the firm under took to make components parts for aircraft. An appeal was issued for part-time workers and soon 1,500 local people had responded to the call; during the ensuing years 25,000,000 component parts were processed. "If these women hadn't volunteered to help us", said a manager, "it would have taken our pre-war staff 40 years to do the work." Now the factory has been adjusted to the making of laundry marking machines again.

PULP AND PAPER PRICES ADJUSTED

Following examination of operating results in the pulp and paper industry, an increase of $5 a short ton in prices ceilings, averaging about 7 percent at the producers' level has been authorized by the Prices Board. With the exception of newsprint manufacturers have been allowed to the industry since the imposition of the price ceiling, Chairman Donald Gordon pointed out.

Price increases at the consumer level should be negligible, although the new prices will serve as maintaining high levels of production for domestic and export markets, the Chairman stated.

Radiograms

John Q. Public likes its information given frankly, briefly, direct. If This is probably the main reason why Stan Rose, CJCA announcer on current Canadian affairs, is so popular with the listeners. Mr. Rose has a knack of putting his finger on the topic that seems to be the immediate public concern, then he gives his views on the subject "straight from the shoulder" He assures us boards. He presents both sides of the picture fairly and squarely then leaves it to the listener to form his own opinion.

Occasionally he "steps on the toes" of some, but Mr Rose contends that as long as the "toe stepping" is all in the interests of a better community he's doing his duty as a radio commentator and as a citizen of Canada.

Mr Rose's method of presentation has loomed his popularity to great heights. Today he is considered as one of the best. If not the best, radio commentator in Canada. He commands a very large listening audience on CJCA daily Monday through Friday at 12:15 noon

Appointed Superintendent

Frank Reed, who has been appointed General Superintendent, Alberta District, Canadian National Railways, succeeding S. F. Dingle, transferred to Montreal as Chief of Transportation. Mr. Reed started railroading in 1911 as a telegraph agent with the Canadian Northern Railway at Roosevelt, Minn. He held various positions until September, 1920, when he was appointed chief despatcher at Biggar, Sask., with headquarters at Saskatchewan. In January, 1923, he was moved to Prince Albert in the same capacity. He was later assistant superintendent at Edson and in May, 1926, was made Superintendent of Transportation at Edmonton. In May, 1944, he was transferred to Fort Arthur as Superintendent, which position he has held until his present appointment as General Superintendent for Alberta

NO CEILING, BUT PRICES ARE STEADY

No significant changes, and no unexpected increases are reported following a WPTB survey in 12 Canadian cities of prices on goods from which ceiling prices have been suspended

Checking prices of cosmetics, proprietary medicines, household remedies and pharmaceuticals, investigators observed that there had been as many prices declines as price increases. The only case in which any general or substantial price rise was recorded was in sterling silverware. The increase was expected, according to the Board, in view of the rise in price of refined silver in world price level.

AHA Consider Road Cost Figures Fantastic

Claims that $17,500,000 has been received by the provincial government during the past five years from motor taxes, also motor vehicle operators' fees, and has been diverted from motorists' to other purposes, was made in Calgary by the Alberta Motor Association in a statement prepared by Aubrey Clarke, president of the association.

The statement was a reply to announcements made by Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works, at the recent session of the legislative assembly that receipts from automobile licenses had been exceeded by the expenditures on road repairs and building projects in recent years.

$18,000,000

The statement was recently published from the public accounts showing that the net debt charged to the total revenues received for motor taxes by the provincial government from 1927 to 1940, and estimated for 1940, exceeded road expenditures by

"At the commencement of the year 1921, which was the year chosen by the minister of highways for the purpose of his recent statement to the legislative assembly, there was an unpaid debt for road purposes of almost 8¼ million dollars, including interest. That debt, and all subsequent expenditures in excess of revenues, had been fully repaid in the province with 5 per cent interest by March, 1940.

"Since March, 1940, there has been collected in motor taxes, according to figures supplied by the department of public works, 11¼ million dollars more than the total expenditures on roads. The figures of the department, however, disclose a glaring error, because there is included in the expenditures for 1940-1946, over six million dollars for interest and sinking fund, although the entire road debt had been fully repaid by March, 1940.

"The net result is that since March, 1940, eleven millions and one-half dollars, plus this six million dollars, a total of 17½ million dollars has been received by the government from motor taxes, over and above all expenditures, and has been diverted from road to other purposes.

"In his recent statement, Mr. Fallow told the legislative assembly that from 1921 to 1940, 79½ million dollars had been spent for highway purposes, and expenditure of nearly 8¼ million dollars

"The figures also show that included as expenditures were over 18 million dollars for debt charges between 1921 and 1940, whereas the unpaid debt charges in 1921 so appears from the Metallurgy Commission Report were only about half that amount, and all of the with interest was repaid by 1940.

"The figures supplied by the minister to [illegible] in 1940 he intended an increase in expenditures over the million dollars for alleged road debt charges, which in fact did not exist at all. Moreover, still, nearly half of this six million dollar figure admittedly, does not appear in the public accounts at all.

"The result is that so far from the [illegible] been [illegible] taxes, the fact is that over [illegible] million dollars have been diverted from motorists during the 1921 to 1940 period, more than was spent on the roads. In addition over 1 million dollars in grants-in-aid were also included in the minister's figures for road expenditures, and were also provided by the Dominion government and not by the province.

"The total revenues collected in excess of provincial expenditures from 1921 to date are thus increased to over 32 million dollars.

"It is felt by the Alberta Motor Association that its public reputation of the minister's figures as fantastic, is thus fully justified, and the association notes with approval and gratitude, that neither the premier of this province nor any other responsible minister in any way concurred in statements such as those above referred to which were of a complete variance with the facts."

Imperial Oil Net Profits Show Increase

Net profits of Imperial Oil from its sales in Canada increased slightly in 1945 over those in 1944 the company's annual report states.

During the past year approximately 1,231,000,000 gallons of products were sold at an average net profit of four-fifths of a cent per gallon. This compares with 1,207,000,000 gallons at an average net profit of approximately three sevenths of a cent per gallon in 1944.

Earnings from investments, mostly in South American, were $5,251,000.70, and this brought the total operating income of the company to $50,502,227.15 or 51.62 cents per share.

The report reveals that the company has at twenty plans for building and modernization refinery and pipeline facilities going back, are lost during the war are to be replaced and the company plans to build three lake tankers in Canada. A fourth tanker of ocean size has been added to the fleet recently. Upon a month 50 personnel of whose company's men are who served in the armed forces and were known to be discharged were again in the company's employ at the end of 1945.

Some people are so busy doing nothing they never have time to do anything.

Q. Does completing the island campaign mean tuberculosis?

A. No, but may occur in other dominions of the king, such as branchiostoma, cancer abscess, etc. When all other causes are be found, tuberculosis should be suspected.

Q. When a person has pleurisy with effusion, does that mean TB?

A. No; but when no other cause can be found, tuberculosis must be suspected. Other pneumonia and diseases of the lungs must be excluded by wet pleurisy

Readers deserving questions answered are asked to send them to Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary, where careful attention and early reply will be given.

Landings Made Easier For Flying-Boats

Brandt flying-boat manufacturers have constructed a new device which should prove of vital importance to flying-boat traffic. Richter flying-boat landings were credited with certain difficulties. When flying-boats could not reach the anchor-buoy under their own power the assistance of boats was had to be towed to the buoy and even then mooring was often a danger. The new device, which is practicable and dangers will now be completely eliminated by its use, is workable. In future, flying-boats will simply alight near the intended landing place. The pilot hails his mechanic who is now called supported by his assistant, which engages an automatic pick-up point in the tail end of the aircraft. The pilot then merely has to swing the flying-boat round so as to engage another pick-up point in the tail and moor to the buoy, using

Hollow Grass Stem

The stems of the many species of true grasses, generally called culms, are hollow except in nodes, in which they are solid but are closed at intervals with variously colored swollen parts called nodes or joints. Botanists point out that rye, barley, oats and wheat are so truly grasses as Bendex Foxtrot Bed Top and Timothy.

The Recipe Corner

There is no vegetable more easily made than "Mommy potato as the British Ministry of Food describes it, which, by the way does not mean that the potato is only and plain in appearance, but rather, that it is a much used food in every home in Britain. Travelling a the rate of approximately 186, 000 miles per second, these impulses pass through the wire and finally reach the receiver at the other end. Here they are changed back into sound waves, which are picked up by the ear.

What happens is this: The vibrations in the air caused by our speaking into the telephone mouthpiece make a sensitive diaphragm vibrate in sympathy. This diaphragm controls an electrical value which varies the strength of the electrical current flowing through the wire. In the receiver at the other end a similar diaphragm is pulled backward and forward by the fluctuating current and in turn causes vibrations in the air. The resulting sounds are the same as the ones spoken into the mouthpiece. Hence sound waves are merely transformed into electrical impulses at one end of the line and are reconverted at the other end into sound vibrations.

Seed Protection and Conservation

[illegible] Famine again stalks the earth. In Europe and the Far East millions of people are on a peril of starvation. To ease the plight of world-wide famine Canada is trying her utmost as much food as possible. This spring, therefore, prairie farmers are urged to protect and conserve their seed-grain supplies.

Seed Protection. Seed treatment is seed protection. Proper treatment of seed and not only controls the destructive soil-borne smut diseases, but also protects the seed and young seedlings from soil-inhabiting organisms that cause seed decay, pre-emergence blight, seedling blight, and root rot.

It is our firm belief that all seed of wheat, oats and barley should be treated this spring unless the farmer is satisfied that he need is already [illegible] and free from smut.

Seed Conservation. There should be no reluctance on the part of prairie farmers to do their utmost in conserving seed. Baskets of valuable grain can be saved if certain practical precautions are taken during seeding operations. A few of these are: (1) Do not use leaky seeds or grain-drums for seed; (2) Lift the seed shelf whenever it is possible to save grain; (3) Avoid sowing seed too early or too late; (4) Maintain the seed drill in good working order. Watch individual grain drills for skips, misses, etc.; and (5) Treat enough seed for your 1946 planting requirements only. Seed treated with a mercury dust can not be used for commercial purposes or fed to livestock.

Every farmer should realize that the actual planting of hundreds of seed in the soil is an exceedingly important farm operation. Assuming sowing rates uniform stands, fewer weeds, more even ripening, and higher yields.

A Call to Action

addressed to All Members of the Church of England in Canada by THE MOST REVEREND DERWYN T. OWEN, D.D., D.C.L.

Primate of all Canada

NEVER has humanity been in greater need of the Christian Gospel, the fundamentals and patterns of Christian teaching and the Christian spirit.

Today we give thanks for a splendid victory over forces opposed to every Christian principle. But these forces must still be fought in human minds and hearts. The only way to overcome them is by a Christian order. At home and abroad, the Christian Church faces a renewed challenge.

That is why the Church of England in Canada is making an appeal to her people for rehabilitation, self-sacrifice and renewed devotion.

This movement seeks to make Anglicans more truly Christians in order there, consecrated to the highest service of their fellowmen; to strengthen the spiritual, educational and social work of the Church at home and abroad, and to provide funds for additional Clergy, and for the pension fund, for building the Mother Church in Canada and the Churches in those parts of the Dominion, for providing proper training for the ministry, and for carrying all Dissions on mounting tasks and needs.

The Appeal was launched in our Churches on the Feast of the Epiphany, Sunday, January 6th, and will continue till May 19th. In its spiritual aspect it has already helped the hearts of our people and its programme will continue over years to come.

During the week of May 12th to 19th, every member of the Church of England in Canada, so far as possible, will be visited by a fellow parishioner, authorized to receive contributions to the $4,500,000 fund needed to carry out the Appeal program.

I beseech from every one of our members and friends the earnest, prayerful consideration of this Appeal. I am confident that if every individual does his part by this the greatest objective of spiritual endeavor and financial support will be fully

Jet Locos Planned By U.K. Railways

Plans for a gas turbine loco, based on experience obtained in jet propulsion work, are under consideration by the Great Western Railway, Lord Leathers (the former Minister of Works) Chairman of the railway, announced this at the company's annual meeting at Paddington recently. "We are anxious to take full advantage of the technical improvements and the wide range of new materials developed during the war", said Lord Leathers. "We anticipate being able to effect some improvements in our track and signalling equipment. In addition, many new materials have been extended experimentally in some of the reconditioned restaurant cars now in service and in due course new coaches".

We have been experimenting with oil-burning locos for freight traffic. The results have so far proved satisfactory and we propose to extend our experiments to passenger train engines."

Unless Oats for Young Pigs

On many farms oats are sifted for young pigs, but with the machinery so far available this is too often too much work where a large number of young pigs are being fed, says C. H. Anderson, Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alberta. Also, the cost of production is increased because of the extra labor involved in sifting the oats, and consequently there is a tendency to feed unsifted oats. This practice often leads to an unhealthy condition in young pigs, as their digestive system becomes overloaded with bulky material.

Observations made at the Station indicate that such intestinal disorders as "Enteritis Enteritis" offer a greater opportunity of developing in young pigs fed a high percentage of unsifted oat chop. The sharp splinters of hull irritate the delicate wall of the intestinal [illegible] tract, increasing when the [illegible] passing through the digestive [illegible] points out up infection. Cause and Control Scab of Potatoes

Common potato scab is caused by a micro-organism and not by aeolic and soil conditions although there are many substances soluble, when added to the soil, will greatly influence the growth of the organism and very upwardly the prevalence of the disease, stated R. W. Ramsay, Division of Botany and Plant Pathology, Science of Agriculture, in an address on "Potential Methods for the Control of Common Scab of Potatoes" to the Ontario Crop Improvement Association at its recent meeting in Toronto.

These soil tavers in the soil are used because soil solution, on account of their alkalinity and the presence of certain nutrients, because it is usually large amount of micro-organisms already present. Under these conditions it is favorable for the growth of scab as it tends to mask the organisms naturally present and prevent it underground, in which most abundant growth has been incorporated as bedding for the scab seed crops of plants, and a lack of moisture in the soil at the time of tuber formation. Experiments have demonstrated that the scab organism grows well when a plentiful supply of oxygen is available. Light, dry and porous soils are more favorable for scab development than heavy and compact soils. If the soil is wet, oxygen is excluded. Also the higher temperature for the growth of the organism is somewhere between 70 and 80 degrees F. This shows why scab is worse during a hot dry summer than in a cool wet one.

The control of potato scab is a long-time contagious program, requiring the use of clean seed, proper or soil-area and management of the land, the judicious use of fertilizers and manures and of bedding seed low lime stock, and the main element of a high investment of the soil it is only by a combination applying the known methods that will render the soil less and less favorable to scab that prevents it eventually possible, or will be assured of producing, scab-free potatoes.

"Hick-Hike Phones"

New Agriculture, the U.S. farm monthly, reports successful experiments in Arkansas to install telephone service from party lines from telephone lines but now similar to new lines. Instead of travelling over expensive pole lines, the new messages have "hitch hiked" a ride over rural power lines. The same wires have been used for telephone calls and electric power simultaneously without interference with each other. Engineers of the Telephone Company and the local power companies state that further experimentation is necessary before general commercial application can be made. It is only a matter of determining the best kind of system to use, and whether, that is, whether extension of telephone wires is necessary or not.

Edmonton theatre goers felt "right at home" recently when all leading theatres showed news shots describing the ceremonies relative to the transferring of the Alaska Highway from American to Canadian operation.

The entire ceremony was "turned-off" for broadcast purposes by CJCA and when an Associated Newspaper said the nearby quests to mention the CJCA radio crowd and prominently in the midst of all important ceremonial activities.

Edmontonians, who incidentally hath the theatres to overflowing daily, had the interest events brought right home through the properties of CJCA's radio.

The Recipe Corner

Mrs. Richard, mother of the province of Bourbon, Kaiser of the Chinese. It was an important feature of civilized trade with Ancient Europe and in 1703, three persons parents, combining rhubarb seeds were brought from the west by a Russian Caravan, to be sent as a gift of the Russian Government to be botanical institution of England, Scotland and Germany. Rhubarb, although it is an old and has travelled so far from its native habitat is the first fruit to appear in the Canadian gardens and brings a welcome change in the dessert pattern. The early rhubarb, racy and tender needs very little cooking and also sugar, which is an advantage in these days of limited.

If the garden contains a large patch of rhubarb, canning part of it would prove to be a boon next winter if a visa to can rhubarb while the stalks are young and tender. Later on in the summer they are apt to become woody.

The home economists of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture recommend several methods of canning rhubarb. Here is one method that will prove a favorite when a surplus of fruit is desired for lunch or supper. It is called the "dry sugar method", and is a real short-cut.

For 1 quart of canned fruit, use 4 cups rhubarb, cut in one-inch lengths, ¾ cup sugar and bottling water. Pack the quart cooker half full of cut rhubarb, add about 1/3 of the sugar. Continue to pack cooker with alternate layers of rhubarb and sugar. When full, cover with boiling water to within one quarter inch of top of cooker. Loosen seal slightly and process in boiling water bath, counting fifteen minutes for pints and twenty minutes for quarts. Remove cookers from the water bath, complete the seal and allow to cool in an upright position.

That takes care of many fresh fat vegetables but here are three recipes using fresh rhubarb.

Those who were there and those who were unable to be present wished the young people every happiness.

The bunting pair received prizes provided by Mr. Cohen. One of the guests, a "pretty yellow", he reserved as on the authority of the lady whose clerk who remembered, he was a male. The next guest, an ornithologist, as powerful endeavoring to find any specimen of the species, who was so lucky as to win it, would be saved the intense humanity of having to kill another at once. Just pull out the cork and buy, quoth the lady. The unlucky man (if there be such) would be right away on the doorstep. (If any interested fans look by Mrs. Cohen's phone consult Miss Lucy Snow, the winner of it.)

The collection for the Cancer Fund amounted to the satisfactory sum of $11.00 and the proceeds were handed to Solomon last summer.

WATERPROOF COTTONS

It is now known that during World War I a waterproofing discovery was made by the British textile industry, namely the manufacture of cotton materials which is completely waterproof. At present it is hardly possible to assess the value of this discovery to the textile industries of the whole world, but it is certain that it will have far-reaching effects. We are making these first paragraphs as a foundation and assuring great admiration amongst the experts from all nations.

In loving memory of Harold Duncan Cripps, who passed away May 2nd, 1945.

When the shadows of night are gathering
And we are sitting alone,
There always comes a longing

If you could only come back,

We could tell you how much we miss you
And smile.

But never out of mind,
You are cherished in the hearts

HOW IS SOUND TRANSMITTED BY ELECTRICAL WAVES?

Amplitude and Frequency Modulation

The high frequency alternating current which travels from the broadcast trans-mitter to your radio receiver is called the carrier wave. Sound waves which enter the microphone in a broadcast studio are converted into electrical impulses known as the audio signal. The audio signal is superimposed on the carrier wave—this is referred to as modulation—and rides on it from the transmitter to the receiver.

At present, at times the carrier wave changes its direction 500 second in hertz as frequency modulation is the distance between the crests and the troughs of the wave.

In an A-M or amplitude modulated system the audio signal affects the carrier wave by changing its amplitude.

Because the assigned wave bands on which radio stations broadcast are so close together, the range of sounds you can hear is limited to avoid interference with adjoining wave bands. In addition, "noise" (commonly called static) stretches itself to those amplitude modulated waves and enters the radio receiver, too.

In the recently developed system of frequency modulation (F M), the audio signal does not affect the amplitude of the carrier wave but varies its frequency. Sound is then transmitted in F-M between adjoining wave bands, and static can be trimmed off the edges without affecting the frequency [illegible] today are designed to pick up [illegible]

Grain Executives To Attend Conference

President S. R. Law and J. H. Bowerman, K. C., Vice-President of United Grain Growers Limited will attend the International Conference of Farm Organizations to be held in London, England, May 21st to May 30th. Sponsored by the London Federation of Agriculture, the conference is a result of the visit of a delegation representing British Farm organizations to Canada last year. Purpose of the conference is to explore the possibility of forming an International Farm Organization to deal with the production, marketing and kindred problems of farmers the world over. Representation from the United Nations is expected to be represented as the agricultural future of all nations is rapidly beginning to take form. The Canadian delegation of eight representatives from which Mr. Law is from Halifax on May 4th, will be headed by H. H. Hannam, President of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and will represent the headquarters of the industry including the dairy and livestock producers. Mr. Bowman expects to spend some time on the continent following the London conference in order to gather first hand knowledge of existing conditions and to approximate an opinion as to when pre-war levels of agriculture may be attained.

It has arrived at last! Last June Uncle's Public Relations Department sent me a ship from The Hill-board, New York, to the effect that we were judged first among exclusive-Canadian radio stations for program promotion. We were informed that a plaque would follow

The other day we got it. And though it arrived eleven months late it was really worth waiting for. It's a very attractive piece, done up in solid bronze mounted on a well-finished wooden base.

The inscription reads as follows: "For outstanding achievement in radio promotion presented to Uncle Chum Silverstein For effective promotion Canadian Business 1945"

This impressive plaque now adorns the wall of CJCA's Client Room—the seventh recognition, in recent years, of CJCA's aggressive stewing in program promotion.

Blasting may be necessary before building but should never be mistaken for it.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS

Abraham Electric

What is the Function of the Vacuum Tube?

A vacuum tube is a valve. It's like a tap in the kitchen sink, except it controls the flow of electric current rather than water. It can control the quantity, the starting, stopping and direction of a current. It can change alternating current into direct current and vice versa. It can boost up weak power into much greater power. Among other things it's used in radio transmitting and television pictures.

The vacuum tube puts electrons to work. The latter enter the tube from a heated source and it's the tube's first job to free the electrons from that source. This is usually done by heating a metal part (filament or cathode) inside the tube and "boiling" out the electrons. After the electrons have been freed they are then controlled by a plate or grid which is charged some distance away from the cathode. This plate is usually positive because the atoms in it are kept short of electrons.

Between the cathode and anode there is a grid, the function of which is to control the electron flowing in the tube. It can be called a traffic cop. When a current of electrons run into the grid it repels the other electrons on their way through the tube. The more negative the grid is the fewer electrons can get by. Hint, but not all, tubes have grids.

At the base of the tube we find the terminals. These are contacts which allow electric currents to get in and out—to heat the filament or cathode, to reach the grid and to connect the plate or anode with the outgoing circuit. All the parts and wires (except the terminals) of the tube are enclosed in a glass or metal case called an envelope.

Vacuum tubes contain no air—hence the name. Though some tubes contain small amounts of other gases. Air atoms are so numerous that the electrons in the tubes would bump into them and make a mess. Also, metal parts which get red hot in the tube would burn away in the presence of air.

Let's look at a radio tube, which is one kind of vacuum tube. Including current tubes, the world electronic tube out and start vacuum the gun. Meanwhile, a tiny current is coming into the grid—the radio signal—which is so much weaker that it would be undetectable heard before it reaches the loudspeaker. Variations in the grid current control through the grid change the heavy flow of electrons from the tube. When these electrons finally hit the plate or anode, they have been modified into the pattern of the faint signal reaching the grid. They are simply like the original signal only very much stronger.

All this happens in an incredibly short fraction of time. But it is caused in millionths of a second.

Q. What is a normal pulse?

A. This depends on the rate, age and temperament of the patient. It is more rapid in the young, in the nervous and in women. In a healthy adult it should be between 70 and 80 beats per minute after normal hour of mental and physical rest.

S S S

Q. What causes a weak pulse?

A. Poisons absorbed from tissues affect the heart, causing it to beat faster, or there may be small hemorrhage due to the extent of the disease, which would cause a fast pulse. Other causes may be abnormal distributions, particle disturbances, anaemia, heart, etc.

When spring comes, the home maker starts with pleasure at the thought that she may again plan menus to include veal. It is one of the more powerful foods to combine and its delicate flavor blends well with other foods. Early spring vegetables, which are also in flavour are particularly good with veal.

Most people love a good roast of veal, but don't always know how to cook it. Long slow cooking or dry heat will cook veal well and keep it juicy. Experiments have proved that the internal temperature of 170 degrees F., if it is held for the short required length of time is sufficient, 20 to 25 minutes per pound is considered safe.

For top of the stove cooking meet first and choose the temperature will interfere in the meat and keep the flavor in it. Save Boiling temperature tender to make veal stringy.

Mrs. Shearer's husband gets into step to cook. Since he's vacationing all day, the cafe banks it for him, and also keeps track of every penny he has spent for cafe food. And when he gets home, he receives two checks for the same amount: the cash he handed over to the cafe cashier and the check from your money in one of the prime services that are found by your bank.

What a relief it is to know you have deposited your money in the bank! No more worry lest it should be lost or stolen! You need only keep a little ready cash in pocket or in the purse. Bills can be paid by cheque and your cancelled cheque is your receipt.

When the teller hands you your pass book, you glance at the balance and know to a cent how much money you have. You are no longer subject to your bank's accuracy that you seldom bother to check the figures.

The very fact that you and some 5,000,000 others—who all these settlements as a matter of course is a daily demonstration of your confidence in the dependability and efficiency of your bank.

TIMELY FARM NOTES

By H. Newcombe, District Agriculturist, Edmonton

Of considerable interest to rural communities is the development of Prairie forage pasture to be permanent. This will storage pasture, ensure a supply of forage and provide insurance for pasturing next twelve months. Plastic storage tanks and other equipment are the future requirements. At the present time there are 75 bunker silo's operating with a storage capacity of approximately 80,000 bushels, being an average equivalent of six cubic feet, which is sufficient space to store 175 pounds of feed grain.

The bunker plant operation is usually built a convenient to dairy, which featured educational lectures and demonstrations on [illegible] and [illegible] operation. Vegetable varieties recommended for freezing methods for the ensuing season and vegetables for storage in bunkers, and other methods of the filling and processing of meats, were among the subjects discussed. One of the features of the conference was the presentation of the Meat Award to W. Wilson by the Dominion Government. The gentleman said "that in the world of wheats [illegible] were considered the Blue Ribbon winners, to be as good in the line of livestock, which I suppose is saying a lot for an Englishman."

The distinguished visitor warned us, however, that even though we had by great effort won a fine reputation for our wheat, we must not afford to rest on our laurels. We could not afford to be complacent. He reminded us that milling methods were continually improving in order to make better flour, a better loaf of bread and at a cheaper price, that other countries producing export wheat and competing with Canada were themselves working hard to improve the quality of their wheats. I leave with you, therefore, he said, this message:—"Work unceasingly not only to maintain the present high quality of your Canadian wheat, but strive in every way that you can to improve your wheat, for as your quality improves, so will the demands for your wheat tend to increase."

THE IMPORTANCE OF QUALITY

A man living on wheat visitor has recently returned Winnipeg He is one of the world's greatest authorities on the raising of wheat and flour, and acts as an advisor not only to many British mills, large and small, but also to the Canadian government. Designing Cartoons Interesting Work

Cartoons have long been familiar to all movie-goers, but few of us realize the immense amount of work involved in making them. It is a slow process, demanding numerous careful drawings to create a smooth animated effect.

On a recent trip to the National Film Board, we dropped in to see the animation department in operation. They were at work on a new cartoon, the script of which a man running down a street. The background of houses and shops along the street was painted on a large card. A series of drawings of the man in different stages of running were prepared on a set of celluloid cards. These celluloids were placed over the street background card, and the background card, of course, be seen through the celluloid. The animation man-

For messy jobs!
INVISIBLE GLOVES
OUT OF A JAR!
Whenever a messy job looms, don't the time for "Invisible Gloves". You dun them by simply applying a protective film of "Pemuk" cream, one of the familiar products of chemical research.
The ladies like "Pemuk" too. They put it on before cleaning, painting, polishing; then clean it and all dirt off quickly with water, when the job is done.
"Pemuk" is just another instance of the way in which chemistry works morning wonders, making so many of our daily burdens wish bright new products.

MAPLE SYRUP TESTING THERE OVERDUE

Communities who are planning to secure maple syrup this season should take advantage of the increased ration which is in effect until the end of May, ration officials of the board have pointed out. The present ration for maple syrup is 60 fluid ounces for one coupon. After May 31, the ration will return to its regular value of 40 fluid ounces Sugar reserves coupons are used to purchase maple syrup For those communities who plan to buy directly from the producer, coupons are available at local ration boards. It is necessary to surrender sugar-preserves coupons at local ration boards for maple products, as it is illegal to sell loose coupons through the mail.

We must convince other nations of our good intentions while we keep a adequate defence against their bad intentions.

energy. Certainly he no longer loses shoes, which, according to the laws of the Medes and Persians, after not, but the soul of his approval is sufficient to inspire any who come within his range.

May 24th is almost upon us and we recall that it was on that date that we first heard our newspaper's voice. Radios were just coming in and the Department of Education was sponsoring an Empire Day program, thereby popularizing the then casual values of representatives from every country in the Empire. Several schools combined together to hear a radio and its technician, to interrupt the program and a church building was pressed into service as a central location. The technician was on the cross early installing his aerials, ground wires etc. and all was in readiness for the hour appointed in the afternoon and to the unspeakable surprise of the audience, one could hear the words plainly! It was a thrill to hear the living voices of our King and Queen.

What an interesting years all such undertakings. On another occasion we entered the co-operation of an enterprising lady to send a radio and technician to our little Dan Schoolhouse with the intention of providing an evening's entertainment by means of the new toy. The technician also spent a long day to ensure the success of the reception. The crowd began to gather, the children were excited and the lady in question and all eyes were focussed on the mysterious box which was to entertain them. The chairman made the necessary introduction and the lady took office duo warning was twisted and switches, static and then some static was emitted. Counting of glass tubes, ear-ache, coloured pads of dandies, shouts and many more were then thrown of all the friends in that darkened one and all to calm the technician's troubled mind; in vain he feverishly adjusted his knobs, tried out every switch and combination, some times more so. Our sympathy went out to that magician even from those of the packed house assembled in the fact that we had paid for the fun!

Time was wasting and could be done. The concert the radio was removed and an impromptu entertainment. The next "concerned hush" followed and we departed! Thoroughly versed in needs of assisting coffee.

The technician caught the night train back to town, a sadder and a wiser man. From an advertising standpoint the exhibition had some merit.

We and Mrs. F. A. Appel and Mrs. Gus Popp motored to Churchill from Saskatchewan to see Mr and Mrs. Clarence Cranston over the week-end. They returned home Sunday through Wainwright and report having a pleasant time.

Sport fans don't forget the first Highway 16 league game will be played here against Horse Hills on Sunday at 2:15 p.m.

In spite of the cold weather a good crowd was present at the sports days there. Cook the home team 27½ to stable 7 in the ladies' race. Mrs. Hall captained the team and Mrs. Gilmore Mrs. Cranston and Mrs. Popp respectively. Mrs. Cranston was the only member of the team to finish the course.

The Recipe Corner

Asparagus shoots are now appearing in the garden and are a pleasant reminder that spring vegetables are on hand but Asparagus should be cooked the day it is bought. When available in any quantity it looks like a real bargain for the asparagus.

Asparagus may be served many ways as potato au gratin, with drawn butter, in soups, with cheese, salads and salads.

Before asparagus can be cooked in pieces, cut off the woody parts serve them. Cook the tender stalks whole, stalks I in the bottom of the double boiler and the heads on top. Cook until tender, serve with a cream sauce.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Florence Hudson Page, who died May 27th, 1945.

Time speeds on, two years have passed
Since death its gloom, its sadness cast
And while our home, bereave all seems of bright.
And took from us a shining light.
Sadly we miss her gentle face
Her cheerful smile, her kindly grace
Her willing hands are now still
No more to toil, no more to fill
Duties here we cannot but set in order
While up in heaven we will meet
Sadly missed and mourned by his loving Son, Dad and Brother.

In loving memory of our dear father, Mr. Lorne Taylor, who passed away May 24, 1945.
Loving and kind in all his ways
Upright and just to the end of his days.
Sincere and kind in heart and mind
Thus his splendid memory he left behind.
Dearly remembered and sadly missed
By his loving daughters, Mr. Hurd, Wife and Family.

TIMELY FARM NOTES

F. E. Newcombe, District Agriculturist, Edmonton

For many seasons our district unfortunate by the other grasshoppers, there hope today would prefer to stay a number all day or even into the night, then to save for livestock. The dust and heat are not deleterious and the hotter the tractor will get the better in many cases. This is just another way of saying that this is a seasonable crop—an age of speed. Particularly it is well that the young men do take readily to this sort of farming in view of the shortage of available help.

In tractor farming, however, the old principle of economy for the most should at the expense of the quality of the work performed. What is the use of having a tractor to have also too often a tendency to neglect the matter of adjustments which have as much to do with quality of work as well as speed required for a job. Those of us who started with a walking plow learned very quickly the importance of their and adjustment because you can't hold such a plow straight for long if you are looking against a pair of horses.

In order to assist farmers in proper check and adjustment of power tillage machinery some Field Days will be conducted by the Department of Agriculture, Extension Service. Everyone is welcome to attend these days when such demonstrations are held.

Radiograms

Blind Montreal, has taken radio for, caused his answer on "Truth or Consequences" recently, and as a result was offered $1,000 if he would bring back within a few days a gold nugget he himself was to dig up at Yellowknife, N.W.T.

He got the nugget and on his flying trip back to collect the one hundred bucks he earned with Wilmer Bill Mercer, C.B.C. announcer all about his amazing experiences.

Another amusing "Truth or Consequences" item of a homesick serviceman: Sergeant Ronald Lee Reed Lisbon, Ohio, was told:

He had been relying on CJCA's "Hello the North" program for his only direct contact with his fireside world, but at times found it difficult to get satisfactory reception. He told us about his troubles —in pictorial fashion.

His sketches, in reverse so to speak—radio summed as apple boxes—himself seated on a soapbox—radio and girls gazing at the walls—lamp stove in our hut, etc., etc. If you viewed "Hello the North, Where Are Ellen?"

CJCA's technical department seems to be aware and supplied our most zealously radio fan with a number of "hints" on how to dial for "Hello the North".

Novel Structural Material

A big future is expected for a new and unique structural material produced by the British Plastics industry. This material, known as Mouldpost, was used in the first double-lined ship—the Empire Antigua—launched from the Tyneside recently. Mouldpost has many outstanding features which make it a perfect boarding for a ship's interior, i.e., fire, water, rot and mould proofing. It is already being made in large quantities for these purposes. It is unaffected by water, normal heat changes, moist extremes, oil and organic and dilute mineral acids. It is permeable to vermin and worm action. Mouldpost also has exceptionally good sound insulation and has the strength to withstand the stress without bending or breaking. It is moreover non-inflammable and won't encourage corrosion on the basis of Mouldpost is a special kind of Kraft paper impregnated with phenolic resin, which is cured in the ordinary way by heat and pressure.

Good breeding is the result of much good sense, some good nature, and a little self-denial for the sake of others, and with a view to obtain the same indulgence from them.—Lord Chesterfield.

Who is Archaic?

Change is omnipresent in the world but not always creatures. The moves must have the touch of the artist. You can't expect anything change to take place in a world which has lost touch with its Creator.

There are strobe bodies which held that "belief in God is archaic". But what could be more archaic than going back to cave man days—even if we don't say "cave"—with the modern name of "bomb shelter"?

SEEDS OF STRIFE

For many that a generation Alberta farmers have peacefully and patiently built up their farms and their communities in prairie settlements, and their economic position. These farm organizations have been built up by the farmers themselves, without the financial assistance of any other interests. The farmers' organizations have never sought political power, but have confined their activities to economic matters, and to the presentation of farmers' views to governments. The farmers' organizations have never sought political power, but have confined their activities to economic matters, and to the presentation of farmers' views to governments.

Now, however, Alberta farm organizations are heavily resentful over the incessant attacks inspired by the autocracy of wealth operating through the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. In fact, Alberta people are being misled and presented with an unfair picture of the situation.

Alberta farmers have in the past generation produced billions of dollars worth of wealth for the benefit of the whole people of Canada (Ontario and Quebec). These two wealthy provinces received the benefit of all taxes collected by the Dominion (statements made by Premier Drew of Ontario). It is these plots that Ontario and Quebec corporation mills as the chief beneficiaries. If farm and labor organizations are made subject to federal corporation taxes, Ottawa would benefit little, if any.

Business interests cannot afford to engage in a life and death struggle with the farm people of Alberta. Business people have every thing to lose and nothing to gain in fighting with farmer co-operation. The Alberta Farmers' Union Executive is now finding it necessary to meet an enemy which might well create the very kind of atmosphere in which Communism cannot prosper or farmers even survive.

Alberta people should support farmer co-operative where objective is better living conditions on Alberta farms.

How Does A Modern Traffic Controlled Operate?

If a pedestrian at an intersection wishes to cross the street he signals by looking at his watch—or merely by looking at it. Nearly every motorist observes the pedestrian's intention and assumes he will cross at a maximum of only $1.25.

The basis of all the things farmers have to buy will increase as price quotations are lifted. Basic wage rates for skilled and semi-skilled trades such as those wage demands are granted and some manufacturers of machinery have already announced that they have increased prices. Even when wages make but a small part of the cost of the finished product, the price is increased $2 in the case of wheat when it is being purchased by Britain and other European countries, and when they note that Prairie flour is now being sold for $5.25 a bushel, with which prices Canadian farmers are even now dissatisfied—when they note that their brother farmers in the United States are getting $2.50 per bushel for wheat which at present is being purchased by Britain and other European countries, and when they note that Prairie flour is now being sold for $5.25 a bushel and British farmers $2.60 a bushel for wheat inside Canada or Canadian wheat.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

China is threatened with the loss of millions of acres of rice and crops from locust damage—Some delay in getting food started in the Argentine as a result of torrential rains—The recent frost damage in the Prairie Provinces will necessitate those receiving of course grain.

Seeding conditions in Australia are reported to be the best in many years. Wheat acreage is unofficially reported to total 15 million acres—Widespread rains have been reported in France, and the condition of the crops is said to be quite favorable—Conditions of all crops in the United Kingdom is reported as generally satisfactory.

Refresher Course For University Students

The Department of Education, at the request of the Department of Veterans' Affairs and through the facilities of the Canadian Vocational Training Organization, is a refresher course for Veterans who are planning on entering University this fall. The course will be of six weeks' duration and will commence July 15th, and will likely be available in Edmonton.

This will enable those Veterans, who have complete Matriculation, to review Mathematics, Science and English Language so that they will be able to carry on at a University level without the handicap of absence by several years of academic from study. Regular Matriculation examinations are not to be required, nor will this course make any provision for Technical Tests, nor the taking of previous Matriculation standing. University authorities says that all Veteran-applications for this year courses avail themselves of this opportunity and point out that it may very well make the difference between success and failure. There will be fees charged and regular Department of Veterans' Affairs allowances may be paid to those attending. No provision is made for travelling allowances. Application for this refresher course should be made immediately either by letter or in person, to the Supervisor of Training, Department of Veterans' Affairs, Sudwood Building, Edmonton. In making the application, Veterans are asked to advise us to the University course they plan to take and the subjects particularly desired.

Fruit Subsidies Off to Producers

The per pound subsidies which have been paid by the Agricultural Food Board to producers of raspberries, raspberries, loganberries, boysenberries, gooseberries and currants when used for jam making and raspberries for canning will not be paid for the 1946 crop.

The ceiling prices on jam and canned raspberries of 1946 crop fruit by a amount equivalent to the grower's subsidy applicable in 1945. This will permit processors to pay suppliers prices for raw fruit equivalent to the total prices including subsidies that were paid last season.

Sound Produced From Light Waves on Film

What makes the sounds you hear in a movie—the music, dialogue, and background noises? Although the film is made of silent pictures, how do you hear the sounds?

A trip to the Board of Film Board clarified this process for us. Incidentally, we are told the same process is used in almost every film.

First, there is recording the music, which has usually been composed by one of the Board's musicians. The orchestra assembles in front of electric microphones, the conductor facing a screen on which the film is projected. He must watch the film carefully to make sure that music and action are timed exactly. The microphones convert the music into electrical energy, which is transmitted to the recording camera. Here the electrical waves are changed into light waves, and photographed on a spool of film. This spool, known as the sound track negative, is developed and printed just like a snapshot taken with an ordinary camera.

The dialogue, or anything spoken by a commentator, is recorded in the same way—but on a separate sound track negative. Then, of course, there are special sound effects. In the sound library at the National Film Board there are a great many sound effects recorded and ready for use at any time—everything from bombing in Berlin to a bird's song. One film may call for sounds of a crowd shouting, and that can be an explosion. Each different sound is recorded on a separate sound track.

All these different sound tracks, timed exactly to the action of the film, are next through special sound reproducer type box. A single sound track consists of a projection of all the sounds in the film happening at once. This final sound track is printed beside the picture on the film. When you shower a motion picture, the sound reproducer which recorded the original sound as light waves is reversed, and from the light waves on the film we get sound.

If anything goes with you, you'll just have to take what comes.

LONGTIME WHEAT AGREEMENT AT $1.25 MAXIMUM?

A Canadian Press despatch from the United May 21st, informs us that the Food Board has informed the British Government that it is prepared to enter into negotiations to conclude a long-time wheat agreement of $1.00 maximum and $1.25 minimum.

The majority of our prairie farmers, I for one feel certain, would view any agreement of this importance, for the future is worth too much to be bartered away for a maximum of only $1.25.

The costs of all the things farmers have to buy will increase as price quotations are lifted. Basic wage rates for skilled and semi-skilled trades such as those wage demands are granted and some manufacturers of machinery have already announced that they have increased prices. Locker Plant Service

All fresh meats that are stored in your locker may be had at any time.

In the next few months there will be drastic shortages in meats and in order to safeguard against this shortage, all that you farmers need to do is to have your carcasses of beef, pork and lamb to the plant. Here it is cut into the steaks, roasts, chops, etc. in the proper meat fashion and wrapped in moisture-proof paper which prevents evaporation.

You do not hand any coupons to us at all. Only half of your valid coupons are sent in each month to your local ration office. This is the most you have to do and the procedure is very simple.

Call at the plant and have a clear explanation of all plant operations and procedures. Here, too, you will find that this "Business is Service".

SOUTH COOKING LAKE

The popular mercury roser bloomed out as a June rose last weekend into midsummer coldness and colorful holiday sport. Favored by three glamorous days of sunshine, South Cooking Lake vies almost by many old friends and new for their first summer holiday, and the coherence of those three golden days will assuredly be continually moving our visitors to yearn soon for many more such replicas they have now.

It seems we were mistaken not as to the summer whereabouts of Earl Kephart. Later information says he is now Queen, about 75 miles south of Prince George. The correction is made for the concentration of Earl's many extra hobbies.

Widespread concern will accompany everybody, the news that Mrs. Upton, estimable Mother of South Cooking Lake and district, is quite ill. That she may recover speedily and thoroughly, will be the heartfelt wish of everyone who has ever met her.

It is claimed that rodents, insects and fungi muddle destroy after one-tenth of the 725,000,000 tons of cereals, peas, beans and oilseeds produced in the world each year. Rodents alone eat 20,000,000 tons, and insects destroy 36,250,000 tons.

Inflation comes when we pay too high a price for living well and too small a price for living.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our beloved father, Gunter Berg, who died June 1, 1945.
The time was great,
The shock severe,
That bids us leave his death to bear.
Only those with lost loved ones can tell,
How sad a parting,
Without farewell.
Sadly remembered by his loving son and daughter.

In addition to the regular Housing Census which includes only in cities and towns of 5,000 population, a Census of Housing will be conducted in all cities, towns and villages of 1,000 population and over, certain questions are asked of each dwelling in urban and urban areas of other municipalities and a picture of housing conditions in the Province. These inquiries on the Population Schedule are a few items:

1. Is your home owned or rented?
2. If you own your home give the value, if you rent it, the rental per month.
3. How many rooms are in your home?
4. Is what year was your home constructed?

Feeder Day June 8

"The 35th annual Feeders' Day at the University of Alberta under the direction of the Department of Animal Science will be held this year on Saturday, June 8th, commencing at 9:00 a.m.

As usual this day's program will include a review of the livestock research and experimental work that has been accomplished within the past twelve months. Quite a substantial number of swine, beef and dairy cattle feeds will be fed and the results that will be made available as farm is will have a practical application to the everyday feeding and management of farm animals under Alberta conditions. Some of the animals used in these trials will be available for inspection.

During the past quarter of a century this event has been growing in popularity as evidenced by the fact that several hundred farm and town folk have been attended Feeders' Day in each of the past few years. A hearty welcome is extended again this year to all those who may be interested."

The official opening of the Fort Community Club will be held on Tuesday evening, June 11 at 7:30 p.m. All members and prospective members are required to be present as it is planned to [illegible] a membership drive during the evening. Flowering Trees for Everyone's Fancy

Trees in city gardens provide shade and a sense of coolness and [illegible] Many [illegible] these purposes better than small ones. On small city lots a few large trees have distinct disadvantages because of their wide spreading tops and tunneling hungry roots They can only be planted advisedly along the parking at each side of the roadway, well away from the front of the house and the small garden area at the back of lots, only medium or small sized trees are well employed. (By Oliver, Division of Horticulture, Ottawa.

To fortify the amount of space they occupy such trees should provide attractive color effects at different times of the year. In spring it may be the warm glow of the expanding leaf buds of maple, the rosier splash of color of a rosy-bloom crabapple in the middle of May, or the bright green of the opening leaves of the weeping birch against the silvery green of its trunk and branches. Many species of plum and cherry are useful in spring, one of the most attractive being the May-day tree which has a light feathery appearance when covered with the narrow racemes of small white flowers.

Later in the season, the yellow-wood with its long chains of white flowers swaying in the breeze, or the Japanese lilac add a definite attractive touch. Catalpa and horse chestnut are too large for small city lots but very showy when space permits.

In the late summer, the show comes from brightly colored fruits: brilliant scarlet clusters of mountain ash berries; the changing reds of Lawrence and crabapple and the glossy black of sassy-berry or black haw. Autumn ends the season with a blaze of scarlet, crimson and gold from the foliage of such small trees as the sumac and tartarian maple. Any of these small trees will give a [illegible] note of color to [illegible] gardens to some part of the garden at a particular season. Through all the year their value gives sufficient mass to create an accent point to mark corners, frame views, and create a background for the bright colors of shrubs and herbaceous plants.

Weed Control

Here are a few suggestions which will help in the control of weeds. Practice a short rotation of crops. Plant clean seed. Cut hay early, particularly if weedy meadows. Clip weeds before they go to seed on permanent pastures. Use commercial summer fallow to fight weeds in mid-summer when they are more easily killed. Use smother crops, as buckwheat, where desirable. Practice after-harvest cultivation. Suitable sprays may be used with weeds otherwise difficult to eradicate.

Singing Tourist

Josephburg

It would appear that the Red travels far and get several Prom Josephburg to West Vancouver Island is quite a stretch but it would appear that Mrs. Gus Thomas residing in Alberta, read about the unique human community of living undertaken by the ladies of the Good Will Club to gather material for a Bonanza Bazaar Mrs. Thomas promptly drop [illegible] a contribution to the good cause, worked by her own fair hands Her gift was greatly appreciated, but the spirit behind the gift is the measure This is not a hint to inhabitants of our far-flung empire residing in Australia and New Zealand whose Alma Mater also happens to be Josephburg; it is just a thank you Talking about Alberta, we ourselves were holding their show some years ago. Soon after our arrival we were out strolling along the Canal Road, when whom should we run into but Gus Barnes who used to drive truck for our village merchant, Albert Thomas.

There in a poem called "The Browns', in which the authoress is at pains to show that there was a Brown at every historic nic and period. We imagine that were we to delve equally deeply, we could show that there was a Joe Armstrong (or anyway a hamburger) Josephburg in a hum-let with Shackleton in the Antarctic: with Vasco da Gama at the Cape; with Byrd at the North Pole and quite possibly in command of Exercise Muskox, Melberry and such modern undertakings.

Plans are really under way to start the building program on our Community Grounds. The Good Will Club held an emergency meeting at the home of Mrs. Wm. Thomas at which the architect's blue prints were exhibited and accepted. Ere these words are in print a start will have been made, we hope, we hope, and "Well begin to hold dear". Trust Meet They is still five days away, and it was questioned whether the existing structures could be expected to stand up that week longer. The Good Will Club made a handsome donation to the good cause.

The same ladies are right behind the Farm Field Day stated for Wednesday and when they get [illegible] and push, something has to move.

A closely contested game of fast ball was played Sunday afternoon between Agricola and Lamoureux boys at Lamoureux. A very poor crowd turned out Wednesday night to witness the baseball game between the Fort and Horse Hills.

Horse Hills trimmed them to the tune of 11-6, due mostly to the errors they made, errors which can only be overcome by more practices and teamwork.

East Edmonton

A surprise attack, to the amusement of looking motor horns and hallowing voices, took the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Briggs—recently married in Edmonton—by storm on Friday evening last. The young people quickly rallied to the occasion to meet and greet the friendly invaders and overflowed into the house to take possession.

Music for dancing was provided by Mr. Carl Klarner and Mr. Donald Lang over great melodious from the violin in the interbals before supper was served.

Mr. J. Anderson expressed for the gathering their congratulations and good wishes, to which Robert, on behalf of himself and his charming young wife, replied in gracious fashion. Both appreciated their thanks for the many gifts that were showered on them as the pleasant party drew to a close. Then—"The lights were out, and gone were all the guests who thronging came, with excitement and jests to celebrate the hanging of the cram."

Cooking Lake

The first of a series of fortnightly gatherings of our young people under the leadership of Roy Chubb, our student minister at St. Mark's, was held on the beach last Friday evening. It was a warmer event, even popular when young folks' pros, and older folks tolerant together on such evenings.

It is the fire that draws us, proving that we still retain within us something of our fire-worshipping prog, primeval ancestors? Or is it that the warmer, sizzling on the end of a stick held over the hot coals and then gooey and sacrificial between the two halves of a bun, satisfies a weakness within us something of the carnivorous delight of our ancient grandfathers and grandmothers?

However it may be, we are sure that no primitive fire-worshippers ever had as well organized and accomplished a high priest of "chaining" as we now have in the vicinity of "chants". Furthermore, we are quite, quite sure that no high-priest conductor of those hymns ages ago knew any one of Roy Chubb's entertaining choruses and folk songs, for of course, no leader in those days had been in our Canadian Air Force.

After sufficient homage had been paid, from a respectful distance to the fire, there followed the sacrifice of the weiners; and no moral of toasted boar-flesh ever tasted juicier to our carnivorous ancestors than those weiners to us.

Finally, Roy proved as able and prepared a leader in our evening meditations as in our singing In well-ordered thought and well chosen words he put before us all, youngsters and oldsters alike, the choice of the two ways of life—our own symbolic way or the noble way of Christ. Then, at the request of one of the group, we sang one verse of that unsurpassed hymn Abide With Me. Then closed the first of a series of fortnightly gatherings of the greatest and most enduring value for our young people.

This, even radio men admit that there's a place in every room nearly for a radio, however, in spite of the fact that you really every home may have a radio. The Lancaster "Showplace Radio" has offer a service the cannot be duplicated by any other medium, therefore there's room for both radio and the weekly in every community.

The program, incidentally, was titled "Summer Headlines" and as the name suggested a hasty listening audience throughout Northern Alberta.

Way to Control Cabbage Maggot

Now at the time to begin methods of control against the cabbage maggot which attacks cabbages, cauliflowers, turnips, radishes and such like plants. The adults, also winged flies, lay their eggs on the stems of the plants. These insects can be controlled by the use of corrosive sublimate, states Alan G Dustan, Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Corrosive sublimate may be obtained at most seed houses, and, when used, is diluted in water at the rate of one ounce to 10 gallons. Because corrosive sublimate loses much of its strength when brought into contact with metal, it should be applied in and applied from glass, earthenware, or wooden vessels. This is very important.

Two or three days after the solution and cauliflower plants have been set out in the field, the solution should be poured over the plants, using about half a cupful per plant. Care should be taken to wet the stems thoroughly as well as the soil immediately surrounding the base. Two subsequent applications should be made, the second seven days after the first, and the third seven days later, making three treatments in all. It is important, to make the first application early, as the success of the control depends very largely on that fact.

In the case of radishes, the solution should be poured over the young plants about three days after they appear above the ground and a second application a week later. Do not treat the radishes when they are nearly ready

Rev. U. T. Young performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Briggs officiated as attendants.

Corrosive sublimate is a deadly poison both to human beings and to animals so great care should be exercised in its use

New Plastic Will Speed Housebuilding

A new British plastic building material which will considerably speed the United Kingdom housing drive is shortly to go into mass production. This material will be used in the erection of prefabricated houses. The most important feature in the economy of this composition. It is made from a variety of raw materials generally regarded as waste, e.g. newsprint and straw. The method of production involves chemical treatment and pressing by which a material of the consistency of a pipe successfully used in aircraft production is produced. The resultant product is a tough grade, fire-proof material, useful as interior walls, partitions, etc. It is capable of being produced in hundreds of curvings size and thickness, in a wide range of colors, textures and finishes. It can be sawn, drilled, nailed, screwed and generally fabricated like timber, but is virtually rot and vermin proof. Another valuable feature of the new material is that it combines easily with other material such as timber, glass or tubular steel. It will be useful, therefore, for a wide range of commercial purposes, e.g. for restaurant and department store fitments and furnishings.

TIMELY FARM NOTES

JUNIOR CALF CLUBS

June is a very important month. Girls who have been contemplating matrimony with eyes fixed mainly on an advantageous, if gay, and when, have finally led the unsuspecting youth by easy steps to the preparation which are traditionally part of it. June as a time to climb the entrance. For such a couple it is the end of old freedoms and the beginning of a new life—for better or for worse.

For girls and boys who have accepted (?) more or less sensibly, ready with the principles of mathematics, try and other subjects that has made them qualified for better or worse here also the season will unite them to a respect of study.

In June words do their best evening and it is in June we see the harvest moon and the ample rain. All of which is to say that in Alberta in June we have summer.

For many farm girls and boys another important project culminates in Junior Calf Club. For six or seven months, forty-five Junior Club members in each of their calves, have been feeding calves. They have groomed them, mended them, trained them and watched them grow and fatten and now that the time has come to sell these calves members will have to see them go. But go they must on June 12th which is the date set for the Calf Show and Sale.

The event will be staged at Edmonton Exhibition Grounds and five Clubs will be represented, namely Calgary, Red Deer, Lacombe, Edmonton, Gibbons, Morinville and St. Lina. In all about 75 calves will be shown and the judging which will commence at 10:00 a.m. Championships will be awarded at 2:00 p.m. The judge will be Mr. Joseph Bogue of Lousdale. Burt Langen, manager will call the calves at 2:00 p.m.

Special trophies will be awarded by the Edmonton Junior Chamber of Commerce for Showmanship and for the General Proficiency and The Alberta Hereford Breeders' Association gives special prizes for Hereford calves.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce also will entertain Club members and their parents at dinner in the Macdonald Hotel at 6:30 p.m.

Robbie That Swarm

To the well trained beekeeper a swarm as bad it means loss of bees and a diminution of honey and as one of the most expert managements to eliminate the desire to swarm. Bees have been determined to satisfy the need for procreation and set gone a step further.

A swarm of bees is a veritable piece of property especially if it takes flight in June, says C. B Gooderham, Dominion Apiarist, Central Experimental Farm Ottawa. It represents the working force of some colony and should never be allowed to escape by hook and by the nearest method. If the swarm is over it is the same reason which under swarms will build up into prolific colonies by the time it is ripe for next. All beekeepers know that a swarm will not abscond without a queen, hence the practice of clipping the queen's wings so that she cannot fly. If a colony headed with a clipped queen swarms the latter cannot leave but will move about in front of the hive. The expert beekeeper so opportunity of rejoining the swarm by a simple method of manipulation and at the same time to correct the cause of swarming. To hive the parent colony M on the other hand the swarm is accompanied with a queen with clusters on some nearby object for a short time when it can be taken and rehived.

For detailed instructions for rehiving a swarm write the Bee Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. Sometimes a swarm takes up housekeeping in a hollow tree or between the walls of some building from where it can be removed only with considerable expiary. The job, however, is best done by an experienced beekeeper and the swarm is usually recovered. Swarms may sometimes shelter and hang on trees, bushes or any other object for days before they are detected. Should anyone discover them and not wish to hive it own them notify some nearby beekeeper. Honey is a food and food of all kinds is now needed urgently.

ARTIFICIAL POLLEN

An artificial pollen has been developed at the University of Minnesota, being made up of a combination of soybean flour, dried brewers' yeast, dried egg yolks and sugar solution. It is claimed by its users to compare favorably with the natural pollen and the bees thoroughly enjoy it. It provides a supplementary food supply, when needed in the early spring when bees have difficulty collecting enough pollen.

It's not what happens to a man that counts but what he happens to do about it.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear mother, Margaret Ann Stanley, who passed away June 12, 1939.

A loving mother, so gentle and kind,
What a wonderful memory she left behind,
Long days, long nights, she bore her pain,
To wait for ours, but all in vain;
Till God Himself, knew what was best,
He took her home and gave her rest.
Her remembered by her daughter, Hilda.

Club Hears Interesting Talks By Guest Speakers

The regular meeting of the Fort Community Service Club was held on Wednesday evening in the Community Hall.

The number of members present was small, due partly to some of them attending the [illegible] Calf Club Show and [illegible] Edmonton following.

The meeting opened with the members singing the singing of the National Anthem, which was followed by the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting, which were passed and adopted as read. The report on the canvass and [illegible] for May 24th [illegible] day were given and showed a net profit of $[illegible].

M. J. P. Cain on behalf of the Baseball Club asked that the Service Club donate $[illegible] for the use of the ball. He pointed out that May 24th [illegible] day, and for a number of years the proceeds of the ball club's [illegible] day [illegible] the money made that day going into their club. The members voted to donate $[illegible] to the club.

A committee composing Messrs. J. D. McLean, Roy Shackleton, Gordon Mercer, Cecil Rogers, A. E. Ling, Jack Hanks, Frank Walsh and Rod Mercereau were appointed to arrange the Community Hall for the Service Club.

Following the business meeting Mr. R. V. McCullough addressed the meeting on insurance.

He pointed out that farm boys and girls should receive some encouragement from their fathers. Mr. John Junior Livestock Clubs which would teach them the advantages of raising only pure-bred livestock.

He stated that at some future date a Junior Livestock Club might be formed in Fort Saskatchewan following.

The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

His three sons are the breeding cattle exhibited from Britain and purchased by the Argentine government. Mr. McCausland says he would not have purchased them had they not been of the quality he considered that to meet the needs of the people and urged that they should give good attention to complete their undertakings.

Members were invited to ask questions and were answered by both speakers

The meeting then adjourned.

Jane Allanach Wins First Prize at Junior Calf Show

A record to be proud of was shown by Jane Allanach, daughter of Mr and Mrs Jim Allanach of the Yorkville district, at the Junior Calf Club Show and Sale [illegible] on Wednesday.

Jane won the grand championship prize for her junior calf exhibited from a total of 35 calves entered by Calf Clubs participated in this event. The winning calf was sold for 50c per pound.

She also acquired first prize for Hereford calves and took first prize for showmanship of all clubs entered belonging the Fort-Cheyne [illegible] Club.

This fine record proves what can be accomplished by the young boys and girls of these clubs, and should be an incentive for other farming districts to start Junior Calf Clubs, that will eventually result in only the best quality livestock being raised.

We congratulate Jane on her splendid record and wish her success in any future competitions she may enter.

Complete Plans For Clothing Drive

Representatives from the surrounding districts met in the Vets Hall last Thursday evening and made plans for the Municipal Clothing Drive which takes place June 17 to 19.

Suits, coats, shirts, socks, underwear, dresses, blankets and shoes all needed to help those less fortunate. Don't throw them away! Just pack them up and take them to your nearest clothing depot or hold them until they can be picked up by truck.

Advance in Heart Disease Treatment

Victory over a hitherto fatal form of heart disease may result from a new medical treatment that has been developed in Britain over the past months. Previously this disease, commonly called coronary thrombosis, usually struck down its victims in the prime of life. Some 90 per cent of those attacked died within a few days. Now, however, Dr. Evan Bedford, Physician to the London Hospital, has announced that of 107 patients treated with dicoumarin for this disease, 81 had been apparently cured. United Kingdom publications have been quick to acclaim the discovery as one of the great medical advances since the early days of the discovery of the drug by Sir Alexander Fleming of St. Mary's Hospital, London. At the time it seemed doubtful whether penicillin would be successful for this disease. In addition, research has been hampered by the fact that the recommended maximum dosage of the drug British medical research was unable, therefore, to attack the disease on a large scale until penicillin manufacture were adequate to supply more than trials have revealed the secret of the success - that treatment must be continued much longer than is usual with penicillin. Increased dosage is no substitute for long treatment. The doctors recommend that it will last quite a day for twenty-eight days. When this dosage is given to every one in the early stages it is hoped that results will be just as good.

Salute to Agriculture

Next week the Canadian Weekly Newspapers are planning, through their columns, a Salute to Agriculture. May we, the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, commend them for this action at the time we assume more importance for the people of Canada in view of the need and wish of being able to meet these open and thoughtful tests to the people on the home front, both to the farmer on the land. It can be safely said that the people of the United Nations all realize the important part that farmers have played in the struggle for peace

Now as the task of winning the peace and goodness of foods is still on the front line, and if ever our humanity is to be saved he must continue to put forth every effort. Then this Salute to Agriculture is most timely

Salute to Agriculture

May we, the Alberta Federation of Agriculture, lend our voice of appreciation to this move in encouraging to plant farm and figure of a job well done by our farmers before an appreciative, but [illegible] public.

With the outbreak of war we all experienced a shifting scene. From a period of so-called over-production and low market prices we entered upon a wartime economy with a prosperous market for all we could produce and, as a price which netted a fair return to the producer.

This may be looked upon as an ideal situation for the farmer, but such was not necessarily the case. The restrictions demands on production disorganized the [illegible] of farm labor and the older men were left to carry the load. Hours over, stations, which I am not going to quote, prove that they did not falter but continued to produce and to increase production in all phases of their industry. It is a recognized fact that food is essential in winning all wars. So was all the world states Agriculture.

Every noble effort is encouraged by sacrifice. Thus our farmers, during the years through the turmoil unwatched. They have not materially improved their situation beyond reducing these debts which were contracted during years of low prices. During war years they concentrated on production, [illegible] through [illegible], the maintenance of their farms and homes, and were not molested. They could not be replaced.

Instead of taking full advantage of a seller's market, they accepted price controls on their produce, which was on their account, six disadvantages but which they still hope will help results by way of a stabilized market in the future. On most farms the wartime production costs were low because of the long hours of work [illegible] by the farmer, his wife and family. He was not able to keep his farm buildings and equipment in proper state of repair, the cost of which is increasing operating expenses. These factors lead to an unfair and high rate of [illegible] tax.

The picture facing the farmer today is one of increasing costs. His feed which must be purchased with scarce and inferior, and any replacements in either machinery or general farm income must be made at an ever increasing spiral of prices, a spiral which is daily becoming out of line with the wages of many working people and with the returns of agricultural production.

These, in any Salute to Agriculture for past achievements we must also consider the future, a future which will require a strong

TRIBUTE TO THE FARMERS

Friday, June 21st, has been set aside as "Farmers' Day" throughout the Dominion of Canada for the purpose of [illegible] Canadians should pay tribute to [illegible] and [illegible] farmers have made to the welfare of the Dominion.

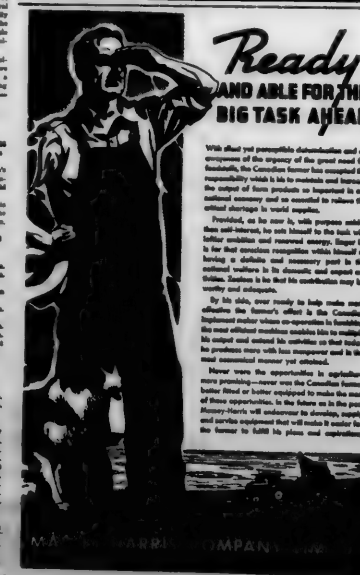
The participation of Canada's foodstuffs is certainly of our outstanding [illegible] the maintenance of [illegible] world. If a fair share of this national [illegible] is to be maintained [illegible] economic [illegible] for the production of [illegible] necessary.

The Canadian farmer [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]. It is united in its dependence on [illegible] have [illegible] the basis of the entire Canadian achievement.

The contribution made by Canadian farmers [illegible] Canada to Great Britain, and to the United Nations during the war years, stand as great achievement. Since the war ended, these farmers have striven to the utmost to supply the starving [illegible] of unfortunate lands harried by the conflict. At the same time Canadian farmers provided food for Canadian people at such a [illegible] and variety and [illegible] comparatively low cost that the nation stands today a realm of plenty, [illegible] notion of destitution and starvation.

Men for men the greatest food producer in the world, the Canadian farmer is entitled to the appreciation of the Canadian people.

ALBERTA WHEAT POOL



With what yet unmeasurable destruction and consequences of the urgency of the great need for foodstuffs, the Canadian farmer has accepted the responsibility which is his to maintain and increase the output of farm products so important to our national economy and so essential to relieve the critical shortage in world supplies.

Provided, as he now is, with purpose nobler than self-interest, he puts himself to the task with better ambition and renewed energy. Happy he is for that conscious recognition which himself of having a definite and necessary part in the national welfare in its domestic and world activities. Zealous is he that his contribution may be worthy and adequate.

By his side, ever ready to help make more effective the farmer's effort is the Canadian implement maker whose co-operation in furnishing the most efficient machines enables him to multiply his output and extend his activities so that he produces more with less manpower and in the most economical manner yet attained.

Never were the opportunities in agriculture more promising—never was the Canadian farmer better fitted or better equipped to make the most of these opportunities. In the future as in the past Massey-Harris will endeavour to develop, supply and service equipment that will make it easier for the farmer to fulfil his plans and aspirations.

The [illegible] which will hold its Anniversary Service, Sunday, June 30 at 3 p.m. Rev. Dr. J. T. Stephens will preach. Ardrossan and Clover Bar will join with Bremner for this occasion.

Ardrossan

The June meeting of the United Workers was held at the home of Mrs. Lauman on June 12. A large number of members and visitors were in attendance.

Ardrossan players won the ball game on Thursday June 20 due to default as Bremners would not take the field.

Baker school pupils held their annual picnic on Friday, June 14 at Elk Island Park. All pupils reported a very good time.

The ladies of the War Guild would greatly appreciate any donation of pies, cakes, salads, etc. for the picnic supper.

In the Athabasca Anglican church recently Archdeacon Little performed the marriage of Miss Helen Cook of Athabasca, to Mr. Henry Klatt of Edmonton, son of Mr. Fred Klatt of Ardrossan, and the late Mrs. Klatt.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white satin and a veil caught in a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of peonies and white carnations.

Miss Rosina Cook was bridesmaid and Mr. Franklin Klatt was best man.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents at which couple will make their home in Edmonton.

Sandy Lake

Mr. and Mrs. B. Andrews and Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews have motored to Jasper and Banff for a short holiday trip.

Miss Betty Elliott has returned home after spending the school term at Seven High School, Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Elliott are spending a few days at Jasper.

Although the month of June is nearly ended we hear there is to be another bride in this district in the near future.

On June 21, Sandy Lake had their breaking up picnic at the school grounds. Mr. Calvin supplied the lunch for the children.

We congratulate Mr. and Mrs. Walter Geary on their recent marriage. Mrs. Geary is the former Miss Agnes Adamson, a sister of Mrs. R. Elliott.

After winning all games played with Wostwicken and Mill Creek, Ottenbourg and Sandy Lake ball players drove to Ottenbourg where they suffered their first defeat by a 4-3 score.

Sandy Lake led the game up to the ninth inning when Paul Schellert, the Sandy Lake pitcher, gave rein walks which they managed to squeeze home.

A week later Sandy Lake won their second game by a 10-6 victory on their home grounds.

On June 14th Sandy Lake drove to Ottenbourg for the final game. In this game Ottenbourg led in the ninth inning Sandy Lake added their winning points. When Alfred Rembel (SL) was hit home by Paul Schellert and Allan Kents homered Paul Schellert home on a second base hit and the game ended up in a 7-5 victory for Sandy Lake.

The victory made Sandy Lake one of the two undefeated baseball teams in Sec. 8 Elmonton under the leadership of Mr. Calvin (teacher) with Allen Kents (catcher) and Paul Schellert (pitcher) as coaches.

Saturday Clothing Pickup Day

On Saturday morning a truck will be at the back door of the homes and in the business section of the town to pick up clothing for the clothing depot.

Residents are asked to have their bundles of old clothing ready and tied and if possible to have them at the curb before 9:30 a.m. This will make it easier for the truck driver and help to save time.

Council Briefs

The regular meeting of the Council was held Monday evening, June 24, with all members present and Mayor Magee in the chair

Constable Thomas's dog pound, asked if Council were willing to lease the truck with him so that he could drive the Fort Baseball Team to the several games played in the surrounding district. The Council considered that should they grant permission to use the truck that they would have to grant to all the clubs in the town, and as this necessitated the constable being away out of town during those times they could not grant permission to the same.

The Council granted Gus Miller five days vacation, also, that the constable could commence his two weeks vacation on July 15th.

A lengthy discussion took place as the question of early closing and a committee was appointed consisting of Leonard Browne, Chas. F. Lamb, Dr. Johnstone and Albert Jacobs to canvass the business people in the town in regards to this matter.

The selection of the last regular meeting night was set and adopted also the financial statement for the month of May.

A discussion by the School District entering the large School Division of Clover Bar was entered into and Mr. R. A. Reeve was called into the meeting to give particulars of the mill rate etc. that would be imposed on the taxpayers of the town.

It was moved and adopted "That the Mayor and Sec.-Treas. be empowered to sign the lease of the Community Hall for the town and contract with the Fort Community Service Club as regards.

Several options for land were dealt with by the council

The meeting adjourned at 12 p.m.

Extra Rations for Farm Help

During the summer months most Canadian farms require temporary help. Farmer's wives have been asked by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board that if they serve twelve meals or more in temporary help they may also obtain more than two weeks the help they did not receive ration in time—only an informal discussion could take place. Notice of the next meeting will be posted, when it will be formally decided.

Surely the winners for our annual summer local tournament, perhaps by listening to the weather forecast, perhaps by consulting one of the Almanacs so generously supplied to us (like Pudd'n Dabney Elliot), perhaps by some fearsome, occult means, that last Friday evening was fixed (not fooled) for an electric storm of such considerable force and wetness that any five bath for their warm imagination would give them, but a cool, damp, nutting welcome.

However it happens, an unlucky event is about to befall several people for their daring in venturing out on the baseball field as conspired to put on a dark and gloomy countenance, lit up only by repeated fiery flashes of lightnin

Nevertheless, though the winners failed us, other good things did not. They hid themselves very shyly and shily indeed, but with the good food hope of being ultimately discovered, for when Boy Chinh came along, leading his young followers on a personally conducted treasure hunt, those goodies gave themselves up quite readily and sweetly. Only one bag of peanuts, which was slyly reluctant to be found and captured, even by Boy himself.

We cannot leave this report of our winner event without a word of thanksgiving that no big league baseball players were present to witness the game which proceeded the treasure hunt, for surely we should have lost several of our older young people For fear this should be true and for one of those pixalated magnates of the baseball world should see fit to sign particulars our shall we name one name.

And there is where that is not good. SOUTH COOKING LAKE

It will be great pleasure for all who follow this column to read that Mr. Ogilvie, accompanied by Miss Ogilvie, is home again with us, looking and feeling much better for the medical attention and treatment, aided by good nursing, she received in Edmonton. And it is indeed gratifying to us all to see Mr Ogilvie getting about so bravely and hopefully these summer days.

A meeting of persons interested in the maintenance of South Cooking Lake Cemetery was held at the Ogilvie home last Friday evening, but owing to the absence of two members of the Board—perhaps they did not receive notice in time—only an informal discussion could take place. Notice of the next meeting will be posted, when it will be formally decided.

Radiograms

A special luncheon arrangement at Jasper Park Lodge turned out to be a memorable experience for Gordon Shillabeer, CJCA's chief engineer. Gordie was given the assignment of overseeing the Lodge broadcasting equipment in preparation for the Rotary District Conference, and soon after arrival found himself rubbing elbows with Bing Crosby, Jean Pertaine and all the Paramount Production staff at present "shooting" the picture "Emperor's Waltz".

He actually did more than rub elbows with Bing and Joan as the entrance to the king's table at Minaki Lodge. He heard Bing sing he saw Mr. Crosby in the actually belonged to the Royalty and a good laugh used to be producing. He saw the proof sheets of Marathon technicolor. He watched Bing and in more convinced than ever that he's a "good Joe" all the way. Watching the shooting of the entrance scene was a thrill and a memory that Gordie will never forget.

People who hold back do not stand out.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS

How Does an Automatic Telephone System Operate?

If your telephone has a dial, it is part of an automatic telephone system. When you wish to talk to another subscriber you do not ask an operator for a number, instead you "dial" that number.

As in the manual system, your telephone and the instrument of all other subscribers are connected to a "central office" by wires, and making a call is still a matter of connecting your wires to those leading to some other telephone.

In automatic telephone systems such as we have in Canada, the connection is made by electrical devices called "step-by-step" switches. Each switch has a "bank" of ten terminals arranged in 10 horizontal rows, each with 10 contacts. If we call the bottom left hand contact 0, the bottom right hand contact 9, then the right hand contact would be 90. A metal finger controlled by the switch mechanism can be moved so as to touch any one of these contacts but not more than one at a time.

Suppose we try to see what might happen in an exchange with wires coming in from nearly one hundred telephones. The wires from each telephone would lead to the moving finger of one of the switches so that there would be one switch belonging to each telephone subscriber. The wires from each telephone would also be connected to one of the contacts on all the switches so that it appeared in the same position in all the switches. For example subscriber number 49 would come in to the moving finger of switch 49, but he would also appear on contact number 49 on all the switches.

Now, suppose telephone number 49 wishes to call number 91. When 49 lifts his receiver switch number 49 is ready to go to work. When he dials 7, the moving finger on this switch moves upward to the seventh horizontal row of contacts. When he dials 9 the finger moves around to the eighth contact in that row. This contact leads to subscriber number 91.

It is not economical to have a "step-by-step" switch for each subscriber so that in an office having 100 subscribers there might be only 10 of these very complex and expensive switches. Instead, each subscriber's wires end in a smaller and cheaper switch, of a different kind.

When a subscriber answers his number on this small switch automatically "busies" for a "step-by-step" switch which no one is using at that time. As soon as one is found the subscriber hears a humming sound called "dial tone" which tells him that the way is clear to dial.

The Recipe Corner

Summer seemed to be just around the corner. Or some time but it is here now with fine weather. Besides bringing hot weather, summer also means long or days to work and play out of doors. In many cases outdoor activities may take place some distance from the home and it may be necessary to carry lunches.

Since a hot meal is often out of the question, the housewife must prepare something that will be sufficiently substantial to satisfy keen appetites. In many instances, a substantial salad is the logical answer since a salad may include meat or fish, eggs cheese and vegetables, raw or cooked. Care should be taken, when a salad is to be carried, to have all ingredients thoroughly drained before being mixed; otherwise the texture and appearance of the salad would be soggy and unappetizing. Glass jars with a good lid make good containers for salads. Lettuce should be carried in a separate container or wrapped in waxed paper to prevent bruising.

The same salads may be prepared to serve for the family lunch or supper at home. The home economists of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture are suggesting recipes for salads such as these:

MACARONI SPRING SALAD

2 cups cooked macaroni (elbow macaroni)
½ cup chopped green onions
1 cup sliced or shredded raw carrots
1 bunch radishes, about ¾ cup sliced
2 cups lettuce cut in pieces
1 2 cup bottled dressing

Toss cooked macaroni, salt, green onions and bottled dressing and mix thoroughly. Chill and serve for at least ½ hour. Add crisp lettuce.

LIMA BEANS SALAD

4 cups cooked lima beans
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
4 tablespoons mayonnaise
¼ teaspoon curry powder
¼ teaspoon chili powder

Combine lima beans and parsley. To mayonnaise add the curry and chili powders blend well. Add to beans and mix together or carry in separate container to be added just before serving. Let lettuce leaves. Hard cooked eggs and radishes may be served with this salad. Six servings.

VEGETABLE MEDLEY SALAD

2 cups chopped cooked meat
3 tomatoes, chopped coarsely
2 or 3 radishes, chopped
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
1 cup chopped cucumber
½ cup chopped green onions
½ teaspoon vinegar

Pickles or a small amount of grated cheese should also be added or substituted a week. The meat does not consist of various, according to what is used or omitted. Mix with mayonnaise or cream the lettuce in separate container and serve in lettuce.

HAM BOILED DRESSING

Mix well and serve. This salad is delicious served with cold meat or with cheese.

Extract of lemon, teaspoon of food flavor. Combine the dry ingredients and mix with the egg yolks, milk and vinegar. Cook in double boiler until thick, stirring constantly. Cool and fold in whipped cream. Pour into baked pie shell and chill.

Looking Ahead

Here's a new brush that looks something like a gasoline mark. But there's an important difference. Its bristles will remember by many thousands of years. Invented by Dr. Hong, this particular brush is made of nylon bristles. It is only one of hundreds of new-type nylon brushes now coming on the market.

"All that they want" is the modern farmer's proper ambition when it comes to providing milk for his livestock. With milk blocks or salt boxes in the pasture, cows can help themselves, but cleaning out troughs, once because of it, it's just another of the advances in animal nutrition that suit our times.

Durable water repellents that won't come out in washing are now being developed to cotton in such a way that they give permanent protection to clothes, but chemical wool is not so easily. These products, say the C-I-L people, will be called "Zelan." Zelan, the United Nations' word for treating wool to keep it, is the people who are making the Zelan for your wool clothes.

Our "Cut-In" on World Security

No man, woman or nation will ever be secure except in a united world. A world that is free from fear, but also free from want, from sickness and from ignorance.

We spend, therefore, far too much time debating what world security can buy but not enough time thinking what it costs. Security means sacrifice. It means remembering. Security means not only giving but getting. It means not only taking but also giving. Security means not only buying but also selling. It means not only working but also playing. Security means not only living but also dying. It means not only being but also becoming.

We have abandoned the old methods of sharpening tiller discs by rolling and grinding for the latest and better methods of machining. By this method we can now unconditionally guarantee satisfaction in the sharpening of your tiller discs. Warplants for Peace

During World War II, nearly 40 million gallons of paints, varnishes and dopes were used for Britain's armed—for camouflage, industrial finishes, signals, and protection against corrosion and certain meteorological manifestations. These commodities were supplied by nine companies who, under the auspices of the Society of British Aircraft Constructors Ltd. rallied there selves to the "Either Group." Not most during the war years did these deliveries fall below requirements. Now camouflage schemes for aircraft demanded intensive research to find fresh colours with durable qualities. Dark green, dark earth, light green, light earth, night, tropical yellow, sky, light slate gray, dark sea gray, extra dark sea gray, dark Mediterranean blue and trellis green were some of the shades that had to be evolved. To day these nine companions which worked together to ensure the success of essential war materials have resumed independent trading and are again competitors in the world's market. They are preparing to match their great wartime achievement by supplying a range of paints, varnishes and dopes to meet the exacting needs of a revived manufacture across operations and many trades and industries.

The trouble with the world today is simply "millions of it—multiplied".

How the World Moves On

The world today cannot move on while it chatters back and forth between a capital of fifty classifications. At home, it seems, you must either "speak or spell your children." You must either "get real happy" or be yourself in the divorce court; in industry labor must either take strife at one or a less. Management must either put labor first place or less in own place. Politically you must either be for right, even if it is wrong, or against it, even if it is right. While in world affairs, you must either hold the edge of power or take it in the neck.

Some men and nations, hitting rather extreme, try the middle course of compromise. And get nowhere fast. But a few are learning a better way—a third alternative. That way is CHANGE.

Take the child you are tempted to spank or spoil. Instead of doing either, try—change. Try behaving differently yourself and you will find the child behaving differently. Learn to say "No" to yourself more frequently and you won't have to say "No" so often to the children. They follow what you do, not what you say.

And, if you are the family meddler who always has to "give your boss" or you may get the other members of the family to give if you admit that you're the boss by shutting back and not management can't do it any where they are wrong instead of where they have wronged. The politician can become a statesman during hansard by never tired of using the World statement too can change it to when we change to something better than we were—and when we stand out for extremes or fall for compromise—that deadlocks are broken and the world moves on.

FARM MACHINERY

Farmers could save themselves tens of money if they would go to Dominion Experimental farms and get the latest information on new types of farm machinery. That's what Hon. J. G. Gardiner, federal minister of agriculture, said in the House of Commons recently. Mr Gardiner said his department hesitated to publish information on the results of machinery experiments. A way around this difficulty was suggested by the C.C.F. member for Melfort, Percy Wright. He said that field days on experimental farms should be re-instituted so that experiments could be viewed by a large number of farmers.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our husband and father, H. J. Wingfield, who passed away June 28, 1945.

The rolling stream of life goes on,
But still the empty chair
Reminds of the loss, the pain,
Of one who sees not there.

Dear remembered by his loving Wife, Annie, Tom and family.

Cuckleoo Warning

Since the arrival of warm weather and showers, Cuckleoo is again on the rampage, taking its toll from our flocks of young growing poultry. The Department of Agriculture Animal Laboratory at Edmonton is crowded at present to capacity with specimens of this disease sent in from the part of the province. The total number of unreported cases and the losses after-ed flocks would be almost unbelievable. In spite of the information for the control of Coccidiosis given out by the Poultry Branch and other sources through the press, radio, bulletins, personal contacts and other means, this disease is on the increase.

Repeated warnings have been given as to the importance of following good sanitary practice and management. Range young stock on clean ground, moving the range house frequently. Move feed and water container to a new spot every few days, keep the building clean; avoid overcrowding of old stock and turkeys with the young stock.

There are two types of Coccidiosis. The acute or cecal type causes severe hemorrhage of the ceca. Bloody droppings are noted and the chicks bunch up with ruffled feathers, drooped wings, in any corner of best. Comb and wattles may become pale. Birds appear dumpish and lose all appetite is noted. With the chronic type there is gradual loss of appetite and weight, and the feathers become ruffled.

Early diagnosis and immediate steps for control are imperative if severe loss is to be avoided. The new specific remedy for control of Coccidiosis is now available; preventable from your feed manufacturer, mash containing 1 per cent Sulphaguanidine. It is easy administered and should be given strictly according to directions if satisfactory results are to be obtained.

Partridge Hill

Partridge Hall and Vyse Valley school held a picnic on Friday, June 21st at the Recreation grounds. High light of the afternoon was the ball game between the two schools. Good sportsmanship was shown throughout and with the help of such stanch supporters as W. H. Gillson and Bill Gems, Ipsos won with a score of 21-21. In the evening long pretty appeared on a dance in the Community Hall. The success of the closing day's activities was largely due to the super visions of Mrs. Leathers, Mrs. Cossey and Miss Ryan. Happy holiday to you all.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Lawrence and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Almas left last Thursday on a two weeks' holiday to the Pacific Coast. They travelled by way of Kimberley, stopping over for two days to visit with Miss Kathleen Lawrence, R.N., who is nursing at the Kimberley Hospital.

Miss Rhoda Lawrence and Mr. Phil Crawford were holiday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Attewell. Mrs. Harry Rye and son, Donald, were renewing old acquaintances in the district Sunday and Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Eckel and Mr. E. Smith and family took in the Pembina Stampede on Tuesday. Mr. Bob Gordon spent the week-end at the home of his brother, Mr. John Gordon.

Push the old rest studio to expand themselves in growing small plants. Then the second pair of leaves appear and they begin to look like the older pair pale green to a deeper green. At this point the young plants will begin to resume the order of things and nourish the old rest stocks. This is when you should begin to blanket the young plants. You will find this procedure will take care of Cutworms and Root Maggots. The next system of every plant is at its lowest ebb of vitality and it is then a good bag hop. This being the case, it is not necessary to exert very early in the season. But do not neglect your summerfallow ground during the hot weather. This is the period when we are most liable to lose out.

Canadian Red Cross to Trace Missing Persons

The Canadian Red Cross has been designated by the Canadian Government as the National Tracing Bureau for Canada for purposes relating to the whereabouts of lost members of their families dispersed during hostilities.

According to an agreement concluded between the International Committee of the Red Cross and UNRRA, the latter agency has undertaken to make such investigations through a Central Tracing Bureau which it has opened in Europe, and through the National Tracing Bureau in all countries.

All persons in Canada, therefore, who are anxious to know the present address of relatives displaced during hostilities should write the Canadian Red Cross Society who will forward their enquiry to the appropriate Tracing Bureau.

From 1939, 22,000 civilian enquiries have been dealt with on Form 1600 and 15,000 individual letters written by the Canadian Red Cross regarding whereabouts and welfare of civilians in all countries of the world.

Agriculture Service Board Notes

Two simple statements will serve to illustrate the principle in weed and ditching control by the summerfallow method. Our three communities and most townships are practically weed free. Cooperstown, New Plymouth and Canada Thistle.

A six year old child can destroy an oak tree in one summer with a small sandals. Insect caterpillars worms destroyed some of our handy native popular trees a few years ago, in brisher of them. In summer it is not necessary to touch your trees with the hoe. The procedure is just simply to deprive them provisions of their vendors or leaves at all times for one whole season and thus destroy them.

The next question which naturally arises is how to get rid of the most obliging implements to do the job. For Cooperators, the fall of the answer. For both kinds of thistle the ill'er is quite good and will not make weather.

You will find in summerfallowed fields where it was trying to kill all three of these weeds, Canada Thistle will hang on the longest. In the bends of the 1 ower years and then to cuplet a real old time pitch-in.

Camp broke up Sunday evening which for most of us was all too soon. It is hoped, however, that next year will see us all together again with many more in attendance. Our thanks are truly due and extend a co-operative way of living—a way of life which if practiced by everyone, a golden business would make to all Hopeful Partridge Hill to Hilo, Our Lord Jesus Christ.

Sunday, June 23, gave down in the history of our redeemed church as an outstanding day for it marked the fifth anniversary of the founding of our church as well as the date of the building of the home church.

The guest speaker in the forenoon was Rev. Arthur Fenwick, minister of Sunny Plain reformed church. Guest speakers in the afternoon were Rev. Dr. Fenwick, Miller of First Presbyterian church, Edmonton, Rev. Brooks in English and Rev. S. Webster of of Knoxonian church, St. Andrews, also spoke in German.

The same theme was much enjoyed by immigrants and present visitors again showing that there is a fine brotherhood existing by our ladies.

Both services were well attended although the roads were muddy and the yearly rains still falling. Not only could all give thanks this day to our Lord for having brought us safely thu far, but we could not succeed he was willing to give us strength and courage to carry on.

Maximum Price Rates

To discourage early disposition of laying hens and thus maintain maximum egg production across Canada, the period during which feed (corn) may sell at the highest price level has been extended from June 30 to July 31, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has announced.

Board officials explained that because of immovable soft weather the majority of birds were still in good laying condition and to encourage their full feed period.

Josephburg

Filthy evening of last week saw a happy and merry evening around the Josephburg bonfire as it was the beginning of an outstanding event in the history of our Josephburg Young People's Society. Cars were loaded to the roofs with boys bedding, tents and passengers as well as an excellent supply of eats and drinks. You guessed it. Our group was on its way to camp at "Elk Island Park" give for a week end.

Upon arrival six tents were quickly pitched before dark and with some available supplies we then served a refreshing noon lunch which was almost over-done next morning when the boys had their fires at preparing and serving. Eggs, bacon were brought to a close with the events of supper after which all retired to their pals and cots and were soon in the land of nod.

Sunday morning the campers were a very keen group with very little sleep and a scrounge of plain water. The boys decided to have a good blessed Jersey cow. But the girls were not in favor of it.

The bride's table was laid with an ever less cloth and centered with a three tiered cake, which was finished by pink and white tapers in crystal candelabras. A toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. J. D. McLean.

Mr. and Mrs. Bills left later for Edmonton where they will spend a few days before taking the plane for Montreal, where they will make their home.

The War of Ideas

By George West, Bishop of Kenpeon

The War of Ideas. It sounds tame, academic, exemplary elder's business, unimportant, unknown. It is none of these things. It is real, virile, amazing, everybody's job and determines the shape of things to come.

An idea travels as swift as sound. It can reach a million minds. It can stir, inflame them, set them ablaze.

People who have ever done any thing have first been enamored by an idea. People who don't mind a dilatory are people with no ideas. Most people live to be all out fits something. Some can be patient and they may be either good or bad.

Materialism by writing it off do not fight, win and conquer. You cannot extirpate it root and branch by force. You can only defeat an idea by a better idea. You can only outmarch it by traveling faster and achieving more. Numbers are glad of the opportunity to simplify menus and serve simple desserts.

The choice is between good and evil, right and wrong, God's way and my way. It is the eternal struggle in which everybody has a part and a destiny. It is made up of the multitude of decisions made every day on all kinds of issues.

Now shall we choose?

Here is the one uniting idea. It is also creative. It inspires the best from all and fights for the best in all. It embraces all, and excludes only those who prefer themselves to what others and the tyranny of greed, fear and hate to any other dominion. It is the one idea that can capture both Management and Labor, French and English, businessman and farmer—the one great prevailing idea that can change, direct and unite them in a common purpose.

The new world does not begin when pens inscribe signatures on parchment at a Peace Table. The new world begins when God inscribes His will on the hearts of ordinary men, and statesmen.

The Recipe Corner

With fresh fruits, wild or home grown, now available in most parts of the country, desserts do not present any problem. Homemakers are glad of the opportunity to simplify menus and serve simple desserts.

For at least the first week of the season for each fruit, the whole family will want to enjoy the fruit as it comes, that is without any trimmings or cooking. After everyone has been well satisfied and friends are a little less plentiful, it is a good idea to prepare desserts which will combine the fruits with a small amount will serve every member of the household. Also many an ordinary dessert will take a festive air with the addition of a little fruit or a fruit sauce.

Even in summer, cool days may be expected and then a hot dessert

ROUTE "CANADA'S MAIN STREET" — The Trans-Canada Highway, which links province to province, from sea to sea, and spans the way to a great new era of tourist travel.

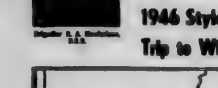
Rolling along "Canada's Main Street" — the Trans-Canada Highway — from coast to coast, Brigadier R. A. A. Macfarlane, D.S.O., at the wheel of a new 1946 Chevrolet Sedan, has just completed a remarkable trip without having Canadian soil.

To win the A. E. Todd Gold Medal — offered in 1913 by the Mayor of Victoria — Brig. Macfarlane left Lendalough, Ireland, with the rest of the Automobile on his own wheels, and other nine days of driving he was in Victoria, Vancouver Island, B.C., and shipped his front wheels to the Pacific, having covered

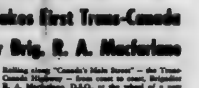
4,743 MILES

The Chevrolet used was a stock 1946 model powered with a standard six-cylinder valve-in-head motor. It was selected by Brig. Macfarlane — who held the responsible posts of Director of Mechanization and Deputy Master-General of Ordnance, at Ottawa, during the war — because he is convinced that a "stock, high-powered passenger car is the best all-round vehicle for Canada's roads." When he left Ireland, Brig. Macfarlane made the new Chevrolet his choice for his big-mileage journey — another "first" for Chevrolet!

CROSSING THE END OF THE TRAIL—J. V. Johnson and George Wheeler of the Victoria Automobile Club, meet Brigadier Macfarlane and his Chevrolet a few miles outside Victoria and escort him into the City.



THE AWARD—Winning of the Todd Medal, offered in 1912, becomes possible with completion of the Trans-Canada Highway, is in some quarters to Brig. R. A. Macfarlane for the first motorized journey from Lendalough, Cape Breton, to Victoria, B.C., over a practical all-Canadian route.



THROUGH THE ROCKIES—The Chevrolet spent thrilling hours skirting sheer precipices and climbing high passes. The only roads before it encountered this season limits valley in Canada's Rocky Mountains.

THE FINISH—After 4,743 miles of rugged, mountain-free driving, Brigadier Macfarlane and his co-driver (by the front wheels of their Chevrolet in the Pacific Ocean — to win the A. E. Todd Gold Medal.

It Can and Did Happen!

Fort citizens will no doubt be surprised to learn that the ball team that has been receiving very little—if any—interest from the general public and only supported by a few of the good old "die hards" who love the game, came through in fine form to win the tournament at Bruderheim on July 1st.

The boys have had to contend with poor support, public ridicule and a diamond which is a disgrace to a sporting community.

Those who have heckled them over the Beverly 16-0 and the Edmonton 14-2 games should have seen the Josephburg 10-9 game and then observed the change in the players. They were almost convinced from listening to the knockers that they couldn't play ball.

That 10-9 game changed the picture. They then knew that they could give most teams a workout.

Those who witnessed the boys take second place by defeating Andrew 8-1 in the afternoon and then defeating Chipman 6-1 in the evening saw a team come back into its own—the hard way.

Special mention could be made of many players, but outstanding throughout was the performance of two, namely, Bud Whitford and Maurice Turner. Both boys played like veterans, caught everything that came their direction—three were plenty—and hit steadily through both games.

Manager Collins who has stuck with the boys and taken much friendly, nevertheless hatred, ribbing, can now if he wishes, do some talking himself.

The gist of this is, that "be it ever so humble—good or bad" there's nothing like the "home" team. They are proving themselves without your support. What couldn't they do with a community wholeheartedly back of them?

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE

Director "The Crop Testing Plan"

WHEAT YIELDS, STILL DOWN AND SUMMERFALLOW

An interesting survey which 2,750 prairie farmers co-operated in has recently been made on the yields of wheat on stubble and summerfallow. Details for [illegible] by the 1946 crop.

It is found that in areas where 21-bushel wheat is usually grown, the average amount of moisture in summerfallow at seeding time is about 2½ inches more than in stubble, but that in areas which average 9-bushel wheat, the difference is only ½ inch. In the former areas, the yields on summerfallow average 10 per cent higher than on stubble and in the latter areas, 20 per cent higher. Apparently, in areas where there is little moisture in the soil, it pays the farmer to sow his wheat on summerfallow each year, but in areas which get enough moisture to produce [illegible] bushels to the acre and summerfallow 26 bushels, the summerfallow yielded on the average only 57 per cent more than the stubble.

There are lessons to be learned from this. Apparently, in areas which often have low yields, there is no use the farmer is now [illegible] summerfallow each year, but in areas which usually average [illegible] better than average yields, then summerfallow should be done occasionally and only as a means of controlling weeds for obtaining a summerfallow every eighth. It is not a paying proposition to summerfallow as soon as it can be sowed.

AN INDUSTRY Pledged TO THE FURTHERANCE OF AGRICULTURE

Founded and developed on the basis of helpfulness to the farmer, the implement industry is entirely dependent on the prosperity of agriculture for its own success.

Through the years, the implement maker has, with quality of product and genuinely helpful service, won the high regard and goodwill of the users of his product. There are few farmers who do not value sincerely the service of the implement company.

The farmer and the implement maker have mutual interests in the welfare of agriculture and its progress towards higher standards and improved methods. Working for the common cause both have contributed much to the betterment of farming in general.

In the past, new developments in equipment have enabled the farmer to do his work in less time and at less cost. Such equipment has helped the farmer offset adverse conditions such as drouth and soil drifting, to conduct insect pests and other types of crop destroyers, and to replace manpower in times of labor shortage. The self-binder, the tractor and power farming machines, the one-way disc and the pull-type combine, each in its time has helped the farmer in making his efforts successful and profitable.

Advancements in the past have been notable and fruitful. Setbacks from time to time delayed but did not prevent the onward march of agriculture. And the future will bring advances in farming, too.

The self-propelled combine, perfected by Massey-Harris prior to the war, has opened up new fields of possibilities in implement engineering, and other new machine developments assure that, in its efforts to further improve agriculture, there will be available to the farmer equipment that will offer greater advantages in saving time, labour and expense. Massey-Harris is proud of its long association with the farmers of Canada in promoting the welfare of agriculture.

Still Potato Tops To Control Blight

As a result of investigations of late potato blight and rot in the 1945 crop by the Dominion Plant Pathological Laboratory at Charlottetown, P.E.I., rather infection may be prevented almost entirely by killing off the potato tops to finish the development of the growing season and leaving the crop on the ground for at least ten days. During that period the spores die and cannot cause infection, even if they are carried on the tubers into storage. If there are no fronts, it is recommended that the living plants be sprayed with a suitable and quick-acting chemical, such as crude killer. In any case, because of the almost certain presence of late season leaf infection farmers are urged to adopt top killing as an extra late blight control.

The reason why late blight tuber rot occurs in storage although not apparent at digging time has puzzled many growers. However, it can be easily explained. Actually the plants have been attacked by the blight fungus when producers a great number of spores. These, in turn, contaminate the crop at digging time, germinating and infecting the tubers in storage. Damp storage conditions favor infection, but if good ventilation is provided, and the potatoes kept reasonably dry, the rot will be kept down to a minimum, for, not only do the fungus spores require moisture for germination but they quickly dry up and die in dry air.

Stupidity is not the only form of incompetence. Add obstinacy, cupidity, malfeasance and fear.

Night Flying By Daylight

During the war, Britain's Royal Air Force developed an ingenious method of training young pilots for the dangers of night flying. The method proved so successful that it is being adopted in peacetime. The training "night flights" take place in broad daylight so that the instructor can see everything clearly. But for the pupil everything is so black as night—a synthetic night produced by means of blue goggles and amber-colored cockpit windows, through which he can see nothing but the medium-lit flare path on the airfield and the aircraft lights spread illuminated by sodium lighting. The instructor sitting beside him with goggles can see everything by daylight and can correct his pupil's errors without danger. The filter goggles are the invention of a British photographer and his brother, a Squadron Leader in the R.A.F., who perfected them for the specific purpose of "night-flying" by day.

ARGENTINA'S PEACH SOAP

Argentina's food prices have increased from 100 to 300 per cent since the end of the war, according to a report from Buenos Aires. The president, Juan D. Peron, has ordered that 1945 price levels are to be restored within 60 days otherwise drastic action will ensue.

Farm Records Factor To Success of Farm

Among the many activities of the farmer which contribute to the success and efficiency of his business, the keeping of accurate and timely management records is probably one of the most important yet is one of the most neglected.

Records that may be profitably kept by the farmer or storekeeper are many and varied. Among those are breeding and production records, records for identification of purebred or grade farm stock, records of purchases and sales of live stock, feed, seed, machinery, other equipment and supplies. An annual inventory in which all live stock, feed supplies, grain machinery and farm equipment is listed, together with a nominal value for each item will also be found valuable in many different ways.

While it may be assumed that all records are equally important and should receive equal care, those which are concerned with live stock feeding operations are of a more urgent and vital nature than most others because of the probability of direct loss of income should they be neglected.

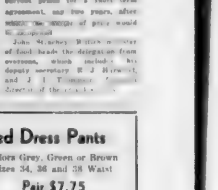
The different breed associations now require that complete records be kept in connection with the identification and registration of live stock. In order to encourage and facilitate the keeping of such records, most breed associations provide, at a nominal cost, suitable record books for the live stock breeder and owner.

A record book especially adapted to the keeping of general farm accounts can be obtained for 10 cents from the Queen's Printer, Ottawa. Some of the banks, farm machinery companies and other business concerns also provide account books free for the asking.

Any system of farm accounts, however simple, is a long gain over no system at all.

NO GRASSHOPPER INVASION

Although there is a heavy hatching to the grasshoppers, and the distributed breeders is definitely off, The Lethbridge Experimental Laboratory, which originally furnished canvas, now states that only a scattered few of the hoppers can be found, even in places where it is to be thickly plowed with these hopper eggs.



Playwrighting Veteran

A veteran among veterans is Lon Peterson, who is currently disseminating the life and adventures of ex-Lance Corporal Ulysses Wedgewood in the weekly broadcasts of the new "Veterans Show". A radio dramatist of the first rank and a former army officer, Peterson writes his Ulysses episodes as part of the general variety entertainment offered by industrial executives and women.

10,000 Pictures Per Second With Camera

One of Britain's leading precision engineering firms during the war produced a camera capable of taking 10,000 pictures per second. This camera is said to be the most perfect of its kind in the world for taking pictures in slow motion of fast moving objects. The Strobescope, another instrument, a special type of the same firm, enables the speed of rotating or reciprocating machinery to be measured. It is used to say defects or adjustment necessary to improve production when some parts of the machinery. A high speed instruments, this firm produced special gyroscopes as well, which have already proved successful for aircraft and marine use and for which a great possibilities future is predicted. These high-speed gyroscopes are used with considerable success for stabilizing the control mechanisms of all types for navigation equipment.

Confidence, not compromise, is the key to success in a conference.

CONFERRING ON WHEAT AGREEMENT

At the present time a conference is being held at Ottawa between representatives of the British and Canadian governments for the purpose of negotiating a wheat agreement which may be for as long as five years. The main point for discussion is the matter of price. It has been estimated that the British government is willing to pay higher than current prices for a short term agreement, and two years, after which the matter of price would be re-opened.

John McNeil, British member of food heads the delegation from overseas, which includes his deputy secretary, E. J. Hewlett, and J. J. Thompson, assistant director of the ministry.

Sunday Storm Causes Serious Damage

The heaviest Sunday record considerable damage to crops south of the river and east of the town. The storm, following the course of the river, swung out in different sections of the country striking at crops that were 24 in. high and bending out, and cutting them down within two and three inches from the ground.

Loss to some farmers range all the way from 30 per cent to 100 per cent of the grain sown.

Quite a number of vegetable and flower gardens in the Fort also took a beating. In many cases it cut the tops off everything growing, and also stripped the leaves from the top branches of trees.

It isn't any wonder that some people get discouraged and give up farming They never know how much grain they will have from their land until it is all cut, thrashed and in the elevators, for when looks like a bumper crop one day might be a total loss the next day as was clearly shown after Sunday's storm.

In spite of our "scattered showers", Sunday's Cooking Lake meeting was a popular and as busy as before. The driveways in front of the General Store, the Filling Station and the rear of our latest south-needed acquisition to this holiday resort) are seldom ever without their complement of cars. When the "showers" become more "scattered" this popularity will increase.

We regret to lose Mr. and Mrs. Lefebvre who have been with us for two months or thereabouts, visiting the Uglows's and who are this week returning to their home at Trail, B.C. We all wish them safe and happy return to their home, with a stored-up abundance of health for the coming winter.

ROUTE COOKING LAKE

On Saturday afternoon, June 29, a meeting of the Cemetery Board was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Uglow. Mr. Chadwick, chairman of the board presided. Others present were: Mrs. D. S. Bowlby, Mr. and Mrs. C. Leach, Messrs. F. Leach, F. Bacon, J. Lefebvre, W. Adams and W. E. Bowlby.

Minutes of the previous meeting were read and adopted, and after receiving the financial statement, which was accepted; Mr. Uglow, the secretary-treasurer for 14 years feeling unable by reason of ill-health to continue his duties satisfactorily, tendered his resignation. This was regretfully received and a vote of grateful appreciation was passed for Mr. Uglow's long and faithful service.

To envy on Mr. Uglow's work, Mr. E. Adams was appointed secretary-treasurer to the board.

To fill the vacancy on the board caused by the regretted death of Mr. Tom Waters, Sr., the chairman called for nominations. Mr. Andrew Ferguson, the only nominee, was duly elected to sit on the board with Mr. Chadwick and Mr. F. Butler.

The meeting then discussed the urgent need of improvements and maintenance of the cemetery grounds. It was decided to have the grass cut regularly, the paths dug out and graveled, and a notice, conveniently located posted to be engaged to maintain permanently all improvements made. The secretary was authorized to write all pioneers for an annual fee of $5 towards the upkeep of improvements and their maintenance. Generaly had the secretary recorded this when to cause a half dozen subscriptions, amounting to thirty dollars.

At a later board meeting, held on the following Saturday, the secretary was instructed to post notices calling for tenders for the above improvements. At this meeting Mr. Chadwick was reappointed chairman of the board, a position he has held since 1916, when, according to the minutes book his resignation was by Mr. Mowyenny, seconded by Mr. Cope.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS

What is Plastic Moulding?

The progress of the plastic industry has been one of the features of the past twenty-five years. Unheard of a short time ago, today there is scarcely a phase of ordinary living that does not use something in the moulded or fabricated form after moulding, and (2) those in which there is no structural change after moulding and which can be remoulded again.

Making articles from plastic depends on a moulding process in which, by subjecting a compound to heat and pressure within a mould, it is softened and made to flow and take on the desired shape of the finished product. Further application of heat "cures" the plastic article, that is, causes it to harden in its new state.

The moulds are so constructed that the heat is applied to the material by means of steam pressure in the walls of the dies. Pressure comes from a press into which the mould is fitted and which is used to close the two halves of the mould.

Compounds used for plastic moulding fall into two classes: (1) those in which moulding and curing constitute a structural change and which take on a permanent form after moulding, and (2) those in which there is no structural change after moulding and which can be remoulded again.

Compounds in the first class are known as thermosetting and, in the air-cel, to thermo-plastic. Bakelite is an example of thermosetting plastic, while plexiglas is thermoplastic.

The plastic compound to be moulded can be in one of two formations, or powder compressed into tablets. In the latter form, the compound presents more surface to heat and will therefore heat more quickly. The powder is compressed into the mould. In cube form, or preforms as it is called, the compound might have a preheating before it is placed in the mould. Such preheating can be done either by electronic means or by an ordinary oven. Its object is to speed up the process by softening the preform in advance, so that it will flow inside the mould more readily and permit lower mould closing pressures.

Although by using powder it is possible to do without preheating, this method presents certain difficulties. Plastics are poor conductors of heat and, even in powder form, the surface of the material get hot in the mould before the centre. This not only leads to a lengthy moulding process, but often results in the finished product being overcured on the outside and undercured on the inside.

Modern moulding methods call for a preheating of preforms by high frequency waves before they are placed in the mould. This results in a very much shorter process, permits lower mould closing pressures, and ensures a uniform curing and a good finish for the product.

Toronto Actor

Both drama producers and radio actors think that the name Hugh Knapp is synonymous with the best in professional radio acting. In Toronto since 1941, the Ottawa-born Knapp has starred in every kind of radio play from children's fantasies to "The Johnny Home Show" and "Stage 46", and it takes a keen ear to identify him in his diverse characterizations.

Glass-Fabric Dyeing

Ever since glass-thread and glass fabric were produced, the trend has arisen to dye these glass-substances by similar methods to those employed in ordinary textile dyeing. The great obstacle to the success of this epoch-making discovery, is that the dyeing process can be carried out without the necessity of altering existing machinery. The machinery can, therefore, be used alternatively for glass-fabrics or for ordinary textiles.

The Recipe Corner

How to Cook

This could easily be a 1946 question on a quiz programme. Home-bodies who cook your family's meals three times each day could probably give you a few hints, but might puzzle a bit.

No matter how long you've been feeding Dear and Dad, there are always methods of cooking, of course, about the person who hasn't come in the kitchen. The time has arrived some when cooking must be done with light rays and electronic heat, entirely on the theory that the fuel is going to be scarce. Of course, there will be no coupons required for cooking, but—

Key number

For instance, the number of hours needed will be reduced to a minimum when steam, gravity or oil stove. Meat broiled over wood or coal stove is much more complicated than the same meat broiled on the gas range. Of course, the meat should be cooked in the early part of the day, when it is still reasonably cool. The housewife who may be unable to cook several loads at one time. The problem part can cook vegetables while dessert or a meat can be simmered on the top part. If the meat has to be heated for one dish it is a good idea to make it do at least double duty.

The home economists of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture suggest the following recipes:

New Exhibit Centre

A new exhibition hall has been opened in the heart of London, in a large department store in Leicester Square. To be known as the London Exhibition Centre it will be at the disposal of those who wish to display to buyers from other countries examples of the post-war development of Britain's export trade. Manufacturing and trading associations, Government departments, chambers of trade and tourist agencies will be able to avail themselves of the 4,000 feet of floor space in the exhibition hall. This centre can be "let with services" and a London display firm specialized for the scheme announces it can arrange shows of all kinds—from peanut to mannequins to scenic painting.

The Lump the Leaven Needs

Subversive forces know the "leaven" of their philosophy will only work on a "lump" or group of people who are bitter enough to want to get even with some other group or class. Or who, generally unthinking, want license for their lusts. Or who are frustrated and want regimentation merited or not—which the present state of society does. Here if they find no such "lump" ready to their hand, they set out among men to create bitterness, dissatisfaction and frustration. The world is the "lump" their "leaven" needs.

The "leaven" of democracy also needs a certain "lump" to do its work in. Its aim is to set up a society in which men may live together in free, virtuous and rational beings. Democratic "leaven" only works, therefore, in groups of people with the spirit that seeks freedom, with a character that aims at virtue, and with a mentality that places truth ahead of any personal, economic, racial or national prejudice.

Here too there may be no "lump" ready to work with. Those who would defend and perpetuate democracy today, therefore, must know how to reawaken the free spirit among men, create virtuous characters, distinguish truth for them and make it preferable to falsehood.

Costly experience has shown that this kind of "lump" cannot be moulded through efforts at self-improvement, through setting the individual against society, through cheap gimmicks from West to East. All these slander. It cannot be done a few times more than 100 million dollars a year.

Quite apart from all that our private farmers are going to spend even more money, taxed industrialists against it unless they can collect enough from consumers, should be gradually starved to death while we respectfully observe "starving Europe".

How is it possible to arrange the living income needs, provide food, cloth and shelter for a man of a nation no matter how rapidly

Farm Improvements By Government Loan

Through the Farm Improvement Loan Act of the Dominion Government a farmer may borrow up to $2,500 for any of the following purposes:—

(1) purchase of agricultural implements; (2) purchase of live stock; (3) purchase or installation of agricultural equipment of a farm electric system; (4) alteration or improvement of a farm electric system; (5) fencing or drainage, (6) construction, repair, or alteration of, or additions to, farm buildings; (7) general improvement or development of the farm.

Only a farmer may borrow under the Farm Improvement Loan Act, which restricts those loans to a person who is in possession of a farm and whose principal occupation is farming. The term farming includes livestock raising, dairying, fruit growing, and all tillage of the soil.

The loans are paid through any of the chartered banks of Canada and the interest rate is 5 per cent simple interest. Arrangements for repayment periods may be from one to ten years, depending upon the amount borrowed and the purpose for which the loan is obtained, the object of the Act being to provide the farmer "short term" and "intermediate credit". "Short term" and "intermediate credit" simply mean that the credit is one or two years up to ten years, that

WATER BOILING TESTED

Pay about a year ago the small English town of Norwich has offered a night watch seeing and the only one of its kind in the world. The City Electric Engineer, Mr. Sumner, has developed a heating process based on entirely new principles and engineers. From all over the world have travelled to Norwich to see it. In the process Mr. Sumner uses neither coal nor electricity but simply conducts the cold water from the river into the building he is heating. Mr. Sumner works on the theory that compression produces heat and his heat-pump has proved so successful that he has been able to maintain a temperature of nearly 62 degrees F. in a five-storey corporation building. This new British system of compression-heating has the great advantage that confining roots amount to one-third of those required by electric or solid-fuel heating type of credit being midway between the short term seasonal loans usually made by the banks and long-term mortgage loans which usually run from 10 to 20 years.

For further particulars regarding these loans, a farmer may interview the manager of any branch of a chartered bank of Canada or he may write to The Supervisor of Farm Improvement Loans, Department of Finance, Ottawa.

Compass on the March

The March of Compass is under way! Soda Bastion Board Offices across Canada these days, reopening, up to June 15th closed half a million pounds of meat for the victims of starvation overseas.

"Canadian Business," in the form of world famine are meeting the challenge to share with the hungry and in the forefront is the Food Information Committee. The latest figures of the number of emergency meat boxes filled. The 30,000 coupons received by food ration boards during the two weeks, June 1 to 15 represent the purchase of almost 60 per cent over the normal turned in during the previous two weeks and brings the collective total to 184,662.

"But," says the skeptic, "how do they do it? Surely the very fact that meat is rationed in Canada shows that we have none to spare." If he talks to the housewife who is standing in the meagre line-up he'll discover there is nothing over-generous in her ration. For all it is an her allowance and the required ability fails, to feed her family and at the same time share with the hungry.

First of all, planned and careful buying, preparing and serving are more than half the battle. By experiment, she has found that an ounce a day chopped off her family's meat allowance is never noticed. She knows, then, if each family in Canada used just one ounce less of meat each day, the total saving would be over 600 tons of meat in a week.

She knows how much or more at it comes from the butcher. She knows it with a fine edge, and if not cooking immediately, covers it loosely and keeps it cold. She knows that most meat is left in the original wrappings, juices are drawn out and meat will be dry after cooking, and that refrigeration is the kind in a meat in summer, when meat spoilage is common.

She has definite temperatures for cooking meat. She knows that this means tough meat and fat, because of the high temperature. She drippings are of better color and flavor for future use.

She knows how a sharp carving knife and a skilful carver mean more servings of meat per pound. By the clever use of economies she knows that left-over meat go a long way. As well, she serves meat only at the main meal of the day, and breakfast and lunch dishes. She plans for one or two meatless days a week, knowing that for any sacrifice, freedom from the rule rather than the exception.

She eliminates meat meals between meat and substitutes fish or salad vegetables, fresh from the garden.

And lastly, she is contributing to the food stocks of the country herself by growing a victory garden. She is helping to the feeding fruits and vegetables to provide much of her winter requirements of home foods.

The co-operation of every Canadian is needed in the fight against famine. An easy beginning is the pledge of it—"The results of years of deprivation cannot be erased overnight and for the future peace and enlightment of the world we must see our world neighbors well on their way to health and prosperity. We pledge ourselves today for the relief of the hungry and the saving of lives in such a practical way as to help."

Pre-Holiday Car Check-up Urged

Importance of having cars checked carefully before drivers start on summer holiday trips is being stressed by officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

The fact that many old cars still are being used on the highways is a further argument in favor of careful check-ups.

Recently in one western city, where 600 cars were tested in a safety week campaign, it was found that three cars of every four was defective. Many of these had faulty brakes, while others had troubles that worked against safe operating of the machine.

Car owners are being urged to play their part in making certain that the machines are in proper working order. This can be done by having a close examination made of an equipment.

Police authorities have expressed the belief that motorists, previous pending many safety campaigns, can cooperate by having their cars checked before going about a greater amount of car testing. It is said that means a well-rounded holiday trip so far as sports are concerned.

Municipal Council Notes

The Council of the Municipal District of Strathcona, No. 83 commenced its July meeting on Monday last, the 8th, with all members in attendance After the adoption of the minutes of the previous meeting and the financial statement for the month of June, Mr W Underwith was allowed to renew his appeal on behalf of the Alberta Farmer's Union for a membership grant for that body He advised that the Municipal District of Eagle had passed the necessary by-law authorizing pay ment of such a grant and that the Municipal District of Beaver had agreed to pay a grant of several hundred dollars for this year The Municipal District of Lamont had committed itself for the payment of a grant of $1.00 per farmer for the year 1946.

In a written brief he submitted it was contended that there was no necessity for hour regarding the legality of the Council making such a grant. It was also avowed that the proposal was supported at the last campaign's annual meeting. While the Council was in favor of making such a grant, it felt that it would be much more satisfactory if it could be made to one united farmer's organization rather than to several individual organizations. In view of this it again declined to cede to his request

The necessary unanimous consent of the last meeting of the Agricultural Service Board when it was resolved that Mr. L. R. Stetson be appointed Field Supervisor at a salary of $1,800.00 per year. Concerning the recommendation of the board Mr. Robinson's appointment was approved and confirmed.

Dealing with another suggestion of the Board which arose from a meeting of the Yorkville U.F.A. local, it is remembered that the Council took the necessary action to enforce the provisions of the Domestic Animals Act to impound stray animals by the appointment of a road rider. In the resulting discussion it was pointed out that it was necessary to empower the ratepayer to impound astray animals, whether found on the road allowances or on his land. In view of this it was decided to express the opinion that it was the duty of any ratepayer to assume the responsibility of impounding rather than to expect the Council to assume same and declined to take any further action in the matter.

In connection with the seeding down of road allowances, a resolution was passed to the effect that if any resident or group of residents will undertake to clean [illegible] sections or road allowances, the Council will arrange to do the necessary bonfowarding and [illegible] down in grass.

By-law No. 35, [illegible] the sale of three lots in Terrace Heights to J. A. Gray received its three readings.

Recommendation was made approving the application of W. Hill for a Cooking Lake to install gas pumps.

A similar recommendation was also made respecting Gus Krause, who desired to erect a Tea Room and Chopping Mill at the hamlet of Josephburg.

The request of the Edmonton Gun Club for the construction of a road to its shooting grounds south of the city was referred to Councillor Saldeus.

Immediately after lunch, a presentation was made to D. Brown,

Cooking Lake

BOWLING ALLEY

Hill and other much-needed addition to the attractions of South Cooking Lake: a well laid-out baseball diamond with a reliable bookstop and with bleachers to accommodate about 150 fans. So hurry up softball teams and arrange your dates with your rivals! The lake is here to cool you off and if that fails, there is a fair supply of ice cream to be had. Picnic here, then, by all means!

Speaking of picnics, this reporter and his family are indebted to the Partridge Hill Community Picnic for the great pleasure it afforded them of meeting and greeting old friends of that area. The ideal summer day, the good fare provided, and the warm kindly handclasps of friends—all contributed to an occasion which will not be surpassed these summer holidays, no matter where we may go.

The close of this memorable day was made memorable in other ways too. Trying to find the shortest crossing from Clover Bar highway to South Cooking Lake highway, we fell into an error similar to that made by Pilgrim in Pilgrim's Progress. We by-path meadow, however, was a very inviting but misleading gravelled road, and our slough of despond a rich clinging, sedentive mixture of rain and mud. Unlike Pilgrim, though, who was taken prisoner by giant despair, we were set free by certain Good Samaritans of Fultonvale, one of whom handed us, dripping as out of that sandy slough by the power of his kindness and his tractor. A memorable day indeed!

Grazing Rotation Invaluable

Young growing plants, high pasture increases with the growth. Now can these conflicting claims be reconciled to the best advantage? J. E. Birdsall, Supervisor of Crop Improvement, suggests that a mid-ole path be taken and an attempt made to ensure both nutritious and a good supply.

One of the best ways to do this is to adopt a system of rotational grazing. Under such a system the pasture is divided into two or preferably more parts, and each pastured in turn. On dairy farms, the milking cows should go on the pasture when the growth is four to six inches high; then when the pasture is partially eaten down the dry stock can be turned in. The use of an electric fence makes such a plan feasible and easy to put into effect.

In Manitoba the onion crop has been written off as of no account, had frost in May and dry weather through the germination period contributing to the loss. Both early and late onion crops are ruined.

The Recipe Corner

At this time of year hundreds of letters from housemakers seeking help with their canning problems, pour into the offices of the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Here are some of the most frequently asked questions and their answers:

"All the re-sealed authorities on home canning used to insist that cookers be sterilized before using. Now a lot of people say this isn't necessary. Can you tell me why?"

It is not necessary to sterilize cookers before using because the processing of food in the cookers sterilizes both food and cookers. However, it is essential that seals on be thoroughly washed in hot soapy water and well rinsed in clear hot water. Rubbers, with glass lids in place, should be placed on a rack in the cooker which should be covered tightly. The filled seal jars are then steamed from 20 to 30 minutes or until the fruit shrinks and the juice flows. The sealers are then removed from the cooker and the fruit and juice from one or two of the sealers is used to fill the others. If there is not sufficient juice to completely cover the fruit, boiling water may be added. The lids are then put on, partially sealed and the sealers processed the required time. If the fruits canned by this method are to be served for dessert they require some preparation before serving. The jars should be drained off, enough water added to make two cups of liquid for each sealer, then brought to a boil sweetened to taste and poured over the fruit. Beet flavor is developed if this is done several hours before using so that the fruit will be th roughly sweetened.

The processing times vary according to the fruits canned. Complete tables for processing will be found in the booklet, "Home canning of fruits and vegetables" available free of charge, upon request, from the Department of Agriculture in Ottawa.

The mix-up in the world comes from trying to mix right and wrong.

"My stepbrother always seems to find in the cookies. Can I prevent this?"

Now that sugar is rationed there is less likelihood of this happening then when heavy syrup was used. Some fruits will float

There are two methods that may be followed in canning fruit without sugar. Small juicy fruits, berries, cherries, rhubarb and juicy plums, should be washed and part of the fruits crushed in the bottom of a preserving kettle. The remaining fruit is added and heated for a few minutes or until juice just starts to flow. If necessary, a little water may be added to prevent scorching. The sealers are packed solidly, crushing fruit down slightly so that it is covered with juice. The filled sealers are then processed

Fruit canned by this method and sweetened to taste when opened is excellent for pies and dumplings.

Large fruits, such as peaches, pears and plums are prepared and packed in the sealers. Two cubes of boiling water should be put in the bottom of the canner, the uncovered sealers placed on the rack in the canner which should be covered tightly. The filled seal ers are then steamed from 20 to 30 minutes or until the fruit shrinks and the juice flows. The sealers are then removed from the canner and the fruit and juice from one or two of the sealers is used to fill the others. If there is not sufficient juice to completely cover the fruit, boiling water may be added. The lids are then put on, partially sealed and the sealers processed the required time If the fruits canned by this method are to be served for dessert they require some preparation before serving. The jars should be drained off, enough water added to make two cups of liquid for each sealer, then brought to a boil sweetened to taste and poured over the fruit. Beet flavor is developed if this is done several hours before using so that the fruit will be th roughly sweetened.

"My neighbor tells me that I can do no fruit without sugar. I assume to me it would not keep. Please tell me if I can do it this way as my sugar ration doesn't seem to go very far."

Fruit keeping quality of canned fruit does not depend on the addition of sugar but rather on sufficient processing and the use of airtight sealers. However, the tone, color and flavor of some fruits are retained better when some sugar is added

Are the constituencies entirely to blame? They are not. It is the duty of the Member of Parliament to serve—to endeavour—to make clear his position to the representative of the constituency in the House of Commons and there his work must be done. We are living in 1946, the problems before the nation now are much greater, many complex, than ever before. The vast majority of the people in the constituencies have not the time to study these problems, their members ought to be left free and unhampered to do their work. Then when the session is over the members right to make clear the issues that are before the people in the here then through the medium of radio-casting as well as by other means should be able to return an efficient House of Commons for without a free parliament, freedom will cease to exist.

In 1886 — 60 years ago — the Dominion Experimental Farms were founded. Starting with five farms the System has since been extended to 34 farms and stations and 210 illustration stations. This System, the largest and most comprehensive of its kind in any country, is maintained, with the other Services of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, for the promotion of agriculture and the national economy of Canada.

As a result of the work carried out in the past by all the Services of the Department in co-operation with the provincial and agricultural colleges, a much greater measure of stability has been given to farming in the Dominion.

Now that the war has ended all the Services of the Dominion Department of Agriculture — Experimental Farms, Science, Production and Marketing — visualize a broader and fuller program of usefulness to the people of Canada. The facilities of these Services are varied and extensive. Everybody in Canada is invited to take advantage of them freely. The Department is always ready to assist in any way in the advancement of the basic industry of Canada — Agriculture.

These girls are a few of the many members of Homemaking Clubs, part of the great industrial youth organization known as the Farm Boys' and Girls' Clubs of Canada.

Here they are shown working on a clothing project. The members of these Homemaking Clubs number more than 15,000, and, in addition to several other activities, made many of their own articles of clothing which are the last word in style and good workmanship.

Facing a rather difficult task to hear 250 appeals, the Court of Revision commenced its sittings at 9 a.m. on Monday morning continuing in session until five p.m. each day until Friday evening. After hearing the arguments of the appellants for a reduction in their valuation, each appeal was considered and a decision made. Notices of the decisions of the court will be forwarded by registered mail to all appellants. Very few appeals were allowed as was most difficult to allow a reduction in a valuation that has been appealed without a corresponding reduction in the valuation of adjoining parcels which have not been appealed and which the court could not deal with. Members of the Council sitting on a Court of Revision expressed in no uncertain terms its objection to the increased [illegible]

"THE CROP TESTING PLAN" IS WHITE WORK

Many thousands of samples of wheat, each representing a farmer's wheat crop now growing, have been sent in a number of points in Western Canada. Many farmers during the course of the summer will, as usual, visit the Dominion Experimental Farms and our Prairie Universities to see the good things in agriculture being shown. Visitors to these Farms and Universities should make a point of seeing the "Crop Testing Plan" samples which will there be found growing, for the "Crop Testing Plan" work is all done with the kind co-operation of these worthy institutions.

At these plots farmers will be able to see at a glance the kind of wheat crops that are being grown in different districts. Scattered among these plots of farmers' samples will be found true-to-variety plots of the variety best suited to the district, as a direct comparison by the eye can be made. LIFE-CYCLE The house fly lays up to 800 eggs in such places as manure piles and decaying garbage.

In warm weather the eggs may hatch within 24 hours and the larvae pupate in from 3 to 4 days. The flies emerge as adults [illegible] days.

A million flies can emerge from [illegible]

The blue-bottle (blow) fly has a similar life-cycle and breeds in meat, garbage, human faeces and in wounds and sores of living animals.

HABITS AND DISEASE: The house fly passes directly from filth to human food carrying bacteria and other organisms. It is known as a simple carrier of diseases including typhoid, dysentery, diarrhoea, tuberculosis, etc. Blow fly larvae in wounds cause myiasis.

CONTROL: Clean up possible breeding places such as garbage dumps and manure piles. Manure should be kept in fly-proof receptacles and removed from weekly. Spread manure thinly on fields to dry or plow in compost piles with clean-cut edges to produce heat by bacterial action. Spray top layer with one pound of lead arsenate to two gallons of water. Keep garbage in fly-proof receptacles and destroy by burning. Prevent flies from having access to human faeces by [illegible] and use septic systems, proposed burial site [illegible] and [illegible] by burial or incineration.

"This year there's beauty in our budget"

"Yes, this year there's beauty in our budget," said Hugh. "Another six weeks of this will do wonders for you and the youngsters . . . and long week-ends here for me . . . it's swell!"

"But it's not really in the budget, Hugh."

"Pish. It's over and above the budget, certainly; but it's the budget that enables us to take this courage without worrying. Once we've set aside our year-round expenses and our life insurance premiums, the rest is surplus. We can be extravagant with it. Until I had enough insurance to take care of the future I always felt a bit guilty about spending on the present. But now my mind is at ease. You and Tom and Gladys are protected. So long as we don't dip into what's needed for that, we don't need to worry any more."

When life insurance is properly taken care of on the family budget, present expenditures can be planned with a carefree mind. Future protection is of key importance. Once that is assured, the greatest source of worry is banished from every home.

Q. What is the difference between a cure and an arrested case?

A. In the National Tuberculosis Association classification the word "cure" is not used, as it would depend entirely on what you mean by cure, as to whether or not there is any difference from the technically arrested case. A considerable proportion of apparently cured patients may reach normal standards with respect to life expectancy.

E S S

Q. What symptoms accompany T.B. of the lung?

A. There may be none, especially in early stages. As a rule, though there is elevation of the temperature, increasing cough, tired feeling, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, indigestion, etc.

E S S

Readers desiring questions answered are asked to send them to Alberta Tuberculosis Association, Calgary, whose experienced physicians and early reply will be given.

New Beef Prices

Wholesale ceiling prices on beef of red and blue quality will be reimposed on July 20th, at levels varying from one to two cents per pound higher than those in effect prior to May 27th, the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has announced.

Board officials explained that this action was taken following meetings with various sections of the industry over the past few weeks and stressed the fact that it had nothing whatever to do with recent ch nges in the status of O.P.A. regulations in the United States.

The Board suspended wholesale ceiling from May 27th to July 20 on red and blue brand beef, to encourage marketing of top-quality cattle and, under this regulation terminating July 20th, officials expressed confidence that they would be able, in spite of many difficulties to have the new price schedules ready to go into operation when the Suspension Order terminated.

The new schedule of wholesale prices will accompanied by a varying adjustment in retail pricing in the different areas on red, blue and commercial qualities. This will mean that as many retail cuts there will be no advance in price, while on some of the better cuts of higher quality there will be an increase ranging from one to three cents per pound. In a number of cases there will be no increase in consumer prices on any cut.

The adjusted prices for the various areas of red, blue and commercial beef will allow for the difference in freight rates between various points, and will provide for a more equitable distribution.

Fort Couple Wed Monday

A pretty wedding was solemnized on Monday morning in The Lady of the Angles Church, Fort Saskatchewan, when Therese Marlent became the bride of Armand Lamoureux.

The bride who was given away in marriage by her father wore a gown of white sheer, with a round neckline and long sleeves. Her fingertip veil was fastened to her head with a white wreath and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses. Her only ornament was a gold heart-shaped locket, a gift of the groom.

Rita Gervais of Duke lake Sask., cousin of the bride was bridesmaid. She wore a gown of blue crepe with matching hat, trimmed with pink roses and wore a corsage of pink pink roses. She also had on a gold bracelet and necklace, a gift of the bride.

The best man was Roland Lamoureux, twin brother of the groom.

The wedding music was played by Miss Noelle Lortie of Lamont on the organ, accompanied by Mr. Albert Gravon on the violin.

Lace mass was held after the ceremony at which Mrs. Lamoureux, Mrs Greene and Father Garnier sang appropriate hymns.

A reception to fifty guests was held at the Cameo Cabaret, Edmonton.

Father Garnier proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded.

A party was held for friends and relatives at the bride's home in the evening.

For travelling the bride wore a brown checked woolen suit and white blouse, with brown accessories.

On their return they will make their home in Fort Saskatchewan.

Names of War Casulties Required

The Canadian Legion Branch No. 27, Fort Saskatchewan have listed on this page a number of the men and women of Fort Saskatchewan and District who made the supreme sacrifice in the World War II.

It is the intention of the Legion to have these names inscribed on the Cenotaph, but before doing so they wish to have a complete list of the men and women, and, in order that none be omitted they are asking the citizens of the Fort and District to check over this list, and if there are others that should be included, request that these names be given to Leonard Browne, town secretary.

It would indeed, be a fitting memorial to these fallen comrades if the town of World War I and the town of World War II, whom we believe number between 150 and 200, could be gathered together for a parade on November 10th, the day which Memorial services are to be held throughout the world for these heroes.

What could be more impressive than these old and young veterans, led by a band, and marching side by side through the town to the Cenotaph, for the unveiling and dedication service for those who failed to return but who will always be remembered.

Egg Cases Are Now In Short Supply

Anticipating record egg production this fall, the Dominion Department of Agriculture has warned dealers of the need to order egg cases immediately. "With this year's hatchings earlier than usual, and 19 per cent above those of 1945, Canadian egg production beginning this fall may reach an all-time high", the Department said.

To ensure sufficient containers for the hundreds of millions of eggs expected to be produced this fall and winter, the Department recommends that all shippers of eggs in carlot quantities order case shooks fully six months in advance so that sufficient wood may be obtained for their manufacture.

Strawberries Grown Easily From Seed

Strawberries may be grown easily from seed. Since 1940, more than 5,000 seedling strawberry plants have been grown to fruiting age at the Dominion Experimental Station, Kentville, N.S., says Dr. R J Hilton, of the station. A summary of the performance of seedlings of several commercially important varieties may be of general interest to horticulturists. In addition to cultivated varieties, a white-fruited berry, Fragaria rosea var. alba, and a promising very early wild strawberry, Fr. virginiana, were also used in the breeding program. Pollen of the wild F. virginiana was successfully used on several garden sorts, but since the white-fruited vesca is of widely different appearance it seems to that of cultivated varieties, successful crosses between the species in most cases could not be made.

Senator Dunlap seedlings, profusely-runnering plants, low, small-leaved, and generally hearty poor quality fruit.

Premier seedlings, large, vigorous plants, large softer dark fruit, inferior to Premier at medium height or higher. Fruit fair to good quality. Unfortunately, the plants are very subject to June Yellows disorder, rendering many of them useless.

Catskill seedlings, large vigorous plants resembling the parent, Henry producers. A small proportion of the plants becomes affected with June Yellows.

Fairfax seedlings, variable in runnering habit, large plants often with light colored leaves. Fruit of higher quality than that of any other parent tested.

Dorset seedlings, low to medium height plants, large vigorous foliage; fruit rounded, rather small and usually of good quality.

Bismer seedlings, plants vigorous, low, large-leaved with short flower stalks. Fruit bright red, rather soft when very large, spade-shaped and of fair to good quality.

Middlefield seedlings, low, profusely-runner plants, early, quality berries rather small and of fair quality.

In general, seedlings of the varieties mentioned follow the patterns outlined. However, the second parent is important, and when a high quality variety such as Dorset or Fairfax is used as male parent with Senator Dunlap, for example, the quality and flavor of the seedlings is considerably improved.

When wild strawberry pollen is used on garden varieties, from 30 to 95 per cent of the progeny strongly resemble the wild parent.

Wheat Pact Agreed On

Authoritative information from Ottawa indicates that a wheat agreement between Canada and Great Britain has been arrived at and will be signed before the end of this month.

It is understood that the agreement will be for four years and that the average volume of wheat to be supplied by Canada will range around 160 million bushels a year; also that the price will be $1.55 a bushel, basis 1 northern Fort William, for the first two years, with no ceiling price for the last two years but possibly a floor price.

Crack-Thomas Pledge Vows

A pretty wedding ceremony took place in the Evangelical Church on Wednesday at 4 p.m. when Miss Vera Crack became the bride of Mr. Donald Thomas.

The bride who came away by her father looked beautiful in a floor length dress of white satin, with embroidered lodice, sweetheart neckline and short sleeves. Her veil was held in place by a tiara of pearls and she carried a bouquet of white and pink roses.

Her attendants were the bridesmaid, Miss Vera Crack, Miss Doreen Thomas, sister of the bride and the ball carrier was little Joyce, also sister of the bride.

Miss Vera Crack wore a floor length dress of dusty rose shade. Miss Doreen Thomas wore a floor length dress of light blue rolanese rayon. They bouquets were like sweet peas, carnations and asters. Each wore white chapel veils and bridal wreaths.

Little Joyce was dressed in a floor length dress of pink rolanese rayon with a white bow in her hair.

The groom was supported by the bride's brother, Norman and Mr. Walter McCormick. The ring bearer was Donald, little brother of the bride. The usher was Mr. Maxwell Hughson of Coronado. The brides mother was dressed in light blue crepe with white accessories, her corsage was red roses and fern.

The groom's mother was dressed in a two piece navy blue crepe, with white accessories, her corsage was also of red roses and fern.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home to 57 guests.

The dinning room was decorated in white and pink streamers and flowers. The bridal table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake. White and pink roses completed the table decorations.

The servers were Mrs Lyle Sauer of Wildwood and the Misses Darlene and Evangeline Hoogsten of MacKay.

The bride and groom are spending their honeymoon in Edmonton, later they will reside at Bellis, which, where the groom is in business.

Out of town visitors were Mr. and Mrs. John Mohr and daughter Joan of Fort Sask., Mr. Maxwell Hughson of Coronado, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hobbs and family of Chicken, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gobert and daughter Joan and Mrs. J. Radke, grandmother of the bride from Bruderheim, Mrs. J. Ferguson of Gibbons, Mr. Walter McCormick of Edmonton, Mr. and Mrs. V. New Farmers Report In Their Business

To a continually increasing degree, the farmers of Canada are drawing on technical agriculture for the better conduct of their business, points out Dr. E. S. Archibald, Director of the Experimental Farms Service, in discussing the future of agriculture in the Agricultural Institute Review. By technical agriculture, he explained, is meant public activities which enable the farmer to benefit from the services of experimentation, research, demonstration and legal regulations, which are beyond the farmer's capacity to provide for himself.

Despite the tendency in nature for new problems to emerge when one old problem has been conquered, technical agriculture has scored many definite advances. Economic crop production is confined to-day in climatic regions of Western Canada where this was not possible with the crop varieties available 50 years ago, a change effected by the work of plant breeders. Similarly, the combined efforts of plant pathologists and plant breeders have conquered many diseases which threatened destruction of production in broad areas. Reference might also be made to many technical advances in the fields of animal health, breeding, nutrition, soil management, stock production, feed processing, soil management, insect control and agricultural engineering.

Not the least of the advantages arising from various lines of investigation, soil surveys, and economic research, has accrued to government and administrations in the intelligent development and application of agricultural policies. Production and price relationship is of vital importance to the future of Canadian agriculture, says Dr. Archibald.

Mrs. Graham Honored at Tea

Last Friday evening she matrons in the women's department of the grad, met together in honor of Mrs. E. Graham, who was leaving the staff after several years of service and on behalf of the association. Miss Westover presented Mrs. Graham with a gift and many good wishes were extended to the parting guest. After delicious refreshments had been served, a very pleasant evening was brought to a close.

Mrs. Graham will spend the summer at her home here and at the Pacific coast—after which she will take up residence in Edmonton for the winter.

Field Judging Starts July 29

Field judging in the $20,000 National Barley Contest will probably not be general until the week of July 29. Some entries may be judged a few days earlier but generally the crop is later than early season expectations and it will not be possible to have it completed at the end of July as first anticipated.

Three judging panels, one for each province of the western division, have been named by the provincial committees. The judging personnel for the three provinces numbers almost 30.

Uniform judging standards will be followed in all provinces. Contestants should plan to have their barley cut and cured by July 30. A few days earlier in some localities would do no harm, especially if fields are well advanced in growth.

Q. If a patient has a normal temperature and pulse for a long time, would it be a fair indication that the activity of his disease was subsiding?

A. Yes.

Q. Can active tuberculosis be determined by X-rays alone?

A. Some specialists think this is possible at one examination, and it usually is possible when films taken at various intervals are compared.

Q. What do you advise as a good body builder?

A. Cod liver oil with some of the foods containing other vitamins such as milk, tomatoes, whole milk, etc., blared in quantity and well-balanced as to proteins, fats, starches and salts.

Readers desiring questions answered are asked to send them to Calgary, where medical attention and early reply will be given.

The Pastor Schooner

Here, on veritable prairie near Winnipeg, and driving a wagon such as his pioneer ancestors drove in Jeremy Gowler, young dominie ambassador of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, tells CBC's "Prairie Schooner" program. With him is Mary Kozhevnik, soprano soloist often heard on the same program. The pastors who visited the prairies travelled in their wilderness homes in wagons, and today, in the CBC's Dominion series, some of their sons and daughters are recalling the great adventure of settlement in the songs they sang, the dangers they shared, and the tales they told and lived.

Don't stand on your convictions—live by them.

The Recipe Corner

Everybody knows today that no food is more important than vegetables. Nutritionists recommend at least one raw and two cooked vegetables every day. Add to this up to date information on cooking and serving vegetables this rule is not hard to follow. Here nearly everyone enjoys vegetables.

A vegetable plate may be a picture. That is the right sort of vegetable plate may be, but it takes some artistic ability as well as knowledge of cooking. No one would be tempted with a dinner of potatoes, white turnips and canned corn, or spinach, green beans and peas; but serve, green beans, new potatoes and a few slices of raw tomato on bottom attracts the eye as well as the palate.

If one wishes to depart from all vegetable idea, a poached egg may be added or a cheese or other pigment means may glamorize one of the vegetables.

For entertaining at luncheon a vegetable plate with hot rolls is always welcome whether it be of hot vegetables or a crisp cold salad.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Trade and Commerce have recipes for vegetables dishes.

A Suggestion by the BREWING INDUSTRY OF ALBERTA

Breeding Barleys

In the early barley improvement work carried out in Canada emphasis was placed on smooth, even ears and capacity to yield with some attention to stem strength and malting quality. To-day, it is recognized that many more factors have to be considered in a modern barley breeding program, says W. J. Johnston, Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon, Manitoba.

Greater mechanization on farms has brought its attendant problems. The time has arrived when it is necessary to breed varieties of barley to mesh certain combinations must be established for combine harvesting. This means a variety with erect heads carried on short necks. The heads themselves must be very tenacious. Not only must the straw be of reasonably good strength but it should be free of any tendency to buckle on approaching maturity.

In Manitoba, two of the recommended varieties, Plush and Montcalm, have partially answered the combine harvest problem. Both possess a good strength of straw and under favorable conditions the heads have a tendency to break over and turn to shelled maturity. Plush is the other hand, while quite free of shattering and head dropping, lodges too readily to be altogether reliable as a combine barley. In Saskatchewan, the variety Ben has proved useful for combining and Victory is also being grown for the same purpose.

The need for a more suitable barley for combine purposes is recognized by Canadian plant breeders and work with this objective in view is in progress at several agricultural institutions in western Canada. At the Dominion Experimental Farm, Brandon, an attempt is being made to improve on the Plush variety by incorporating greater strength of straw and more disease resistance.

The practice of combining barley has promoted the plant breeders with another problem. It has been found that the erect awned types are more prone to nestle into the stubble than the rough awned types and hence are more likely to be damaged by prolonged wet spells. It would appear therefore that a high degree of awnedness of ears may be a disadvantage and that a semi-smooth condition should perhaps be the objective in any breeding program.

CUTWORM FORECAST FOR 1947

Most fields in Alberta and Saskatchewan suffered from cutworm damage to some extent during the spring. Damage was severe and requiring spraying in several areas including Stirling, Lomond, Hussar, Strathmore, Milden, Lemsire, Shaunavon and Rosetown.

A cutworm forecast for 1947, prepared by Howard Richmond, Entomologist, of the Dominion Entomological Laboratories at Saskatoon and Lethbridge, indicates that more cutworms may be expected during the 1947 season. This is based on cutworm surveys and counts made during May and June.

Control before cutworms do the damage is the method that should be planned to prevent cutworm infestation. To control fall cutworms, the poison bait should be distributed late in July and the fields there left undisturbed throughout August and the first half of September when the moths are laying eggs. Cutworm moths will not lay their eggs in fields that are free of weeds and cereals from mid-July to mid-August. Disturbance of the crop by livestock may be an advantage if the land had been worked.

Democracy's New Defence

German industry turned out the weapons which made possible the blitz. Democracy's free labor turned out more and better weapons. But democracy is still in danger—hard pressed, this time, not by dictator armies but by totalitarian ideas. To defend democracy today industry must not only turn out better weapons but practice better ideas.

The idea that revolutionary teamwork, where management and labor really feel as partnership, can produce more goods than either the slave labor dictatorship, or the cold calculations of an economic plan.

The idea that, even in the midst of present-day uncertainties, business which will always do what morally is right never can go wrong. In this respect, in fact, industry can be the pattern for the statesman rather than the butt for his complaints.

New North Road Lures Visitors

Motorists who look forward to the day when they can drive deep into the north were given new cause for interest lately when it was announced that a contract has been awarded by the federal government for a highway costing more than $1,000,000 into the Yellowknife mining field.

This road will be built by the federal government from the Alberta border to the mining centre. It will connect with the new highway being built from Grimshaw, on the north side of the Peace river, to the northern boundary of the province. On this latter road, the provinces and dominion are sharing the costs on a 50-50 basis.

When civilian traffic is opened on the Alaska highway, and the new Grimshaw to Great Slave Lake highway is completed, a vast area of exceptional scenic beauty will be opened to motorists.

The Alberta Motor Association is urging the need of preparing for this tourist flood and developing a highway system in Alberta that will stand up to traffic demands. Hard surfaced highways will pay big dividends in the long run, as has been demonstrated in the U.S.

We trust toll waste traffic others want.

A Record in Farm Loans

LOANS for Farm Equipment

LOANS for Stock, Seed and Feed

LOANS for Building and Repairs

LOANS for Farm Electrification

ONE OF OUR BRANCHES recently broke all records by making more loans under the Farm Improvement Loans Act than any other branch of any bank in Canada.

In ten months this single branch of the Royal Bank made 140 such loans to farmers scattered over an area of 3,300 square miles of country.

Over 55% were made to borrowers with total assets of less than $5,000.

These loans were made for a wide variety of purposes—to brush, clear and break land—to purchase farm implements, to build dams and dugouts, to construct, add to and remodel buildings.

Would a Loan Help You?
If you could use a loan profitably to improve or expand your farming operation, or to make living more convenient on the farm, ask for a copy of our booklet "Farm Improvement Loans" at your nearest branch. It explains in detail the many attractive features of the Farm Improvement Loans Act, the many purposes for which such loans can be used and the easy methods of repayment. In addition, ordinary farm loans are, of course, still available at any branch.

World of Wheat

By H. G. L. STRANGE
Director "The Grey Testing Plan"

THE PRICE OF WHEAT

Quite a vigorous discussion is taking place about the price of wheat. Should our prairie farmers be receiving the world price for wheat, which is 50 to 60 cents higher than the present government prices of $1.55 a bushel at which our wheat is now being sold to overseas countries?

Some people say that the majority of our farmers are satisfied with the present price and do not wish a higher price. Others say that farmers are dissatisfied with the present Government price and want the higher world market prices, which is the same price that American farmers are receiving and which Great Britain and other countries are actually paying for American wheat.

To test out these different opinions the Searle and Home Grain Companies recently placed a petition which farmers could sign at each of their many elevators. The many thousands of signatures attached to this petition for higher prices indicate without any doubt that a very large number of our prairie farmers are in favor of receiving a higher price for wheat than they are now paid. Further friendly discussion on this point and con by farmers in general would unquestionably be helpful to our Dominion Government. It is the views of the farmers themselves, and not so much the views of those who believe they speak for farmers, that would be helpful.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOODSTUFFS

The serious food situation still prevails in Bengal; the province faces a deficit of from 700,000 to 1,000,000 tons of food grain in the current year—in order to ensure domestic supplies Argentina will issue no further permits to export rice.

Growing conditions in the Prairie Provinces have shown marked improvement lately and many observers are forecasting an average or better than average crop—Harvesting of U.S. winter wheat is advancing under favorable weather conditions—The South African corn crops now estimated at 56 million bushels, which is much better than was previously expected.

In the face of the desperate world food shortage everyone should see that there is no wastage. Every pound of food that can be saved in Canada means a pound of food available for export to starving nations. Bread, in particular is important. Do not waste even a crust.

Model Lobsters Memorial Lighthouse

A forty-foot model of the Colchester Memorial Lighthouse, which is to be erected in the Downtown Republic, was displayed recently in the hall of the Royal Institute of British Architects, London. The model is the work of a young British architect, whose design was selected from 440 submitted by architects from all over the world 15 years ago. In yellow stone in the shape of a great rectangular stone three-quarters of a mile long, the memorial 251 have carved on its walls in all the languages of the world the names of men and women who have led the progress of the New World. In the heart of the huge building, under the cross, is to be the Chapel of the bonds of Columbus as well as museums and libraries. Powerful illuminations will fill the site down each arm of the cross, and at night its lights will throw a mighty cross into the sky and onto the clouds.

FRUIT IN OUTSIDER

Now is the time to sterilize the fruit bowl for the months ahead in Canadian kitchens. It not only will provide children with the food elements so essential to health, but, at the same time, will help to make more flour available for the hungry millions of the outer world.

New Type of Asbestos Sheeting

Special asbestos sheeting possessing new high standards of fireproofing has been designed by a United Kingdom firm. The sheeting is woven with a metallic insertion and can be used many times over without injury. It has an additional asset in that it is highly suitable for use under conditions of high pressure and temperature. The British Engineering Export Journal states that it is now being produced to sheets of 1 16 of an inch thick and ¼ of an inch thickness as well as to coils in lengths of 50 and 100 feet from 1 inch to 4 inches wide.

New System of Stage Lighting

A British inventor, Mr. Gilmore Williams, has just completed a new system of stage lighting that is likely to have a vast effect on theatrical production. It has been introduced to Londoners by Mr. Jack Hulbert in his production "Here Come the Boys" at the Saville Theatre. The new invention described as the "Defender Control System", eliminates the fuses, or necessity of running an end off a switchboard, or endless lengths of cables to obtain other effects; by the new method as many as 51 different shades of light can be effected by the use of one dial. The inventor hopes to introduce as many as 100 shades before he completes his full invention. The effect of this fluid light is dynamic on the stage; the light, in fact, is "conducted" by the man in control of the dial and it keeps time both with the musicians and the dancers. For the first time in the history of lighting effects, white colors can be introduced on a screen at the back of the stage, white lights can be thrown across the front of the stage.

New Hood Aid Gives Perfect Hearing

A device representing an important new advance in aural aids has been demonstrated in London. It is so small and compact as a cigarette case, measuring three by two by one inches. Its four tiny valves employ new methods of amplifying valves and, attached separately, a simple ear piece and microphone. The latter can be worn down coats on how to run. During the demonstration the device was heard in a dwelling who demonstrated that he could hear perfectly with it. This new sound aid has been developed at the London research station of the General Post Office and is likely to be part of Britain's new National Health Service.

Country Air for Chemical Workers

A New air conditioning system which gives workers in the most highly polluted atmosphere, for example in chemical factories, air as fresh and pure as in the country, was recently put into practice in Britain. This system keeps the air pressure absolutely free from injurious fumes. Fresh air enters the highly closed, filtration eliminating smoke and dust and gases such as carbon monoxide—fresh fresh air, it also acts as a deodorizer and germicide. The system is operated by means of units which are fixed to the wall or ceiling and are plugged into an electrical point by means of a current or plug fitting. The air is drawn through a centre grille by means of an electric fan and, after passing through a special chemical filter, it is passed out of the unit through the side louvres, which are so arranged as to prevent the creation of draughts. The dimensions of the unit are small: 20½ inches in diameter and 5 inches deep. The current consumption is small, being comparable with that of a 40 watt lamp.

WOODSMEN HAT WELL

Canada's pulp and paper industry pays annually $7,000,000 for food for its wood workers, who consume 1,000 tons of meat, 11,000 tons of potatoes, 7,000 tons of flour and 300 tons of cheese.

What Happened Before

In the spring of 1939 a delegation of grain men went to Ottawa and urged the government to discontinue the Wheat Board and permit the speculative system of grain marketing to operate once again. The delegation pointed out that the world was short of wheat and if the speculative marketing system was restored, wheat would probably sell anywhere between $5 and $6 a bushel.

The government discontinued the Wheat Board, and speculative marketing was resumed in August 1939. Prices advanced until the second week in September when the high level of $1.55 5 8 was recorded. Thereafter a decline set in, at first slowly, but gathering force in October and by the end of the year the average price had fallen to below $1 a bushel.

For the year 1919 the average price for wheat at local elevators was $2.27, for 1920 it was $1.61, and in 1921, with speculative marketing in control the average price received was 35c. By 1929 it had dropped to 49c and in 1930 the average price throughout the year remained by farmers for wheat was 29c a bushel.

In commenting on the above facts, George Robertson, secretary of the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool, says that the present campaign of the grain trade to have a return to speculative marketing "looks upon the value of originality."

Plans Laid for Formation of Junior Clubs in This District

A meeting of representatives from various organizations and districts throughout the community was held in the Fort Community Hall Tuesday evening to discuss the forming of Junior Clubs.

The one that removed the most discussion was a Junior Calf Club and those present were definitely agreed that something should be done, and done soon to get these clubs started.

Mr. Chas. F. Lowe called the meeting to order and asked Mr. Rudolph Rippel, chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the Fort Service Club to act as chairman.

Mr. F. H. Newcombe, who until his new appointment recently, was District Agriculturist, was present and asked to outline to the meeting steps that could be taken to form such clubs.

One way to have successful clubs is to enlist in fact complete cooperation, to take more interest in them. There are plenty of young people in the districts but not enough of them to clubs. The forming of such clubs should be undertaken by the various organizations and especially the idea that one man from every organization be appointed to form a central committee to work with the district agriculturist.

Mr. C. D. Jones, one of several of those present, stated that he thought his company would be willing to sponsor one or two of these clubs. He expressed the view that a calf club for example had a much better chance than others of winning awards at the Calf Club show than in the circumstances of the parents, and thought that the calves that are used for these clubs should be those on the farms of the parents of these young people, whether they be of a poor or good quality, and that the awards and prizes offered should be based on the progress these young people made in feeding and looking after these calves regardless of their quality. If this was the basis on which the awards were made, he thought it would encourage and offer more inducement to raise better stock.

After further discussion a motion was made by Mr. Rudolph Rippel that: "A committee be formed to form Junior Clubs, and that it consist of four members from the Service Club and two members each from the U.F.A. and A.F.U. and one member from any other organization organized with the improvement of agriculture."

It was then agreed that the secretary write to each organization asking them to appoint a member to act on the central committee.

The meeting then adjourned.

Fashions and The New Wool

A wool fabric with all the advantages of pure wool but so fine in the touch as georgette, is being introduced to the U.S. by Valley Kingdom Cotton Mills, Inc., Norwich, Vt. It's also an ideal light duty new wool in, here is a comparison. The average woolen jumper weighs about 6 ozs. to the square yard; a jumper of this weave would weigh about 1½ to 2 ozs. to the square yard.

Experiments in this fabric were started at Leeds University. These led to the discovery that, from an ordinary garment, a fine, soft yarn could be made by the process of shoddying, in many ways and also. In this result not be used for mixed cloth making, but used as a "shoddying" when weaving it was found to provide a tough base for the most delicate wool yarn—the delicate to be handled by machine in the usual way. The "wool holding", the scientists discovered, could be washed away leaving the wool wool. An smooth as crepe-de-chine, this fabric is ideal for women's clothes; it can be open in bright colors for dresses, white shirts, deeper colors for evening gowns; pastel shades for lingerie. As flats, such materials are likely to have a bigger influence on future fashions than any other fabric known today.

Q. Can trunks be repaired by any method except the usual soap and permolene?

A. Soapery is the only way for some removal of trunks. Removal by high frequency currents and cautery may be expected to supply all methods.

S S S

Q. Is smoking harmful to a T.B. patient?

A. Smoking moderately is not harmful unless there is an excessive amount of cough or an involvement of the larynx, or if the nervous system is affected by smoking.

Piper Cubs to be Sold in Edmonton

Piper Cub, one of the most famous light aircraft used in the Second World War, which is said to be "endowed" pure horses all over pasture as a landing and takeoff strip, will shortly be available to private purchasers in Edmonton.

Lou. J. McKenna, who flew with the USAAF in Alaska during the war, announced in Edmonton he obtained the agency for distribution of Piper Cub aircraft in Northern Alberta, North West Territories and the Yukon.

Mr. McKenna, who is manager of Canadian Aircraft Co., with offices in Montreal, stated in an interview, that his brother, Bernard H. McKenna, will be manager of the distributing agency in Edmonton with offices and hangar space at the Edmonton airport.

Bernard McKenna served for five years in the navy as a chief engineer. For the past two years he has been on the staff of Spillard-Web (BC) Ltd. at Vancouver.

Canadian Aircraft Co. is an aircraft brokerage firm with distributing rights for the Piper Cub planes in Canada and foreign countries.

The Piper Cubs are manufactured at Hamilton, Ont. and Lockhaven, Penn.

The Canadian plant is now turning out one complete aircraft a day.

First of the several Piper Cubs to be sold in Edmonton and northwest area has already arrived at the municipal airport and will go on display.

An announcement as to the location of offices and hangar will be made within the next few days.

J. W. Whiteley, a veteran RCAF and RAF pilot will be in charge of flying and a sales representative for the company in Edmonton.

The Piper Cub, which has three models for civilian flying, is the lowest priced light plane on the market, Mr. McKenna said. One model sells for $3,995.

It is ideal for north bush flying and for small flying clubs now being formed in Alberta towns and rural districts, he said.

Farmers in the USA also find the Cub just the thing for hopping to and from town.

The Cub super-cruiser has a range of 600 miles with three passengers.

The Recipe Corner

Supper serves are a real problem at any time of year, but with the thermometer soaring in the eighties that difficulties are tripped. People who work must eat, and unfortunately your appetite isn't exceptional. They must also have the right food whether it be hot or cold, but on the weather changes there is a decided difference in the appeal of certain foods. Hot baked beans and meat dishes are excellent for supper one weather, but vegetables with eggs and cheese, in salads or casserole dishes tempt the appetite in extremes.

The hints consumers of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, suggest these dishes for supper:

Democracy's Aggressive War

There is plenty of room in the world for nations with different ideas. But is there room for them with different ideologies?

An idea is something you may have a mind and do nothing much about. Or you follow it out in your own affairs and leave other men free to follow out theirs.

An ideology, however, is an idea with an emotional charge. It burns within you with such passion that you want to give it to all the rest of the world and you have far-reaching plans to do so.

By their very nature, therefore, opposing ideologies must grapple with each other in a global "battle royal" until, by greater power of persuasion or subtlement, one wins the other, or subjugates the other by a greater force of arms.

If democracy is just an idea it will fall before the passion and the plan of a reboot ideology. Even a bad plan is stronger than none. But if democratic ideals really burn within us, and we have an ideology of democracy that becomes an ideology. And it is sentimental nonsense to suppose that it can passively exist side by side with any other. We must fight to make our Christian democratic ideology supreme or lose it.

Remember, however, there are two ways to fight. We may fight with arms though, of its nature, democracy can only do this in defence against aggression. Or we can fight to make democracy work so well in our own country that all the rest of the world will want to adopt it. That is the one way in which democracy can wage a "aggressive war". The one alternative of those who otherwise would just deplore the passing of democracy or who, "to self defend", would plunge the world into atomic war.

HOW TO CONTROL CUTWORMS

The Dominion Entomological Laboratory at Lethbridge, Alberta, has [illegible] recommended [illegible] 25-oz. solution of [illegible] during the 1947 season. To cover the damage the Entomological Laboratory recommends that all weeds, especially [illegible] should be removed from [illegible] fields. [illegible] that all weeds should be killed [illegible] one day, and that such fields should then be well [illegible] by ploughing [illegible] the cutworms with the [illegible] moths will be laying their eggs, for the reason that cutworms usually [illegible] their eggs on fields that are free from weeds and that are [illegible] by same.

It is, of course, necessary also to prevent animals from eating on such summerfallowed fields after July 31st, for the cutworms will lay their eggs in spots where the crust has been broken by the hoofs of animals.

This is all a simple and effective method of reducing cutworm damage next year, a method which I tried myself for many years, which I advocate [illegible] with good results, and which I can strongly recommend to all farmers. This method of control works, and works well.

ITEMS OF INTEREST IN THE WORLD OF FOOTPYS

Drought conditions continue in the Australian provinces of New South Wales and Queensland—As a result of the hot-car shortage in the U.S.A much new wheat is being piled on the ground, and there is considerable anxiety that spoil are will occur unless movement is assisted [illegible]

The Soviet zone of Germany is said to be producing pre-war quantities of grain, potatoes and sugar beet. French Africa has obtained some surpluses from the recent harvest, whereas last year very large imports were necessary—France and Italy are both harrowing much larger wheat crops this year than last year.

LINSEED SHORTAGE

There is an acute shortage of linseed throughout the world. The Canadian crop is estimated to be only 53 per cent of average. United States production is placed at 20 million bushels against 27 million last year, and the main hope is that Argentina will come through with a good crop.

Ordinarily Argentina is a tremendous producer of flaxseed. In 1938 that country sowed around 5,500,000 acres to flax, but last year the flax acreage was down to 4,500,000, the lowest Second acreage in Argentina in 24 years.

With a big crop in sight in western Canada, harvest help is sure to provide a problem for farmers. There are plenty of men able to do farm work with a great many of them unwilling to do so.

FOOD EXPORTS TO BRITAIN

Canada's food exports to the United Kingdom during the six war years 1940-1945 inclusive, totalled in value over one billion dollars according to the current agricultural figures. The proportion with the U.K. value of exports of food averaged from 982 millions in 1940 to 1,264 millions in 1944, dropping to 1,212 millions in 1945. Of the total value for the six years of $1,000 millions meat products represented 71.8 per cent, dairy products 65 per cent, eggs and poultry 10.1 per cent, and fruit and vegetables 9.1 per cent.

The United States department of agriculture has set a goal of wheat acreage for 1947 production at 71,700,000 acres, compared with 71,067,000 acres for this year's production and 69,751,000 acres for 1946.

Combining in Central Alberta

Late maturing crops, heavy dews and short late autumn days limit the use of the combine in the park belt of Western Canada so that the machine will seldom handle more than half the acreage [illegible] combine would do in drier areas. This statement was made by G. R. Ibbotson, Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, in an article on "Summer and Combine in Harvesting Grain".

The combiner is coming into more general use in the park belt as farmers gain experience. Weathering is frequently advisable where there is sufficient growth of crop to produce a stubble having sufficient height, volume and strength to support the straw.

While a short, thin stubble will not support a swath, a very high stubble is also objectionable. It tends to open up under the weight of the crop and to increase the loss of grain. Between these extremes lies the ideal stubble.

Don't Let Your Dollar Become a "TRAMP"
There is a big difference in dollars.
There is the "Tramp" dollar—the dollar that is spent away from home. Then there is the "Home" dollar with its "home" circulation, "home" benefits and "home" profits.
Though both of these dollars are marked "One Hundred Cents," the "home" dollar continues to multiply itself "at home" for community interests are mutual. Not so with the "tramp dollar"—once spent it is gone forever.
The success of Fort Saskatchewan and its surrounding territory contributes to the success of everybody in it. A prosperous town rests on the individual prosperity.
The advantage to you of spending your dollar in Fort Saskatchewan is far greater than the "Tramp" dollar can possibly buy—even if it bought a hundred cents worth—and which it cannot possibly do, because the other fellow in the out-of-town field must make a profit.
There is big truth in this, worthy of your serious thought. It pays to trade at home with your "home" folks.

SOUTH COOKING LAKE

Of particular interest to the congregation and friends of St. Stephen's Church, Mistatim, Lunenburg and Hastings Lake was a marriage ceremony solemnized in the church at 2 p.m. on Saturday, July 20th, when Miss Elizabeth Audrey Gager, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Gager of Fort Saskatchewan became the bride of our student minister, Roy Childs, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Childs of Bon Accord. Dr. W. T. Young, of Montreal United Church, conducted the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and a sister Miss Mona Gager, was her bridesmaid.

Mr. Frank Childs, brother of the groom was best man.

Mrs. Robert Morris of Bon Accord played the wedding music. The church was filled to capacity as St. Stephen's was all too small to accommodate the large number of relatives and friends interested in the happy event, and many had to be content to wait outside. There was a large floral display which added to the beauty of the church.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the contented couple at the home of the bride's parents on the Lake Shore. Here the guests from all groups and that Canadians refuse to divide along class lines as people in Europe and some countries are doing.

A look at Europe today, and some consideration of what Canada's position is to be present condition, might confirm Canadians in their refusal to be induced into "class struggle" advocated by socialists.

DANGER SOIL EROSION
A Free Pamphlet on this pressing problem is available through any branch of The Royal Bank of Canada.
This pamphlet reviews some of the disastrous results which have come from faulty soil management, the staggering losses which even now are being sustained by Canadian farmers through sheet erosion, soil drifting and other causes, and suggests means by which farmers and rural communities may best organize to fight this creeping death.
Every forward-looking farmer should read this pamphlet. If there is no branch of the Royal Bank near you, a copy may be obtained on request to The Royal Bank of Canada, Head Office, Montreal.

The Recipe Corner

Rhubarb makes a most delightful dessert dish, a big favorite of children, either cold or from the garden, particularly if the children have helped to pick them. Rhubarb should never be allowed to get ready to use when they do, otherwise more quickly after being picked they should be put in cold water to retain their colour. Rhubarb is rich in vitamin C and iron.

Below are some recipes of the Canadian Department of Agriculture that should be useful and seasonal besides.

B B B

BLUEBERRY CRISP
4 cups blueberries
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons butter or substitute
Flavored fat
½ cup flour
½ cup brown sugar
½ cup quick-cooking oats

Wash blueberries, arrange in a greased pie plate, add sugar, and sprinkle with juice. Combine fat, flavour, sugar and quick-cooking oats and spread the mixture over the blueberries. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until berries are cooked and topping is golden brown. Serve with cream. Serves six.

BLUEBERRY PUFFS
1 tablespoon brown sugar
2 cups fresh blueberries
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon butter or substitute
1 egg, unbeaten
½ cup granulated sugar
½ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla

Mix brown sugar and berries. Place in 6 custard cups. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Cut in shortening. Add eggs, gradually, while continuing to mix and add milk gradually. Add vanilla and mix well. Pour batter over berries in cups, filling each just half-full. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 30 minutes or until done. Turn out on dessert plates and serve with top side down. Garnish with whipped cream. Serves six.

HONEY AND CINNAMON WHIP
1 tablespoon gelatine
¼ cup water
½ cup honey
½ cup lemon juice
1 cup cream
½ cup honey
½ cup sugar
½ cup water
Pinch salt

Soak gelatine in the ¼ cup of water. Put 1½ cups of cold water, honey, sugar, lemon juice and salt together, then add to the gelatine. Stir until dissolved, then cool in ice water. When nearly set, whip cream until stiff and fold in gelatine mixture. Pour into a mould or individual dishes and chill until firm. Chill until ready to serve. Garnish with whipped cream and sprinkle with cinnamon. Serves six.

Q. What do you think of a good brush work or people?
A. Brush work or people is not here any prolonged and detailed effort on the historical inhabitants of the country, but a series of sketches of the people themselves in pioneer. Chief one of the book, by means of a number of individual sketches, includes such thorough Britons, by adoption, as Governor Simcoe, Chief Brant, Tecumseh, Colborne or ordinary folk of the time. Illustrations are probably as good as any.

Q. When Canada is divided, does it make any part of the map?
A. Yes.

Great Power
Up till now we have relied on the great pressure to make peace—on their ability to exert the most economic power—on the power of their arms. Stronger armaments, richer resources, deadlier weapons are not likely to do the trick. Some different kind of power must be found.
There is a greater power at work in the world. A power which produced the life that peoples the world. A power which can change the people.
At least as people say—people who have turned to God and asked to be shown where they need to be different. People—and this is most important—who have asked for the change of heart—that different attitude towards life and the other fellow—which would make them want to be different.
Nations, after all, are just made up of people—the statesmen and the ordinary man. If all their people undergo a change of heart nations would unquestionably begin to get a different attitude toward each other.
The Greek powers have failed to make peace. Let's give the Great Power His chance.

Story of Refrigeration

The history of refrigeration, by one means or another as applied to cooling and preserving perishable products dates back to 320 B.C., when the Egyptians cooled wines and beverages by placing them in shallow porous earthenware vessels, allowing the resultant evaporation to cool the contents. Ice was known to the Romans many years ago, and was used for his soldiers, while spring, springs and wells served later generations as a means of refrigeration.

These earlier types of refrigeration however were used merely to render food stuffs and liquids more palatable. For actually preserving food stuffs, salt and spices were employed. In fact, it was in an attempt to find a shorter route to India, the main source of spices that Columbus discovered America.

Arriving in America he found the Indians with an abundant supply of food the year round—
